HIGH SCHOOL WEEK

At the University of Kentucky for the past five days, a high school week has been observed. During this week high school boys and girls from every section of the state have been guests of the university. Contests in debating, declamation, spelling, and vocal and instrumental music have been held. Tomorrow the contests will close, and the boys and girls who took part in them will return home.

High school week, an annual institution at this university and at many other colleges, has a twofold value. The students who come to take part in the contests receive a glimpse of college life. They are given a taste of competitions where their rivals are not relatives and classmates, but earnest strangers; by this self-reliance is developed. They are introduced to a wider world, and meet many new friends as well.

The week of high school features also leaves a beneficial imprint on the university itself. The students who are sent to represent their schools are naturally the best students, and they carry home memories of the University of Kentucky which will induce them to return here for their college education. High school week and the trip to the campus will naturally be advertised in each home-town and other students will be persuaded to come. Besides this, by fostering these contests, the university will encourage a greater proficiency in learning and thus the standard of high school education will gradually be raised. The raise will require a corresponding raise in the college standards and eventually the university will grow and gain in prestige as the institution of high school week becomes more firmly established.

For these reasons alone, high school week at any university is a valuable and commendable project. The university shows wisdom in promoting the event and should never discontinue to show every courtesy and encouragement possible to the boys and girls who will probably be students here in the future.

KNUTE ROCKNE

Words may come easily—sorrow may be expressed in touching vividness—or, haltingly, gropingly, and with a sense of awe and insufficiency the pen may humbly attempt to record the passing of a great man. Whether with the versatility of the genius, however, or with naught but the willingness of a sincere heart, each writer realizes the utter futility of any attempt to eulogize fittingly the man who in life would permit no eulogy. Students at the university will remember the man who through his interest in sports and through his willingness always to help those who came to him, at various times has assisted in the selection of Kentucky coaches and assistants. People everywhere will remember him as "Knute Rockne, the man who loved his fellowmen." Of him few will write the conventional "Requiescat in pace," for none is willing to admit that Rockne has gone, but take courage in the feeling that the ideals of clean sportsmanship for which he stood will perpetuate themselves and him, and through these, Knute Rockne, the character, will live on and on.

ARBOR DAY

In observance of the annual custom of planting a shade tree on Arbor Day, still another beautiful touch will be added to our campus today. The need for trees is becoming recognized more as the ruthless marring of growing and expanding civilization devastates land of its natural adornment of trees and wildflowers. To repair the damage done in past years, to beautify our surroundings for healthful purposes, the traditions of Arbor Day are being urged to the people of our country a realization of the needs of their observance. A happy, restful environment which gives pleasure to the eye is worth much to the present generation and to the generations to come.

Although, as Joyce Kilmer said "But only God can make a tree," we human beings who love them can start their growth and carefully tend them. In all ways the following of the custom of Arbor Day by the university is appreciated by the student body.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS PASS

The century was young, buildings and students were comparatively few. The University of Kentucky had most of its life before it 25 years ago. But it possessed some professors, some loyal adherents, who looked to the future with dreams in their eyes, with plans and loving hopes in their hearts. Through the years that passed, years of turmoil and confusion in the war times, they steadfastly held to a vision of the ideals they wanted for their school; they worked unceasingly, tirelessly, with true devotion for the institution that stands today as the University of Kentucky.

The Kernel appreciates, knowing that it speaks the emotions of the students of the university, the spirit of loyalty, devotion, ambition that made those men and women strive for the common good of our school for a quarter of a century. As students we admire and respect these faculty members who have "stood by" in all those years of trial and growth.

There is no doubt that the contribution of service for 25 years is a manifestation of the deepest love and fidelity. Emulation of the attitude set as a standard by those who have so loved the university, might well be followed by the students.

KEEP ON THE WALKS

Spring is here. With it comes the usual dallying between classes. The entire campus seems to turn out en masse for their between-hour stroll. It is true that there is a crowd on the campus walks but they are in no greater hurry than the strollers. We have noticed that despite all the signs, the brush, and the wires, some people manage to get on the grass and take their leisurely short cuts across it.

Like everything else the grass is young and fresh and it needs taking care of. If we are to have another hot summer and fall as we had last year we will have to start getting out campus in condition right now. If students will be kind enough to keep off the grass until it gets a start they will be rewarded by the pride that they will have in their campus.

Everyone is proud of his campus and owes it to the school and to his pride that it be made as beautiful as possible. Every effort is being made by the Buildings and Grounds committee to make our campus ideally beautiful and certainly the students can afford to waste a little cooperation in helping them. It is such a little thing to ask. Keep on the walks.

COLLEGE COMMENT

The faculty of St. Stephen's College, the country undergraduate school of Columbia University, stated in a New York Times article that there is no such thing as the "ideal college curriculum," and never can be. Along with this statement was the announcement, that in the future the college would make an individual curriculum for each student.

They plan that, at the end of a year of resident instruction, the student and a faculty committee will confer on "the cultural background of the student's home, his work in classes, the opinions of those who have taught him, his intelligence as disclosed by psychological tests, his interests intellectually, the extent to which he will needs either orientation studies or discipline in language and mathematics and his later professional objective."

The average senior at Birmingham-Southern College doesn't smoke. In a poll in which 78 boys were questioned, 34 smoked and 44 did not. And of the coeds—only one smoked out of the 41 questioned.

Public expression of atheistic beliefs apparently is frowned on in Canadian collegiate circles. The paper of the University of Toronto has been suspended from publication for allowing an editorial on atheism.

What's YOUR favorite pipe tobacco?

Most PRINCETON men smoke—

If you walk along Prospect Street in Princeton, you'll notice how many men load their pipes from the familiar blue Edgeworth tin. At Senior Singing on the steps of Nassau Hall this spring the pipes will glow with Edgeworth.

A pipe and Edgeworth—this is the smoking combination that has won the college man. Yale, Dartmouth, Cornell, Illinois, Stanford... all agree with Princeton.

College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their choice: Try Edgeworth yourself. Taste its rich natural flavor that is enhanced immeasurably by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process.

You will find Edgeworth at your nearest tobacco shop—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, address Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

Striking a balance for a $4,000,000,000 industry

"On a large scale" describes accounting in the Bell System, whose properties cost more than $4,000,000,000.

On the outgo side are, for example, four or five hundred million dollars annually for new construction; vast sums for keeping telephone equipment in good order; a payroll running into hundreds of millions a year. Under-come are such diverse items as a few cents for a local telephone call, or thirty dollars and upward for a call to a city across the Atlantic.

The men responsible for this phase of the telephone business have worked out scientific methods of control—but their effort to refine old practices and devise new ones goes on. The opportunity is there!

Wildcat Thinlies Will Meet University of Louisville

By J. D. ADAMS

The University of Louisville track squad will be host to the University of Kentucky track team Saturday afternoon in Louisville. Coach Bernie Shively has announced that "Shipwreck" Kelly will not run against the Falls City Thinlies. Kelly has left for unknown parts and may be lost indefinitely to the Wildcat squad. Shipwreck is not eligible for competition at the present time, however, due to scholastic difficulties. The University of Louisville squad is one of the best aggregations of track stars in the history of that institution, according to reports. In Brady, a star high jumper and pole vaulter and Taylor, star hurdler, the Red squad has two men who are hard to beat.

The remainder of the team is well balanced, and expect to give the Cats some stiff competition. In the 100 yard dash, Heber and Foster will represent Kentucky. Heber has been timed in 10:2 for the 100 yards. Foster has finished quick to Heber in every race. The form shown by Heber has quieted some of the anxiety caused by Kelly's absence from the squad. In the 220 yard dash, Porter looms as a consistent winner going the distance in 33 seconds, while Hays and Shipley are battling for the other positions.

In the quarter, Milken and Parent are running in fast time and Milken has been timed in 53:2. In the half-mile event, Kentucky should have two consistent winners in J. D. O'Bryant and Saunders. Both have covered the distance in 2:08, and expect to finish one, two in the Louisville meet. O'Bryant who possesses a beautiful stride looms as a threat to all Big Blue opponents in the mile run. He was timed in 4:45. The Cats sole two miler, Burress has shown consistent form covering the two miles in 10:40.

Williams and Wetman are showing well in the low hurdles trials. They were timed in 27.8. In the eight hurdles, Shipley and Emmerich are rounding into form. Shipley made the distance in 17.

In the field events, promise of the best field entrants in years is shown. Yates and McLane are doing 21 feet and seven inches in the broad jump and Scaley Roberts is high-jumping five feet ten inches. Porter, Turley and Hubbell are soaring nearly 11 feet in the pole vault. A great season in this department is expected.

The discus is a department in which few schools can boast of a tosser as good as Sam Tuttle who tosses the discus 117 feet. Andrews is almost as good, throwing the platter 115 feet. The shot put is well fortified with Seale and Andrews, who are throwing the big ball 37 feet. Bud Cavana and McLane are hurling the javelin with Cavana having the

MAY QUEEN NOMINATIONS!

Nominations for Queen of the May must be signed by 20 men students of the university and turned in to William Ardrey at The Kernel office by 12 o'clock noon Thursday, April 16. The election of the May Queen will be held the following Thursday, only men students being permitted to vote. To be eligible for the honor a woman student must have a standing of one for the previous semester.

Program Planned By Department of Buildings, Grounds

Mr. Maury Crutcher, superintendent of buildings and grounds, announces that since the spring weather set in, much progress has been made in the way of building and remodeling the buildings attached to the university.

The old tobacco warehouse opposite the parade grounds is being remodeled extensively. It will be finished by the first of September. The physical education department will have a large portion of the building assigned to them. This will be a decided help to this department for conditions have been somewhat complicated due to a lack of room.

The agriculture building is being completed. The roof is being put on and the brick work is being finished. The observatory building is almost finished, and the last of the steel and sheet metal is being put on. It will be ready for occupancy in about a month. The building is located just off Woodland avenue at the intersection of the university experiment farm and Woodland avenue.

U. K. GRADUATE PROMOTED

D. V. Dunn, county superintendent of Fayette county schools, and graduate of the university, was promoted from the rank of major in the Officers' Reserve Corps to lieutenant-colonel last week, according to an announcement received by Capt. B. K. Erdman, Colonel Dunn, who was graduated from the university in the class of '21, is a member of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity of the university. He is also Fayette county chairman for the C. M. T. C. of Fayette county.

Prof. Alexander Massey, Wilson, scientist and engineer of great ability and a brilliant lecturer, was the speaker at the engineers' assembly at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in Memorial hall. His subject was "One Aspect of 'De Rerum Natura'."

Professor Wilson, who is head of the department of electrical engineering at the University of Cincinnati, held a similar position at the University of Kentucky for seven years.

edge with a throw of 173 feet. The big Iowa farmer boy will undoubtedly finish the season without meeting any opposition. The Wildcats will entertain for the Falls City Saturday morning with 22 men forming the local squad. The Wildcats are not expected to win this meet as they are being pitted against some individual stars who will score heavily for the Louisvilleans.

Due to the absence of Kelly, the local squad will be somewhat weakened in the sprints and javelin throw. Heber may take a turn at throwing the spear should Kelly fail to return to the squad.

A number of new faces will be seen in the Wildcat lineup this season as a large number of the men are sophomores. Some of these are Burress, Foster, Saunders, Seale, Turley, Tuttle and Parent. The men who will make the trip are: Heber, Foster, Hays, Milken, Parent, Shipley, O'Bryant, Saunders, Burress, Williams, Wetman, Emmerich, Yates, McLane, Porter, Roberts, Turley and Tuttle. Andrews, Cavana, Tuttle and Seale.

Cool All the Way Down

If you inhale, you can quickly tell the difference between fresh and stale cigarettes. A Camel, protected by the Humidor Pack, retains its natural moisture, and gives you a cool mild smoke. But when you draw in the smoke from dried-out stale tobacco, it's hot and irritating to the throat.

If you haven't discovered this difference, we suggest you switch to Camels for just one day. Then leave them tomorrow, if you can.
