

There was some discussion of the desirability of closing all classes during convocations, in view of the fact that Memorial Hall will not accommodate all the students and faculty. The Faculty approved a motion, which was duly seconded, that a Committee be appointed to make a study of convocations and to make recommendations to the University Faculty.

Colonel MacKenzie announced the annual Inspection of the R.O.T.C. and asked the indulgence of the Faculty. He stated that only about one-fifth of the students would be involved at various hours, and that the Department of Military Science would issue excuses to the students to take to their instructors.

Dean Seay reported to the Faculty that Dr. Sanders wished to be excused from serving as a member of the Student Government Association and moved that Dean A. D. Kirwan be appointed to his place. The motion was seconded and adopted by the Faculty.

Dean Seay presented to the Faculty a suggestion that the rule granting credit in basic military science to veterans be amended, so as to include veterans who had seen service in the armed forces of our allies. The University Faculty approved the amendment, so that the rule will now read:

"Credit in the required two years' basic course in military science may be given for three months' service in the U. S. or Allied Military or Naval forces. Candidates for such credit should submit duly authenticated copies of their discharge papers to the Registrar's Office."

Dr. Chamberlain, Chairman of the committee appointed to study the question of convocations, made the following report for the Committee:

The Committee recommends that until enlarged auditorium facilities are available all general day-time convocations calling for the dismissal of classes be abandoned, with the exception of the President's first-of-the year convocation, the Founders' Day Convocation, and the Honors Day Convocation.

It is recommended also that the money now available for the support of the convocation program be utilized in financing college and departmental programs. The committee would make it clear that these recommendations are designed to cover the temporary situation only. As soon as the Auditorium-Field House is completed, efforts should be made to provide an artists-lecture series that will be broad in scope and of high quality.
