Parking Rules Are In Effect

Regulations for parking anywhere on the UK campus are in effect under the administration of the Student Government Association. Permits are issued, in respective order, to physically handicapped, faculty and staff, and commuters according to their distance from school as long as there is available parking space to accommodate these persons. Special handling cases may receive permits by contract with the SGA. Judiciary Committee. This committee reviews all other applications for permits and hears all violation appeals. If six or more tickets are issued between 8 a.m. and 12 noon without a parking permit will receive a traffic ticket. When a student receives a ticket for a traffic violation, the ticket will cost $1, provided the ticket is acknowledged by payment or reporting to the secretary of the SGA within one week of the date on which the ticket was given. After one week has lapsed, the ticket is considered delinquent and costs $2. If six or more tickets are accumulated against a person and he makes no appearance to pay his fine or report the ticket, the sixth ticket and every ticket thereafter will be $5 each. All fines are to be paid to the secretary of the SGA in the Administration Building. Any questions or further information regarding the parking system may be referred to this secretary. Anyone who hasn't registered his car should do so immediately in Room 203 of the Administration Building.

Plans Begun To Honor Dr. Donovan

The Lexington Chamber of Commerce originated plans Tuesday for a state-wide program next week to honor Dr. Herman Lee Donovan's 10th anniversary as president of the University. Ed Wilder, Chamber executive secretary, said he will request UK Alumni Association chapters, civic and business groups, and Chambers of Commerce throughout the state to either have a Dr. Donovan appreciation program at their meetings during the week of July 2-7 or else adopt resolutions or write letters of appreciation to Dr. Donovan for his services to UK and the state.

Pres. Donovan Says That His Stay At University Has Been '10 Wonderful, Happy Years' In Life

Dr. Donovan feels that the greatest thing he has done for the institution in these past ten years is to keep it free. He declares: "We have not yielded to any religious, economic or political pressures that might have interfered with the freedom of teaching and research. The faculty here is free to teach and to publish the truth as they see it. Our students are free to express their opinions without censorship." UK's modern building program began just before the return of Dr. Donovan. The first of the new buildings was an auditorium at the agricultural sub-experiment station at 497 construction on Memorial Coliseum was begun.

A Boon To The State

A glance at the UK General Catalog for 1951-52, which will be available in about a week, gives one an idea of the variety of ways in which our land-grant institution has grown to influence the lives of citizens in the state.

Family Life Institute, 4-H Club Week, Bankers Conference. Heading about such events weeks apart in the Kernel, it is difficult to fit them into the vast framework of University public service.

The some 7,000 of you who come here yearly to subject ourselves to 2,000 courses in 61 fields of study, are perhaps prone to overlook such training service as conferences, institutes, etc., which are carried on at the University.

Among the divisions, departments, and bureaus established specifically to contribute to the welfare of the state through public service are: Agriculture Experiment Station, Agriculture Extension Service, Bureau of Business Research, Bureau of Government Research, Bureau of School Service, Bureau of Source Materials in Higher Education, Teachers Placement Bureau, Radio Studios, Department of Public Relations, Engineering Experiment Station, Department of University Extension, Child Guidance Service, Family Life Institute, Industrial Psychological Service, Social Research Consultation Service, and Bureau of Community Service.

Sometimes the perusal of a somewhat dull book like a university catalog can bring about the realization that a great state university makes a greater state.

Decade Under Donovan

A decade of school progress. That is the way Dr. H. L. Donovan's ten-year tenure as president of UK can best be described. Dr. Donovan says his presidency has been an "exciting, stimulating, and happy experience." The Kernel feels that it has been so because of his great devotion to, and high ambitions for the University.

'J' Major Looking Forward To Building

I've heard a lot of complaints about the new Journalism building, but to me it looks like a dream castle. I guess the outside is sort of overdone, but when I toured the building, the inside looked nice. Of course anything might look nice to me after suffering through classes in the old Journalism fire-box.

'J' Building Irks Student Of Design

We have an excellent Architectural Department and Art Department here at the University. The profs. have long and hard trying to get students to acquire good taste. One look at that ecclesiastical monotony that is to be the Journalism building will ruin two years work in these departments. Someone with considerable skill designed it, because no building could look like that by accident. Whatever person or group of persons is responsible for this nightmare should be made to pay for that eyecore of an entrance — or better yet be made to attend classes in the thing.

Peak, Once A Page, Hopes To Return To Legislature

As Bart N. Peak, executive secretary of the YMCA for the past 39 years, leaves his University alma mater Saturday he has hopes of returning next January to another alma mater—the Kentucky State Legislature. Peak has resigned his position effective tomorrow to be a Democratic candidate for the state legislature from Fayette County.

Peak served as a page in the state legislature from 1908 to 1910. He recalls nostalgically that he was the last page in the old capitol building and the first page in the new building. "I always dreamed of returning to the state legislature some day as an elected member, and now I hope my dreams come true," Peak said.

Babe Pitches Well In Any League

Word comes out of Rochester, Pa. that All-American Quarterback Babe Parill of UK is doing well in the semi-pro baseball league in that area. By baseball trade he is a shortstop but he is also doing some pitching. They always said around Stoll Field that he throws a football as though it were a baseball. Most Kentucky fans may well believe that he can pitch.

Starring Florence Quarantaro in the title role, with Charles Kullman as Prince Danilo, "The Merry Widow" brings to the stage, along with its wealth of intriguing plot, the number of intriguing music, the famous "can-can" dancers from Maxima. The sprightly "can-can," chosen as the season's highlight, is one of the memorable scenes in the Lehár production.

Tax History Is Outlined In Report

A century and a half of Kentucky tax history is outlined in a report just released by the Kentucky Department of Revenue.

"The purpose of the report is to help Kentuckians get a better grasp of today's problems by taking stock of the past," said W. G. Herzog, Acting Commissioner of Revenue said.

The "Report of the Department of Revenue, Commonwealth of Kentucky, 1800," shows that the percentage of Kentucky's total population has grown a lot during the past 150 years. Each generation has been faced with new problems, and the tax story shows plainly how they have tried to solve them.

Herzog believes that students, civic groups, teachers, editors, and individuals may secure copies by writing the Department of Revenue, Frankfort, Kentucky.

Diecy Talks To Teachers

Dr. Frank Diecy, dean of the College of Education, this week said to a group of high school graduates with an interest in becoming teachers that it is the teacher's duty to encourage students to enter the teaching field.

Dr. Diecy congratulated the Classroom Teachers Association on its efforts to improve teaching conditions to attract young people into the profession.

He added: "The future of the nation depends upon the type of persons who guide the nation's children."

Dr. Raymond F. McLain, president of Transylvania College, scene of the conference, spoke to the teachers on their responsibility. He said that education must teach children to live in a confused, complicated world.

Teachers should think in broad terms and attempt to interpret the world to children, he said.

The chief contribution of occidental civilization is the intellectual or practical approach, the Transy president stated.

"Teachers must make children conscious of the world and must present a blending of the scientific and the intuitive and prepare children for citizenship," he asserted.

Talks also were given on teacher responsibility by Miss Frances Jennings, Transylvania dean of students, and Dr. A. B. Crawford, conference director.

The group is scheduled to meet in Lexington Aug. 1 during the fourth annual Classroom Teachers workshop at UK.

Teacher Training Course Stresses Learning For Use

Alert and eager are the 10 grade school students who are attending a demonstration class in the teaching of beginning Latin.

The course which lasts four weeks is being taught by Dr. Jonah W. D. Skiles, University professor of Ancient Languages, in France Hall.

"The purpose of the class," Dr. Skiles said, "is to demonstrate to those graduate students observing the class, newer methods of teaching beginning Latin. The graduate students, who are observing for credit, may criticize the demonstration class."

This newer method is a functional approach in learning Latin. It motivates students to learn Latin not from the standpoint of grammar, but from the standpoint of use.

No books are to be used by the students at the beginning of the course, lest they, by looking in a book, will develop their own pronunciations of Latin words, which would probably result in their pronouncing Latin words as they would an English word. By pointing to subjects, pronouncing them in Latin.

Washington Redskins Sign Walt Yowarsky

Walt Yowarsky is the latest member of the Sunar Bowl Championship football team to join the play for pay ranks. He signed with the Washington Redskins and became the second UK player on the team. Harry Ulinick, 1948 Wildcat captain, is a member of that team and one of the outstanding linemen of Sammy Bush and Company.

Yowarsky, who won the Outstanding Player Award for his play in the Sunar Bowl game. The 6-2, 235 pounder played tackle and defensive end during the 1950 season. He also played in the out-of-field and pitched occasionally for the Wildcat baseball team.

His signing furthered the belief that one of the best ways into pro ball is to perform under the guidance of the UK coaching staff.

Two other members of last year's team had already signed pro contracts. All-American Bob Gain, a 1950 co-captain, and whom many observers rate as the best tackle in the Southeastern Conference in recent years, earlier in the summer signed with the Green Bay Packers. Al Bruno, the glue-fingered linemen, is now a member of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Other UK players playing professional football are George Blanda, a quarterback with the Chicago Bears, Don "Dopey" Phelps, one of the leading punt returners in pro ball, with the Cleveland Browns, Lloyd McTermen, a member of the Chicago Cardinals, and Wash Serini, with the Chicago Bears.

August Grads Should File For Degrees

All seniors who expect to complete their requirements for graduation at the close of the summer term and who have not at a previous time made application for degrees, are requested to do so on Friday, June 29 or Saturday, June 30. This applies also to Graduate Students who expect to complete their requirements for graduate degrees. All applications should be filed in Room 16 of the Administration Building.

As the commencement lists are made from these cards, it is very important to file an application at this time. Candidates for the bachelor's degree will be charged a graduation fee of $8. This will cover the rental of cap and gown, diploma, the Kentuckian, and other necessary expenses. Candidates for advanced degrees, other than the doctorate, will be charged a fee of $20 which will cover the above with the exception of the Kentuckian and in addition the cost of the hood to be presented to the candidate. The fee for candidates for the doctorate is $100. Graduation fees are payable not later than the fourth day preceding the commencement which will be Monday, Aug. 6.

KEA To Ask More Money For Schools

Appropriation of enough money to meet the needs of the state institutions of higher learning and of the State Department of Education is under way among the nine recommendations which the Kentucky Education Association will make to the General Assembly in January. C. D. Redding, superintendent of Frankfort schools and president of the Association, announced at the annual Kentucky Classroom Teachers conference held recently at Transylvania College in Lexington. Other recommendations include revision of percentages in the distribution of state school funds, changes in assessment laws, raising the school fund distribution to the national average of $200 per child, more modern textbooks, a minimum school term of nine months, changes in the teacher retirement system, changes in assessment laws, and clarification of the school-age entrance law.

Terrell Attending Engineer Convention

Dean D. V. Terrell of the College of Engineering is now attending a convention of the Engineering Council Administration Council and the American Society for Engineering Education at the University of Michigan in Lansing. Professor R. D. Hawkins, head of the General Engineering Department, and Professor A. L. Chambers of the Civil Engineering Department have also left to attend the convention which is scheduled from June 25-27.

11 Engineers Make Perfect Standings

Eleven students in the College of Engineering earned 3.0 standing for the previous semester. Dean Daniel V. Terrell has announced. Those making the straight A average were Edwin R. Berry, Paul M. Chung, Thomas H. Clore, Charles S. Fergus, Robert O. Grubbs, James E. Humphrey Jr., William J. McCarty, Glenn S. Mills, Gerald L. Stevens, Jack E. Turman, and Ben M. Van Zeeb.

Hanger Is Converted To Livestock Pavilion

The airplane hangar, located near Rose Street on the Experiment Station Farm, will be converted into a livestock pavilion, UK trustees have decided. The hanger served as temporary quarters for UK's division of maintenance and operations for more than two years.

The new Service Building on Limestone was completed last December. After we told Smith we were doing an article for the UK student paper, he said, "In that case, you'd better say I'm only kidding, because that taking it easy part. But we will give them a fight. You can mention that."

That's fair warning. Look for a fight in the first grid game of 1951 between Tennessee Tech and UK.

Tech Makes Promise To Go Easy On UK

By Dorman Cordell
Roving Kernel Correspondent
Nashville, Tenn.—Tennessee Tech has consolation for us. "We'll take it easy on UK."

That's the word of Flavis Smith, all-Ohio Valley Conference man in basketball and football, captain of the basketball team and end on the football team for Tennessee Tech.

On the way to Nashville with two other Ukrainians, Paul Knapp, Kernel dirty-joke writer this past year, and Dave Simcox, a freshman journalism student, we stopped at Cookeville, Tennessee Tech's home town, for dinner.

At the next table were two men. One, Smith, asked if we were coming to Tech for summer school. When we assured him we were UK students he told us his name and asked about the Wildcat, whom he will be facing next fall.

If all of Tech's men are like Smith the Tech team may be more than a pushover. He is big, and around Cookeville they say he is mighty good. And remember, that OVC is no soft conference.

We discussed football prospects with Smith. He mentioned that Tech's basketball team had practiced in the Coliseum while resting in Lexington.

"Nobody could throw a baseball underhanded to the ceiling," he said. "Boy, that is really nice. I really like it."

Smith guessed it would seat "10,000, anyhow." When he learned that it held about 15,000, counting standing room for a game, he was more amazed.

After we told Smith we were doing an article for the UK student paper, he said, "In that case, you'd better say I'm only kidding, because that taking it easy part. But we will give them a fight. You can mention that."

That's fair warning. Look for a fight in the first grid game of 1951 between Tennessee Tech and UK.

UK Alum Broadcasting Giant Games

Russ Hodges has taken what he calls "my hillbilly Irish lingo" and pushed it into New York microphones to realize a $75,000 a year salary from broadcasting the New York Giants baseball games.

Hodges is an alumnus of UK and played football in 1929. His home is in Covington.

A feature article in the June 5 issue of Look magazine relates Hodges' experiences since he was a student in the UK law school. It follows his career through the minor leagues as an announcer and until he became one of the better known sports announcers in the nation.

In addition to calling the Giants' games, and that can be a dangerous occupation with Brooklyn in the name of heroes, Hodges announces the Past Blue Ribbon bouts over the CBS-TV network every Wednesday.

Radio Notes From WBKY

Would you like to visit one of the best college radio stations in the country? Then take a trip to third floor, McVey Hall and look around.

For the music lovers there are scores of records and a pipe organ for those interested in anouncing there are a number of microphones; for disc jockeys there are turntables; and for the engineers there is a transmitter plus numerous other gadgets.

If you are everyone there is a store of information on behind-the-scenes broadcasting. Prof. Elmer Sulzer, head of the Department of Radio Arts, has extended an invitation to all students to visit the studio.

If you will be unable to attend some of the UK football and basketball games next year, the chances are that you will dial your radio to one of the many stations throughout Kentucky carrying the games.

In that case you may be able to hear one of the new recordings of "On, On U of K," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Alma Mater," and "The Star Spangled Banner," which are being released by the Department of Radio Arts.

These recordings were made in cooperation with the University Athletic Association and the Department of Music. They are being distributed without cost to all radio stations throughout the state.

46 Engineers Attend Camp

Forty-six UK civil engineering students reported June 10 at Camp Robinson, 25 miles north of Hazard, for a six-week field assignment—surveying mountainous areas of three southeastern Kentucky counties.

During the summer camp period, a curriculum requirement for UK civil engineers, the students will apply classroom-learned to practical field projects. Besides the future engineers will do map making and study stream flow of rivers and creeks in the area.

Prof. R. E. Shaver, head of the Department of Civil Engineering, is directing the field assignments. Other members of the summer camp faculty are Assistant Prof. David K. Blythe and Instructors Robert Deen and Byrnes Fairchild.

Camp Robinson is situated in a 15,000-acre reservation comprising parts of Breathitt, Perry and Knott counties. The camp proper, formerly used by the Civilian Conservation Corps, lies along Burkhead Creek near Noble.

Since 1937 when ownership of the camp was transferred to the University, UK engineering students have made yearly treks to the near-isolated spot for experience in surveying and allied phases of study.

Prof. Shaver said a second group of between 45 and 50 students will report to the camp July 23.

Five UK Jerseys Get High Ratings

Three ratings of very good and two of good plus were given recently to five registered jerseys in the Agricultural Experiment Station here under a program of the American Jersey Cattle Club, Director Thomas P. Cooper, has announced.

The ratings were made for all previously unrated females that have had at least one calf and all bulls over two years old. The animals were rated by Prof. M. J. Regan of the University of Missouri, who is an official classifier for the club.

The club's classification program is designed to help breeders of registered Jerseys improve their cattle by knowing which ones are closest to the breed's standard of perfection, which is based upon a system of 100 points for a perfect animal. The national headquarters of the club is in Columbus, Ohio.

Joint Alumni Meeting

The Executive Committee of the UK Alumni Association had a joint meeting with the Frankfort UK Alumni Club in Frankfort Wednesday night, Louis Cox, recently-elected president of the UK Alumni Association, is a member of the Frankfort organization.

Zaranka Signs Contract With Philadelphia Phillies

Ben Zaranka became the third Kentucky Wildcat to join the ranks of professional baseball when he recently forsook a possible future in football to sign a Philadelphia Phillies contract. He was farmed to the Salt Lake City team for seasoning. A centerfielder while at UK, Zaranka was one of the team's leading hitters all during his term here.

Don Pucci is now playing professional baseball in a Class D league with Newark, Ohio, a New York Yankee farm.

Pucci is the second member of the '51 baseball team to sign with the Yankees. C. M. Newton, pitcher and basketball substitute, is also a member of that organization.

Pucci made the All-American baseball team as a catcher in 1949. He was one of the most feared hitters in the SEC for three years. He was perhaps the most versatile football player in the conference last year when he played either in the backfield, on offense or defense, and established himself as one of the nation's top punters.

Some Kentuckians force a day when the history in Yankee Stadium will be Newton pitching and Pucci catching.

Prof. R. E. Shaver, head of the Department of Civil Engineering, is directing the field assignments. Other members of the summer camp faculty are Assistant Prof. David K. Blythe and Instructors Robert Deen and Byrnes Fairchild.
