WILDCATS PLAY FIRST SOUTHERN GAME TONIGHT

HOLIDAYS OVER STUDENTS AWAIT FEARFUL EXAMS

Mid-Year Finals Begin Friday, January 23 at 8:30

STUDY IS URGED

Registration and Classification on Monday, February 2

Again the University of Kentucky campus resounded to the hustle and bustle of student life Tuesday morning, as all classes were resumed after one of the longest Christmas holidays ever enjoyed by the students. Since Sunday trains from all parts of the state were packed with crowds of students returning to resume their college life and Tuesday morning found but few stragglers absent from classes.

Tuesday morning found the freshman once more firmly established in his infinitesimal place at the bottom of college life. No longer can he strut proudly along the campus walk; no longer can he sport his new Stetson or Berg, for with the resumption of school, the holiday skypiece is now replaced by the blue and white cap of freshmanship.

With the joy of returning to their college activities and the pleasure of greeting returned friends, the happiness of the student body is complete save one shadow which mars the otherwise perfect happiness. And in this instance the shadow with hearty effect and the fear of impending examinations, now but two weeks off. Instructors greeted their first classes with friendly smiles and with hearty assurances that mid-year exams were just around the corner, urging them to take counsel and prepare in earnest for them.

Mid-year examinations are scheduled to begin Friday, January 23 and to continue Saturday and throughout the following week. Registration and classification will be held Monday, February 2 and classes will be resumed for the second semester on Tuesday. In anticipation of the large registration, the university authorities are arranging for early registration and classification. Due announcement of the dates selected for exams are urged to turn in requests for exemption from such penalty to the committee on scholarship and attendance at once. The governing rules of the university on this point are as follows:

"A student absent from classes in the penalty of such absences and early registration will be given soon.

COLLEGE GIRLS ARE BEST WIVES

Divorce Almost Negligible Among College Women

"Men, choose your wives from among the girls in schools and keep out of divorce courts. College romances seldom end fatally."

The world has the word from Miss Agnes Husband, dean of women at Kansas University, for the above statements and she has the proof to back up the statement. Of all the Kansas University marriages, commencing with the founding of the institution down to the present, there has been only one divorce. Miss Husband accounts for this by saying that college men and women have not only a selected group from which to choose, but have better opportunities for knowing one another and can make more intelligent choices.

NOTICE, SENIORS!

All seniors who expect to complete their work by February 1 call at the Registrar's office at once and make application for degrees.

Did You Ever Stop to Think That There will be 1,500 students pictures in the 1925 Kentuckian?

There will be pictures of all the athletic teams and coaches, with accounts of the games and contests held?

There will be a record of all the seniors' activities while on the campus?

There will be a list of those students who should have graduated this year but fell by the wayside?

There will be names of all the students in the university? Things that you will never want to forget, that will be in this book always at your command to refresh your memory.

Buy a Kentuckian now and cooperate with the staff in publishing this book.

NOVEL MAGAZINE TO BE PUBLISHED

College Students Are Urged to Contribute

The appearance of a new magazine, "True Adventures," has been announced by Fiction House, Inc., 461 Eighth Avenue, New York City.

College readers are urged by Fiction House to contribute true, realistic feature stories with a vivid, dramatic touch. Stories concerning daring experiences in shipwrecks, among savages, in fires, as detectives, or any occurrences of much moment are suggested. It is preferable that the stories be written in the first person, but those written in the third person will be considered.

Fiction House makes payment on acceptance of material and wishes that "every young writer may have a chance to try his hand" at relating scenes and incidents from real life—true characters and actual locations.

"TELEPIX" SENDS PICTURES OF GAME

Sent From Pasadena to New York and Chicago

Pictures of the Notre Dame-Leland Stanford football game in Pasadena, California, were transmitted by "Telepix" to Chicago and New York for printing in the formal inauguration of the new machine.

"Transmission of pictures through an instrument known as Telepix, telegraph pictures," have been demonstrated as practicable," says the Chicago Tribune, which is joint owner with the New York Daily News, of the process.

The new machine will both send and receive pictures by telegraphic dots and dashes, requiring from an hour to 75 minutes to transmit an ordinary photograph. The owners say that the Telepix is easier to operate than a five tube radio set and takes up less room. Only bad weather interrupting the telegraphic facilities can incapacitate the machine.

The sending operator fixes to a drum of copper a half-tone plate made from a photograph. Where each of the thousands of dots appear on the plate a metal contact is established. On the receiving machine the transmitted dots are recorded on chemically impregnated paper fastened to a similar drum. The machine telegraphs 40 dots a second.

BIDS REJECTED DUE TO LACK OF BUILDING FUNDS

Committee Is Appointed to Revise Building Plans

ACCEPT DONATION

Delays Addition to New Chemistry Building

All bids for the construction of the addition to the new chemistry building at the university were rejected by the executive committee of the board of trustees at their January meeting. The bids greatly exceeded the amount of money on hand for the purpose of completing the addition, was the reason given for their rejection.

Judge B. C. Stoll, Senator H. M. Frohman and Dr. Frank L. McVey comprised the committee appointed to go over the plans with the architect, with the object of suggesting changes that will bring the cost of the proposed addition within the limits of the amount of money in the treasury available for that purpose. All checks sent in by the contractors as guarantee of their good faith were mailed back to them with the notice of rejection.

Receipt of a gift of $500 from Prof. Carol Sax, head of the department of Art, to be applied to the fund maintained for the purpose of bringing speakers to the university for the convocations was also acknowledged by the executive committee.

The only other business transacted by the board was routine and details of activities of the university.

Those present were: Judge Stoll, Senator Frohman, R. G. Gordon, of Louisville, and Superintendent of Public Instruction McHenry Rhodes, of Frankfort.

U. OF K. BEGINS REFORESTATION

Ag. Department Establishes Station in Breathitt

Reforestation work has been started on the lands known as Robinson tract, according to W. E. Jackson, State Forester, appointed by Clell Coleman, Commissioner of Agriculture. The lands, which are located in Breathitt county, were donated to the university by the E. O. Robinson Mountain Fund, as a sub-Experiment Station at Quicksand. This new station is expected to serve the needs of eastern Kentucky.

Mr. Jackson, in speaking of the forestry work said, "I am working in cooperation with Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the Agricultural Station at Lexington. The state forestry work is in a preliminary state, but we are doing the best we can with the act of the 1924 General Assembly, which revived forestry in the state. Laws with teeth are needed."

The sub-Experiment Station, according to the legislative act of 1924, has been made a division of the Experiment Station.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL ASKS THAT NO STUDENT TICKETS BE EXCHANGED

There has been much criticism on the part of "Daddy" Boles and the Athletic Association in regard to the illegal use of student tickets at the athletic contests. This practice has been more pronounced at the basketball games than it was during the gridiron season.

Many students are lending their athletic tickets to outsiders and some have gone so far as to sell them. This practice is causing the Athletic Council to lose money on the contests.

Because of this condition the SuK

UNIVERSITY GIRL IS CHAMPION

Miss Mary Graham Williams

In a milking contest at the recent "Little International" Stock Show at the University of Kentucky, Miss Mary Graham Williams defeated all comers and carried off the honor of being Kentucky's champion milkmaid. She displayed the best "method and form" in milking, according to Judge John Nutter, superintendent of the Experiment Station's dairy herd. Miss Williams got the greatest amount of milk in three minutes of any of the contestants.

Miss Williams is farm born and reader, her home being on a farm near Paris. She has done the family milking for several years and is a lover of livestock and of outdoor life. She is a popular member of the freshman class in the college of Agriculture and is a pledge to the Omega Rho sorority.

"The modern college girl is better and more capable than the college girl of a few years ago. I believe thoroughly in the modern young person. There is much talk about the fast set but the young folks are living no faster than the older ones. Older people are spending more money, living more extravagantly, and setting an example which they cannot blame the younger ones for following."

Commerce Frat Pledges

Eta chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, professional fraternity in Commerce, held its annual pledging exercises a few days prior to the Yuletide holidays, and the following men who are majoring in economics, were tapped: Thomas Neblett, Henry B. ### SUES FOR $20,000

Hume Wilson, a former student of this university, has sued the University of Chicago for $20,000 alleging that he was expelled from that university in 1919 on a false charge of "cribbing" in his English work. He charges that they refused to re-instate him in 1922 and 1923.

Wilson entered the college of Arts and Sciences of the University of Kentucky in September, 1915, and continued in college here until June, 1917. He entered Northwestern University in 1920 and attended one year and a half, and one summer session. He again entered the University of Kentucky in September of '21, but remained only a few months. He is now a junior in the Law department of Northwestern.

EXTRA

Popular Co-Ed Takes Strychnine

TAKES POTION TO STRENGTHEN HEART

May Recover

Kernel Office Friday afternoon 4:15.

Miss Margaret Lucille Dunn, age 21, daughter of Mrs. B. M. Dunn of Indianapolis, Indiana and a sophomore in the college of Arts and Sciences took strychnine at the home of her aunt, Miss Mary Ballard, 171 Kentucky Avenue, with whom she lives, this morning between 9 and 9:30 o'clock. At 4 o'clock she was resting quietly at the Good Samaritan hospital and doctors in attendance entertained some hope for her recovery.

Had Been in Ill Health

Miss Dunn had been in ill health for many years and was sick throughout the Christmas holidays. She had decided to have an operation Monday and this morning came to the University to withdraw, so as to afford her opportunity to rest before having the operation. She left the registrar's office about 8:45 and went to her room, telling her aunt as she went upstairs not to disturb her until 2 o'clock because she wanted to rest until that time when she would go to a show with a young man. Shortly afterwards Miss Ballard was called to the room of her niece who told her aunt that she had taken strychnine. Her aunt asked her why she had done it and she replied that it would not hurt her and was good for her heart.

Rushed to Hospital

Miss Ballard called the ambulance and the patient was taken to the hospital. A transfusion was necessary and Miss Ballard gave a pint of her blood in an effort to save the life of her niece.

Miss Dunn is a very popular student on the campus and would have been a junior in February. She is of a high nervous disposition which condition was produced by her consistent illness. She has been very delicate and ill much of the time since she was a small child.

Miss Dunn had gathered from various conversations that strychnine is good for the heart and she evidently took the deadly potion, thinking it would strengthen and refresh her.

WILDCATS PLAY FIRST S. C. GAME WITH 'OLE MISS'

Players on Edge As Result of Northern Tour

REGULARS TO START

Georgetown Tigers To Be Here Tomorrow Night

The Christmas vacation meant very little to the Wildcats as far as rest goes. They were given stiff workouts by Coach Clarence Applegran during the holidays. The 'cats seemed to be somewhat overworked by consistent practice and were unable to take the long end of the count in either of the four games which they played during the holidays.

The Felines meet their first Southern Conference opponent this season tonight in the new gymnasium, when they hook up with the basketballers from the University of Mississippi. That institution is reported to have a good team and will be one of the strongest contenders for the conference title. Although the Wildcats have been unable to go well against northern teams, it is expected that they will be in good form when they meet the teams which compose the S. I. C.

The Wildcats will meet the Georgetown Tigers tomorrow night and this contest will probably have considerable bearing on the state championship.

The Felines returned from their first trip and went back to hard work at once. Coach Applegran has been drilling his squad on foul throws, in which part of the game they are very weak. Not one member of the team can successfully make good an average number of free throws. Applegran has cut out the criss-cross play completely and has taken up the long pass, which has proved to be a great help to the team.

The next trip of the Wildcats will be a jaunt to Danville next Saturday, when they meet the Centre College quintet in their second game. Neither Centre nor Georgetown should be able to stop the Blue and White team.

Mr. Evans is now chief of distribution for Studebaker automobiles at Kansas City, Mo. He has more than three hundred agencies under him in the southwest. Mr. Arnold is with the York Heating and Ventilating Corporation, at Philadelphia; Mr. Craig is employed by the Armstrong Cork Company, of Rochester, N. Y., and Mr. Daugherty is connected with the Scofield Engineering Company at Philadelphia.

U. K. GRADUATE MADE MANAGER

Jas. M. Graves is V. P. of Duquesne Light Company

James M. Graves '00, general manager of the Duquesne Light Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., has been appointed vice-president and general manager of that company, effective January 1, 1925, according to announcement made by the Duquesne Light Company.

Mr. Graves was born at Lexington in 1878. He received his M. E. in '01. After serving a short time with Field & Hinchman, consulting engineers at Detroit, he went to Pittsburgh where he became associated with the Heyl & Patterson company. In 1903 Mr. Graves became assistant to W. A. Shoreman, General Engineer of the Allegheny Light Company and later was made assistant superintendent of power stations in charge of operation of the 13th street and Rankin plants. In 1906 he was advanced to superintendent of the power station. Mr. Graves has for many years been active in furthering the interests of the electrical industry and for more than ten years was a member of the prime movers committee of the National Electric Light Association, which committee had much to do with the rapid development of the generation of power by electricity.

He was instrumental in starting in 1905 the Kiowatt Club, composed of employees of the Duquesne Company, which later developed into the Duquesne Light Company section of the National Electric Light Association. He has since been very active in the various employees' organizations and from this activity is known to almost every one of the employees of the company.

During the World War Mr. Graves, as a member of the Power Board of the Pittsburgh district, was of considerable assistance to the government in keeping the wheels of industry turning to provide munitions so badly needed. During the peace times he has been actively engaged and was instrumental in developing many of the practices inaugurated at the great Colfax plant which have made it one of the most efficient steam generating plants in the country.

He was also responsible in a large measure for the development of the high tension transmission ring which surrounds the Pittsburgh district and by means of which the various plants and sub-stations are interconnected to prevent interruptions to service.

Realizing the importance of the development of the Beaver Valley district, Mr. Graves has outlined a power plant of the design of the Colfax station to be erected within the next year at a shipping port on the Ohio River. This station will be the base of supply for the Beaver Valley district, and will also be connected with the high tension ring as are the Colfax and Bruno Island plants.

Mr. Graves was appointed assistant general manager on July 1, 1920, and as general manager to which position he rose on December 1, 1920. Mr. Graves has brought to his work a vision of a constantly growing better service to the general public which the company serves. During the time he has served the company it has been a pleasure to watch the number of customers increase from 14,000 in 1903 to over 200,000 at the end of this year. Realizing the tremendous increase in the popularity of electricity, and the basic of the demand so as to render a dependable service.

FORMER STUDENT MADE U. S. JUDGE

Chas. I. Dawson Succeeds Judge Chas. Moorman

Charles I. Dawson ex-'04, Republican party leader and prominent figure in the legal profession of the state, was chosen December 26 as U. S. Judge in Western Kentucky to succeed Judge Charles Moorman, who has been elevated to the court of appeals. This office carries with it authority over the section of the commonwealth where Mr. Dawson spent his childhood and early manhood.

Now a resident of Louisville, where he went to engage in the practice of law after his defeat in the gubernatorial contest in 1923, Mr. Dawson was born in Logan county on February 13, 1881. His father, S. N. Dawson, and other members of his family still reside in Russellville. The new federal judge spent his early years on his father's farm in Logan County attending the county schools.

He then attended Bethel College at Russellville for one year and then attended the University of Kentucky.

Upon leaving the university he returned to Logan county where he taught school for four years. He studied law in the office of S. R. Crewdson, of Russellville, and later in the office of Judge James Bowden. He was admitted to the bar in 1905 and began the practice of law in Russellville. In 1906 he was elected to the legislature as a Democrat, representing Logan county for one term.

In 1907 he moved to Middleboro, practicing law there until 1910, when he moved to Pineville. He soon built up a large general practice in the mountain district. In 1909 he was elected county attorney of Bell county on the Republican ticket and was re-elected again in 1913 and 1917. He resigned to become attorney-general of the state in 1919, serving during the administration of Gov. Edwin P. Morrow. In 1923 he won the Republican nomination for governor over his opponent, George Colvin, who was state superintendent of public instruction.

In the November elections of 1923 General Dawson was defeated by the Democratic nominee, William J. Fields ex-'14, the present chief executive of the state.

General Dawson after his defeat moved to Louisville where he is now making his home and is engaged in the general practice of law. He did not, however, discontinue his political activities, being at all times a prominent figure in party councils.

General Dawson is a member of the Christian church. He is a member of the Masonic order, a member of the Knights of Pythias and Woodmen of the World, an Elk and a member of the State Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

He was married in 1905 to Miss Eleanor Hopson, daughter of a Logan county farmer. They have three children: Eleanor, born in 1911; Jean Maxwell, born in September, 1912; and Richard, born in January, 1921.

TWENTY-FIVE MEMBERS AT CLUB MEETING

Twenty-five members of the Buffalo Alumni Club were present at our regular meeting held Saturday, December 13, at the Chamber of Commerce. This was one of the best attended and most enjoyable meetings of the year.

Plans were made for the election of officers to serve during 1925. The new club officers will be chosen at our next meeting which is scheduled for Saturday, January 10, at one p. m., at the Chamber of Commerce. We are hoping to see every member who can possibly be present at this time.

CLASS SECRETARIES

Each class just before leaving the university has selected one of its number to serve it after going out into the world as secretary. These selections are made with the expectation that these persons shall keep in touch with all the members of their classes and be the liaison officer between the classes and the Alumni Association. With these duties in view the alumni secretary has written these secretaries and mailed them a roster of their classes, requesting that they write letters to their classmates, urging them to become active members of the Alumni Association. This is a service which if properly performed will result in great good for the association.

Due to the association and subscription to the Kernel are only two dollars per year. Life-memberships are twenty-five dollars. You can render valuable assistance to your class secretary and the association if you will urge your classmates with whom you keep in touch to get on the active list of the association and remain loyal to the university in this way.

Mr. Sullivan's college career was lengthened by the war. However, after the war he returned to school and remained here until he completed his course.

For several months after graduation he was employed by E. D. Veach in Lexington. He has been practicing law in Mt. Sterling for about two years, during which time he has been very successful. His candidacy is approved by the Mt. Sterling Advocate, which published a very complimentary editorial on the receipt of his announcement for the office.

Miss Bulah Stillwell returned from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stillwell at the Reed Hotel. Miss Stillwell is a pupil of Madam Marguerite Melville Liszewska.

The marriage of Otis L. Jones to Miss Dorothy C. Lewis ex-'26, of Battle Creek, Mich., was solemnized at the home of the bride in Battle Creek on December 27, 1924.

The wedding was the culmination of a romance which began when both were students at the university.

Mrs. Jones was a popular member of the Chi Omega fraternity and one of the most attractive students at the University during her three years here.

Mr. Jones specialized in business administration while here and is now engaged in business in Michigan. He was a member of the Alpha Sigma Phi social fraternity, Delta Sigma Pi, honorary commercial fraternity, Keys, Thirteen, Lamp and Cross-honor fraternities. I am the goal in the fight,
I am the echo of each song—
The spirit of the Blue and White,
The master of the throng.

A star aqeam above you
To guide you through the night,
Each day to serve and love you,
I am the Blue and White.

Send men of brawn and brain
Who do not fear the fight—
Women who can play the game,
And back the Blue and White,
Take the bitter with the sweet,
Stand fast in every play.
Smile though we gain defeat
And win in that same way.

There's nothing gained by whining,
We're not that kind of stuff,
Each cloud has a silver lining
So, cheer, boy, that's enough.
We love you, old U. K.
Our hearts are with you
No matter what the fray,
We're for the White and Blue.

Pan-Hellenic Dance

Lasting through the holidays is the remembrance of one of the most enjoyable social affairs of the year given by the Men's Pan-Hellenic Council for the members of the various fraternities and their guests, on Friday evening, December 19.

Dinner was served in the hall room of the Phoenix hotel at 7:30 o'clock and a table was arranged for each fraternity and were decorated with flowers and colors of each. A delicious menu was served and an orchestra furnished music.

Following the dinner, the guests went to the men's gymnasium to dance. The illuminated shields of each organization were hung upon the walls. The Blue and White orchestra furnished a special program of music. The programs were small white booklets tied with blue cord and with the dances inside. There were about six hundred guests.

A LETTER FROM DEAN BOYD

Dean Boyd has sent the following letter to delinquent students as a means of advice and encouragement:

I'm writing to you because you have been reported to me at least once this year as doing unsatisfactory work. It may be that you have gotten the trouble straightened out by this time or that you have dropped the troublesome subject, as some of you are doing. If you are still struggling to master the difficulties, or that you have not done all you should have done in the way of study.

If you are now on your feet let me congratulate you on your success. If you have dropped the subject, let me urge you to show your fighting spirit by making a record on the remaining schedule. If you are still waging a strenuous uphill fight against seeming odds, take my word for it that you are on the right road to character and success.

If you have wasted your opportunities, if you have been lazy or have given too much time to extra-curricular activities, let me ask you to take stock and to make a New Year's Resolution that in the future you will make your studies your first consideration.

I am sincerely sorry that I have not been able to talk with you more at length about your difficulties, and to render you more effective aid than I have, at least in many instances. Remember, though, that I and all your teachers as well as the folks at home are dead in earnest in working for you that you may succeed in your college course after your life.

Cordially, Dean Boyd.

PERIODIC PHYSICAL EXAMINATION

(From American Medical Association Journal)

If there is any procedure that represents the apex of the application of preventive medicine, it is the periodic physical examination. This is the most efficient method that modern medicine has for determining the ability of the individual human being to continue his life in such a manner that he may reach the age to which the tables of life expectancy indicate he is entitled. It is not surprising, then, that the idea has received the spontaneous and wholehearted approval of all non-medical agencies to which it may have been broached.

The House of Delegates of the American Medical Association, stimulated particularly by the far-sighted policy its leaders was among the first to urge consideration of this problem, and the various councils and bureaus of the association were empowered several years ago to complete plans for extending the matter to the medical profession and for carrying a systematic campaign of education to the public.

It is significant that every one concerned in the campaign of education for periodic physical examination and in extending this epoch-making method to the public has realized that it is a matter that depends for its success entirely on the extent to which organized medicine, as represented by the Fellows and members of the American Medical Association in the county and state societies, takes up the work. Practically every scheme for putting the system into effect on an extensive scale has attempted to utilize the machinery of the American Medical Association for this purpose.

GREAT NEGRO CHEMIST

(From the Cincinnati Enquirer)

Intellect manifested itself in adaptable and congenial soil; it recks nothing of race or condition; it flowers in the abode of poverty and in the palace of opulence.

Just now the world is amazed over a discovery by a negro chemist, George Washington Carver, head of the department of scientific research at Tuskegee Institute. Humbly this son of slave parents submits that his methods are inspired by God.

The price once paid for this man was a race horse, valued at $300. He worked his way through high school, became a bachelor of science. He served as a member of the faculty of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts, became a teacher in the Tuskegee Institute, and director of its department of research. He is a member of the Royal Society of Arts, London, and in 1923 was awarded the Spingarn medal for notable achievement.

From a slave boy to eminent distinction among the most conspicuous scientists in the world is a record suggestive of dramatic significance and should command admiration.

This man's work has been important, his success nothing less than astounding. There may be cynics who will smile when he tells us that he admits no books to his laboratory, finding there divine guidance and revelations when he needs them, but they will not be able to minimize the importance and usefulness of the results he has achieved.

Dr Carver has derived one hundred useful products from the lowly sweet potato and more than one hundred and fifty from the peanut. These products include rubber, coffee, candy, dyes, paste, paint, starch, vinegar, ink, shoe blacking and molasses. He produced the yolk of an egg from a Porto Rico sweet potato!

What fields of speculation here are opened up: the suggestion of unlimited good supply, or unlimited sources of the world's most essential products!

JUST A WORD

We may have but one movie which is open on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings and maybe half the film fails to arrive on time and we have to wait two days to see the finish of the picture; Main street may be dark after 9 p. m., and the drug store may close at 6:30; the fire department may never arrive at a fire until it has been extinguished by buckets of water, and the police force, God bless him, may retire with the sun; we may be able to see all our old high school associates in one hour at the corner drug store and it may be a one-horse town, but it's our home town and dog-gone it all, we are in love with it.

Probably 1,500 hearths are more vacant this week than they were last week and as many mothers and fathers are yearning and hoping for the children they are struggling to keep in school. Students of the University of Kentucky, be loyal to the trust that has been placed in you by your parents; be the student they expect you to be and be the man that God wants you to be. It is not what you were at home that counts here, it is the "fellow" you are here that makes the man out of you in later life.

"GIRLS ARE BASHFUL" is a headline which appeared in a local paper. The stimulus producing this headline was the fact that there were fewer marriages in leap year than during other years. The writer of the story is under the delusion that girls are bashful about asking men to marry them. Poor, deluded reporter! We contend that he is wholly wrong. The reason that there were fewer marriages in 1924 was because of the numerous refusals of men and not because of the scarcity of proposals by women. We know.

One thing we could never "figger out." Why do some papers publish pictures of various girls who have never done anything but merely happen to be born into a socially prominent family? Ordinarily such girls cannot make biscuits and many of them cannot fry eggs, they cannot

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH OUR BASKETBALL TEAM?

This question is a vital topic of discussion among students on the university campus today. In 1923-24 the University of Kentucky had one of the fastest and best trained quintets in the history of the institution, losing only two games during the season.

This year the same five that made such an enviable record in 1923-24 is back intact with the exception of one man, "Bill" King, and conditions for players have improved at least 100 per cent. Kentucky has the material, the coach, the best basketball building in the south, and the backing of the entire student body, yet her record thus far is virtually a failure.

What is the matter with our 'cats? There can be only one answer to this question, as we see it, and it comes from one not hostile to its team but is a friend and companion in every definition of these words, yet wishes to express the sentiment of the student body in a frank and open manner, hoping that it will be taken kindly by the Wildcats and arouse their fighting spirit. The answer to our question, as we see it, is lack of training and no team can play a game like that of basketball to the best of its ability without training intensively, which is just what our team is not doing.

Wildcats, your student body has been expecting a great record from you and as yet we have received nothing but disappointment. But it is not yet too late and we hope that this observation will serve to express our feelings and starting tonight we are expecting a different story.

You can do it and you will.

VALE, CAESAR!

We are about to enter the arena of a worse conflict than old Caesar and his buddies ever witnessed. The Christmas festivities are over, and we have returned to the scene of action. The sawdust is sprinkled in the pit, and the lions of analytics and smeristry are roaring behind their bars. Yet a few short days, and the sunlight will be turned to darkness before our eyes. Such is the fate of man.

Some will gain an easy victory in the forthcoming struggle. Their hours of toil will show results. Others, dripping with gore will emerge breathless after a bitter fight, but they will win. While yet others, alas! will be numbered among the casualties and will be carried out on drop cards from their deans.

We have been training for this fight since last September, and Whitever the outcome be we have none but ourselves to thank or blame. So we gird ourselves in preparation for the arena, and before we depart we utter those immortal words so fitting at this time: "Vale, Caesar! Morituri saluamus."

THE PROPER SPIRIT

Few institutions of learning can equal the University of Kentucky in her possession of ardent, sincere faculty members. Not only are they vitally interested in the welfare of the university at large, the success of their own departments, but they display a personal interest in the activities and problems of the students. This may not be evident to the casual observer, but every student is ready to tell you of the friendly attention and encouragement shown him by his favorite prof. An eastern university instructor, who spent the summer here several years ago, marveled at this spirit of comradeship so lacking in his own university.

An example of this unselfish interest that has lately come to our attention is the $500 gift of Mr. Carol Sax, head of the Art department, to the university. This money is donated for the purpose of procuring eminent speakers to lecture to the student body. This is in line with the policy of the university to bring the students in contact with great intellectuals and big men, who have done things successfully.

Mr. Sax has the interest of the university at heart, always. Whether it be an art exhibit, an operatic performance, or the buying of books, he has never been found lacking. Loyal to his own department he is broad enough to see the needs of others and to respond to the call.

The executive committee of the board of trustees has expressed its appreciation to Mr. Sax. The student body echoes it with a vote of thanks and "fifteen for Sax."

January 8th, 1924.

Editor, Kentucky Kernel, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky.

Dear Sir: As one very much interested in the success of athletics at Kentucky, I am taking the liberty of passing along an article written by Damon Runyon, syndicate sport writer, which seems particularly applicable to the situation existing on the campus at the University of Kentucky.

We now seem to have the plant, the quality and quantity of material, the right kind of competition, and a good coaching staff. What we lack is a student body with the "will to win."

I think one of our main troubles in this direction is the lack of the right kind of cheer leaders. Not that our cheer leaders do not try their best; they just do not possess the proper qualifications. Cheer leaders ought to be drafted and not elected on popularity. I am sure the right kind of material is there. At the Michigan basketball game before Christmas, a chap named Estes, took upon himself the job of cheer leading and made a splendid success of it. He has real talent and that is the type of chap we need to stir up the student body.

I think everybody will agree that "Hold 'em, State" ought to be thrown into the discard forever.

I am sending this along to you for what it is worth, for we are all working for the same end—the glory of athletics of Kentucky—and something constructive might be found in it.

With my best wishes, I am, Cordially yours, Guy A. Huguélet, '14.

Ed. Note:—Because of the fact that the article by Damon Runyon mentioned by Mr. Huguélet is copyrighted, we are not privileged to use it. We shall attempt to get permission to publish this article in the near future.

sw or sweep; in fact they can do so few things that are really beneficial to themselves and others that they are not worth recording. The papers publishing pictures of such girls justify themselves by printing under the picture—"Miss So and So, who will be graduated from high school this June." Thousands of girls do that. We never want our picture in the paper; in the words of the immortal Rube, "it doesn't mean anything."

We can hardly conceive of a student who would sell his student ticket to an outsider and remain away from games. But it is being done and we would like to urge every organization on the campus to get behind a plan outlined by "Daddy" Boles and the Athletic Council to stop such illegal use of student tickets. Student tickets are issued to students and their names are written on them. The ticket is not transferable and students should not be guilty of the practice. The SuKy Circle has announced its intention of doing everything in its power to put a stop to this giving and exchanging of tickets and we feel that they have shown the proper spirit of cooperation with the Athletic Council. Come on, students, get behind your university and forgo to the front. Be not guilty of such cheapening practices as will affect your future welfare.

It is gratifying to note that the illustrious person who wielded such facile pen under a column headed "Lagunappe" in this publication last year has recently been honored by being made city editor of the Lexington Herald. Marshall Hall, who came to us from Somers, while yet a practicing boy, is the one thus honored. Last year he suddenly loomed on the horizon as one of the most prolific journalists on the campus; the Kernel snatched him up and profited by using his witty and brilliant "snatches" on its editorial page. The managing editor of the Lexington Herald was quick to recognize him as a valuable man and took him from us last February.

Hail wrote a similar column to this. We have always felt that it took a genius to do such things. We thank you—bow—sit down.

That mayor up at Stamford, Conn., who wants a whipping post for wife beaters and child deserters is entirely too hard on them. Mayor, if we go to such extremes to punish those folk, we shall be unable to derive a means of punishment inhuman enough for the "husband shooters."

In the cultural circles of fraternities and sororities, we advise the elimination of such uncouth a word as "goat." Make it "frolicy gamboler of the pastoral green."

We are glad Hume Wilson did not sue the University of Kentucky for $20,000 while he was here. With our present support from the legislature we would not have had enough money to fight the suit.

FACTORY PLUMBING CAN CONTRIBUTE TO EFFICIENCY

Supplying dependable valves, fittings and steam specialties that exactly satisfy all piping requirements is only one of the ways Crane Co. serves American industry. Crane provides another important means of lowering manufacturing costs in its complete line of factory plumbing fixtures.

In many ways this sanitary equipment can be used to bring up efficiency. Toilet rooms and lavatories of ample capacity, placed close to the "population centers" of the departments they serve, save many wasted minutes. Enough drinking fountains, convenient to machines and benches, increase production by shortening the time taken off by workmen in quenching their thirst. Because Crane plumbing materials stand up under ordinary, careless usage, they perpetuate these savings of time. Their upkeep cost is low, their life much longer than could be expected of fixtures made to sell on price alone.

When you plan plumbing installations, a Crane specialist at the nearest Crane Branch or Sales Office will be glad to help you select the correct type of fixture for each particular requirement. One hundred two Crane branches and offices bring this service within easy reach of every industrial plant in the United States and Canada.

The ABC of Good Paving

ASPHALT for Filler because it makes the traffic-bearing surface a water-proof, flexible armor not subject to the cracks which follow rigid slab construction, and because repair costs are insignificant where each brick is an easily removable unit.

BRICK for Surface because it furnishes the best surface for traffic; hard, but not brittle—tough, but not rough—dense, and non-absorbent—smooth, but not "slick"; because its fire-hardened toughness resists wear and tear so sturdily that upkeep expense is squeezed to a minimum and because any margin of higher first-cost is speedily offset by low maintenance, long life and uninterrupted service.

CONCRETE, CRUSHED ROCK, CRUSHED SLAG OR GRAVEL for Base because some one of these bases meets any conceivable sub-soil condition, and with a bedding course of sand or screenings makes the best sub-structure yet developed for modern street or highway traffic.

HOLIDAYS PROVE DISASTROUS TO BLUE AND WHITE

'CAT' OPPONENTS PROVE TOO GOOD OVER HOLIDAYS

Wildcats Drop Three Contests on Trip

WABASH WINS 57-10

Cincinnati and Illinois Also Emerge Victors

Hard luck was encountered by the Wildcats in their first tour of the year which took them to Cincinnati, Illinois and Wabash Universities and they dropped all three games. The first of the series went to the Cincinnatians by 24 to 20 but the Wildcats should have won. Four goals were shot by the Blue and White players but the referee ruled he had blown his whistle before the shots were made.

The 'cats were then defeated by Illinois and Wabash, but in the last game the coach sent in most of his second string men and sent his regulars home to rest a few days before the Southern Conference grind starts.

On December 20 the 'Cats lost to Michigan by the score of 21 to 11. The lengthy players were unable to take the passes of the Blue and White netmen in the air and then convert them into counters. Following the Michigan game came the return game with the University of Cincinnati. The Queen City net artists took the game from the Cats by the small margin of 24 to 20. Although the Wildcats lost this frame they might have won if the referee had paid closer attention to the ball. Four times he was late in blowing the whistle yet he refused to let the baskets count. The team work of the Wildcats was somewhat ragged in this tilt and missed a great number of free throws which might have won the game.

Before the game started, the Wildcat mentor advised his men to discard the criss-cross and to take up the long pass. This worked to better advantage during the contest with the Ohioans and gave the 'Cats numerous short shots.

The Wildcats journeyed over to Urbana from the Ohio city, where they met the University of Illinois, another Western conference team. The Illinois outfit was superior to the Blue and White quintet and took the game by a 36 to 26 score. On Tuesday night the Wabash five had little difficulty in defeating the 'Cats, letting them down with an overwhelming score of 57 to 10. The Wildcats were in a tired condition and were minus the services of their Captain, Jimmy McFarland and "Chuck" Rice while the Wabash outfit was in the best of form.

The Wabash team defeated Vanderbilt earlier in the season by an overwhelming score and this would indicate that the Blue and White is going to be a strong contender for the Southern title.

MICHIGAN SINKS BLUE AND WHITE

Wolverines Hand 21 to 11 Licking to 'Cats

The University of Kentucky Wildcats were defeated at the hands of the University of Michigan Wolverines to the tune of 21 to 11 on December 20.

The Michigan basketballers completely outclassed the Wildcats in all stages of the game. They took an early lead and kept it throughout the game. The Wolverines opened up with a whirlwind attack which took the Kentucky boys off their feet. The floor work and the good passing of Cherry, Michigan's running guard, was exceptionally good being the outstanding star for the Wolverines. The Michigan aggregation was a very smooth running machine.

The outstanding star for Kentucky was Carey, whose defensive work was excellent at all times.

WILDCATS' BOWL DEPAUW FEB. 4

Game Will Open 1925 Intercollegiate Schedule

The University of Kentucky will enter upon its traditionally new sport on February 4 when the Wildcats bowl the University of DePauw in the first Intercollegiate Bowling League match on the 1925 schedule. S. A. "Daddy" Boles received the schedule a few days ago and it calls for 14 games to be played by the Kentucky team.

The Wildcats last year finished in third place in the league, Syracuse and Michigan beating them out. The local team was strong during the season but this year with all of the players back and a few additional candidates out the prospects for a better team look bright. Last year I. J. Miller, Robert Honaker, Arthur Morris, W. A. Harbold, Robert Straus, J. A. Estes and Robert Embry composed the squad.

All matches were bowled on the Phoenix Hotel bowling alleys in 1924 and it is probable that they will roll there during the coming season. Morris was captain of the team last year but Estes has been selected as captain for the 1925 season.

Although the bowling game is not as popular as is basketball and football, it has a few ardent followers who delight in the sport as much as they do in the major sports, and furthermore, it gives the University of Kentucky a chance to compete with such institutions as Yale, DePauw, Navy, Syracuse, Michigan and others that in other sports would be too strong for them. Last year the Kentucky team swept a two-game series with Yale, DePauw and a few others and split two games with Syracuse and Michigan, who finished above the Wildcats.

The Intercollegiate Bowling League is composed of Kentucky, Navy, Syracuse, DePauw, Michigan, Yale, Rose Poly, Minnesota, and Carnegie Tech. The 1925 season opens February 4 and closes April 3.

RIFLE SEASON TO START JAN. 17

Yale, Harvard, Penn., Are Included in Schedule

The university Rifle Team will formally open its regular season on January 17, when they fire against the University of Georgia by telegraph.

Last year Kentucky won the 5th Corps Area championship, which includes the states of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, and finished third in the national meet. They made the highest score of any team in the prone, sitting and standing positions, but made poor scores in the kneeling position, which prevented them from winning first place.

The men of last year's squad who will fire this season are: Anderson, Henry, Bobbit, Brown, Rogers, C. Rice, Travis, Griffith, Weams, Creech, Woolf, Withrow, and Faulkner. There are about twenty candidates who are competing for a place on the squad in addition to the above mentioned.

RESEARCH CLUB MEETS

The Research Club held a meeting Thursday, January 8, at the university cafeteria at 5:30 o'clock. Doctor West and Professor Kenney addressed the club.

MURPHY, BOLES LIST HARD GAMES TO START 1925 FOOTBALL SEASON

Kentucky's regular football season will open auspiciously, if not victoriously, next October.

It was so decreed by the athletic council of the University some time ago when they accepted a financial offer of Alonzo E. Stagg, Jr., of Chicago, that will permit the Wildcats to meet Coach Stagg's University of Chicago Maroons in Chicago's new stadium on October 3.

The 1925 schedule is minus the names of Georgetown and Louisville and in their places have been placed the names of Chicago and Clemson. With these two games for the regular early season games, the Wildcats and Coach Murphy will have to do some high stepping to emerge victorious in either scrap.

The schedule offers no so-called "easy games." Chicago follows Maryland, Clemson follows Chicago and then comes Washington & Lee, Sewanee, Centre, Alabama, V. M. I., and Tennessee. Such a card promises to hold the Kentucky eleven at a high tension until Thanksgiving day when the season will be ended with the annual affair with the University of Tennessee.

Coach Murphy, in booking hard games to start the season, has acted wisely. Formerly, the 'Cats have played set-ups in the first few weeks of the football campaign and consequently they scarcely received a good workout during the time. When the games arrived, there was a little spark of over-confidence, of the "We can beat 'em" spirit in them and the mood was hard to shake off. Beginning the season with one of the hardest games that a team the calibre of the Wildcats has ever faced, they will not have a chance to loaf on the job and this alertness may go a long way toward deciding the remaining games of the schedule in the Wildcat's favor.

Reserve strength, something lacking on Stoll Field for years, will be present this year. Only two letter men, so far as is known, will be missing from the squad when the call is issued in September and the Freshman team, which was defeated only once last year, will be ready to season.

The 1924 first year team defeated Centre once and tied them once and they believe they can come back again next year and help defeat her. "The spirit" is already exploding around the campus and those who believe in omens say this is a pretty good sign.

Spring practice will occupy the minds of approximately 100 football men in March and Coach Murphy expects to get a fairly good line up on his prospective candidates for the 1925 season.

INTER-SORORITY GAMES TO START ON MONDAY NITE

Chi Omegas Meet South Patt Hall in First

GAMES END FRIDAY

Tourney Will Be First for Kentucky Girls

By Eugenia O'Hara

The Kittenettes of the University of Kentucky will play again next week, but not together. The intersorority-dormitory tournament starts Monday, January 12, at 7:30, when the Chi Omega sorority meets South Patterson Hall on the floor of the girls' gym. The first series of preliminaries will be run off during the week.

The Chi's boast a "K" girl of 1321-22, and have a good player in Mildred Morris, who is captain of the team. "Cowboy" Kirk, Rachele Shacklette, Louise Burks, and Jeanette Metcalf are showing real ability in practice and are in the probable lineup for Monday night. That team will not be an easy opponent.

South Patterson Hall will show some talent new to the university. Betty Moss, captain of the team, has previously won glory at K. C. W. as a first-class basketball player, and much is expected of her in the opening game. Jean Todd, a star from Frankfort high school, knows the cage game and is an excellent floor worker. The lineup of South Patterson is not certain, but they will be watching.

Tuesday, January 13, the Kappa Deltas are scheduled to meet the town team. The Kappa Deltas are the hard workers. They are out to practice at every opportunity, and have some good material in Murphy, Gordon, Pride, Kenney, and Chatfield.

The town team is fortunate in having two "K" winners of last year, Mabel Hill and Bessie Bounton; also a letter girl of the year before, Betty Carroll. The remainder of the lineup is not yet made up. The K. D.'s have a team with strength and experience.

Tuesday at 8 o'clock the Alpha Delta Theta sorority is scheduled to contest the Omega Rho's.

Wednesday at 6 o'clock the Alpha Xi Delta sorority meets the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. This match promises to be hard fought. Elizabeth Helm, a stellar Kittenette of last year, captains the Kappas, and with Foster Helm as coach, a real team is being whipped into shape.

The Alpha Xi Delta team, led by Jeanette Ellison, is rich in material. The lineup for Wednesday night looks formidable with Cosby, Hugh, Ballantine, Hall and Ellison. Hall is a letter girl of 1922-23.

Thursday at 7 o'clock Zeta Tau Alpha sorority plays Boyd Hall. Jameson and Rice, members of last year's squad, are the nucleus of the Boyd Hall team and have excellent support. They have a team worth considering.

Thursday at 8 o'clock Alpha Gamma Delta meets Sigma Beta Upsilon. The Sigma Beta's, led by Dorothy Kerth, star of last year's championship team, and all-Kentucky forward, have a sterling leader. She will have able support in Cassener, McGurk, Richardson, and Stephenson, a member of the 1922-23 team.

Friday at 7:30, the Delta Zeta Sorority plays Smith Hall. Delta Delta Delta sorority was scheduled to meet North Patterson Hall Saturday night, but withdrew from the tournament.

FOOTBALL STORIES TO APPEAR IN SOCIETY COLUMNS IN '35—ROCKNE

"Football stories will appear in the society columns and we have only until 1935 to await it; that is, provided the present attitude toward collegiate football remains."

Knut Rockne, famous football coach and director of the "Four Horsemen of Notre Dame," made the above statement in answer to the criticisms of eastern newspapers that he started his second string men against so elite institutions as Princeton and the Army.

"What next?" the eastern critics have asked.

And here is Rockne's answer: "I would suggest that our critics do more about getting men out of disease giving honors to the chairman of the prom committee and the decorating committee. Also that they cease letting fraternities run their teams that that they stop allowing social activities to overshadow athletics."

Notre Dame vs. Nebraska in '35

And Knute goes a step further and gives an interesting sketch of the Notre Dame-Nebraska game in '35.

"On a nice, crisp autumn day, just nice enough to allow the socially elite to wear their new fall garb, Notre Dame met Nebraska in their nineteenth annual football contest.

"Receiving at fullback for Nebraska was M. Bickerdyche III, of the famous North Platte family. His team was gallily attired in scarlet and mauve tunic. About the waist was a girdle with a Louis XIV buckle. The shoes were Hoofus and Son, hosiery by Charlot.

"The Notre Dame team also was striking in green shirtwaists and headgear resembling a woodman's toque. Unique, without being gaudy, was the fact that their shoulder pads were trimmed with georgette. The officials wore the regulation knickerbockers and crepe de chine blouses.

"Precisely at 2:30 p. m., Fitzpatrick Murphy kicked off to Bickerdyche, who returned the ball 10 yards before he was tagged by the Notre Dame end. To their dismay Notre Dame found Nebraska to be as adept at tagging as they, and the first half evolved into a punting duel.

"Between halves both teams had tea and returned to the field feeling greatly refreshed and played with renewed determination. In the middle of the fourth quarter on a kick-down ball play old Bickerdyche went streaking up the sidelines with a clear field to the goal line.

"A groan went up from the Notre Dame stands, but they failed to reckon with the resourcefulness of Mr. Murphy.

"Playing safety, he saw Bickerdyche streaking for the touchdown, and no one to stop him. 'Yoo-hoo, Bickerdyche,' he shouted, 'there's a run in your stocking!'

"Poor Bickerdyche! so mortified that what could he do but drop the ball and retire to the clubhouse in confusion? And thus was the game saved for Notre Dame!"

Nightfall

An effort to get away from time-worn similes.

The sun sank like a red tomato
Behind a sky the color of mud
One by one, then faster and faster
(Like bills on the first of the month.)

The stars appeared
The moon, a cookie, someone had bitten, became visible

The stars flickered and twinkled, like Ford lights when the ignition is bad

The twittering of the birds was hushed as if some celestial proctor had entered an exam room

Darkness fell—
Night settled on the landscape with the deliberation of a man falling from a third story window in slow motion pictures.

Ragland, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. Marrs' best man was David Bishop of Hartford and the bride had as her only attendant her sister, Miss Antonette Harrison '23. The bridal couple left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip and will make their home in Lexington upon their return.

The bride, who is the daughter of the late Mr. Winn Gunn Harrison and Mrs. Harrison, is a charming girl with a large circle of friends. She is the granddaughter of Samuel T. Harrison, Sr., of Fayette county and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adkins, of Lexington and Coxton. She was a member of the Chi Omega fraternity. Many pleasant social events were given in her honor prior to her marriage.

Mr. Marrs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Marrs of the Winchester pike, and comes from representative families of Fayette and Jessamine counties. Both have many friends to wish them happiness. Among the out-of-town kinspeople who came for the wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Frank Allen Atkins of Coxton; Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter and Miss Roberta Carpenter of Covington; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkins and daughters, Misses Matha, Roberta, Lida Lee and Frances, of Pineville; Mr. William Atkins '14 of Coxton.

Piercing the Great Divide

West of Denver is the Continental Divide; hemmed in behind it is an undeveloped district twice as large as Maryland. That fertile area the new Moffat Tunnel will open up.

The General Electric Company includes many specialists—engineers who know about tunnels; engineers who know about street lighting; engineers who know about the electrification of factories. These men are helping to build the better and happier America in which you will live.

If you are interested in learning more about what electricity is doing, write for Reprint No. AR391 containing a complete set of these advertisements.

General Electric mine locomotives are carrying out the rock, and G-E motors are driving air compressors and pumping water from underground rivers.

The conquests of electricity on land and sea, in the air and underground, are making practical the impossibilities of yesterday. It remains only for men of ability to find new things to do tomorrow. Thus does Opportunity of 1925 beckon college men and women toward greater things as yet undreamed, and to a better world to live in.

LAW ASSOCIATION MEETS IN CHICAGO

Dean Turck and Prof. Roberts Represent Kentucky

The University of Kentucky College of Law, which for many years has been a member of the Association of American Law Schools, was represented by Dean Charles J. Turck and Prof. W. Lewis Roberts at the annual meeting of the association held in Chicago December 29 to 31, 1924. The meeting was featured by a discussion of the steps by which legal procedure, both civil and criminal, could be simplified and better adjusted to meet the requirements of litigation. The American Law Institute, which is now engaged in the task of restating certain topics in substantive law, was requested to consider procedural law as well.

The admission of six new member school makes a total membership of 63 in the association. This membership includes all the leading law schools of the United States.

While away Dean Turck addressed a joint session of the commonwealth attorneys, county attorneys and circuit judges of Kentucky in Louisville, on the subject "New Burden of Law Enforcement." Dean Turck and Professor Roberts returned to Lexington on New Year's day.

AG DEAN PROMISES PROFITABLE YEAR

Agriculture Has Taken Remarkable Stride

Dean Thomas P. Cooper, of the college of Agriculture, in a New Year's address, prophesied that the year of 1925 would be a profitable one for the farmers of Kentucky.

In his message, he stated that during the year of 1924, agriculture had taken such a remarkable stride forward, compared with the preceding four years, that this year is looked forward to with great anticipation, and gives promise of great results.

There is much to encourage the Kentucky farmer, says Dean Cooper; the great world shortage is one cause of this situation. Agricultural prices as a whole have reached the highest point since 1920 and meanwhile the purchasing power of the dollar has increased, not only by the downward movement which has taken place in the price of commodities, but by increased farm prices.

The objective at the eastern Kentucky station was explained by Mr. Jackson as follows:

To conduct experimental work and carry on investigation in timber production, forest growth, forest renewal and utilization of forest products and to make such experiments as may determine the practicability of reforestation and the development of a permanent forest industry.

The Breathitt county station should also conduct experimental work relating to the various phases of horticulture, animal husbandry, agriculture and other investigations which bear directly upon the development of the agricultural industry of eastern Kentucky.

The legislature has set aside $25,000 annually for the station's needs.
