S. M. Wilson, Esq.,
Lexington, Ky.

Dear Sir:-

Your letter of the 13th, replying to mine of the 12th, respecting service of summons issued in the case of John Shehan v. Silas Cassidy. In another reading of my letter to you I find that the last sentence is not what we intended to say. It was our intention to state that the proper notice had been served on us, wherein the L. & N and L. & E. had been served as garnishee. We have already answered the court $13.10 in this attachment.

Yours truly,

Manager.
