THE NAMES PROJECT QUILT TO RETURN TO WASHINGTON, DC OCTOBER 8-10

The NAMES Project Quilt, a National AIDS Memorial, will return to Washington, DC to be displayed once again across the Capitol Mall, Columbus Day Weekend, October 8-10, 1988.

In the eight months following the Quilt's inaugural display on October 11, 1987, during the National March on Washington for Lesbian and Gay Rights, the Quilt has more than doubled in size, now containing nearly 5,000 individual 3 foot by 6 foot panels. The memorial is expected to reach 10,000 - 15,000 panels by October, a dramatic visual symbol of the epidemic which continues to take its toll on men, women and children.

"The Quilt demonstrates that Americans posses the national will to defeat AIDS" said Cleve Jones, founder and executive director of The NAMES Project. "People from every state and from all walks for life have worked together to create this symbol of compassion and commitment."

If you would like to create a panel commemorating a friend, lover, or relative who has died an AIDS related death, contact The NAMES Project, P.O. Box 14573, San Francisco, CA 94114, or call (415) 863-5511.

AIDS ACTIVIST'S TOUR TO STOP IN LEXINGTON AND LOUISVILLE

ACT UP, a New York City based group of gay activists, will attend the Democratic National Convention during July. After the Convention, ACT UP members will conduct a "Freedom Ride" en route back to New York. The group members have had personal experience with AIDS patients housed in Bailey House in Manhattan. The Freedom Ride allows ACT UP to display the Bailey House quilt in the cities where they stop. The quilt contains about fifty 3 foot by six foot panels. In each city ACT UP members will call attention to the national AIDS crisis by displaying the quilt and conducting local media blitzes. ACT UP is tentatively scheduled to spend July 28 in Lexington and July 29 in Louisville.

Lexington and July 29 in Louisville.

ACT UP is the undisputed master of civil disobedience among gay organizations. The group has staged dozens of direct actions and marked its first anniversary with a major civil disobedience action in March. More than 500 ACT UP members blocked rush-hour traffic in the city's financial district, chanting slogans critical of President Reagan.

ACT UP's goal for the Freedom Ride is to command public attention for AIDS issues and spur citizens and politicians to respond in appropriate means to this health crisis.

COUPLES NEEDED FOR NATIONAL SURVEY

A national survey of lesbian and gay couples is being undertaken by Partners: the Newsletter for Gay & Lesbian Couples. The research will help determine the nature and needs of this often invisible segment of the gay community. The last major survey of gay and lesbian couples was conducted almost ten years ago.

All gay men and lesbians in a relationship are asked to participate in the survey. The short, anonymous questionnaire requests general information on subjects such as discrimination, finances, children, relationship problems and sources of support.

GLSO News is assisting Partners by including the survey on the center pages of this issue. Results of this national survey will be published in GLSO News this fall. If you would like to respond to the survey, simply fill out the questionnaire and mail it to Partners, Box 9685, Seattle, WA 98109.

Additional copies of the survey can be obtained from the above address.

The survey form also includes a cut-out form to be used for ordering a subscription to Partners, its free list "Resources for Lesbian & Gay Couples," and an opportunity for couples to be interviewed by phone.

NOW LEXINGTON KNOWS -WE LIVE HERE TOO! from Craig Clere

Well Lexington's 1988 Gay & Lesbian Pride Week is now just a memory. But what a memory it was for those of us who participated. We can all be proud of the accomplishments which were exhibited throughout this year's Pride Week festivities.

This year marked an increase in the coverage of Pride Week by Lexington's press community. The Lexington Herald-Leader featured an article about Pride Week on Wednesday of the week, while WLEX-18 and WKYT-27 both included coverage of the week in their local newscasts. Radio stations WEKU and WKQQ also interviewed a spokesperson for the Pride Week Committee.

A special thanks to all who helped make our ad in the Herald-Leader possible. We hope you all saw GLSO's name prominently displayed at the top of the page in the first section on June 15. The Phoneline lit up that night with people calling in to thank us, and from gays and lesbians who were pleased to learn they aren't alone.

BOOKS! BOOKS! BOOKS!

July is a time of sitting by the pool and reading, staying up late and reading, enjoying the air conditioning and reading. Our July Forum will be a discussion of good books for lesbians and gays. Bring a book and come ready to talk and/or listen about good books for us to read.

JULY COFFEEHOUSE

There seems to have been a common theme for the past several months, that while a lot of you really appreciate the entertainment we provide each month, the main reason you come to the Coffeehouses is to DANCE. Some of you feel you haven't been able to do as much of that as you'd like at recent Coffeehouses. Well, your wish is our command, so come on out to the Unitarian Universalist Church on Friday, July 15, and bring your dancin' shoes! The doors will open at 8:30 pm, as usual, but at the first hint of darkness (probably around 9:30 pm), we'll crank up the music, and you can dance your fool heads off for the rest of the night. We're working on some new dance tapes for your enjoyment, so we hope to see you there. Admission is $3 per person, and it's BYOB.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES PASSES HATE CRIMES ACT; HISTORIC BILL MARKS FIRST TIME HOUSE FAVORABLY LEGISLATES ON A GAY/LESBIAN ISSUE

A nearly six-year campaign by the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF) to obtain a federal response to anti-gay/lesbian violence led to passage on May 18, 1988 of the Hate Crimes Statistics Act (H.R. 3193) in the U.S. House of Representatives. The bill marks the first time either Congressional body has passed a bill addressing a gay and lesbian issue. The bill, which passed overwhelmingly by a vote of 383 to 29, requires the federal collection of statistics on crimes motivated by prejudice based on: race, religion, homosexuality or heterosexuality, and ethnicity." A companion bill, S 2000, awaits further action in the Senate.

"This overwhelming victory is not only exciting but historic," said Anti-violence Projector Kevin Berrill. "While Congress continues to permit discrimination against gay and lesbian people in employment, housing and other areas, this vote at least acknowledges that the federal government does have a duty to protect lesbian and gay people from the violence and the threat of violence, which are the most fundamental violations of our human and civil rights."

NGLTF lobbyist Peri Jude Radecic credited the large margin of the vote in part to the grassroots organizing and support given the bill by the gay and lesbian community nationwide. Berrill cited in particular letters of support written by hundreds of individuals, local constituent lobbying, and widespread coalition support garnered by NGLTF.

During floor debate, an amendment to remove the sexual orientation clause was initiated by Rep. George Gekas (R-PA). in a compromise arranged by supporters of the bill, a substitute amendment defining sexual orientation as "homosexuality of heterosexuality" was proposed by Rep. John Miller (R-WA). The substitute amendment also stated that "Nothing in this act creates a right for an individual to bring action complaining of discrimination based on homosexuality." The substitute amendment passed by a vote of 383-30.

Two implications are apparent in the resulting bill. First, whereas the term sexual orientation would have clearly included bisexuality, the final working omits any mention of this type of sexual orientation. Second, the bill unequivocably states heterosexuals have judicial recourse to discrimination based on their heterosexuality, though homosexuals have no parallel protection. While the bill is obviously not ideal, it does however reveal great changes within our legislature - changes which were created by intense effort on the part of our national organizations and from pressure placed on politicians by correspondence from individuals.

"We were prepared [to have to fight] attempts to remove gay and lesbian victims of violence from the bill's coverage," said NGLTF lobbyist Radecic, "the extensive constituent lobbying we did, the lobbying by our broad coalition of 53 organizations, and the floor leadership of our House supporters, like Rep. John miller (R-WA), Rep. Connie Morella (R-MD) and Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) was instrumental to our success."

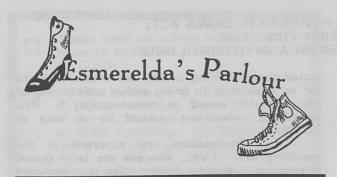

The bill was introduced by Rep. John Conyers (D-MI) in the fall of 1987. NGLTF assembled a coalition of 53 organizations called Organizations for Hate Crime Prevention, which included the American Jewish Congress, the American Psychological Association, and People for the American Way. in addition, NGLTF took the lead in securing 109 co-sponsors of the bill, the largest number ever to co-sponsors a measure containing a sexual orientation clause.

AVOL SUMMER BENEFIT

AVOL is planning its Summer Benefit for Sunday, July 10, at ArtsPlace. If you attended the affair in January you know there will be great food and lots of friends to meet. Watch your mailbox for a personal invitation to one of the best parties of the year - all for a worthy cause.

NEW GLSO BOARD

GLSO held its annual election of Officers and Directors at the Pride Week Banquet on June 13. Congratulations to Teresa, Craig, Bill, Edwin and Steve on their elections! Officers for the next year are Dave, President; Kenneth, Vice President; Craig, Secretary; Steve, Treasurer.

Here it is . . . July, already! June really flew by, with all the activities of Pride Week. Many thanks to all the folks on the Pride Week Committee - they worked hard, and it showed! There was something different and worthwhile to do every night of the week. We hope that you all got out to some of the events, because it was a great opportunity to meet a lot of people. It was also a great way to launch the summer months, instilling in us sense of community and inspiration.

Now that the lazy, hazy days of summer are finally upon us, we're all enjoying the change of pace and the chance to be outdoors. It's been wonderful to watch our student friends go through their annual metamorphosis, as they shed all those worries and anxieties for a few months and let off some steam! Their sense of playfulness is quite infectious, as they inject youth and spontaneity into our lives. Good to have you back, if only for a short time.

As the summer progresses, we've been seeing you all out in force, at the ballparks, at malls, (yes, we do see you), and at various activities. We've tried to ease up on the structured activities during the summer months (just a little), because there's to much other mischief to get into. We are still having the GLSO Coffeehouse & Dance each month, though, and the potlucks and passion group have a small, but loyal following. If you've been thinking about getting involved in one of these activities, but are going to put it off until fall, don't. Don't put it off, that is. You can't imagine what you've been missing, so do it now!

In the last few month's GLSO News, we've asked for input from all of you as to what direction you'd like to see Esmerelda's Parlour take. The possibilities are mind-boggling. We really want to meet your needs, to interest you, to inspire you (heady stuff, huh?), and last but not least, to entertain you. In other words, we want this space to be worthwhile. To that end, we've come up with a couple of ideas that we really like. Read on to find out more, and let us know what you think, ok? Until next month.

Debbie & Teresa

UNTITLED

The first time I saw her
I felt something inside.
What I thought was lust has grown into something more.
I cherish the moments just being by her side.
I want to talk to her,
but I'm afraid.
It would be easy to reach out and take her hand.
I know she would not pull away.
Why should I care the way I do?
Should I give my heart,
and then be hurt?
Maybe, maybe not.
I'm afraid of this feeling she leaves inside.

Emotionally Yours

NETWORKING - 1988

We've gotten an idea for a new monthly fixture, and we'd like to see what you think of it. A common complaint that we've heard is that you've had trouble finding other women who enjoy some of the same activities that you do, whether it's sports-related or of an outdoor nature, and coordinating with them. You need someone to play tennis or golf with, or you'd like to go bike-hiking, or rafting, or to the Gorge, or you'd like to go up to Cincinnati to go to the Zoo or Crazy Ladies Bookstore, but you don't have a ride. We'd like to use this space as a way to help you out. Please do not, however, misunderstand This is not Esmerelda's Dating our intent. Service, nor is it a place to advertise for a roommate or to let everyone know about your garage sale. Those items belong in the classified ads. We are only interested in helping people who share common interests get together.

The following are our first few entries, just to give you an idea of what we're looking for (note that you must include a name and phone number):

HOW I SPENT MY SUMMER VACATION -GEORGIA 1988

On Memorial Day weekend about seven miles outside of Cleveland, Georgia, 2000 women gather every year (for the past five) to party, celebrate, listen to women's music, and, ultimately, be free to be themselves for five glorious days. I decided this year to go myself and come back and write a firsthand account of the "Best Moment" of the 5th Southern Women's Music and Comedy Festival. Unfortunately, there were so many "best moments", it was hard to pick just one. Let me give you examples:

There were the women with painted faces, party hats, and horns who greeted us with cheers and applause as we came in the gate. What a welcome!

There was the incredible organization and perseverance of the kitchen crew who rallied to serve 2000 hungry lesbians everyday and somehow managed to smile, and be relaxed while doing so.

The crafts women were amazing with all their beautiful handmade jewelry, pottery, artistry, clothes, etc. I "Mastered the Possibilities" all weekend. Can't wait to get that monthly bill.

At each performance I was in awe of the interpreters who, in sign language, interpreted every comedienne, MC, and musician. They each put everything they had into what they were doing so that the deaf women in the audience could get a feel of the energy and style of each individual performer. Sometimes I spent more time watching the interpreters than the act on stage. They were a performance unto themselves.

The JEB slide show can't be left out simply because it brought home once again how proud I am to be a lesbian. There were slides of former festivals as well as a wonderful and moving slide show on the March on Washington last October. I was almost able to experience what it must've been like as I watched the great moments, and heard first hand accounts of how people felt to be among over 600,000 other gays and lesbians.

The outrageous author, therapist, comedienne, and public speaker JoAnne Loulan was there - and how!!! She had the audacity and nerve to make us laugh at ourselves and how silly we can be by driving home the fact that nothing we, as lesbians, do with ourselves or each other is bad or taboo. As crazy and funny as she could be, she also had her serious and tender side. She talked about how in all of us exists a little child with a broken heart who needs to be nurtured. She taught us that it's OK to love and take care of ourselves - something many of us forget.

Then, of course, there was the music. Cris Williamson never sounded better than the first night of the festival. Tret Fure, Alix Dobkin, the Diane Davidson Band, and the inimitable Diedre McCalla were just some of the wonderful acts I saw. Louisville's own Tendre, such a hit at the festival last year that this year they were promoted from Day Stage to Main Stage, wowed the audience. Watch for them at an upcoming Coffeehouse and Dance.

With so many moments, how could I pick just one? I guess what was best was, simply, the freedom. How many of us know what it's like to be able to walk around in broad daylight holding hands with our girlfriend. Not being as brave or as open as I'd like to be I hadn't experienced it, at least not until Georgia. We were all free to do, be, and act; however, whatever, wherever, and with whomever, we wanted.

I never saw more nude women (and more sunburns) in one place in my life. There were all sizes, shapes, and colors of women. We all felt free to walk around in whatever state of dress (or undress) we wanted. Everyone was so relaxed, friendly, and happy to be there that you could sense it everywhere. I guess if I had to pick a best moment, it would be that feeling.

And when the women at the gate waved and shouted, "See ya next year!" to us as we drove out, I didn't hesitate to say, "You bet."

ESMERELDA'S WRITE-OFF

Have you always wanted to see something that you've written in print, but been afraid to take the risk? Well Esmerelda has the answer for all you closet literary geniuses. In her infinite wisdom, she has decided to hold a writing contest, with all winners having their work published and receiving two free passes to the GLSO Coffeehouse & Dance. What more could you possibly ask for?

The guidelines are fairly loose; we will accept writings of any sort (poems, short stories, articles, etc.) that fit into one of the following categories: 1) erotica (don't you just love it!) - we can't guarantee that we'll be able to publish it, but if you have the nerve to write it, you can bet we'll read it; 2) romance (any variety - let your imaginations run wild); and 3) anecdotes (there are a lot of great story tellers out there - we'd love to hear from you.) Also, there's a 500 word maximum, so no War and Peace remakes, please!

One final note: any works that are published may be signed however you like, and that includes leaving your name off altogether. See, you have nothing to fear, so get writing, and send your submissions to the

FROM DIGNITY'S PRESIDENT

Recently at the wonderful Pride Week '88 activities, I had the opportunity to purchases four buttons from DSA. Two of my buttons were, as a lesbian friend of mine so aptly put it, politically correct. (Martin Luther King, Jr. saying "I still have a dream" and "There can be no free men until there are free women.") My third choice, "Better Gay than Grumpy" drew smiles. The fourth said, quite simply, "Nurture yourself."

simply, "Nurture yourself."

I've been taking significant strides to do more of that lately. With all we do in a typical day, week, month, there must be time for ourselves.

Whether it be time to read, travel, listen to music, nap, meditate, bowl, play tennis, write (I like to do all of those things), or whatever, I need to nurture myself daily. I know I function so much better when I've had time to nurture myself. Also when I'm a bit grumpy, I quickly realize one reason for that: I've not been taking care of myself as much as I need.

As it's summertime, I hope you're enjoying the warm weather and taking the time to nurture yourself. I know I'll be playing tennis in Wisconsin soon. I hope to see you at Dignity.

Peace, Keith

ASK AUNT MARY

Dear Aunt Mary: I am a 19 year old lesbian living in Lexington. I have lived here almost four years but don't know of any place I could go to meet other lesbians my age. Can you help?

Missing Out - Lexington

Dear Missing: I feel like a broken record when I go into my spiel about GLSO, but here goes one more time. One of GLSO's main purposes is to provide gays and lesbians in Lexington and Central Kentucky with a safe and comfortable way to meet others. While GLSO does not have a youth group, our events draw people of all ages. In the June GLSO News, in addition to our other events, I found the following that should be of special interest to lesbians: Lesbian Potluck, Coffeehouse & Dance, and the Lesbian Passion Discussion Group. For more information, call Esmerelda at 255-3851.

Meanwhile, for a really great way to make new friends, get involved with GLSO as a volunteer. All of our programs, from the Dance Committee to the Phoneline, the Speaker's Bureau and the GLSO News need help. For more information call the numbers listed in the Directory. It is time to stop being lonely, so come on out and get involved. Good luck.

If you would like to write to Aunt Mary, send your letter to: Aunt Mary, c/o GLSO, Post Office Box 11471, Lexington, Kentucky, 40575. If you would like a personal reply, please include a stamped, self addressed envelope. All names are strictly confidential.

NGLTF SEEKS VIOLENCE/HARASSMENT DATA

The National Gay and Lesbian Task Force has prepared its annual audit of anti-gay/lesbian harassment and violence for 1987, and continues to seek local figures on such incidents. Anyone aware of anti-gay episodes which occurred in their community is encouraged to contact Kevin Berrill at NGLTF.

NGLTF has already contacted more than 150 local and state organizations across the U.S., requesting statistical data and anecdotes on anti-gay/lesbian episodes in 1987.

NGLTF published annual reports on anti-gay/lesbian violence in 1985 and 1986. Acts of harassment and violence more than doubled in 1986 from the level documented in 1985. Commented Kevin Berrill, Director of NGLTF's Anti-Violence Project, "The data provided to us by local groups have been extremely useful in promoting federal action - including a groundbreaking study of hate violence by the Justice Department and approval of the federal 'Hate Crime Statistics Act' by the House of Representatives. We really need community groups to provide us with information on local harassment and violence so we can keep the issue alive and the pressure on."

Kevin Berrill and/or NGLTF can be contacted at 1517 U Street, NW, Washington, DC 20009, or at (202) 332-6843.

BIGOTRY LIVES from New Works News

It was billed as the fifteenth annual Conservative Political Action Conference and it once again proved that conservatives can be a cranky, callous crowd. Endorsed by Phyllis Schlafly's Eagle Forum, Beverly LaHaye's Concerned Women for America, Reed Irvine's Accuracy in Media as well as the political campaigns of Bob Dole, Jack Kemp and Pat Robertson, the conference's Forum on AIDS soon turned into a blistering blast against homosexuality.

Karen Burke, a policy analyst at the House Republican Study Group, observed that homosexuals now have the gall to request federal support for the treatment of people with AIDS. "Not only are we supposed to pay taxes for research," she complained, "we're supposed to take care of them."

But even Burke was shocked at the audience reaction when she informed them that one-quarter of the gay population could be dead within five years. In response, the audience of more than 200 cheered.

"These are individuals - brothers, husbands and friends," Burke protested. "There's no way you can celebrate a tragic fact like that."

But Burke was wrong.

"Unless we are willing to state ... that homosexuality is a crime against humanity," warned Dr. Paul Cameron "then we will have more of what we just heard - calling homosexuals our brothers."

GAY AMERICA

NEW YORK, NY

On June 6, Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund, (LLDEF) Inc. filed a complaint against Westchester County Medical Center in the New York State Division of Human Rights alleging the Medical Center retaliated against a pharmacist because he filed, and eventually won, two AIDS-related discrimination complaints with the Division. The prior complaints alleged the Medical Center had denied him employment because he is HIV seropositive and had breached confidentiality of his records.

On June 15, LLDEF filed a discrimination complaint against NYNEX, the telephone company serving New York State and New England, for refusing a request to establish a "Gay and Lesbian Organizations" listing in the New York City Yellow Pages.

LOS ANGELES, CA

The ground breaking for a 25 bed AIDS hospice facility marked the victory of a candlelight vigil held on March 27, 1987 in which 200 protesters singled out county supervisor Mike Antonovich as "the most callous and indifferent" supervisor.

With the support of Antonovich, the committee which held the vigil convinced the conservative board of supervisors to allocate $2 million for AIDS hospice - the largest amount of local funds ever appropriated for such a treatment center in the U.S.

Michael Weinstein, the committee's chairman, credited the funded amount - even though the group only asked for $400,000 to the militant strategies employed, "I found that in politics, it is better to be feared than loved. All the success that we have had is due to the fact that we have been willing to do the things that other people are not willing

SACRAMENTO, CA

On May 9, California State Police, wearing rubber gloves, riot helmets and using night sticks, arrested 41 chanting gay and lesbian demonstrators. The protesters were charged with obstructing the reception lobby of Governor George Deukmejian's office.

Two days earlier, 9,000 protesters marched through downtown and rallied on the steps of the state capitol building, calling for increased AIDS funding and an end to discrimination against gays and lesbians.

NATIONAL

A survey conducted for the American Red Cross concluded that 42% of respondents do not want to work with anyone who has AIDS and 29% would quit their jobs to avoid contact with a person who has the disease.

The Red Cross has developed a program meant to help alleviate employee fear of AIDS. Called "Working Beyond Fear," the program includes a video presentation and an instructor who can answer questions about AIDS.

INTERNATIONAL

CANADA

A commission of the United Church of Canada, the country's largest Protestant denomination, recommended accepting gays as ministers and permitting them to be married in the church. It also recommended accepting bisexuality and sexual activity outside of marriage as normal sexual practices. The report asserted sexual orientation "is like being left-handed or right-handed or ambidextrous" and "ought to be seen as natural and a gift from God." The report will go to the church's general council, which meets this summer.

DENMARK

More than half the members of Denmark's parliament have cosponsored a bill legalizing gay marriages, assuring its enactment this summer. Foreign nationals could be married under the proposed law, given that at least one member of the couple is living in Denmark. The law would mark the first time gay and lesbian couples are recognized officially and judicially on equal terms with heterosexual couples, anywhere in the world.
