Henry Bolan Moore, B. S. 1926, is assistant manager for the Garrett Mills. He was married to Miss Millie Cent C. Sheridan '26, October 7, 1926, and they live in Lancaster, Ky.

George Washington Newman, Jr., B. S. 1926, is with the Towell Cadillac Company, Cleveland, Ohio. His address is 2871 Hampton road, South-east, Cleveland, Ohio.

John Isaac Owen, A. B. 1926, is as-

15, the S. C. players were: King, L. E.; Ward, L. T.; DeBow '97, L. G.; Kelley, C.; Wilson, R. G.; Campbell '98, H. T.; Kidd, E. B.; Duncan '97, Q.; Alford '96, Reese, Elliott, Turner, Backs; P. Ward '98, Full Back.

No objection could be offered to the eligibility of the above, unless it was to A. Ward, who apparently came to college for football. The team was no strong one, though it ran up good scores against C. U. and K. U.—also weak teams this year. The team was to become still weaker in the following year.

The baseball schedule for the spring of 1927 resulted as follows:

April 2, Centre 17, S. C. 6.
April 3, Georgetown 28, K. U. 18.
April 10, Centre 16, Georgetown 0.
April 17, S. C. 22, K. U. 11.
April 17, Centre 10, G. U. 8.
May 8, Centre 11, S. C. 2.
May 8, K. U. 11, Georgetown 10.
May 14, Georgetown 13, K. U. 0.
May 22, Centre 14, C. U. 7.

From the size of the above scores it can be seen that there was not very much science displayed in Kentucky College baseball that spring. Centre easily outclassed all the other colleges in this form of sport.

The S. C. team in the game with K. U. was composed as follows: Becker, Duncan, Geary, Alford, Jimmie Bryan, Wooley, Ewell, Reese, Duncan and Geary were the pitchers.

The S. C. local Field Day was held on May 19 and the event with their winners and the scores were as follows:

100-Yard dash, Campbell '98, 10 4-5 seconds.
Putting the shot, Vinson, 33 feet.

220-Yard hurdles, Campbell '98, 31 seconds.
880-Yard run, Kemster, 2:24.
Pole vault, Sid Smith '99, 9 feet, 3 inches.

Broad jump, Campbell '98, 20 feet, 1 1-2 inches.
High jump, Campbell '98, 6 feet, 2 inches.

Throwing the hammer, Volney Bryan, 65 feet.
One-mile run, Kemster, 5:13.
220-Yard dash, Campbell, 25 seconds.

The Intercollegiate Field Day was held on May 24 at the fair grounds, S. C. K. U. and C. U. participating. They ranked according to points in the order named, S. C. winning with 60 points; K. U. coming next with 39 points; and C. U. last with 9 points. The events with the result were as follows:

100-Yard dash, Elliott, S. C., 10 3-4 seconds.
Putting the shot, Pilkington, K. U., 33 feet, 4 1-2 inches.
High jump, Slayden, K. U., 5 feet, 7 inches.

Quarter-mile run, Clay, K. U., 52 1-5 seconds.
Broad jump, Campbell, S. C., 19 feet, 7 inches.

Half-mile run, Willmot, K. U., 2:10 1-4.
Pole vault, Sid Smith, S. C., 9 feet, 6 inches.

220-Yard hurdles, Campbell, S. C., 27 1-2 seconds.
Throwing the hammer, Volney Bryan, 79 feet.
One-mile run, Kemster, S. C., 5:15 1-2.
220-Yard dash, Elliott, S. C., 23 8-5 seconds.

FOOTBALL HIT BY TRUSTEES IN 1896

Resolution Passed At Meeting Practically Abolishes Game: Students' Petition Results in Reinstatement of Sport.

The board of trustees at the December meeting had passed resolutions practically abolishing football, going further apparently than President Patterson had intended, so he called the students together in the spring and suggested a plan by which, on petition, the students might get football reinstated. The conditions were complied with and the board at its June meeting rescinded, or modified, their former action.

Decoration Day was this year given up to a dual meet with K. U., resulting in points, S. C. 68, and K. U. 36. The events with the winners were as follows:

100-Yard dash, Alford '96, S. C., 10 seconds.

Man Riled by Rivals' Time Claims

Rutherford, N. J.
March 9, 1927
Larus & Bro. Co.
Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen:
I sure get some riled when I see where some fellow is crowing over the fact that being older, and having run into Edgeworth sooner than his less fortunate competitors, he challenges the world the champion longest-time member of the Edgeworth Club.

He doesn't deserve any medals. He got his reward in the enjoyment of his smoking for the added number of years. He was just lucky in starting sooner, that's all.

However, if you care to delve into ancient history, look up the man who first started to pull down the old Grand Central Station in New York, then add at least six months to that, and you will arrive at the approximate time when I first joined the club.

I have smoked at least one pipeful of every other tobacco I have seen advertised, sometimes through necessity, but most of the time to prove to myself that I have been right in sticking to the old blue tin.

Yours truly,
H. M. Wittridge

A REGRETTABLE INCIDENT

The following letter was received by a Stroller official in regard to the presentation of the annual Stroller play in the city of Ashland:

1120 Twenty-ninth Street,
Ashland, Ky., March 21, 1928.

Mr. Henry Bowman,
320 Linden Walk,
Lexington, Ky.
Dear Sir:
In reply to your letter of March 14, I am sorry to say that the Alumni decided at a recent meeting that it would be inadvisable to undertake the production of "Dulcy" in Ashland this spring. Following the tournament there seems to be a hostile feeling among the people because some of the University students "rooted" against Ashland at the names, and while the Strollers had nothing to do with this, they are connected with the University, and those who attended the tournament were of the opinion that we could not get a crowd out for the play.

I am greatly disappointed and hope this animosity will soon die out. We plan to organize in the fall and be in shape to undertake the Stroller play next year.

Very sincerely,
ALPHONSINE STEWART.

It was with a feeling of surprise that The Kernel read the foregoing letter which Mr. Bowman turned over to us for publication. Until the present, The Kernel was unaware that any such feeling existed against the University or against the Strollers. However, it cannot but admit, that considered in the light of the foregoing letter, and in view of conditions growing out of the tournament here, the people of Ashland may be justified in assuming the attitude they have taken in regard to this matter.

The Kernel cannot deny that a number of the more immature students did "root" for the Carr Creek team, but that they did so because they had a special feeling for that team and against Ashland is debatable. The Kernel is inclined to believe that they "rooted" for the friendless little mountain team simply because they considered it the sporting thing to do. Considered on the whole we believe that this is simply another one of those unfortunate cases of misunderstanding that occurs from time to time, and which, if one regards it thoughtfully, free from any feeling of prejudice, will be settled happily for both parties.

The Kernel sincerely hopes that Ashland will consider it in this light, and that they will display under the circumstances the same gallant sportsmanship their team displayed on the floor of the University gymnasium.

The incident certainly is regrettable, but if both parties view the matter in a clear light, The Kernel believes that this misunderstanding will be relegated to the background of a schoolboy's resentment.

The people of Ashland, we are sure, will not allow the incident to assume a degree of serious magnitude. As the doughty said, "Forget it."

A "JUDICIAL" DECISION

The fact that the versatile Engineers found it necessary to continue the presentation of John Galsworthy's "Justice" this week at the Romney Theater speaks highly of its merit and is an action admittedly justifiable by all who saw the play. The play attracted much favorable comment from the large audiences which attended each night, and in review, The Lexington Herald said, "the fact that this play was continued into the present week at the Romney Theater gives indication that the plans to take the play on a tour, and eventually, perhaps, to New York City, are fully justified."

"Justice" is a play of so compelling a theme that it does not lend itself easily to amateur production and to the students, whose acting easily rivaled that of the professional actors, goes the double compliment of having the nerve and aggressiveness to undertake such a tremendous presentation and of having succeeded remarkably well in this undertaking.

The artistic polish with which this play was dramatized, the perfect stage settings and lighting effects, and the excellent study of character parts all went to show that the Engineers worked hard to make the play the best they could and that in this they won an unanimous decision in their favor.

The Kernel joins with the entire student body in wishing them the greatest of success on their eastern tour.

TAKE A REST

With the coming of the Easter holidays, The Kernel trusts, and he believes, no reason to doubt that the students will toss aside their books, forget the routine of college life, and betake themselves away to their homes with no thought as to anything but to enjoy a brief period of rest.

It is at this time that the University offers to the student the luxury of enjoying his periodic case of spring fever and The Kernel is of the opinion that he should, with all enthusiasm, let the disease run its course.

We trust, however, that you will come back completely "cured," ready to work with a new vim and determination.

It is at this time that he has grown into what practically amounts to a national institution. No one has ever assailed the honesty of his opinion. He can, with his penetrating flash of genius, turn the spotlight of truth on political subterfuge, the lightning humor of his attack flooring his opposition.

Mr. Rogers has a basis for his seemingly spontaneous remarks a complete and comprehensive knowledge of contemporary politics, conditions, and a thorough understanding of human nature.

The Concert Band last Sunday afternoon browsed around through several of the classics, and literally tore the roof off with playing the closing march, "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The descriptive repertoire, "The Year 1812," was correctly played, even if it seemed to be lacking somewhat in imaginative interpretation.

Another researcher has declared that five-ninths of a boy's time is unorganized. Well, we'd like him to have three days, attend four classes, engage in a three-hour ball session and visit at least six of his favorite societies all in one day.

A new vitamin, residing chiefly in lettuce and liver, has been named Vitamin F. We gather that there must be at least five other vitamins. Count them, a-b-c-d-e.

But why not name this new corner "L." This would help us remember where to look for them.

MARTHA CONNELL, Editor
THE WEB OF NIGHT

That lonely palm tree here
The river meets the sea
Is climbing slowly there
Up to the moon,
Just as a spider climbs
Up to a yellow beam
Caught in the web of night's
Late afternoon.

Only one moment left
And then the dawn shall whisk
This magic warp-and-weft
From 'round the moon,
Which, loosened from its thread,
A drifting marble disk,
Shall sepulchre the dead
Night's ghost aswoon.

The web of night ensnares
Your feet in glove for me,
But when the dawn wind tears
This web too soon,
Shall I have touched your lips
Up to the moon,
As now the palm tree tips
The yellow moon?—G. W. F.

AFTER PAIN
I felt my heart would break with hate
Remembering your cruelty;
And then a gay, wise mockery
Healed me who was so dejected.
Now when your name compels
Attention, like thin bells
Swung gently by faint ghostly winds it sounds,
Or like leaves rustling on deserted grounds . . .
I like not hate, but vividness
Were better than forgetfulness.—F. D.

SOMBRE MOOD
Hope—
Foolish hope that gives
To me
Love's happy dream
Of you.
Shadows—
Lonely shadows that steal
Into my thoughts
Like lazy clouds
Across the moon.
Tears—
Unwept tears that fill
My heart
And drift like mist
Into my soul.
Regret—
Bitter regret that comes
To me
Like broken drift
Along the shore.

Death—
Sweet Death that lets
Me forget
Life's tears and dreams
And you.—R. E. S.

WINTER NIGHT
Peace fell with dusk on shadowed streets
Where trees breathed livings of quiet joys
And men came nigh.
The stars this winter night, the moon,
Etched sharply with their radiant points the scene
around 'till pain
Dwelt in their exquisite perfection . . . Then,
Filling that silver silence, rang the chimes. I stood,
Unused to reverence; I, disdaining men
With their sad mockeries of gods and creeds
And bowed my head. Strangely, a quietness
As of the trees, the stars, the moon, clothed me
With their own happiness . . . The chimes,
Sonorous, soft and softer fading, lingered, hushed,
And all was still again.—F. D.

The Critic's Ink Pot

(By Ollie M. James)
Ho! Will Rogers will appear, as Rogers only can, at the Woodland Auditorium, tomorrow night, for one performance only.

Mr. Rogers, through his wit, his sound unbiased judgment of everyday affairs, is a man who has developed into an international celebrity, yet was unknown outside New York City until several years ago.

Since that time he has grown into what practically amounts to a national institution. No one has ever assailed the honesty of his opinion. He can, with his penetrating flash of genius, turn the spotlight of truth on political subterfuge, the lightning humor of his attack flooring his opposition.

Mr. Rogers has a basis for his seemingly spontaneous remarks a complete and comprehensive knowledge of contemporary politics, conditions, and a thorough understanding of human nature.

Band Plays Classics
The Concert Band last Sunday afternoon browsed around through several of the classics, and literally tore the roof off with playing the closing march, "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The descriptive repertoire, "The Year 1812," was correctly played, even if it seemed to be lacking somewhat in imaginative interpretation. The overture includes a musical resume of the march, the capture of Moscow, the confusion, then the Russian anthem is thundered forth in the brasses, indicating the route of the enemy.

The graphic visualization of the struggle is secured by a masterful balancing of the "Marsellaise" and a Russian folk song by each other, allowing first one and then another to predominate, and finally allowing the Russian anthem to burst forth uncontested, the piece ending in a peen of joy, with bells pealing and shouts of victory.

My imagination ran riot. It is small wonder that the band could not equal it.

Play Stars and Stripes Forever
Director Sulzer had the entire band to stand while playing the closing march, "Stars and Stripes Forever," thus providing a bit of flash which threatened to end the concert prematurely, the audience misinterpreting the action and part started to leave, while the remainder believed the selection being played was the "Star Spangled Banner," and stood at attention throughout the piece. If the band plays as well standing every time as they did last Sunday, I believe it would be wise to have them stand all of the time.

More Religion in Music
"Oh, Wind, if winter comes, can spring be far behind?" On the billows of new spring hats and sartorial masterpieces comes the heraldic approval of Easter.

On that day the magnificent simplicity of this commemorated event will again be transmitted through the years. Perhaps no more fitting agency for this communication can be found than the thundering organ and the choir's pinnacles of melody.

Crede, I believe that just a little more religion can be put into music than language, uni-dimensional as it is. So go to the churches sometime before Easter, and see if you cannot read or feel a message in the glorious majesty of the music there which the faltering tongue of the pastor cannot interpret for you.

"Ben Hur" at Strand
Back to the sublime again. "The Play's the Thing," as some one said somewhere once upon a time. This coming week it really seems to be. The screen aggrandizement of Gen. Lew Wallace's "Ben Hur" is now showing at the Strand theater, possessing all of the punch of the novel, together with life-like scenes of the various exciting occurrences in the plot, including the renowned chariot race. Ramon Navarro heads a capable cast of Betty Bronson, May Mevov, Curran Myers, Francis X. Bushman, and thousands of others.

The picture is masterful in its settings, tense throughout the action, which mounts up into a crashing climax, and educational in a most delightful sort of way. Oh boy, if they had only taught me history this way! Ramon Navarro does some really excellent acting, in a gloriously masculine manner, as do the feminine leads in a gloriously feminine manner. An excellent picture, excellently directed. Take your bow, Fred Niblo.

"Chicago" at Ben Ali
"Chicago," that satirical take-off on tabloid newspaper sensationalism.

Dear Editor:

I'll tell you the reason that the student body displayed such little interest in the first half of next week's "Sweet" Easter.

The scene of the picture is laid in Vienna, long hailed by poets and novelists as the most colorful and fascinating city in the world, and an international capital of culture, music, and art; the Vienna of 1914, not the city of today struggling with poverty, political turmoil and readjustment following the World War.

Sidelights of History
All of you, being good sons and daughters of Kentucky, have no doubt read your Freshman Bibles sufficiently assiduously to know that the institution which afterwards became known as our own University of Kentucky, was originally founded by John Bowman in 1855. How many of you, we wonder, know that Daniel Boone is supposed to have had a part in the founding of our school?

Tradition says that the citizens of this territory, realizing that Kentucky would some day be a state, made plans for a university which, when Kentucky had secured her charter, could also be the state university of Kentucky. They dispatched Daniel Boone as a committee of one to buy the necessary land from the Indians. Boone was received into the presence of Chief Pohank of the Cherokees, or was it the Pawnees or the Snickees? History is a bit vague on the point, but it is of small importance. He found the chief, dressed in a loin cloth and top hat, chewing tobacco vigorously. The chief motioned Boone to be seated and asked his business. Boone replied that he wished to buy land for a school. The chief became suddenly interested.

"What kind of a school?" he inquired, taking another liberal chew of Climax (for verily Granger was not known in those days) which not at all interfered with his talking, for he was using the sign language.

"Why, a university," answered Boone, "one that can be converted into a state university when Kentucky becomes a state." The old chief's face darkened threateningly.

"It is," he asked slowly, "to be co-educational?"

"Naturally," Boone replied, and dodged just in time to avoid the old chief's tomahawk.

Boone saved his life by some excellent trackwork. The Indians, impressed at the idea that their beautiful homeland was to be desecrated by a co-educational state university, banded themselves together to expel the white men. The struggle was long and bloody and retarded Kentucky's progress to such an extent that the effects are still being felt. As a result of this terrible war the word Kentucky has been interpreted as meaning the "Dark and Bloody Ground."

We are still crushed under the humiliation of not receiving a bid to the Leap Year dance last Saturday afternoon. We have always had a well defined impression that we do not rate

Carnival King Is Elected at Centre

Danville, Ky. (K. I. P. A.)—Lyle "Red" Thompson has received the honor of being elected King of the Centre College Carnival this year. "Red" hails from Jamaica, Long Island. He is a member of the Sigma Chi social fraternity, and is one of the most popular men on the campus. Football, basketball, and baseball have yielded him six letters. He is captain of the baseball team for this spring.

There were only two candidates for the crown. "Red" has made himself conspicuous in all phases of activities at Centre and is indeed worthy of the honor. The Annual Centre Carnival is the climax of the school year. The coronation of the king and queen takes place the night of the carnival dance which is given during commencement week. Miss Bernice Arnold, popular Danville girl and student at K. C. W., was chosen by the "C" Club of Centre to be Queen of the Carnival.

WERT HURLS FIRST GAME; WINS EASILY

By Wayman Thomasson
The Wildcats divided a two-game series with Ohio State on the Stoll Field diamond last Friday and Saturday afternoons and established Coach Freddie Major's squad of players as a ball team; if they will only play as they are capable of playing. It was by playing in this capable manner that the Wildcats won Friday's game by a score of 14 to 2, and it was by failing to play baseball that they lost Saturday's game 12 to 4.

On Friday, Wert, the old war horse, limbered up the arm he used last fall to ram Centre football helmets in the dust, and breezed so many fast balls up to the Buckeye batters that he had them gasping for breath. Ohio garnered very few hits and no runs at all, except in the first and second innings when strong-arm Charlie took pity on the weak Buckeyes and donated two runs to their cause.

The feature of the game was the versatility of the "Cats at field and at bat. In the field they collected four stolen bases and made two double plays. At bat they made 14 hits, three of which were garnered by Catcher Goodwin, who was accustomed to act as rookie backstop for the Louisville Colonels last spring. He asserted his impatience by launching a home run project in the eighth inning which helped the "Cats to gain seven runs and to make Fitcher Still of Ohio State feel very much like his name sounds. Young Mauser, who cavorted around in right field, also spent a heavy afternoon with the stock and gained three hits to share the slugging honors with Mr. Goodwin.

Saturday afternoon the well known, worn executed another turn when Coach Trautman put nine men on the diamond who felt more at home than those who had lost the day before, and had made so many errors. This new aggregation laid down such a barrage of hits in the first inning that they made three runs before Coach Major's diamond jumpers were able to see through the smoke. These were collected from the offerings of Robert Rhoads, the left-handed member of the Rhoads twin firm, Raymond, the rest of the firm, relieved his brother of the mound duty in the ninth inning but did very little damage to the Buckeye batting average because the Ohioans ran across three runs in that inning to call it a day. Incidentally, the Wildcats looked about as poor in this game as they had looked superlatively well the day before, all of which is in keeping with the inconsistent manner in which Kentucky teams have been playing this year.

However, one flower bloomed very

Sigma Chis Win Intra-Mural Track Meet; Roller Skating Derby Next

The Sigma Chi team, with a total of 24 points, was returned victorious in the annual spring track meet promoted by the intra-mural department in this meet which was held last Saturday on Stoll Field, Pi Kappa Alpha collected 20 1-2 points to finish in second place, Phi Sigma Kappa scored 18, Delta Tau Delta 17 3-4, and Alpha Sigma Phi 15, to finish up the order.

Sigma Chi, who won three firsts, one second, two thirds, and two fourth places in the meet, receiving the silver trophy presented by the intra-mural department to the 1928 fraternity track champions.

Don Williams of the Alpha Sigma Chi team, by virtue of his victories in the high and low hurdles and the 220-yard dash, scored all of the points by his team and incidentally won for himself the silver loving cup given to the high-point man of the meet. Williams chalked up 15 points and was closely followed by Elrod with 13 and McLane with 12.

First Sorority Relay
Chi Omega sorority gets the distinction of having won the first sorority relay ever staged at the University of Kentucky. Four miles for this event allowed each sorority to pick a four-man team, one of whom could be a varsity man, to represent them in the relay. The team, composed of Ambrose, Harris, Rogers, and Bill Gess running as the anchor man, stepped out a neat mile in 3 minutes and 48.5 seconds and won the loving cup for the Chi Omegas. The Tri-Delt team finished second, Beta Sigma Omicron third, and Kappa Delta fourth.

The medley relay run according to the new A. A. rule calling for a half-mile run, 440-yard dash, three-quarters of a mile, and the mile was won in the fast time of 12 minutes and 47 seconds by the Pi Kappa Alpha team. However, the winning team was disqualified because of the ineligibility of one of their men. The Phi Tau team which finished second was awarded the trophy. The Phi Taus also won the mile relay and another trophy offered in this event.

According to M. E. Potter, director of intra-mural athletics, the various events of the meet drew 185 entries. Clear weather prevailed throughout the contests and a large crowd was present to witness the athletes vying for the honors.

Roller Derby Next

The track meet last Saturday ended pretty in the Kentucky garden. Irving Jeffries stepped into one Klim's kinking fast ones in the first inning and sent it for a long journey to the football stadium, while he and Dutch Layman, who was on base at the time, paraded around the diamond for two runs. He drove in another run with a single in the eighth and performer most spectacularly down at short stop.

In contrast to their performance the day before, Sommers and Hiehl, the Ohio State keystone sack combination, played brilliantly and contributed several fielding features that brought round on round of applause from the gallery.

PHYSIQUE OF AVERAGE OHIO STATE FRESHMAN

The average Ohio State freshman is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds and is three months past 18 years of age.

This synthetic freshman was found by Dr. J. H. Nichols, head of the men's division of physical education, from a study of the physical examinations of more than two thousand new students.

Eight out of every 10 freshmen, Doctor Nichols says, can swim when they come to the university, but only one in three uses tobacco.

DAILY PRACTICE FOR SHIVELY'S TRACKMEN

The varsity track men are diligent in applying themselves to the cinder path in preparation for the Georgia Tech Relays to be held at Atlanta, April 14. The pole vault made a creditable showing at the Illinois Relay Carnival Saturday a week ago, and Bill Gess, our Olympic prospect who made the spectacular run which established a new record for the 1,000-yard run, is practicing daily under Coach Shively's direction. All the members of the track squad are gradually rounding into form, and although material is scarce, the participants should be fairly competent for the Atlanta meet two weeks from now. Elliott, Dahman, Johnson, and McChesney are practicing to take care of the one- and two-mile runs. Shipley is making the most time in the dashes, while James and Kavanaugh are handling the shot-put and discus. Lynn, Rhodomeyer, and Roberts have been getting good height in the pole vault. Root and Maxon are the probable representatives in the high and low hurdles. West is broad jumping excellently. On the whole the candidates are very promising.

COLLEGE SPORTS

(By Bill Reep)

The baseball season got away to rather a good start last Friday when the 'Cats went on a batting spree and subdued the Ohio State aggregation by a 14 to 2 score. Being the first game of the season, many of the fans expected the game to be uninteresting but the Kentucky men played "heads up" ball for nine innings and turned in a very creditable game.

Charlie Wert pitched air-tight ball, allowing the Ohio batsmen five measly hits. These were scattered to such an extent that they did not offer any serious threats. Coupled with Wert's pitching, the splendid manner in which the infield backed up and supported his offerings to the opposing men was noteworthy. They played with a zip and snap that made the whole infield hot with the briskness of speed in which the players covered their respective positions. Not a ball passed through an infielder's hands. When they did come that way, the pellets were picked off the ground in big league style and hurled to first base with ease, usually beating the runner four or five feet.

The second game of the series which was played on Saturday was not so good from Kentucky's point of view. After playing an air-tight game the day before, the 'Cats became lax in their efforts and the entire team accounted for numerous errors. These all resulted in scores for Ohio and they completely turned the tables on the 'Cats when they pounded the offerings of "Lefty" Rhodes for about eight good hits, netting them 14 runs to our 4.

It was disappointing to watch the Kentucky men in their last game with Ohio. We know that Coach Major has a good ball team and that it was not his fault that the fellows did not play up to par. They were over-anxious for one thing, but one can't blame them for that. They wanted to win just as bad as the rosters wanted them to win, but it was just one of those games that will happen to any baseball team. Since they did lose, it might do them a world of good, as they can profit later by their mistakes, and Coach Major will have a chance to iron out the rough spots before they go on their Southern trip next week.

Next week, April 2, the Wildcats will open their Southern Conference campaign in Georgia with the University of Georgia in a two-game series. The games on this trip will be the ones that count on the conference standing, and the men are all primed to take just as many of the engagements as possible. After the Georgia games, the Major-coached men will journey to Oglethorpe for another two-game series on Wednesday and Thursday. From there they will wind up the week's trip in Tennessee on Friday and Saturday, when they cross bats with the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee.

If any degree of success is experienced on this trip, the Wildcats will be established as one of the contenders for the Southern Conference championship. With the baseball club that the University has, there is no reason why it should not make a record for itself this year. With the weather becoming fairly decent now, the men will have a greater opportunity to stay out of doors for their practice sessions, and that is the thing that any ball club needs. Since the first games are over with, and first stages of fright have passed, the Kentucky men should settle down to real business and devote their time to winning the remaining games this season.

About the only bright spot in Saturday's game was in the first inning. "Dutch" Layman was on first when Jeffries came to bat. Ohio had already scored three runs in their first half of the opening inning and things looked rather bad. Jeff came up to the plate and with that never-failing smile of his, looked at the pitcher in a tantalizing way that must have irked him, because he cut loose with a fast one which cut the plate in two. This was what Jeff wanted for he met the ball on the nose with a "wallop" that carried it out past the left field and it never stopped rolling until it hit the stadium. It was the first home run of the year and it brought in one run which brightened the outlook of the game for the first inning. One other bright spot of the game was a lightning fast double play in the fifth inning, executed by Jeffries to Gibb to Cole. At this time there were two men on base and one out and the play checked a possible two runs.

25 MEN REPORT FOR VARSITY TENNIS

By Harold Wynn

Tennis was officially opened for the season of 1928 last Tuesday afternoon, in the office of the coach, Prof. H. H. Downing, in the C. and P. building, when twenty-five varsity and freshman tennis aspirants turned out for the initial meeting of the year, besides Captain Irving Cohen and Manager Rawlings Ragland, the following men were out as candidates for the varsity squad: Combs, Woodburn, Walker, Dudson, Brock, Davidson, Hammersly, Caulkins, Johnson, Lauffer and Sharp. The freshmen, who will be organized soon, numbered nine in all, and are as follows: Todd, Kee, Combs, Sprout, Prewitt, Spence, Carroll and Sones.

Meet Notre Dame
Professor Downing stated at the meeting that a tentative schedule had been arranged with such teams as Notre Dame, Cincinnati, St. Xavier, Georgetown, Berea, University of Louisville, and Centre as opponents this spring for the Wildcat. It is also expected that the Blue and White will take part in the S. L. A. tennis meet, which is to be held at Centre, on the request of the Danville institution. The team will be composed of five men, and each match handled with five singles events and two double engagements. The men will be ranked, and will keep their position wholly by meritorious playing.

Captain Cohen is the only varsity man back this season. However, some excellent material is on hand from last year's fresh squad. Ragland is the outstanding player of the University. Cecil Combs, John Dudson and Clay Brock are other numerales. A lad named Shapo has quite a reputation as a racketeer, while Davidson is well known on local courts. Among the fresh, Todd, junior champion of Cincinnati, and Joe Kee, Elias Dewitt star, are outstanding. Five letters and three numerals will be awarded to the outstanding players this year.

The intra-mural track meet was a big success and a great deal of credit should be given to Mr. Potter and the coaches for the manner in which they handled each event. There were quite a number of aspirants for each event and it was pleasing to the intra-mural department to see the way the fraternities and sororities turned out for the meet. There were no records broken, or made for that matter, but credit can be given to the ones who went out and tried — they had the spirit at least. Spirit is one thing this University lacks and there isn't any reason for this. Things do look a little better, at least, more so than they did some time ago, and it is hoped that as the time goes by that the spirit will improve more than ever. Intra-mural athletics is gradually helping the cause, and great credit is given to that department.

ILLINOIS TO PLAY BLUE HERE ON APRIL 9
Illinois, whom the Wildcats will meet on the diamond on April 9, leaves on its Southern baseball trip tomorrow. Eight games will comprise the complete schedule of the Illini. Along with Kentucky, the northerners will play "Old Miss," Mississippi A. and M., Alabama, Ft. Benning Infantry School, two games apiece being played with the latter three teams.
Lundgren's men landed a tie with Iowa for the Western Conference championship last year, and had possibly the most outstanding group of diamond stars in the entire Big Ten. Coach Lundgren has a nucleus of six lettermen this season. They are Captain Dick Finn, shortstop; Andrews, pitcher; Dorn and Sweeney, fielders; Bud Stewart, pitcher, and Norman Gundlach, infielder. Three varsity men were lost by graduation, two are ineligible, and one varsity player did not return.
Illinois has a wonderful bunch of prospects from its freshman team of last season, and with the varsity men left, Illinois should be exceptionally hard to beat. The Southern trip will end at Lexington, so the Illinois nine should be in its best form against Major's men. It is certain that some excellent baseball will be displayed.

Find your future in a Kresge job...
Read about J. L. PICKERING, Jr.
"When I finished college it took me two years to pick the right company. When this decision was reached, I forgot my degree, my diploma, my major, minor, and started in at the bottom with the S. S. Kresge Co., a business totally foreign to my training. If I was not in a condition that the Company was everything and the kind of business not so important, I was headed the right way.
"The re-adjustment period was pretty hard and it took a lot of stick-to, but during this period I found out something else. It is not education that makes a business man, but how to apply what you know. For that reason a college man has the advantage over his less fortunate brother.
"My experience in this Company can be duplicated by any other college graduate. Every Kresge executive started in at the bottom, and was advanced as far as the different phases of the business were learned. Results alone determine how successful one will be. There is always plenty of room at the top for the most ambitious, and due to constant expansion, this condition will hold true for a great many years to come, certainly during this generation."
J. L. PICKERING, Jr.
Mr. Pickering is now in the General Office at Detroit.

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL CONVENE APRIL 4

Extension Department Rapidly Completes Arrangements For Annual Interscholastic Contests Among District Winners.

The extension department has announced a tentative program for the eighth annual interscholastic tournament and High School Week to be held at the University April 4, 5, 6, and 7, and arrangements are rapidly being completed which will make this the best meet ever held. Dr. Wellington Patrick is in charge of the plans and Louis Clifton is acting as his assistant.

More students than ever before are entered in the various activities this year and the work done in the preliminary tests show that they are working hard to be sent as delegates to the tournament. Many schools that do not have any participants are also planning on sending delegates or bringing groups of students to witness the events. The program to be carried out has considerable educational value for the pupils and also for the teachers.

Tests have been prepared by the department and consist of, English I, dealing with the mechanics of English; English II, dealing with knowledge of English and American literature; American history and civics, and several phases of science. Debating has also been considered as a feature, but it is believed that the entries in music, oratory, public discussion and the scholastic events will be of more interest.

The state has been divided into districts for the purpose of selecting the students who will appear here. There are 16 districts and Prof. Charles E. Skinner, principal of the Lexington Senior High, is chairman of this district. More than 100 students met here last Saturday to compete for district honors.

The University will award an interscholastic league pin to the winner of first honors of each grade in the district and a number of valuable prizes await the winners of the State championship.

Professor Iler Is Found Dead In Car
Experiment Station Chemist Succumbs Suddenly to Heart Failure

Prof. Wayne D. Iler, 26 years old, chemist at the University, was found dead in his automobile which was parked in front of his home, 314 Grosvenor avenue, shortly before 4 o'clock Friday morning, and Coroner J. Harvey Kerr pronounced his death due to heart failure.

Professor Iler left his home at 6:25 o'clock Thursday evening to attend a meeting of the Masonic Lodge, and when he did not return a search was made which resulted in finding his body in the automobile. As he did not attend the meeting it is supposed that he died immediately upon getting into the car.

Professor Iler was a graduate of the University and was connected with the chemistry laboratory of the experiment station at the time of his death. He was prominent in both local and state Masonic circles.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence with Rev. J. Archer Gray officiating, and interment was in the Lexington cemetery.

to the secret of all worth-while living. It for increasing the stock of goodness in the world. It offers membership in an organization which thinks in terms of world relations. There is no government or business or society or alliance of interests that touches so many people in so many ways as organized religion. In spite of its acknowledged weaknesses, the church is the best institution that has ever been founded upon this earth. No other organization of any character whatsoever can compete with it in earnest and inspiring loyalty on the part of its members.

The church offers a comradeship of worshippers. While it urges private devotion, it brings men together so that they may receive the inspiration which comes from united worship; and to this end it provides a vast storehouse for aids so that men may "practice the presence of God." This comradeship is the greatest brotherhood in existence. It includes all humanity, regardless of its rank, or creed, or color, or economic condition. It embraces all classes of men, from the humblest penitent to the most gifted saint.

The church offers men the most inspiring task in the world. It gives them a view of life which lifts them out of themselves and relates them to vast purposes. It has a world-wide program of social adjustment, sanctioned and empowered by religion. It offers modern men a fighting chance in the great struggle to improve the conditions of life here on earth. It asks men to devote their best talents and their keenest wisdom and their highest genius in making this world what it ought to be.

The church offers the greatest moral adventure in human experience. It offers a program for personal living; a social passion that will build a new social order; a vital contact with the great elements of culture; a faith that destroys all fear; a source of power unparalleled; a place of leadership for every man who possesses real ability; an assurance of ultimate victory.

The church offers comradeship with Jesus in all the affairs of life. It gives men a clearer understanding of the mind of Christ. It is through Christ that they come to know God. The steady discipline of intimate friendship with Jesus results in men becoming like Him.

The church offers to men a solution of the problem of sin. It offers comfort and strength when trials come and sorrows weigh upon the heart; an enlargement of life's meaning; guidance in life's endeavors; and an assurance of life's outcome. It offers a message of courage and hope; the gift of wisdom in times of perplexity; the assurance of perfect peace; emancipation from ignorance through the truth which makes all men free, and the power of eternal life.

(This message was prepared by one hundred American clergymen of various denominations, whose preaching has appealed to men to an unusual degree.)

K. I. P. A. ISSUES PAPER SCORE CARD

Association Sets Out Merits on Which School Papers Will Be Judged in Annual Award of Trophy.

Many editors of school publications have written to headquarters of the Kentucky Interscholastic Press Association for information regarding the considerations upon which the judges will base their decisions in awarding the trophies in the annual contest among scholastic newspapers of the state. The following are the merits sought by the judges as set out by the association:

School News: How fully the various activities of the school are covered; how many subjects and school departments are mentioned; how much there is besides routine news; ingenuity in developing news field; personal news items.

General News: Coverage of related news outside the school, such as will interest parents, alumni, and other interested persons.

News Writing: Structure of news stories; clearness, conciseness, and originality in writing; good leads; well-developed features; coherence, well-paragraphed stories; use of direct quotation and other devices of news writing.

Sport Writing: Absence of extreme partisanship in account of games; fact articles instead of "dope"; good English with a minimum of slang and colloquialisms; enough real copy to fill space rather than valueless padding.

Editorials: Well-written discussions of school affairs, indicating careful thought and careful writing; informative, helpful discussions.

Specie: Feature Articles: Skill shown in developing articles on unusual subjects within the news field; use of well-written, while fact articles on matters of interest to the school offsetting the many essays and fiction stories.

Features: Quality of literary material published; evidence that entire student body is encouraged to contribute; fiction, essays, poetry, etc.

Quality of English: Clearness, readability; avoidance of slang and trite expressions; achievement of originality by legitimate means.

Departments: Number, variety, typography, contents, evidence that each is kept up to "par" and not allowed to be padded out.

Humor: Whether the jokes are local school jokes and not clipped or rewritten "old-timers"; whether they avoid personalities; whether they are not excessive in quality; whether they warrant the space taken; whether borrowed jokes are properly accredited to sources from which they are obtained.

Headlines: Form and typography used; careful balance of lines and leads; use of verbs and statements in headlines; avoidance of many common errors.

Subheads: Also captions, overlines and other display in news columns.

Name of Newspaper: Whether it is a sensible name or simply a tongue-twister.

Illustrations: Pictures, cartoons, comic strips, etc.; appropriateness, subject, size, quality, relation to school news.

Typography: Judgment in selection of type, paper, form, column width, etc.

Make-up: The knowledge of typography and make-up evidenced; indication that paper is made up by staff rather than by printer; general appearance of front page and other pages; arrangement of advertising; use of boxes, etc.

Advertising: Quantity and variety; evidence that the field has been studied and canvassed; effective copy that will bring returns to the advertiser; attractive typography and make-up; absence of "charity" advertising.

General Considerations: Evidence that the school as a whole is supporting the paper; evidence that the staff is large and not a small clique; indication that the teacher-adviser is not doing most of the work; initiative and originality on part of student staff; it is good advertising for its school.

A young girl came to her father confessor and told him that she feared she had incurred the sin of vanity.

"What makes you think that?" asked the priest.

"Because every morning when I look into the mirror, I think how beautiful I am."

"Never fear," was the reassuring reply, "that isn't a sin; it's only a mistake."

Grade School Class Visits University

Maxwell School Children Find Much in Museum to Arouse Interest

Wednesday afternoon a class in history from Maxwell school, composed of thirty children under the direction of Miss Sally Hiteaman, was making a vociferous tour of the campus in quest of information about "injuans" when a Kernel reporter found them shrieking at the human skulls in the Natural Science building.

The trip is the first of a proposed series of historical tours which the class plans to make around and in the vicinity of Lexington. When interviewed the children mixed exclamations of having seen a real train over in one of the engineering buildings with frantic queries as to where the snakes were. The latter question was settled once and for all by the reporter when he told the children that the snakes were taking a bath and could not be disturbed.

Martha Mitchell, daughter of a professor of science in the University, wished to get her name in the "paper," as did Jack Elman, James Hamilton, Billy Tutor, James Bowles, Billy Nash, and Beth Upton, all members of the class.

Professor Rothenstein Is Speaker for Unions

Art Instructor Speaks Before International Organization at Louisville

Prof. John K. M. Rothenstein, of the art department, spoke March 29 at the annual meeting of the English Speaking Unions of Kentucky at Louisville on "The British World Policy and the United States." While there, Professor Rothenstein was the guest of Mrs. W. R. Belknap.

The British Speaking Unions, an international organization consisting of many branches in the United States, England and the English-speaking dominions. Its purpose is to further the friendship between those peoples speaking the language. The organization was founded in England by Viscount Bryce, former British ambassador to the United States. Lord Balfour is the present head of the organization in that country. Maj. George Haven Putnam was the founder of the unions in the United States. Mr. Edmund Trause, of Louisville, is head of the Kentucky branch. The Hon. John W. Davis is national president.

Dean Melcher Prepares "Frosh Week" Program

Kentucky High Schools, Having Prospective U. K. Students Receive Notices

Work on the program for "Freshman Week" is now well under way, according to C. R. Melcher, dean of men. The week will begin at 8 o'clock on the morning of September 13 and will continue till 5 o'clock in the afternoon of September 18.

Notices have been sent out to the high schools and institutions over the state that have students who are entering the University as freshmen next year. All freshmen are required to attend this week as it is very important, in as much as they are given instruction that all freshmen should know.

It is generally agreed on the campus that the new method is much farther advanced over the old one for freshmen. They become accustomed to the University before the daily routine of classwork begins, and they are better prepared to begin the year's work than they were under the old method, according to Dean Melcher.

Other schools have approved of the method and have sent to the University for material concerning the program for the week.

American Mercury Scores Once More

(By New Student Service) Mr. Mencken's "Mercury" was the indirect cause of another casualty in the ranks of college comic editors. The editor of Northwestern University's "Purple Parrot" has been asked to resign because of material published in "The American Mercury Number." An advertisement in The Parrot referring to the Garrett Biblical Institute was the direct cause of the action taken by the Student Board of Publications. Last year the editor of Columns at the University of Washington, was forced to resign for publishing a burlesque on The Mercury, entitled "Lincoln Applesauce."
