Daily Bible Readings-1948

This bookmark is offered as an aid to those who wish to make daily Bible reading a regular habit. Reading the selections from the Old Testament will give knowledge of the history and teaching of the whole Bible. The reader may wish, however, to add to the Old Testament narrative passages a devotional reading from the New Testament or Psalms.

The key to the understanding of the references lies in the punctuation. Matthew 1:2 means the first and second chapters of Matthew. John 13:1-14:24 means all verses included between the first verse of the 13th chapter and the 24th verse of the 14th chapter.

To get the most out of your Bible reading, read (1) prayerfully and slowly, (2) alertly and thoughtfully, (3) search for a personal message, (4) respond inwardly to God's message, (5) repeat aloud the verses which strike fire, if possible memorizing a key verse each day, (6) make it a daily habit to keep a definite time for reading.

THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY is the sole American national and international society organized for the simple four-fold missionary purpose of encouraging wider circulation of the Holy Scriptures through translation, publication, distribution, and stimulation of Bible use. This is done without note or comment and without purpose of profit. It is one of the oldest ecumenical bodies in existence, with approximately 50 Protestant denominations now represented on its advisory council.

This leaflet is available free of charge in quantities up to 50 copies. For 50 or more copies a modest charge of 25c per fifty is asked to assist in meeting the costs. Contributions in any amount toward the work of the Society are welcome. Please send your gifts and address your correspondence to:

THE BIBLE — A LIGHT AND GUIDE

The American Bible Society has as its single, simple purpose to encourage the wider circulation of the Holy Scriptures without note or comment and without purpose of profit, to every man on earth in whatever language he may require. It is a voluntary organization, instituted in 1816, supported by many individuals and denominations.

The Society's program is fourfold: translation, publication, distribution and stimulation of use, of the Bible. It is the sole American national and international organization for this purpose, and is one of the oldest missionary societies and national Church bodies in the United States and abroad.

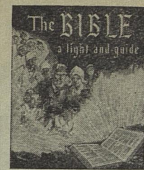

Approximately 50 Protestant denominations are now represented on its Advisory Council. Thus it is not only one of the oldest but one of the most truly ecumenical bodies in existence. Its work in the United States and abroad serves hundreds of missionary societies and national Church bodies.

Copies of this and other leaflets (or a catalog of leaflets) may be secured on request. This leaflet is available free of charge in quantities up to 50 copies. For 50 or more copies a modest charge of 25c per 50 is asked to assist in meeting the costs. Contributions in any amount toward the work of the Society are welcome. DAILY BIBLE READINGS 1951

This bookmark is offered as a practical plan for those who wish to make daily Bible reading a regular habit. It is intended that this list will be of service to all who desire greater familiarity with Bible teaching and story.

Greater fondness for the Bible as well as greater familiarity with its contents is the aim. Devotional readings and narrative passages provide the reader with some of the most beloved and prominent Bible messages to add to his present knowledge.

A daily, systematic plan of Bible reading will help most people to find in the Written Word guidance for their lives. "To follow Jesus, I read the Bible." To make the Bible your "light and guide" and to get the most out of your Bible reading, read:

1. Carefully and with prayer.
2. Slowly, with mind alert.
3. Expectantly and with anticipation.
4. In a spirit of enjoyment.
5. Seeking a personal message.
6. Eager to respond inwardly.
7. Repeating aloud verses which strike fire.
8. Keeping a definite time each day for reading.
9. Copying out a key verse each day to carry with you.
