PREFACE

The Inventory of Federal Archives in the States is one of the products of the work of the Survey of Federal Archives, which operated as a nation-wide project of the Works Progress Administration from January 1, 1936 to June 30, 1937.

The plan for the organization of the Inventory is as follows: Series I consists of reports on the administration of the Survey, acknowledgments, and general discussions of the location, condition, and content of federal archives in the states. Succeeding series contain the detailed information secured by workers of the Survey, in inventory form, a separate series number being assigned to each of the executive departments (except the Department of State) and other major units of the Federal Government. Within each series No. 1 is a general introduction to the field organization and records of the governmental agency concerned; the succeeding numbers contain the inventory proper, separate numbers being assigned to each state in alphabetical order. Thus, in each series, the inventory for Alabama is No. 2, that for Arizona No. 3, that for Arkansas No. 4, etc.

For each local office information regarding each series, or unit of related records, is presented in the following order: title, inclusive dates ("to date" indicating an open file at the time the information was secured), general description of informational content, description of the system of filing or indexing (if any), a statement of frequency and purpose of use, form of the record itself (bound volumes, sheets in folders, etc.), linear footage, description of the containers, physical condition of the records (not stated if satisfactory), location by room number or other identifying information, and finally, the number of the Form 58SA on which this information was originally recorded by a Survey worker and from which it was abstracted for the Inventory. This form is on file in The National Archives. When it contains substantial information on addenda sheets which has not been included in the mimeographed abstract, indication of this is given by use of the reference "See addenda."

In Tennessee the work of the Survey was under the direction of Judge Samuel C. Williams with Mr. Lowe Watkins, who later succeeded him as director, as his assistant. In May 1937, Tennessee was added to the region under the direction of Mr. Stanley C. Arthur of New Orleans, La., with Mr. John S. Luton as state supervisor. This Inventory of the records of the Federal Courts in Tennessee was prepared in the New Orleans office of the Survey under the direction of Mrs. Norris Fazekas, editor-in-chief and supervisor, and was edited before final typing by Dr. Richard R. Stenberg of the Washington office.

INTRODUCTION

The state of Tennessee was created by the Act of June 1, 1796. A district court was established by Act of January 31, 1797, with one judge, who was to hold annually four sessions of court. Court was to be held alternately at Knoxville and Nashville. By Act of February 17, 1799 Congress provided that persons accused of crime on the east side of the Cumberland Mountains should not be held to answer at the court at Nashville or any other place on the west side of the mountains, and that any one committing a crime on the west side of the mountains, within said district, should not be held to answer at the court of Knoxville or any other place upon the east side of the mountains, but should be held to answer in the court at that side of the mountains where such offense was committed. The same provisions as to jurisdictions and civil matters were provided. Section three of the act set the western foot of the Cumberland Mountains as the boundary dividing the jurisdiction of the eastern from the western side.

The state was divided into two districts by Act of February 13, 1801. That part of the state which lies on the east side of Cumberland Mountain was designated the District of East Tennessee; the remaining part of the state was called the District of West Tennessee. The act also created various circuits, with East Tennessee, West Tennessee, Kentucky, and Ohio composing the Sixth Circuit.

An Act of April 29, 1802 provided that the judge should hold four sessions of court: two at Knoxville, Eastern Tennessee, on the fourth Mondays of April and October, and two at Nashville, Western Tennessee, on the fourth Mondays of May and November.

A district court for the Western District of Tennessee was established by Act of June 18, 1838, and includes Benton, Carroll, Henry, Obion, Dyer, Gibson, Lauderdale, Haywood, Tipton, Shelby, Fayette, Hardeman, McNairy, Hardin, and Perry Counties, with court to be held annually on the third Monday of September at Jackson. The court was invested with the same powers as the district courts of Eastern and Western Tennessee. By Act of June 18, 1839, which was an amendment to the Act of June 18, 1838, the counties of Madison, Henderson, and Weakley were added to compose the district of Western Tennessee; and the residue of the counties of Tennessee, formerly composing the District of Western Tennessee, were incorporated into one district called the Middle District of Tennessee. It was stipulated that court should be held at Jackson. On July 11, 1862 court was removed from Jackson to Huntingdon in the Western District; and on January 26, 1864 from Huntingdon to Memphis.

The Act of June 25, 1868 provided that court should be held at Knoxville for the Eastern District, Nashville for the Middle District, and Memphis for the Western District. The Act of June 14, 1878 provided for the appointment of a district judge for the Western District of Tennessee, to hold terms of court at the times and places required by law and to exercise the same power and jurisdiction as conferred upon the judge of the Eastern and Middle Districts.

In 1878 the Western District was divided into two divisions; Eastern and Western, with court at Jackson in the Eastern Division and at Memphis in the Western Division. These divisions have continued. The Western Division is presently composed of Dyer, Fayette, Haywood, Lauderdale, Shelby, and Tipton Counties. Terms of court are held at Memphis on the first Mondays of April and October. The Eastern Division is now composed of Benton, Carroll, Chester, Crockett, Decatur, Gibson, Hardeman, Hardin, Henderson, Henry, Lake, McNairy, Madison, Obion, Perry, and Weakley Counties. Terms of court are held at Jackson on the fourth Mondays of March and September. The same judge presides over both divisions of the Western District and the clerk of the Western Division is also clerk of the Eastern Division, whose office is operated by a deputy clerk. Records of the two divisions are intermingled.

By Act of June 11, 1880 the Eastern District was divided into two divisions, Northern and Southern, with court to be held at Chattanooga in the Southern Division and at Knoxville in the Northern Division. The Northeastern Division of the Eastern District was established by Act of February 7, 1900, with terms of court at Greeneville. These divisions have continued. The Southern Division is presently composed of Bledsoe, Bradley, Hamilton, James, Marion, McMinn, Meigs, Polk, Rhea, and Sequatchie Counties. Terms of court are held at Chattanooga on the fourth Monday of April and the second Monday of November. The Northern Division comprises the counties of Anderson, Blount, Campbell, Claiborne, Grainger, Jefferson, Knox, London, Monroe, Morgan, Roane, Sevier, Scott, and Union. The court sits at Knoxville on the fourth Monday of May and the first Monday of December. The Northeastern Division has jurisdiction over Cocke, Greene, Hamblen, Hancock, Hawkins, Johnson, Sullivan, Unicoi, and Washington Counties. Court is held at Greeneville on the first Monday of March and the third Monday of September.

The Middle District is now composed of four divisions: the Nashville Division, which was formerly the court seat for the entire Middle District; the Northeastern Division which was established by Act of February 15, 1909; the Winchester Division which was created through Act of June 22, 1916; and the Columbia Division which was established by Act of March 4, 1923. Each division of the court convenes at the place designated, the Northeastern Division convening at Cookeville. One judge presides over all divisions of the courts in the Middle District and all records of the four divisions are kept at Nashville. The Nashville Division is composed of Cannon, Cheatham, Davidson, Dickson, Humphries, Houston, Montgomery, Robertson, Rutherford, Stewart, Sumner, Trousdale, Williamson, and Wilson Counties. Terms of court are held at Nashville on the second Monday of March and the fourth Monday of September. The Winchester Division is composed of Bedford, Franklin, Lincoln, Warren, Grundy, Coffee, and Moore Counties. Court is held at Winchester on the first Monday of April and the third Monday of November. The Columbia Division includes Hickman, Giles, Lawrence, Lewis, Marshall, Wayne, and Maury Counties. Court is required to be held at Columbia on the third Monday of June and the fourth Monday of November. The Northeastern Division presently comprises the counties of Clay, Cumberland, Dekalb, Fentress, Jackson, Macon, Overton, Pickett, Putman, Smith, Van Buren, and White. Terms of court are held at Cookeville on the third Monday of April and the first Monday of November.

INTRODUCTION

Circuit courts in Tennessee were established by Act of February 13, 1801, which provided for the appointment of a circuit judge, who together with the district judges of Tennessee and Kentucky were directed to hold the circuit courts within the said circuit. By Act of Congress of March 3, 1911, effective January 1, 1912, the circuit courts were merged with the district courts.
