Cat Gridders Seek Record-Tying Win

16 Seniors In Finale

By JOHN FITZWATER
Friday Sports Editor

Tomorrow 16 seniors will lead Blanton Collier's Wildcats onto Shields-Watkins Field for the season finale against Tennessee, with a chance to become the second Kentucky team in history to beat the Volunteers four straight times.

The Wildcats have come out on the short end of the traditional rivalry nine times in the last 13 meetings at Knoxville, but have taken five wins in six tries under Coach Collier.

A capacity crowd of 50,000 is expected to view the clash.

The kickoff will mark the start of the two clubs' 56th meeting, and the annual fight for a 35-year-old traditional game trophy . . . a battered beer barrel.

The barrel has rested in Lexington almost continuously since the Cats reversed a definite Volunteer trend of victories in 1952.

For Dickie Mueller, Tom Rodgers, Don Nuerge, Leeman Bennett, Don Sinor, Jim Fisher, Jim Yarbrough, Jerry Eisaman, Lloyd Hodge, Bob Hunt, Bill Scott, Calvin Bird, Jim Reader, Jim Poynter, Charlie Sturgeon, and Tom Hundley, it will be the last grid game in Kentucky blue.

Although the Cats are 5-4 for the overall season and 2-4 in the rugged Southeastern Conference,

Trout Speaks Here Today

Allan Trout, often called the "Dean of Kentucky Newsmen," will speak at 2 p.m. today in the Journalism Building.

A member of the Louisville Courier-Journal Frankfort News Bureau, Trout will speak at a Kernel staff meeting.

Trout also writes a daily column entitled "Greetings." Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, is sponsoring his appearance.

a closing rush has seen them blank five opponents in six tries, after early season trouble with some of the nation's top teams.

The Vols will enter the game with a 5-2-1 record and the knowledge that only a few weeks ago they were ranked one of the top 10 clubs in America.

The advance look at the Wildcats is the same as it has been for the past eight weeks. Kentucky's offense will depend on the "terrible trio" of Jerry Woolum, Tom Hutchinson, and Dave Gash.

The running of Bird and Sturgeon, plus the blocking of Jim Poynter, and defensive work of Hodge and Irv Goode will also add to the Cat's offensive punch.

This week Hutchinson leads the SEC and a week ago was fifth nationally, at pass receiving. The New Albany, Ind. sophomore has 25 catches for 384 yards. Gash has caught 18 passes for 281 yards.

Woolum currently ranks third in the league throwing with 767 yards on 63 completions in 124 tries. Sturgeon has been the most potent of all Wildcat rushers with 291 yards in 58 trips for better than a five-yard-per-try average.

Poynter, mentioned as a candidate for the Jacobs Blocking Trophy, has proved a tough running threat himself. The Danville lad has 198 yards in 48 carries to place second on the UK squad.

This week Coach Collier expressed worry when he spoke of meeting Tennessee. "This year may not be the best Vol team we have faced in recent years," he said, "but they certainly are close to the nationally second-ranked powerhouse that handed us our last defeat in the series at Knoxville in 1956.

The Vols have undoubtedly the greatest array of backs since I have been associated with the game and their great line personnel makes them one of the toughest tackling outfits in the country."

News Analyst Speaks Tonight In Coliseum

Martin Agronsky, radio and television news analyst and winner of a Peabody Award in 1953, will speak at 8:15 p.m. today in the Coliseum.

The program is sponsored by the Central Kentucky Concert and Lecture Series.

Equivalent to the Pulitzer Prize, the Peabody Award was given to Agronsky in recognition of "his capacity for getting the story behind the story" and "his penetrating analyses of highly controversial matters."

A student of foreign affairs, Agronsky decided on a foreign correspondent's position after receiving his A.B. from Rutgers University in 1936. His work abroad was highlighted by an on the spot coverage of the last days of the Spanish Civil War and several articles on the disturbances in Palestine.

Agronsky's voice is famous to Americans from his broadcasts through both world wars and, more recently, from his work on Monitor and the Dave Garroway TODAY television show.

He covered all war fronts from Singapore to Java to Australia and saw the beginnings of the United Nations at the Dumbarton Oaks conference in Washington.

Agronsky's honors for distinguished correspondence include a citation and the award of the Asiatic-Pacific Service Ribbon by General MacArthur in March 1945, for "sharing the hardships and dangers of combat with the United States troops."

Agronsky won nationwide acclaim for his work during the 1952 Presidential nominating conventions. Time magazine called him the "1952 political convention stand out" for his superior coverage of the conventions.

TV Workshop Features Physical Education Dept.

The Physical Education Department and its various organizations will be featured at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow on the "University of Kentucky Television Workshop."

The functions and responsibilities of the department as well as Troupers and Tau Sigma, a modern dance group, will be highlighted. Films of the intramural football championship game will be shown to illustrate the part intramurals take in college life. According to Ronald Russell-Tutty, instructor in the radio, television, and films department, the workshop, which will be making its third appearance tomorrow, has received much favorable comment and the faculty is highly encouraged by the first two shows.

Russell-Tutty further stated that plans call for productions on the various plants and departments of the University such as the Margaret I. King Library and the Medical Center.

Music Dept. To Present UK Pianist

The Music Department will present Herbert Hermann, pianist, in the University Musicales Series at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Hall.

Hermann, a member of the University faculty who replaced Howard Karp now studying in Vienna on a Fulbright scholarship, will perform for the first time before a Lexington audience.

Selections included in the program are Bach's English Suite in A Minor; Beethoven's Sonata in A Major, Op. 101; and Chopin's Impromptu in G Flat, Op. 51 and Fantasy in F Minor, Op. 49.

The pianist came to the University from Memphis State University where he taught piano for the past three years. He gave concerts in Memphis; Mississippi State College for Women, Columbus; and the University of Illinois, Urbana.

Physics Research Equipment Under Study For Duplication

High energy physics research equipment at the University is being studied for duplication at a new 20 million dollar Atomic Research Commission facility near Chicago.

The Argonne National Laboratory will become the third such AEC facility in the United States and will use equipment similar to that which has made Kentucky and the University a pioneer in the field of nuclear science.

A study group under the auspices of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies met here last week to formulate plans for participation by southern universities in research at the Argonne Laboratory. Dr. Vincent Kenney, associate professor of physics, has been chairman of the study group since July. He and William Shepard, assistant professor of physics, were host for the committee meeting.

Most recent addition to the UK equipment is a $47,000 measuring engine built to specifications by the Hermes Electronic Corporation. It was purchased with part of a $72,000 grant to UK from the National Science Foundation and administered through the Kentucky Research Foundation.

Briefly, it automatically reads data from photographic film—film which has recorded the actions and interactions of elementary particles which make up the nucleus of an atom.

The photographing is accomplished with an inventive device of Nobel Prize Winner Dr. Donald A. Glaser.

The film then comes to UK for analysis where Dr. Kenney, Prof. Shepard, seven graduate students, and 15 undergraduate students analyze it. Use of undergraduates in a regular training program—12 of whom are on undergraduate National Science Foundation grants—has vaulted UK to the front of colleges and universities participating in high energy work.

"High energy studies are less than 10 years old and are at the same relative position nuclear physics was in the 1930's," Dr.

Kenney said. He explained that the energy being studied is "a thousand times greater than that released in nuclear fission."

Campus Deserted For Knoxville; Two Frats Charter Buses

By ALICE AKIN
Society Editor

This is one of those weekends—the kind I absolutely detest writing about.

I guess I could say that everyone is going to the big Tennessee game, but so far as I know there are very few actually scheduled mass movements to Knoxville.

Kappa Sigmas nevertheless are planning a gigantic weekend centered around this last traumatic gridiron event. Tonight Kappa Sigs and their dates will go over to the house and dance a tad until time to load on to their chartered bus.

After riding all night they will arrive at the Tennessee chapter house for a southern breakfast of grits and biscuits. A jam session has been scheduled for the tomorrow morning preceding the game.

Then after the game they will once more board the bus and come back to the Blue Grass.

Other people are going to Tennessee by car, banana truck, or air mail. Good luck on getting there and getting back.

At 1 p.m. today there will be a send-off party at the SUB for the Wildcats followed by a motorcade to Blue Grass Airport. If you have a convertible you're especially welcome to attend. If you have a big mouth, you're also welcome.

The Sig Eps are taking a Greyhound, but no women. About 40 of the chapter members are leaving Saturday morning at 6 no less. The UT chapter down there is planning a party Saturday night for this stag invasion.

Phi Sigma Kappa is having a non-camel caravan composed of members and their dates. Take off time is early this afternoon and they'll be meeting with the Tennessee Phi Sigs for entertainment.

And the Phi Deltas report that they have two cars going—a total of six dates. SAE's are also using cars and they're not spending the night. ATO's and some of their recent alumni are attending also. (Don't you wonder sometimes how we get all this vital information?)

Well, enough about the game for now. Elsewhere on campus there isn't too much going on but there are a few parties worthy of mention and here they are.

Phi Taus are partying with a Thanksgiving theme. They're having tonight a "Plymouth Rock" party over at the house.

The last time I heard from them they didn't know who their band was going to be but they are going to have one. Probably will be someone no less than "John Smith and the Original Thirteen."

Meanwhile, back at the Tennessee game, the Lambda Chi Alpha is spreading its school spirits with a little pre-victory celebration tonight. The party will be at the house from 8-12.

The Bowman Hall girls are still active on the social scene and they've scheduled another event for tomorrow night. Joe Mills and Bob Miller will be over there to furnish the music for a jam session.

This jam session is a trial basis for something that might occur every weekend. Now, can you imagine anything so spastic as having a jam session every weekend?

Now that mid-terms are over I guess everyone is looking forward to Thanksgiving vacation. Of course in reality mid-terms have been going on for the last month. Some professors have been having a weekly mid-term test.

And just so no one will have a good Thanksgiving vacation it seems to be the latest fad to assign term papers due, needless to say, the day we get back.

Seems like everyone is doing poorly in his pursuit of knowledge. I don't know about the boys, but the girls seem to think that there won't be a "Stars in the Night" program this year.

Oh well, that's a depressing subject and so is this column as a whole. Have a nice Thanksgiving and good luck in getting Mommy to do your term papers.

DO YOU — Want something new and different in a sport coat? Then be sure to see the solid white glove leather sport coat called "The Californian." This is not a waist length jacket—it is a full length sport coat, and very, very handsome (can be worn with any color trousers).

JACK BRADLEY — S.A.E. swinger and commerce student, has an outfit that I admired the other day. He was wearing a Tartan plaid sport coat of wine-olive and gold shades, with silver buttons, black olive hopsack weave slax—a white snap tab shirt of oxford cloth—his narrow tie was a mixture of wine and olive tones. Jack is a neat person—and a nice person!!

UNIVERSITY ROW — By "Manhattan" is a sharp slipover sport shirt with button down collar — made of solid colored light weight flannel — non-scratchable. Perfect for class or sport wear—would also make an excellent Christmas gift (and it is closer than you think).

MY PREDICTION — About the growing popularity of soft plaid slax—to be worn with solid color blazers or sweaters — has proven to be correct. "Tommy Greene" (Kappa Sig) has lost the bet with me about corduroy—corduroy is bigger than ever (tee hee!).

ANSWER — To another written inquiry—the correct length for a dress topcoat is just below the knee-cap. If you have a question—just drop me a card and I'll be happy to assist you.

CONGRATS — To the Cats, over the victory last week. Now do the same thing in Tennessee — I know you can!

So long for now,

The Belated Directories

During the past month a question has been gnawing at us and we now find that we must ask it. Where are the Student Directories?

Student Congress President Bob Wainscott said at the beginning of the school year, "The committee (in charge of compiling the names, addresses, and telephone numbers) plans to have the directory ready to be distributed to the student body sometime in October."

Here it is Nov. 18, but we still have no directories.

Wainscott also said that "the present committee will definitely have the new directory ready sooner than the 1959-60 edition was distributed." This was a rather safe statement when one considers that last year's directories did not go on sale until the middle of December.

Students should have their directories before Thanksgiving and certainly before the Christmas holidays. Unfortunately, the congress made promises it could not live up to when it said it could give the students the directories within a reasonable time.

We realize that compiling the names, addresses, and phone numbers of 7,500 students is a fairly large project, but we feel sure SC could muster the manpower to complete the task in two months.

Other universities we know of manage to put out larger student directories than that of the congress and get them out within a month after registration. One such university is the University of Texas with twice as many students as the University.

There the student directory is published by the Publications Board which also publishes the Daily Texan. Texas students have their directories early in October.

Perhaps it would be best for the University if some group other than Student Congress put out the directory. While we do not advocate that the Board of Student Publications take it over, we do urge that someone with a knowledge of publishing techniques be consulted and more concrete plans and arrangements made for next year's book.

With proper handling, next year's directory might even be ready in time to aid those who send Christmas cards.

Readers Discuss Greek Week, Juke Boxes

Unqualified Success

To The Editor:

Regarding the letter published in Thursday's Kernel, as a completely unbiased reader, I consider Mr. Patterson's allegations unfounded, libelous, and a defamation of an outstanding young man's character.

Loring Roush has worked tirelessly toward making Greek Week a success and a band's cancellation of a contract cannot, with any logic, be blamed on Roush and his committee. Patterson's implications that the committee has spent little working to plan the dance are erroneous en toto.

Probably better acquainted with Roush than Patterson is, I know that his devotion to duty is unquestionable, his character irreproachable, and his cultured tastes above the "swingin' band of some hillbilly," mentioned by Patterson.

You may rest assured, Mr. Patterson, with Mr. Roush in charge of arranging for the entertainment, Greek Week will be an unqualified success.

To The Editor:

We would like to commend you on your recent editorial concerning the "juke box jabberwocks." It is indeed gratifying and heartwarming to see this highly controversial subject, which for so long has been submerged beneath the murky maze of apathy, brought to the surface. Your comments, while they do not outline any effective prognosis, are nevertheless indicative of the insight and enlightenment prerequisite to the cure of this social malignancy.

May we thank you again and again, sir, for the public expression of your views. Although puberty is a very trying period, we fervently hope that these lovers of musical miscarriage will weather adolescence with no lasting ill effects.

Resists Anonymity

To The Editor:

Apparently certain so-called advanced English classes at the University of Kentucky tend to develop, or at least permit the development of supercilious and rather moronic individuals who have the audacity to say such things as "You're in my English Class? Oh well, nobody notices anybody on the back row, not even the professor."

It would seem that the holders of Ph.D's who teach these people would try to cultivate in them a sense of refinement and dignity, not pseudo-intellects who go around debasing everything in sight and pouring forth asinine statements to the detriment of other people. It is one thing to have a nice vocabulary and be able to talk about Shakespeare, Shelly, and shibboleths; but it is quite another to be a well rounded, educated person who knows what to say and when to say it. Educators might do well to stress intelligent use of learning.

Joe College and Janie Coed will never set the world on fire with a superior attitude and a sardonic smile; only with human decency, wrapped in learning, can these people hope to succeed. In the English classes, where the number of students is small and each exists as a person rather than just a number, a short review of the Golden Rule is in order. Nobody likes to be told he isn't noticed, even if it's true.

JOHN PFEIFFER

From Heart(burn)

To The Editor:

Having had the dubious pleasure of dining in the Donovan Hall Cafeteria for approximately 150 meals this year, we should like to give some humble observations concerning that establishment.

1. We want everyone to know how great it is to get a good start in the morning with a breakfast that includes those delicious "piggies." You know—those tough little sacks containing hog gristle.

2. We applaud the efficiency of servicing at dinner. Standing in line 28 minutes (which could be eliminated by a third serving line) does give one an appetite, you know. Of course this minor problem is forgotten when the food is reached. Those ever-present mashed potatoes (four or more nights a week) and hot(?) rolls(?) are real morale lifters.

3. Finally, dispensing with the sarcasm, we sum up our feelings this way: the cafeteria at Donovan Hall has poor service and poor food. We want this situation corrected, and suspect that many other students do, too.

Democrat Replies

To The Editor:

I should like very much to criticize the utter lack of tact and sensibility in Mr. Scoville's letter of Nov. 17, in which he weakly attempted to answer Miss Decker and Mr. King's letter of Nov. 15.

However, in spite of its profound insipidity, I cannot unmercifully reprobate this prime example of sheer gobbledygook when I remember that its author does not apparently know enough about current events to recall the name of a very deserving and well qualified, but unfortunately defeated, candidate for United States senator. The only explanation seems to be that Mr. Scoville is one of the "students disappointed in the election outcome." It is indeed a pity that there are so many poor losers in an atmosphere which is supposedly one of knowledge.

Fitz's Facts

By John Fitzwater

The final gun in Knoxville tomorrow will call to a close the grid careers of the Wildcat "Gold Dust" twins.

Calvin Bird and Charlie Sturgeon, two of the most heralded backs to play at Kentucky in the past decade, will hang up jerseys numbers 21 and 25, and make room for understudies Gary Steward and Bill Ransdell to step up to starting spots in 1961.

Bird picked up the tag, "Thunder," as a sophomore in 1958 when he scored 65 points, picked up 168 yards rushing for a 3.3 average on 51 carries, and walked off with "Sophomore-of-the-Year" honors in the SEC.

With one game left, Bird has a total of 199 carries for 622 yards. This gives the Corbin speedster an average of 3.12 yards per carry. In 29 varsity games, Bird has scored 150 points.

Sturgeon has been more of a power runner than Bird in his three seasons at UK, but has not had the great point totals. Few spectators who viewed the Georgia game of 1959 will forget the 157-yard individual rushing effort that Charlie turned in. Although starting only one game as a sophomore, he had an impressive 3.5 rushing mark.

"Sonny," as he is known by relatives and friends in Owensboro, has scored 36 points as a Wildcat while gaining 872 yards rushing in 205 tries for an amazing average of 4.25 a carry.

It may be a long time before Kentucky has two such halfbacks again.

The sixth oldest football rivalry in the South will stage its 56th edition tomorrow in Knoxville. Except for the war years of 1917-18 and 1943, the two schools have met annually and Tennessee has a decisive edge with 30 wins to only 17 by UK, with eight games resulting in ties.

Kentucky, however, has turned the tide with Blanton Collier at the helm. The seniors of 1955 became the first Kentucky group in 43 years to graduate with the honor of having never played in a game in which the Vols emerged the victor. This squad upset a bowl-hungry Orange squad, 23-0, in the most one-sided contest since 1935.

Many pranks and stunts have been pulled by the two schools to add to the color of the games. Following the 1953 game in Lexington, disgruntled UT students raided the Kentucky campus, stole the barrel, and held it until persuaded to return it.

In 1955, UK students visited the Tennessee campus grabbed the Vol mascot, Smokey. UT students retaliated by painting up the Kentucky campus and carting away "Colonel", the stuffed Wildcat mascot.

The stunts quieted down for a few years, but in 1958 the Tennessee students caught a Kentucky guard napping and slipped away with "Tucky", Kentucky's new stuffed mascot.

Despite promises to return it at halftime of a nationally televised basketball game between the two

Wildcats Rated Underdog In SEC Meet

Kentucky's chances of capturing its third straight South-eastern Conference cross country championship Monday appear dim.

The loss of four top runners—Press Whelan, E. G. Plummer, Dave Purdy, and Roger Gum—from the 1958 and 1959 championship teams has relegated the Cats to a fourth-place choice in this year's meet.

The co-favorites are Auburn and Alabama with the Crimson possibly given a slight edge because of the return of last year's individual winner, Bob Peete.

The SEC meet will be run in Atlanta, Ga. beginning at 10:30 a.m. Kentucky will leave today and stop over in Knoxville, Tenn. to witness the Kentucky-Tennessee football game.

If Kentucky is to finish as high as third, the team must beat out Georgia Tech. The Wildcats and Engineers are rated even. The top man for Tech is Russell Maddox.

Kentucky won the meet last year when Press Whelan, present frosh coach, sacrificed personal glory to achieve a 60-69 team victory over Mississippi State.

Whelan drew out Warren Burns and his bunch-running State teammates by setting a torrid pace and allowing Kentucky runners to finish in the top spots.

Making the trip for Kentucky will be its year-long mainstays, John Baxter, Danny Jasper, Bob Granacher, Allen Cleaver, and Bill Smith.

In the race last year, Baxter finished 13th, Jasper 17th and Smith 32nd.

schools, it was not returned for four months.

Last season, when Kentucky surprised the Vols 20-0 in Lexington, "all hell broke loose" on the UK campus.

A strange calm was shattered by student chants of "Happy Chandler for president and demands for a holiday. Some 5,000 student demonstrators marched on President Frank G. Dickey's home and then to downtown Lexington.

Although the demands were refused, the famed "holiday riot" became another page in the long history of the Kentucky-Tennessee fight.
