COUNCIL SETS ELECTION DATES

Balloting Will Begin Oct. 21; Annual Tug O'War Will Be Held Saturday October 19

FROSH-SOPHS TO CLASH

The University Student Council announced yesterday the dates which have been set for annual class elections and the Sophomore-Freshman Tug O'War. Both of these events are directly under the supervision of the Student Council.

Petitions nominating the various candidates for class officers must be handed to Dean Melcher on or before Wednesday, October 16. Particulars regarding the form of these petitions may be obtained from the Dean of Men's office.

The first election will take place on Monday, October 21, when officers of the senior class will be selected. Other elections will be held as follows: Juniors, October 27; sophomores, October 24.

Ballot boxes for these elections will be placed in the different colleges of the University. Every student is entitled to a vote in the class of which he is a member.

The annual Frosh-Soph classes, Tug O'War, will be held this year the afternoon preceding the night football game with Carson Newman. Clifton Stone has been named by the Student Council as the scene for this year's event.

A long steel cable will be stretched across the pond and the end of the "rope" will be manned by sophomores and freshmen, respectively. Last year the Tug O'War was held on Stoll field with a good soaking of all contestants with a fire hose.

This plan, however, proved very unsatisfactory and the old Clifton Pond idea has been reverted to.

Two "Mikes" To Be Used in Broadcast of Game Saturday S. A. "Daddy" Boles, director of University athletics, has announced the new system of broadcasting games from Stoll field when the "Cats and Generals tie-up Saturday. Portable "mikes" will be used on the sidelines to record the cheering, and the music. The broadcast will start at 2:15.

U. K. AUTOMOBILE PARKING RULES ARE ANNOUNCED

Regulations For Control Of Campus Traffic Are Released by Crutcher

FIRE HYDRANT ZONES TO BE ESTABLISHED

One Student Driver Arrested Since Inauguration Of New System

Rules for the parking of automobiles on the University campus were released Tuesday by Mr. M. M. Crutcher, head of the University department of Building and Grounds. These rules set down by the committee on Parking Regulations embrace all of the regulations necessary to keep campus parking efficient and safe.

Mr. Crutcher has adapted this parking system after study of the rules enforced on the campuses of the Universities of Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio State. When all the plans have been drawn up and approved by President McVey, circulars will be printed and distributed among the student auto drivers.

The students have observed the new parking rules in a splendid manner for only one arrest has been made since the system was inaugurated. The policemen stationed at various points on the campus are instructed to arrest any violators of the parking rules.

The parking rules announced are as follows: The North gate is the entrance for cars coming on the campus and the South gate is the exit for all traffic.

The driveway in front of the Administration building is a one way thoroughfare. Parking is only allowed on the right hand side of the drive. Fire hydrants are to be left clear of all parking automobiles.

The drive way behind White Hall is closed to all traffic other than auto's owned by the faculty.

The oval drive by Law College is reserved for staff and faculty members only. The drive south of the Administration building is closed to all traffic other than visitors who are connected with the business staff of the university.

There is to be parking on the left side of the drive around McVey Hall and right side parking around the Civil and Physics and Kasie Hall buildings.

Lampert Will Form Choir For Vespers A mixed choir of use at vesper services and convocations will be organized in the near future by Prof. Carl Lampert, head of the music department, at the request of President Frank L. McVey. It is clear that a choir will be formed from the members of the Men's and Girl's Glee Clubs, although some interested faculty members have already asked to join it.

Professor Lampert hopes to make this his best musical organization, as he expects to select only the best talent from all the available material. The size of the choir will depend entirely upon the quality of the voices. The choir will be so trained that most of the singing will be unaccompanied. Notification of the first rehearsal will be given at a later date.

Where Is Our School Spirit?

O. D. K. President Declares Uppercampus Must Support Team

Were you at the Maryville game? If you know the object of this question. Don't you want Kentucky to be a leading school? It is not only takes an athletic team—and a good one like we have now—but also good cheering. When we cheer we get our spirit—the kind that makes the team feel as if you want them to win the best for you. Get out there at the game Saturday and yell. Let the whole world know that we want to beat Washington and Lee.

Uppercampus. You know that the school does not receive your support—youth to whom it should mean more than to anyone else. There will be no cheering at all at least give a great team your wholehearted support. Yell Saturday.

Freshmen. You are new at Kentucky. Learn our cheers and USE THEM. Sit together and follow the cheer leader. No excuses will be accepted for absence from the Washington and Lee game. BE THERE! (Signed) O. G. MUNTZ, President O. D. K.

EDUCATORS WILL CONVENE HERE

Dr. Frank L. McVey and Dr. W. S. Taylor Will Preside; Many Outstanding Lecturers Will Visit Campus.

The Sixth Annual Educational Conference, inaugurated in the spring of 1924 at the University, will be held here October 25 and 26 with Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University, and Dr. W. S. Taylor, of the College of Education, in charge of the meeting. All meetings during the session will be held in the new Administration building.

Plans for the conference include a series of addresses by prominent educators from Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, and Washington, D. C., and a series of sectional meetings for the discussion of separate topics such as "College Education," "Secondary Education," "Elementary Education," "Health Education," and "Home Economics Education."

Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, a banquet will be given in honor of visiting educators in the ballroom of the Phoenix Hotel with President McVey as toastmaster. Dean M. E. Haggerty, of the University of Minnesota, will be the speaker of the evening.

Among those attending will be the Hon. William J. Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education and former state superintendent of schools in California; Dean M. E. Haggerty, of Minnesota; one of the men who has done more work in college administration than any other group in America; Dr. S. A. Courtis, of the University of Michigan, a pioneer in the field of tests and measurements; and Dr. Boyd H. Bode, of Ohio State University, one of the three great living philosophers of education in America.

The nominations will close Saturday, October 19. O. K. Barnes is editor of the Beauty section of the year book.

FACULTY CLUB HOLDS MEETING IN McVEY HALL

Committee Is Appointed to Frame Constitution and Name Officers

PROFESSOR ROBERTS IS MADE CHAIRMAN

Temporary Head Says Social Will Be Purely Social in Nature

The first organization meeting of the University Faculty Club was held last Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the faculty club room at McVey hall. About seventy-five faculty members were present at the meeting and joined in the work of setting up an efficient organization.

A constitution setting forth the purpose of the new club along with the regulations and powers of the organization was the main topic of discussion. A committee composed of six University faculty members was appointed to frame a constitution.

This same committee composed of: Prof. George Roberts, chairman; Dr. C. C. Ross, Prof. J. W. Martin, Prof. W. E. Freeman, Prof. J. E. Bryant, and Miss Sarah Blending, will also nominate the officers for the club. An election will be held after the committee has reported the nominations.

Many other Universities throughout the nation have Faculty Clubs and the members of the local organization are investigating the organization and powers of these other groups. Many constitutions of other faculty clubs will be reviewed and studied before the first work on the governing laws of the local unit will be started.

The committee will begin its work Wednesday afternoon and the club will vote on the new constitution as soon as it is ready for adoption.

Professor Roberts, the temporary head of the organization, believes the faculty club will be purely social in nature and will fill a long needed business character entirely. Many of the business staff as well as the educational departments are eligible to membership.

The faculty club was conceived last year with the completion of McVey hall. A new room on the third floor of the new building was set aside for the members of the faculty. The new room is furnished as a lounge. All faculty members are eligible to use these club rooms at any time.

Professors Club To Meet Thursday

The Kentucky chapter of the American Association of University Professors will hold its first meeting at the University Thursday night at 6:30 in McVey hall. This meeting is an open meeting to which all members of the University staff are invited.

A membership drive is being maintained by the local part of the organization and all faculty members who are not already members are urged to join. The membership committee consists of: Mrs. E. N. Ferguson, chairman; Prof. J. B. Kelly, Prof. W. W. Jennings, Prof. L. S. Norgess, and L. S. O'Banion.

Last year the Kentucky chapter sponsored a series of six lectures on the "Improvement of College Teaching." The club will in the near future discuss the quarter semester system and its adaptability to the University.

"Daddy" Boles, field marshal of all Wildcats athletes, is anticipating the largest crowd in Kentucky history. This battle is expected to draw in the neighborhood of 15,000 spectators. Plans are being made to erect temporary bleachers at the end of Stoll field to accommodate the overflow of fans.

For seven long years, the Generals and Wildcats have made an annual show of hostilities. In these years the Generals have held a slight margin, but the Kentuckians still have the last laugh. Smashing a Washington and Lee blizzard, the 'Cats last year topped the invaders, 6 to 0.

The Generals are back again. This time they have a new coach, Gene Oberst, an Owensboro, Kentucky, who schooled in the methods of Coach Knickerbocker. (Continued on Page Ten)

CHEMISTS HEAR DR. C. A. THOMAS

Ohioan, Graduate of Transylvania, Talks on Field of Synthetic Rubber Production

Dr. Charles Allen Thomas, research scientist of Dayton, Ohio, delivered a lecture before the Lexington branch of the American Chemical Society last Tuesday at Kastle Hall. Dr. Thomas spoke on the subject of "Synthetic Rubber."

Dr. Thomas, who is senior chemist of the Thomas and Hochwalt Research Laboratories in Dayton, told his audience of the work that his company is doing in the field of synthetic rubber production. He recounted the rapid strides that have been made toward the perfection of a synthetic rubber which will be comparable to the pure Para product, both in quality and in price. Synthetic rubber is a comparatively recent development and has not, as yet, been perfected to a degree which will place it on a par with natural rubber.

Dr. Thomas, who is a former Lexingtonian and a graduate of Transylvania College, is well known for his work in chemical research. He has recently perfected an anti-knock preparation for use in gasoline. Following his graduation from Transylvania in 1920, he did experimental and research work in Baltimore. From there he went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he completed work on his Master of Science degree.

Several years ago Dr. Thomas established his own laboratory at Dayton. It is there that he and his associates have been conducting their experiments on synthetic rubber. He is the son of Mrs. Charles Allen Thomas, of Lexington.

Stock Company Will Hold Story Contest

A short story contest has been started through the department of English by the Almy Alpha Players at the Lexington Opera House. The winner each week will have his selection printed in the program of the theater and will receive two theatre tickets as a prize. The only limitation is that the stories must not be over two hundred words in length and the students of the University are eligible.

Turn the light on the Truth!

It's just naturally good tobacco—not "artificial treatment" that makes OLD GOLD gentle to the throat and better to the taste

No one cigarette-maker has any monopoly on the heat-treatment of cigarette tobaccos.

For heat-treating is neither new nor exclusive. It has been used for years by practically all cigarette-makers to "set" and sterilize their tobacco.

But OLD GOLD'S goodness does not depend on artificial treatment. It is the product of naturally good tobaccos . . . carefully selected for mildness, smoothness and flavor. Tobaccos made free of "throat scratch" by Mother Nature herself.

Try a package. You'll immediately get the thrill of this smoother and better cigarette. And you'll know then why OLD GOLD'S sales are ALREADY THREE TIMES GREATER than the combined growth of three leading cigarette brands during a like period of their existence.

Better Tobaccos make them smoother and better . . . with "not a cough in a carload"

BEHIND THE VESPER CURTAIN

With the opening of the 1929-30 school year at the University, a number of features were inaugurated among which was the Sunday afternoon vesper service in Memorial Hall.

In this service President McVey hopes to incorporate some of the finer things that should go with a higher education; notably, love of beauty, a reverent attitude toward God and the inspiration that comes from contact with learned men.

To say that the president has been disappointed in the reception of the idea is putting it mildly. He feels that students do not appreciate his efforts to give them worthwhile opportunities while they are attending the University.

The Kernel believes that the students have no such lack of appreciation. They simply do not understand the beauty of the services and the opportunities offered. The realization will come in due time, but delay might be fatal to the growth of the weekly programs.

Therefore, students, let's all go to the Vesper services Sunday afternoon. By doing so, President McVey will be made to feel that the student body is for him in all that he undertakes. At the same time, a worthwhile innovation at the University will grow into a traditional exercise which in years to come will be acclaimed as a feature of the commonwealth's greatest university.

MORE ABOUT CHEER LEADERS

In the editorial column of last week's Kernel the statement was made that the University has not possessed a good cheer leader since the days of Bob Creech. We reiterate this bold assertion and present a few reasons and suggestions to the SuKy Circle to substantiate our view.

To become an expert formulator and director of combined cheering requires both time and practice. No person, however talented, can qualify during the brief period that he now holds the position. Now is he materially concerned in acquiring excellence since there is no incentive that urges him to exert himself.

Several large universities and colleges have met the situation by providing for a varsity cheer leader, from the senior class, and for several others from the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes. At the beginning of each school year an athletic organization, corresponding to the SuKy on this campus, selects the varsity man from the ranks of the previous year's junior class aspirants. He must work three years before being eligible for election. At the completion of four years' work the varsity leader is awarded an athletic sweater bearing the letter of his Alma Mater.

This is somewhat similar to the football managerial plan now in practice at the University. Think it over, SuKy. It may be of assistance in solving the cheering problem.

WHERE'S YOUR PEP?

Following the scrimmage with Maryville Saturday night, the Wildcats have slated as their first opponent for the 1929 Conference season Washington and Lee, a school which will enter the lair tomorrow with a corking good team, school spirit and organization.

This conflict is outstanding not only because it is the first conference game of the year and will determine the Kentucky boys in regard to other games, but the attitude of the student body will show the citizens of Lexington and other patrons of the game just how we, as students of the University are boosting or are failing our team.

A great many criticisms can be found concerning the game last week, saying nothing of what took place on the gridiron. In the first place, the cheering, or rather the lack of cheering, was a disgrace to the students of this institution, collectively and individually. It is granted, of course, that there was little incentive for cheering as the game was so evenly sewed up in a little red bag, but did the men on the field let that stop them, did they effort? No, they did the best they could, and the students in the bleachers failed them.

There was no pretense of any organization, and without organized cheering there can be no result. The fact that the students can do, not only freshmen but upper classmen, is to come out to the pep meeting tonight and learn the yell.

Another criticism is presented, not against the students, but in their behalf. Complaints have been voiced by a number of students about the treatment which was accorded them at the game by the stadium on Saturday night. It seems that there is some sort of stupid rule which maintains that holders of student ticket books may enter the field only through the gates on the South, while all others who attend the game go through the gates on the North and East. This means that when students are accompanied by family, friends and out-of-town guests they may not all enter by the same gate. This causes much confusion and is very undesirable both on the part of the student and of the visitor. It seems that something could be done by the athletic council to eliminate this difficulty.

RUSHING THEATERS

As yet the University waits to see if freshmen have heeded the warnings and entreaties that appeared in last week's Kernel.

There have been no complaints of such an occurrence after the Maryville game last Saturday, but when one stops to realize that all shows were closed by the time the game was over, it does not seem at all unusual.

In the past the rushing of shows after a victorious football game has resulted in embarrassment for the faculty and student body. To receive letters from the managers of theatres complaining and respect that we all bear for President McVey, it should be a matter of principle to refrain from doing a thing that will only cause friction and label University students as a group of irresponsible loud rowdies.

If for no other reason than for the admiration and respect that we all bear for President McVey, it should be a matter of principle to refrain from doing a thing that will only cause friction and label University students as a group of irresponsible loud rowdies.

HAPPINESS IN WORK

(Lexington Leader)

An honest man is entitled to happiness in his work. It is the one sure sign that he has found his true vocation. He greets his work each day with a singing heart and loves his business. Love is the greatest thing in the world, and love for one's business is a prerequisite of success. It is the partner of success in life.

One must like his work to do it well, and usually where that attitude is lacking it is a case of the wrong job. The exceptions that prove the rule are those individuals who abhor work itself and those who can learn to love the work they think they are not fitted for.

When a young man awakes in the morning with regret that he must get up and go to work, he may well understand that a vital necessity of success and happiness is not his, and that it is high time he change his philosophy of life, his job, his diet, or his mode of living. He is certainly off the road that leads to achievement in anything.

Work brings more joy to people than any other form of human effort. Poor deluded souls lament that they must work, while they know deep down in their consciousness that they are getting more fun out of their work than out of their automobile, golf or radio. To scold and complain is human.

Because those denied the benevolence of an inheritance must work for a living, it is their duty to themselves to take for their life work that which is productive of the greatest pleasure as well as of the greatest profit. Parents and tutors should advise and guide, but should never drive and coerce young men and women into a vocation which holds forth no appeal to them or for which they show no aptitude. Where there is love there is success, because love creates eagerness to do and work and think for the thing loved.

PREFACE

I leave the warmth and fullness of the soil
From which my spirit grew so many years,
The living wind that softened into strength
A soul grown numb and deadened in the world,
And thus in parting drop like petals soft
These thoughts a human earth produced in me.

FRESHMEN MUST WEAR THEIR CAPS

According to a ruling of the Student Council: to a precedent set by many classes of the University; and to customs and tradition of all universities, the Yale-Georgia football game at Athens, Ga., tomorrow as a guest of the University of Georgia. He will also attend the formal banquet to be held at Athens tonight.

Governors of several states, prominent Yale and Georgia alumni and officers of several athletic organizations will be present for the dinner. Dean Funkhouser is the secretary of the Southern Conference, the athletic organization to which both the University of Georgia and the University of Kentucky belong. Dean S. V. Sanford of the University of Georgia is president of the Conference.

Pretty Thing (lost in the storm): "Oh, sir, won't you please—take me home?"
Young Man: "Sweetie, I'd love to, but I can't live at the Y. M. C. A."

This custom is not considered as voluntary on the part of the freshman, nor is it to be thought of as a distasteful thing to do. This cap, bearing the color and name of the University, and the year in which the freshman expects to be graduated, signifies to all persons that the freshman is proud of the opportunity to be a member of the student body of the school.

Lacking this pride and a feeling of school spirit, a freshman is not a part of the university, as a freshman should be, and must, therefore, expect to be taken in charge and taught to exhibit a pride in the University of Kentucky. The rule that the cap must be worn is as rigid and as compulsory as any of the Student Council and must be obeyed.

Remember to wear the freshman cap at all times and at all places, and to be courteous to upperclassmen until the first Friday of next May.

WELCOME, EDITORS

Two men of outstanding journalistic ability last week became members of professional fraternities composed of University student journalists, John G. Stoll, of the Lexington Leader, and Desha Breckenridge, of the Lexington Herald, were the two men nominated by Sigma Delta Chi and Alpha Delta Sigma, respectively, for the honorary degree.

The initiation of these outstanding publishers into these fraternities will have a tendency to establish a better understanding between the University as a whole and the editors of the Lexington papers. A fellowship has been created whereby the editor-publishers will better understand the average University student.

Both Mr. Stoll and Mr. Breckenridge have aided young college students in their effort to receive an A. B. in Journalism at the University at the same time gaining practical experience on Lexington's daily newspapers. The kindly spirit of these men to aid the development of the University and its students has deserved for them the honor which the journalistic fraternities have conferred.

ABOUT FACE

Many students are loud in their denunciation of the University Military department in general and the officers of that organization in particular. Little do they realize the necessity for a national defense of comparative strength with the industrial progress of the nation.

Colleges throughout the United States have been selected to train the young blood of our nation in national defense tactics. The University of Kentucky is a very representative part of this chain organization for the development of national preparedness.

The achievements of the Military department staff of the University in making Kentucky an outstanding unit in the Fifth Corp Area is highly commended by all those interested in the advancement of this branch of the education of the student.

The University band is a part of the Military department and the excellent showing which that "Best Band in Dixie" made on the football field last Saturday night reflects the training which has been sponsored by the Military department under the leadership of Major Meredith.

"A CHALLENGE TO STUDENTS"

Central Christian Church Pastor Discusses Religious Life

By DR. A. W. FORTUNE.

During this past summer I visited Leland Stanford University. I was impressed with the inscriptions on either side of one of the doors through which you enter the chapel. They present a challenge to the students who enter that wonderful building. On one side of the door you read: "A noble ambition is among the most helpful influences of student life, and the higher this ambition is the better. No man can work well unless he can speak as the great Master did of the joy set before him. And this leads to the greatest of all safeguards and the most encouraging of all stimulating influences of a noble life, that is the power of personal religion."

We need something outside of and beyond ourselves. Remember you are not your own. You are bought with the precious blood of Jesus. On the other side of the door you read: "There is no narrowing so deadly as the narrowing of man's horizon of spiritual things. No worse evil could befall him in his course on earth than to lose sight of heaven."

And it is not civilization that can prevent this; it is not civilization that can compensate for it. No widening of science, no possession of abstract truth can indemnify for an enfeebling hold on the highest and central truths of humanity. What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

There are some things of vital importance to students that are suggested by those inscriptions. They suggest that a noble life must have the inspiration of a noble ambition. They suggest that the higher this ambition is the nobler one's life will become. They suggest that when this ambition becomes a joy set before him it will hold him against the pull that comes from other directions.

They suggest that an ambition that is limited to earth is not sufficient to inspire to the highest living, that the worst thing that could happen to one on earth would be to lose sight of heaven. I commend to the students of the University of Kentucky those inscriptions on the wall of the chapel of Leland Stanford University. I pass them to you as a challenge.

Mississippi State College for Women has a grand total of sixty-one schools represented on its teaching corps. One wonders how many of the professors are "confirmed" bachelors!

No worse evil could befall him in his course on earth than to lose sight of heaven."

And it is not civilization that can prevent this; it is not civilization that can compensate for it. No widening of science, no possession of abstract truth can indemnify for an enfeebling hold on the highest and central truths of humanity. What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

There are some things of vital importance to students that are suggested by those inscriptions. They suggest that a noble life must have the inspiration of a noble ambition. They suggest that the higher this ambition is the nobler one's life will become. They suggest that when this ambition becomes a joy set before him it will hold him against the pull that comes from other directions.

They suggest that an ambition that is limited to earth is not sufficient to inspire to the highest living, that the worst thing that could happen to one on earth would be to lose sight of heaven. I commend to the students of the University of Kentucky those inscriptions on the wall of the chapel of Leland Stanford University. I pass them to you as a challenge.

Mississippi State College for Women has a grand total of sixty-one schools represented on its teaching corps. One wonders how many of the professors are "confirmed" bachelors!

Trying out for the editorial board, Simpson, '33, is all energy. Here, there and everywhere to cover events, he is busy on the write and rewrite—confident that experience will fit him for the post. And Jones, his roommate, shows equal determination in football.

Tackling, bucking the line, practicing signals, he trusts to solid ground-work to get him on the scrub this year. Good training, both of them. Perhaps there is something in high scholarship, too. Industrial leaders of today think so.

ROAMING THE TRIAL TO
 WITH Thomas L. Riley

In riatlo roaming this week I discovered a dud in "The Sophomore" but was pleased to learn that "Gold Diggers" is above the usual Warner standard and that "Broadway" is even better than I thought it was. Next week we will have three fat-to-middlin' pictures and what should be a smash from the Alney Alba Players at the Opera House.

Congratulations go to the Kentucky Theatre for its anniversary seven-year program and the magazine published in the joint interests of the Strand and Ben All. They are publications of quality and with the weekly program issued by the Alney Alba Company provide quite a display of printed theatrical matter last week.

"Saintly Sinners" is the title of next week's offering of the Alney Alba Players at the Opera House which will open Monday night. This is a play that has been a success during the stock runs it has enjoyed in several other cities and is said to be full of amusing situations and characterizations. Personally, I am awaiting with pleasure to see Francis Sayles in the role of a saintly desecrator. All the members of this sterling company have good parts and the pieces should prove a riot.

So far I have not received many answers to my plea for readers of this column to send in opinions of theatrical productions they have seen. Remember that a couple of sentences are given for each one published.

Several interested fans have asked me when John Gilbert will appear in a talking picture and so I am happy (for their sakes) to announce that "His Glorious Night," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all talking picture, will open at the Strand theatre Sunday as the initial vocal effort of one of filmdom's most famous lovers. Gilbert has a role somewhat similar to his part in "The Merry Widow." "His Glorious Night" was directed by Lion Barrymore, who made "Madame" and Nance O'Neil, Hedda Hopper, Richard Carle and Katherine Dale Owen appear with the star. Incidentally, Miss Owen is from Louisville, Ky. The story is based on Ferenc Molnar's play, "Olympia."

It may be of interest to some of you to know that Adolphe Menjou is making a talking picture in Paris, for a French company which will be produced in three languages, English, French and Spanish.

One of the biggest "freak" motion pictures ever made is "The Four

"Most Beautiful University Girl" Will Appear in 1930 Kentuckian

"Bigger, Better and Unique" than the haw O'Rear E. Barnes characterizes the Beauty section of the 1930 "Kentuckian." Mr. Barnes, whose right to be classified as an expert on feminine pulchritude cannot be denied, has secured the services of two internationally famous artists who will aid in the selection of the "Most Beautiful Girl in the University of Kentucky." Hereafter it has been the policy of the "Kentuckian" to have a beauty section in which pictures of several beauties were displayed without attempting to select the "Most Beautiful." In this year's publication a different plan will be followed. Two famous artists will select from the aspirants the one they consider the most beautiful. This "Miss Kentucky," supported by a cast of seven other exponents of feminine loveliness, will constitute the beauty section of the 1930 "Kentuckian." There will also be a section devoted to those that for reason of limited number cannot be placed in the beauty section; this division will be known as the "Favorite Section." The picture of the girl chosen as the highest type of Kentucky beauty will be given national publicity. Newspapers over the country will carry the picture of the winner in rotogravure. The Publicity Bureau of the University will assist in the distribution of the photograph. The Louisville Courier-Journal will have a full page in their rotogravure section devoted to the beauty section of the 1930 "Kentuckian."

Rules for the contest will be announced in next week's Kernel. There will be no limit to the number of contestants, each entrant must, however, present a petition signed by at least fifty students. Organizations planning to enter one or more girls in the competition are requested to see Mr. Barnes at once. Barnes and his assistants are making every effort possible to assure the success of the beauty contest, and desire a large number of entrants from which to choose the one who will be known far and wide as the University of Kentucky's Most Beautiful Co-ed.

Basketball Men to Report on Monday

The initial basketball practice for the season will be held Monday in the Men's Gym. Coach Johnny Mauer has issued a call for the lettermen of last year and a few of the numeral men to meet with him on that date for some preliminary training.

Approximately fifteen names are on the list for the first practice. However, six of the men, Spicer, Owens, Trott, Bronston, Kleiser, and Yates, are members of the football squad and will not report until the end of the grid season.

Captain Paul McBrayer will lead the contingent to report Monday. The other lettermen who will don their shorts then are Lawrence McGinnis, Stanley Milward, and Cecil Combs.

Kittens and Cubs to Play Today at Georgetown

MANY INJURIES HIT GREEN OUTFIT

By LAWRENCE CRUMP
This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the University of Kentucky Kittens will tangle with the Georgetown College Cubs at Georgetown. For some strange reason these two freshmen elevens put up an annual struggle that is as vicious as Centre-State games and this year will be no exception. The big Green team, after having served a month or more as a doormat for Gamage's high-powered crew, is in a mood to do a little trampling on its own accord.

Coach Pribble is wrapped in gloom six feet thick as his injured list reaches hush proportions. The yearlings have suffered severely in tough battles with the varsity, in their preparation for the Washington and Lee hostilities. Captain Johnson is suffering from an injured foot and was not seen during the early part of the week.

Seals, the gigantic center, is not in good shape and may not be able to start. Humber and Gogginis picked to start at guards are disabled and so on down the list. Looks as though Gamage's injury flux of past years has attached itself to Mr. Pribble.

Coach Pribble intends to start Boardman at the fullback post and either Wilder or Foster at one half with Bickel at the other. Captain Johnson will call the signals. Darby and Greuter will hold down the ends while Greshouse and Tracy will get the call at the tackle positions. These two boys are proteges of Coach Heber and received their early training at Lexington Senior High.

Gogginis, Humber and Blevins are leading candidates for guard jobs to work beside Seals or Luther at center. Fry and Skinner have been showing up well at the end positions and will probably get into the game. Aldridge and Martin are two more linemen that will likely see service along with Ellis and Cutler, backfield men.

Elon Richards Is Killed in Accident

Elon Richards, 28 years old, brother of Dick Richards, star Kentucky halfback, died Saturday as the result of an automobile accident, near his home in Denver, Colorado, according to word received here shortly before the game Saturday night.

Mr. Richards was riding in the mountains near Denver, when the car which he was driving overturned, pinning him beneath it. He was rushed to a hospital, but died without regaining consciousness. No one else was injured.

Mr. Richards is survived by his mother, Mrs. I. D. Richards and two brothers, Dick and Albert Richards, all of Denver.

Pete "Tweets"

Integral Part of Phi Sig Menagerie Hies Away On Excursion

Piccolo Pete, the raccoon which was taken into the Phi Sigma Kappa house during the rush week, believes in following the example set by old members.

On Saturday Fuzzy, the Official Wildcat Mascot, found the presence of a small dog annoying and immediately proceeded to chew him up. As Fuzzy has been at the Phi Sig house for some 3 years, Piccolo decided that this must be quite the thing to do.

He worried around until Sunday night, but was unable to coach a suitable victim close enough to the place in the front yard where he was tied, so he quietly slipped his rope and set forth in quest of his "raw meat." As he was merely a pludge, he felt that he should find smaller game, so after searching diligently, he located two chickens and fulfilled his obligation.

The Phi Sig rescued him on Monday afternoon and made amends for the damage, so Piccolo Pete feels like a full-fledged pludge and "tweets" contentedly at the end of the new chain which prevents him taking other extensive excursions.

The Colonels were lead that season by "Flash" Covington, big brother of Wil Ed, who captains the Blue and White varsity this fall.

SOME STUDENTS WORK

BERKELEY, Cal.—The popular conception that college students are youth's with their own cars and lots of spending money does not "hit" with the University of California, which reports that last year students at the university earned a total of more than one million dollars while taking their regular college courses.

The bureau this year is seeking to increase that earning power of the students to two million dollars this year. Five thousand students at the school are said to be either totally or partially self-supporting, which represents 75 per cent. of the student body.

 The annual Intramural Skating Carnival is scheduled for Thursday, October 24, to be held in front of the Men's Gym on Euclid avenue. All entries for this event must be in the Intramural office by Tuesday noon, October 22. The meet will be managed by Bill Saunders, who was high-point man in the last carnival. The program will consist of races and fancy skating events. In the last Roller Derby, Saunders brought the Alpha Sigma Phi colors home first in the dashes. Jack Todd, a Sigma Nu entry, won the 400-yard event. The relay was won by the Delta Tau Delta team. According to an announcement by Miss Averill, director of physical education for women, plans are on foot to hold a few skating events for the co-eds on the same day. If enough interest is manifested by the fair sex in this sport, the Carnival will become co-educational in its scope.

Tennis
 The third round of the tennis tournament will terminate today. There has been some delay in the progress of the tournament due to the failure of a number of the entrants to complete their matches in the prescribed time. A major upset in the tennis circles came with the forfeit of De Gars and Ed Kee, seeded players, to Jones and Humphries of Phi Delta Theta. The outstanding doubles teams that remain in the running are: Kelly and Martin, S. A. E., Lusky and Crump, Sigma Chi; Howard and Panzhar, Delta; Gross and Morris, Phi Delta; and Combs and Roberts, S. A. E., the latter pair, being seeded in first place. The singles matches have run true to dope with the seeded players still in the running. Golf The third round of the golf tournament ends today. The rail birds choose Lewis, S. A. E.; Lusky, Sigma Chi; Senf, Sigma Nu; and Calloway, Alpha Tau Omega to fight it out in the stretch.

DIAMONDS ARE MADE FROM SUGAR AND IRON FILLINGS

MPHERSON, Kan.—Professor J. Willard Hershey, of McPherson College, has made a real diamond from sugar and iron filings. The man made gem, about the size of a grain of sand, was exhibited at the meeting of the American Chemical Society at Minneapolis, and the scientists gathered there accepted the proof offered by the McPherson professor that the stone was a real diamond. Dr. Hershey believes the day will come when real diamonds of large size will be manufactured for decorative as well as commercial use. The gem was made by exerting ten tons of pressure to the square inch on pure table sugar. This was done by heating the sugar to white heat at a temperature of 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit, and then, while still white hot, dropping the mass into an ice brine. The theory is that the immense pressure created by such fast cooling turned the sugar into the product was then dissolved with various acids, until only the pure carbon remained—carbon now in the form of the world's most precious stone.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS GRADE INSTRUCTORS

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX BY WILDCATS

LET US BRAY—Kentucky students openly insulted Coach Harry Gamage and the Wildcat football team at the game last Saturday night. Despite the fact that the University has had the "rottenest" spirit in the South for several years, a team such as the one that smashed Maryville should have been supported by yells. Only one word would describe the yelling of the frosh and the efforts of the cheer leaders—terrible! And the lack of effort on the part of upper classmen was worse. Forbid any dating by university students; organize two rival yelling sections; hire some professionals; do anything! For the sake of the squad that has been staying for over a month to put Kentucky on the Southern Conference football map, show some consideration and less dignity and strain your vocal apparatus. When a daily newspaper starts off the story of a football game like this: "While the 90-piece band played the favorite airs and the cheer leaders did most of the cheering and then applauded themselves..." what kind of spirit is that supposed to awaken in the Wildcats? Even the flocks of sparrows that made stunts flights over the stadium during the game and didn't get to bed in the bleachers until after 10 o'clock made more noise than the freshmen—and the sparrows had to get up at daybreak Sunday.

NOW YOU CHASE ME—Scouts in the press box last Saturday night from Washington and Lee and dear old Centre took home some diagrams that looked like an attempt to find the corners of a circle. Would-be football critics shook their heads and wondered what Coach Gamage could be thinking of to let his men turn round and round—just so much lost motion. Others thought it funny; old football men looked on knowingly, and Maryville had fourteen guesses which way the play was coming and they were all wrong; Maryville couldn't tell whether it was four or forty men milling around behind the line. If you think this is one of the stories about the cow climbing the tree, figure out how Bob Zupke won the last two Big Ten football championships with similar shifts formations.

Washington and Lee has changed from the Warner system to the Rockne system with the coming of Coach Gene Oberst, Jimmy DeHart established the Warner system there six years ago.

AND HERE TIS—Your papas and mamas will sit by the fire at home tomorrow afternoon and know more about what's going on in the Kentucky-Washington and Lee game than 90 per cent of the customers who buy peanuts from the SuKy children. Interesting sidelights and a play by play account of the game will be broadcast by radio from the press box by means of remote control—remote control means "Curley" Potter and Rollie Guthrie, of Lexington, who will take turns holding the microphone. Proving that they are true optimists, the announcers will place the microphone in front of the stadium before the game and during the half to broadcast Kentucky's yells—who threw that brick?

WATCH THE TICKER—Stock in the V. M. I. football team on the Southern Conference market went soaring upward last Saturday when the Cadets held the Florida Gators, outh national championship contenders to 12 to 7 score. The Virginia team was outwitted 10 pounds and Florida was playing in their own backyard, but V. M. I. stole the show and spotted the Alligator's play party.

The Cadets hold a "full house" in their first string line up playing their fourth year together. The Grow brothers, Aubrey and Virgil, played at Glass high school, Lynchburg, and the "three of a kind" from Muary high school, Norfolk, are Captain Al Hawkins, Louis Chadwick and Tommie Scott.

Out of 716 cadets enrolled, 185 turned out for football this year. Gilly Langhorn, of Roanoke, Virginia, V. M. I. quarterback, is one of the lightest letter men in the Southern Conference. He weighs 138 pounds.

WAY BACK WHEN—Fifteen years ago Coach Gamage was not looking for football material for the University of Kentucky, nor was Floppy Forquer considering attending the institution. But all great men have to do something while they are in the process of becoming great, and with this idea in mind, Elbert McDonald made an investigation into the darkness of the past to discover which of the Wildcats were most ambitious.

When Forquer was six years old he earned his first money following a sulky race on a farm. He earned 50 cents a day and the corn rows he plowed gave him his first opposition. Not by plowing through holes as Tennessee, Clemson, and—yach him tomorrow, Howard Williams, center, is least ambitious, but then, Williams is not built on the ambitious style. He was 18 years old before he decided to do his first construction work, carrying a load for 30 cents an hour.

Three of the Wildcat lettermen started out as newsboys. Louis Toth sold papers when he was 11 years old, averaging about $1 per day. Olie Johnson, guard, began selling papers at the same age but he was not so fortunate and earned only 75 cents a day. Thompson, the other guard, was even less fortunate in his news peddling, making only 65 cents for a day's labor.

Captain Covington acquired his "snake hips" by pushing a lawn mower over the neighboring front yards when he was 12 years old, collecting a grand total of 50 cents on the lawn. Carey Spicer worked only in the winter time. Carey shoveled snow when he was 12 years old and made $1.50 a day. Conrad Rose secured his line ability by pulling the reins on old Dobbin in a corn row at $1.25 per day when he was 14 years old. Tom Walters earned the same amount for general farm labor.

Warner rord jerked sodas behind a fountain after school and received $4 a week, and Pete Drury started out at the age of 13 in a machine shop at $5 a week. Max Colker entered the printing trade as a "printer's devil" when he was 14 at $6 per week.

For Future Reference: Tennessee 29; Chattanooga 0, Centre 39; Kentucky Wesleyan 0, Alabama 22; Ol Miss 7, Clemson 28; Auburn 7, Florida 12; V. M. I. 7.

Maryville Is First Victim Of Wildcats Shipwreck Kelly Makes Four Markers; Reserves Are Used

The University of Kentucky Wildcats handed out a 40 to 0 drubbing to the maroon-clad Hillanders of Maryville College on Stoll field last Saturday night in the opening game of the football season for the Gamage-men. The passing, running, blocking, and tackling of the Big Blue was of such calibre in this fray as to open the eyes of the spectators when compared to early season form of other years.

It was the first football game ever played at night by the Wildcats, but the way the boys in blue acclimated themselves to the conditions certainly proved that as night provokers, they are no disgrace to their namesakes.

The field was brilliantly illuminated for the initial night game but none of the flood lights shone any brighter than the eleven streaks of lightning that Coach Gamage turned loose to flash up and down Stoll field for six touchdowns. Approximately 7,500 persons witnessed the meet. It was the largest opening-game crowd ever seen at the Kentucky stadium.

It was an outstanding evening for one, Mr. Kelly, the Springfield speedster. He opened his career under blue and white colors in typical Red Grange fashion, clipping off runs of 30, 40, and 70 yards for touchdowns in the first quarter. He was ably aided in these jaunts by the superb blocking of his team mates.

After the three markers had been chalked up by the first-string men, Coach Gamage gave his regulars a rest and his reserves a job. The advent of the second and third team into the game slowed up Kentucky's offense, but their rugged defense left no unbusiness as to Maryville's chance of scoring.

By MARTIN R. GLENN

Well, folks, how did you like the way that Mr. Gamage and his "pigskin totin'" Wildcats trimmed the Highlanders from Tennessee last week? Believe me, it was a sight for pathological optics but you ain't seen nothin' until you amble down to Stoll field tomorrow afternoon and see the felices claw the Generals from Washington and Lee. Just disregard the propaganda and lay your wallet on Kentucky. Kentucky can kick, and how! For the past four years I've been hanging around the Blue Cross city just to see someone "boot" extra points for the Alma Mater. But mere dreams became a reality last Saturday night when a husky blue and white gladiator girdled his diapers about his loins, applied his pedal extremities to the oval, and four times sent it spinning between the cross-bars. Joy thrays comes to those who wait so I swallowed my cigar, tossed my chapeau skyward and gave three cheers for Al Smith and the Student Council.

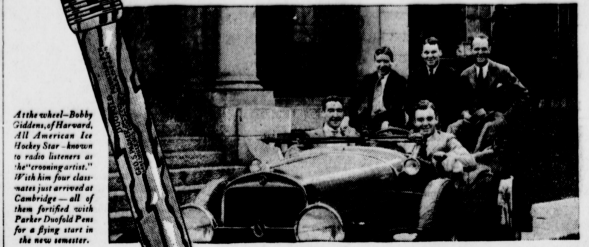

The cheering at the game smelled of profanation. The cheer leaders worked faithfully but the results of their efforts were almost negative due to the fact that many of the upperclassmen had rather escort some fair co-ed to the game and spend the time gaining into her "gold-digging" eyes than to make "whoopee" for the University. And then there is that elite group of imbecillie seniors who nonchalantly swagger about with their canes and curbs and who are too masochist to emit a whoop for the lads that are making history for the institution. Seniors are free to wear whatever manner of head dress that they deem proper but they should discard their "high hat" attitude and loose their dignity long enough to manifest school spirit, for it's a mean old dog that won't scratch it's mammy's fleas.

Since this week's column is given over to criticisms, we may also interrogate as to why Prof. Sulzter's aggregation of "horn tooters" don't become a little more democratic and blend their melodious voices with those of the student body. Of course it is generally and properly conceded that they are "the best band in Dixie" and everyone is extremely proud of them, but as a cheering section they would make good plumbers. Each time they emit an exclusive cheer at home games they arouse the wrath of the entire stadium. Alone, they sound like so much "blat." In concert with the student body they would add much to the volume of the yells and would greatly encourage the cheer leaders. School spirit was never developed by competition and factionalism among the students. It is the product of team-work and cooperation.

The American Legionnaires have evacuated Louisville after staging one of the mightiest "brawls" ever known to that peaceful metropolis. When a handful of collegians throw a "spree" they are kicked out of school, prosecuted, and become the favorite subjects of numerous editorials and long-winded sermons regarding the downward path of the young generation. But thirty thousand men can congregate in a city

Edison's Early Lamp Will Be Shown at Exposition At Cincinnati Oct. 20-26

One of the early electric bulbs made by Thomas A. Edison in 1880, which is owned by Captain M. W. McIntyre, will be exhibited in the Cincinnati Edison Exposition at Music Hall, October 20 to 26, among the special display of Edison relics being gathered for the show. Captain McIntyre placed the lamp, which he has been retaining as a keepsake, at the disposal of F. S. Dewey, Chairman of the General Operating Committee, in charge of arrangements for the exposition.

Edison announced his incandescent bulb on October 21, 1879, just 30 years ago, and so Captain McIntyre's lamp is among the first to be made. It was one of the lamps used on the steamer Guiding Star owned by Captain J. D. Hegler, Captain Sterling C. McIntyre, Captain McIntyre's father, and William F. McIntyre, his uncle.

At Mr. Dewey's request, Captain McIntyre supplied the following information regarding the lamp:

"The steamer Guiding Star was running between Cincinnati and New Orleans, carrying passengers and freight. It was a very popular boat, for the reason that the owners believed in publicity and service to the passengers and in giving freight service.

Used Electric Lighting.

"This boat was owned by Captain J. D. Hegler, Captain Sterling C. McIntyre and his brother, William F. McIntyre. Captain Hegler was Captain of the boat, and Sterling C. McIntyre was chief clerk.

"The Guiding Star was the first river boat to have electric lights in its cabin. These were installed in 1880, and at that time lighting a boat by electricity was a very new idea. However, the owners were progressive and saw the advantage of electric lights over the old coal oil lamps, which were installed in the chandelier in the cabin of the boat.

"The Guiding Star had a chandelier that would hold five coal oil lamps. These lamps were set in a socket, and fastened to the bowl by thumb screws, to avoid being knocked out of the bowl of the chandelier. The chandelier was hung from the ceiling. It was necessary that this chandelier be guyed by a cord, to avoid some swinging with the motion of the boat.

"When electric lights were adopted for the cabin, two lights were placed in each chandelier. The socket of the electric light was a wooden base, with two copper guides on the side, curved over to form a tight spring to hold the lamp in its place. The lamp was made similar to the present electric lights, being a round ball and a glass base. Through the center of the base were run two platinum wires, and these wires were exposed and bent up on the side of the shank of the lamp to come in contact with the two fingers or brass strips that were bent over on the base to hold the lamp in place.

Life of Lamp Short.

"It was necessary to wrap electric tape around the lamp to the fingers of the base to keep the lamp from falling out. The film of the lamp was pressed paper, carbonized, and was screwed upon the platinum prong that stuck through the glass into the lamp by a very small bolt and nut, similar to that used in making watches. The life of the lamp was very short, and the cost was in the neighborhood of $1.50 to $2 per lamp.

"I have one of these lamps which was used on the Guiding Star and which I am retaining as a keepsake. The lamp contains a considerable amount of platinum and probably would be worth somewhere in the neighborhood of $25 at the present market value.

"There was a small generator established on the boat for 100 lights and at that time this was considered a very large installation. The electric lights on the Guiding Star created much excitement in the river towns for the reason that it was something new. There were not switches and all of the lights burned whenever the generator was started. Many times it was necessary to burn the lights in the daytime when we were in port, for the reason that the public came down to the boat to see the newfangled lights that were used. The Guiding Star used this generator and lighting system for several years and then changed to more modern equipment.

Mr. Dewey would like to hear from other Cincinnatians who may have Edison relics to lend the Exposition Committee. The fact that Edison once lived here and worked in Cincinnati prompts the belief that many such relics may be available, he said.

Generals to Play Wildcats Saturday

of Rocke at Notre Dame, is directing their movements in this campaign. And he brings another Kentucky back with him to the Blue Grass, Billy Sandifer of Lexington, quarterback and star track man, is a member of the Washington and Lee squad.

Washington and Lee presents a potent scoring threat via of a speedy backfield and an accurate aerial attack. Thibodeau, Loti, Eberhardt, and Mattox are the first-string backs who anchor the offense. North Carolina State last Saturday for 27 points. And to make things worse, one of Ober's chief aides-de-camps, Leigh Williams will come along to put in his appearance on the field of battle. This versatile athlete with whom most of the Lexington fans are already acquainted, holds down a flank position and the way he can snag passes is just too bad.

But every dark smoke screen has a silver lining if you can get around on the right side. The Generals forward wall, with the exception of Captain Bill Hawkins at tackle, is inexperienced and it will be at this probable weakness that Coach Gamage and his field generals will direct the brunt of their attack. The veteran Blue linemen should be able to handle their opposition without undue difficulty and, if the backs are in top form, Kentucky will earn the decision.

The 'Cats have been hard at work in preparation for the onslaught. A minor engagement with Maryland last week enabled Coach Gamage to test his long range guns for scoring possibilities. "Shipwreck" Kelly blasted away for four touchdowns in this fray, while Captain Covington and Urbanek battered away for two more markers. What his high-gear artillery can do against some sturdy opposition, the Wildcats mentor will have a chance to determine Saturday.

The past week has been spent in concentrated work in anticipation of the General mode of assault. The aerial forces have been cast into play, with Yates passing and receiving the oval with other Kentucky backs. Meanwhile, the Big Blue shock troops are throwing up breastworks to halt the airway game of W. & L. Coach Pribble's freshman team has felt the lash this week as the yearlings were driven against the varsity employing Washington and Lee formations.

"Kentucky has but few casualties as the time of combat draws near. Covington, Spicer, and Kelley, in the latter with a few sore spots received in his first varsity game, are sure to start the game. Tom Phipps, if his injuries heal sufficiently, will round out the backfield at full back. If he is still indisposed Saturday, Jack Phipps, Lewis Toth, or Jack Richards will get the assignment.

The Kentucky line for this game will average around 165 pounds. The center job is causing a feud between Howard Williams and Max Colker, the former being favored to start. Forner and Thompson are the choices at guard. Pete Drury, Kentucky's candidate for All-Southern, will probably be assigned to cover the great Williams while Babe Wright is the other tackle. Yates and Colker will be the ends and make the probable starting lineup.

Dance After Game

The first school dance of the year will be given Saturday night in the Men's gymnasium from 9 to 12 o'clock. It will be sponsored by Sukey, the proceeds to become part of that organization's fund to send the band on all trips with the team. There will be three of these; one to Montgomery, Ala., one to Lexington, Va., and a third to Danville when the 'Cats play Centre.

Two orchestras will furnish the music for the dance. They will be the Rhythm Kings and the Miscreaders. Admission will be $1.00.

Last year there were no dances on the campus until after the Thanksgiving holiday, but this year various organizations are allowed to petition the proper authorities for these social meetings. The plea for this dance was granted early in the season.

The chaperons for the occasion will be as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lunde, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rodes, Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mrs. M. G. Cundiff, Miss Sarah Blanding, Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dickler, Mrs. Eda Giles, Miss Dora Berkeley, Mrs. Sarah Holmes, President and Mrs. Frank L. McVey, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Robinson and Mrs. E. F. Parquhar.

Ateneo Castellano Will Meet Tuesday

El Ateneo Castellano, the Spanish club of the University will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the recreation room at Patterson hall. An excellent program is being prepared by Miss Eleanor Smith.

The club, which is an organization sponsored by the romance language department, plans to sponsor a number of entertainments, including parties, dances, and picnics, and invites all Spanish students to affiliate with the organization. Interesting Spanish pictures will be shown at a later date and a banquet will be given at the end of the semester.
