They Have Earned Their "L" For Loyalty

With this issue of the Kentucky Alumnus J. Carlisle Myers, Jr., '48, of Lexington, takes over as 1950-51 chairman of the Alumni Loyalty Fund drive.

It is his urgent desire to make the current campaign for funds the most successful since the inauguration of the annual giving program four years ago, and we hope that you will cooperate with him to the full extent of your resources.

Carlisle is a World War II veteran who came back to the campus to complete his education at the close of the war. He knows and values the opportunity of a college education even more than those of us who "had our cake and ate it" in the good old days before and between the threats of two great world wars. He brings to his new assignment the enthusiasm of youth and the ability of a seasoned veteran. Let's help him make this a great year for

Elizabeth Ewing, '32, Named Supt. At Anchorage School

Elizabeth Ann Ewing

Elizabeth Ann Ewing, '32, of Wolf Pen Road, Jefferson county, Ky., is the new superintendent and principal of the Anchorage School.

Appointed last July by the Anchorage Independent School District Board of Education, Miss Ewing assumed her duties this fall.

Graduated from the University in 1932, Miss Ewing began teaching the third and fourth grades at Anchorage in 1933. Since 1935 she has taught mathematics and science in the high school. In 1946 she became assistant to the superintendent.

A native of Jefferson county, Miss Ewing attended Ballard School and was graduated from Anchorage High School and the University. She has done graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and the University of Louisville.

Prior to going to Anchorage in 1933 she taught one year at the Kentucky Children's Home at Lyndon, and in 1942 taught at Halleck Hall, Louisville.

New Guidebook To Community Life in Ky.

Dr. Irwin T. Sanders, head of the department of sociology at the University, is the author of a handbook published last July as an aid to the state's community workers.

Entitled "Making Good Communities Better," the book was published by the University Press.

It is intended primarily as a guide to those engaged in various community-wide projects, whether in hamlets, towns or cities. The basic principles of such work, Dr. Sanders points out in the introduction, are the same in villages as in metropolitan centers. The techniques vary with the size of the locality.

Dr. Sanders, whose "Balkan Village" was published last year by the University Press, was selected as the College of Arts and Sciences' "Distinguished Professor of 1949-50."

CINCI TO MEET MONTHLY FOR LUNCH

At a meeting of Cincinnati Alumni Club officers, past presidents and standing committee chairmen, held Tuesday, August 29 at the Hotel Sinton, it was decided to hold monthly luncheon meetings of the group on the first Tuesday of each month at 12:15 at the Hotel Sinton.

Leon McCrosky, Cincinnati club president presided at the committee meeting, and Helen G. King executive secretary of the association addressed the group.

Tentative plans were also made to organize a motorcade of Kentucky alumni living in the Greater Cincinnati area to attend the Kentucky-Cincinnati football game in Lexington on October 14.

WE ARE BEGGING AGAIN!

Prof. Ezra L. Gillis, our beloved University historian, lacks one copy of the ALUMNUS magazine to make his over-all records complete.

It is Vol. 10, December 1918.

If ANY of you happen to have this copy and feels like parting with it, Prof. Gillis would like very much to have it.

THANK YOU

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, AND CIRCULATION REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912, AS AMENDED BY THE ACTS OF MARCH 3, 1933, AND JULY 1946 (Title 39, United States Code, Sections 233)

Whats Wrong With Us?

This is a challenge! It marks the initiation of a project which has been in the back of your editor's head for some time. and IF YOU AREN'T AFRAID OF THE RESULT, you are going to like it.

With the February issue of the KENTUCKY ALUMNUS we hope to initiate a quarterly feature in this magazine which may be the means of waking us up and "putting us hep" to ourselves. It will be an open forum, from faculty, students and alumni in the form of constructive criticism of ourselves and of each other, in order that we may know what the other fellow is thinking of us, and, through that knowledge, improve our services to the institution which we represent.

Just to set the ball rolling, we would like to state right here and now that sitting here at our desk, wrapped up as we are in the progress of the University of Kentucky and the Alumni Association which represents its graduates and former students, we can't understand why it is like pulling eye teeth to extract memberships in the Alumni Association from some of our potential prospects. Maybe it is our fault — maybe we don't use the right approach — maybe the University failed to inspire some of us with a feeling of loyalty while we were students on the campus — and maybe — somewhere along the line — we've lost that sense of responsibility which is a part of good citizenship.

Anyway, whatever it is, here is your chance to analyze that problem, and many others, and send in your comments. Let's not be vitriolic, prejudiced or unwilling to be convinced. This will not be a column in which to air your personal and private gripes but an opportunity to help the Alumni Association, the University and individual alumni to do a better job.

University graduates are equipped to approach problems with analytical and unprejudiced minds. Let's use that ability to develop a smoother-functioning, greater service organization within the University of Kentucky Alumni Association.

Alumni To Immortalize Home Floor Net Record

Plaque To Teams To Be Dedicated Dec. 9

On Saturday afternoon, Dec. 9, the date on which Kentucky meets Purdue University for the dedicatory basketball game in the new Memorial Coliseum, the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky will unveil a tablet which it has had made and erected on the Euclid Avenue side of Alumni Gymnasium, commemorating the record of home games which have been won by Kentucky basketball teams since the completion of the building in 1924.

The dedicatory exercises will be held at four p.m. on Euclid Avenue, just between the double entrance to old Alumni Gym, and it is hoped that all alumni and friends of the University and its basketball teams will be present to pay honor to Coach Adolph F. Rupp, his teams, and those coaches and teams which preceded his regime.

The tablet, cast in bronze, will be approximately 41 inches wide by 52 inches deep, and will have two basketball players on either side at the top, flanking the words, "Alumni Gymnasium." The lettering on the tablet will read as follows:

"This building served as the home court of University basketball teams from 1924 to 1950. During this period and on this floor teams representing the University played 232 games, winning 207 and losing 25.

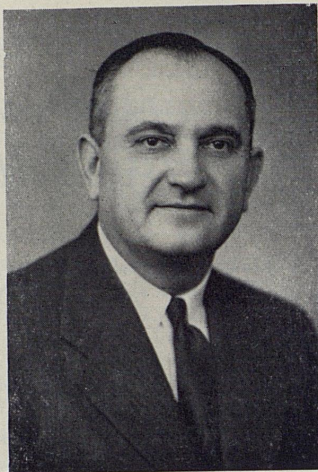

"From 1931 to 1950, under the direction of Coach Adolph F. Rupp, University teams established a home record of 201 victories and eight losses. During the same period the teams of Coach Rupp won—

Eighty-four consecutive home victories, 1943-50

Sixty-four consecutive victories in the Southeastern Conference, 1945-50

Twelve Southeastern Conference Tournament Championships, 1933-50

Three Sugar Bowl Championships, 1939, 1940, 1950

Adolph F. Rupp

The National Invitational Tournament Championship, 1946

Two national Collegiate Athletic Association Championships, 1948 and 1949

The Olympic Championship, London, England, 1948

"To commemorate these unparalleled achievements, this tablet is erected by the University of Kentucky Alumni Association."

December 9, 1950

The complete program for the dedication will be published in the daily newspapers as time for the game draws near, but this preliminary announcement has been written in order to keep alumni informed of coming events and so that they may make their plans to be present for the program.

Henry H. Hornsby, '38, of Lexington, has been named farm editor for the Lexington Herald. A native of Goose Creek in Clay county, he has been on the Herald-Leader staff since his graduation from the University. He was a Nieman fellow at Harvard in 1946-47 and his novel, "Lonesome Valley," with a Kentucky mountain setting, was published by William Sloane Associates in the spring of 1949.

U.C. Honors '04 Alumnus of U.K.

W. P. Kelley, '04, of Berkeley, Calif., professor emeritus of soil chemistry at the University of California, was honored by the University which he has served for 34 years when that institution conferred upon him the honorary LL.D. degree at its annual commencement exercises, June 16.

Mr. Kelley retired as professor emeritus of soil chemistry in 1944 after having served the California school since 1913. Since that time he has been engaged in writing and has had one book published as an American Chemical Society Monograph and another is now ready for publication. In addition he is serving at present as consultant to the Gulf Research and Development Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., which position takes him to Pittsburgh several times a year.

In a letter to the office Mr. Kelley said: "Upon looking over the list of the 1904 class which you sent me some time ago, I was shocked to learn of the death of so many of my classmates. In the 46 years since that memorable hot day in June 1904, when we assembled in the old chapel on the second floor of what was then the administrative building, many things have happened to the members of my class. Equally impressive and perhaps more important developments have come to the University. When I graduated the total enrollment was only about 700."

Mr. Kelley, accompanied by his wife, plans to be in Lexington some time this fall as he was planning a leisurely automobile trip east at that time he wrote last August.

B. B. McInteer, Jr., '41, of Lexington, obtained his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Minnesota last July.

Ky. Has "One-Two Punch" in Parilli and Leskovar

LEADS CONFERENCE AFTER THREE GAMES

The winning of three games, two of which captured the national spotlight, has put the University of Kentucky Wildcats right at the top of the Southeastern Conference heap.

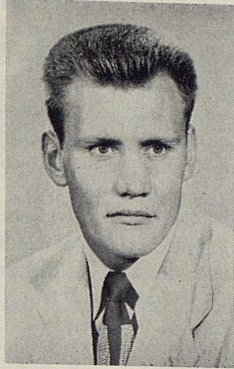

The highlight of this young season was when the Wildcat's, pre-season choice for second place honors in the S.E.C., bowled over the Louisiana State Tigers, the third place choice, by a score of 14-0 in the nation's "game of the week."

"The 'Big Blue' opened the season with a 25-0 romp over the Eagles of North Texas State College just three short weeks ago. They followed with their 14-0 shutout of the highly touted L.S.U. gridironers and continued with their winning ways by humiliating the revenge minded Ole Miss Rebels with another shutout, 27-0.

Kentucky's "on the land and in the air" offense has racked up a total of 66 points while the opposition has yet to mark the goal-line chalk with an offensive cleat. Their shutout record includes a blanking of the Ole Miss boys, the team than ranked seventh in the nation on total offense last year.

Kentucky's offensive power is sparked this year by one of the hottest "one-two punch" combinations since Army fielded Davis and Blanchard. It's bruising Bill Leskovar by land and pin-point passing Parilli by air. No opponent has yet figured the way to stop this combination from smashing through or flying over their defensive patterns.

The other prime reason for Kentucky's up-to-date success has been the outstanding, "stop where you are," line play by the team that was the best on defense in the nation last year. Sparked by All-American Bob Gain, the line just refuses to budge and within an area of around 100 yards of their goal-line they are as immovable as a Sherman tank.

Fullback Bill Leskovar

The whole story of Kentucky success thus far is in one word; they are a TEAM. A team in every sense of the word from A to Z.

In the L.S.U. fracas, in which Parilli played with an injury far more serious than fans believed, the line performed magnificently in protecting the injured player. As one writer observed, "Babe had enough time back there to read the sports page."

Another item of superior team effort was shown in the Ole Miss game when Gain, Mosely, and Leskovar, went out of the game with injuries sustained in the early minutes. The undaunted Kentuckians only played harder after the loss of these key performers.

Anyway the cake is sliced the '50 squad of Wildcats is a great one. Great in spirit, great in courage, and great in sportsmanship. This may well be the season that they solidly earn the title "the Notre Dame of the South."

Jones, Oddivak, to Coach at Atherton

Charles Robert "Junior" Jones, '42, of Louisville, and Nick Oddivak, '50, of Aliquippa, Pa., have been named head football coach and assistant, respectively, at J. M. Atherton High School in Louisville, for the current school year.

Jones, 31, was varsity quarterback at Kentucky during his college career and Oddivak played tackle, graduating last June.

The two men are the first coaches at the school which became co-educational at the beginning of the fall term in September.

Vito "Babe" Parilli, Wildcat Quarterback

'51 Cat Grid Card Announced

As a step toward strengthening the University of Kentucky's newly gained national football prestige, Athletic Director B. A. Shively has announced advance completion of a 10-game, major grid schedule for the 1951 season.

The Kentucky Wildcats of Coach Paul Bryant, who surprised the football world with their 9-2 regular season record and a close loss in the Orange Bowl last season, will meet six major opponents at home and will play four games away.

Intersectional tilts with the University of Texas Longhorns and the Wildcats of Villanova highlight the 1951 official schedule.

Kentucky will invade the football wonderland of the Southwest to inaugurate grid relations with Texas and open the season for both teams on Sept. 22. Although the Wildcats opened the 1950 season with North Texas State College, they have never met the state university of the Lone Star State on the gridiron and have not appeared in the Southwest since their near-upset of Southern Methodist in Dallas last year.

Villanova, which plays host to Kentucky this season in Philadelphia, will visit Lexington for the 1951 engagement. The two Wildcat teams will be renewing a rivalry on Oct. 20, 1951 which began with the Great Lakes Bowl game in Cleveland in 1947, won by Kentucky. The Wildcats battled the Philadelphia school, pride of Eastern independents, to a 13-13 dead-lock in the second game of the series on Stoll Field in 1948.

Another intersectional battle is scheduled here Nov. 17, 1951, with George Washington University of Washington, D. C. The Colonials' relations with Kentucky began in 1940 and the only other game played was in 1942. Kentucky won both.

Resumption of relations with Tulane, the perennial Southeastern power which beat the Wildcats out of the conference crown by a scant 33 percentage points in 1949, will provide another high spot on the 1951 grid card. The first game of the renewed series will be played in New Orleans on Nov. 10. The two teams have not met since 1945.

Five other teams — Tennessee, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Florida and Georgia Tech — and one other non-conference team, Miami (Fla.), also are scheduled during the 1951 season.

The annual clash with arch-rival Tennessee, slated as the regular-season windup on Stoll Field Nov. 24, will climax the '51 home card of six major contests.

UK'S Barnstable Is Manual Net Coach

Dale Barnstable, '50, of Antioch, Ill., six feet, two-inch captain of the 1949-50 Sugar Bowl and Southeastern Conference basketball champions, has accepted the head coaching job at Louisville Manual this year.

The 24-year-old Kentucky athlete who played on Kentucky's fabulous teams which won three national championships and the Olympic championship in 1948, is in his first coaching venture at Manual. His record includes service with the 71st Infantry Division.

Barney's wife, the former Wilma Lee Haverly, of Corbin, Ky., is also a former UK student.

Jerry Claiborne To Coach in Va.

Jerry Claiborne, '50, of Hopkinsville, Ky., who was graduated from the University of Kentucky "with high distinction" at the August commencement exercises, is head football and basketball coach at Augusta Military Academy, Ft. Defiance, Va., this year.

Voted "Most valuable senior" by his teammates at the Alumni Association's annual football banquet last winter, Claiborne was awarded the Lederer trophy in recognition of this tribute. He played offensive end and defensive safety man on the Kentucky team.

Claiborne succeeds George Chapman at the Virginia school. Mr. Chapman signed to become an assistant grid coach at Kentucky.

Claiborne is an active member of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association.

WHAS-TV is carrying a football series this fall with films of UK ball games on an hour-long show telecast on Tuesday nights. Head Coach Paul Bryant and Phil Sutterfield of WHAS do the commentary and diagram some plays.

Don King, 240-pound sophomore Wildcat tackle, from Turtle Creek, Pa., was Kentucky's first loss this fall to the armed forces.

FOOTBALL BANQUET, NOVEMBER 27

The Alumni Association Annual football banquet, honoring the coaching staff and the varsity and freshman squads will be held Monday night, Nov. 27 at 6:30 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Student Union.

This is the Monday following the Tennessee-Kentucky football game, and all reservations for the banquet MUST be in the Alumni Office by Wednesday, November 22.

The price of the dinner will be $2.50 per person, and it will be worth your while to attend and see Kentucky's great team.

ALL RESERVATIONS WHICH ARE MADE AND NOT PICKED UP WILL BE BILLED TO THE PERSON ORDERING THE DINNER TICKETS, AS THE CAFETERIA HOLDS THE ALUMNI OFFICE RESPONSIBLE FOR ALL RESERVATIONS.

If you plan to come, write or call the Alumni Office, Room 124 Student Union, not later than November 22. Telephone 2-2200, extension 2152 or 2154.

Officials Set Cornerstone For New Journalism Building

A longtime dream of Kentucky's journalistic educators was fulfilled Sept. 19 with the laying of the cornerstone for the University of Kentucky's new $425,000 journalism building — first of its kind ever erected in the state.

In a brief address preceding the laying of the stone, UK President H. L. Donovan termed the occasion a proud one for the University and a significant one in the history of Kentucky journalism.

He paid tribute, also, to the late Prof. Enoch Grehan, a pioneer in the field of journalistic education in Kentucky, who founded the UK Department of Journalism in 1914. It was Prof. Grehan, Dr. Donovan said, who first initiated plans for the University's own printing plant and who, in 1924, put up $2,000 of his own money to purchase the plant's first equipment.

Dr. Donovan traced the plant's development, the slow accumulation of assets which have at last made possible the erection of the new building. The structure will be paid for, he said, entirely through profits of the campus newspaper, the Kernel, and those of the printing plant.

Assisting Dr. Donovan in laying the stone were members of the school's board of trustees and members of the UK journalism staff. Platform guests included Mrs. J. C. Rowland and Henry B. Grehan of Lexington, niece and nephew of Prof. Grehan, and Dr. Paul P. Boyd, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Materials sealed into the cornerstone include copies of the Louisville Courier-Journal, The Lexington Herald, The Lexington Leader, and the Kentucky Kernel; a University catalog, a copy of the cornerstone ceremony programs and a directory of the Kentucky Press Association.

General contractor for the new building, the Hargett Construction Company of Lexington, estimates that the structure will be ready for occupancy by next February.

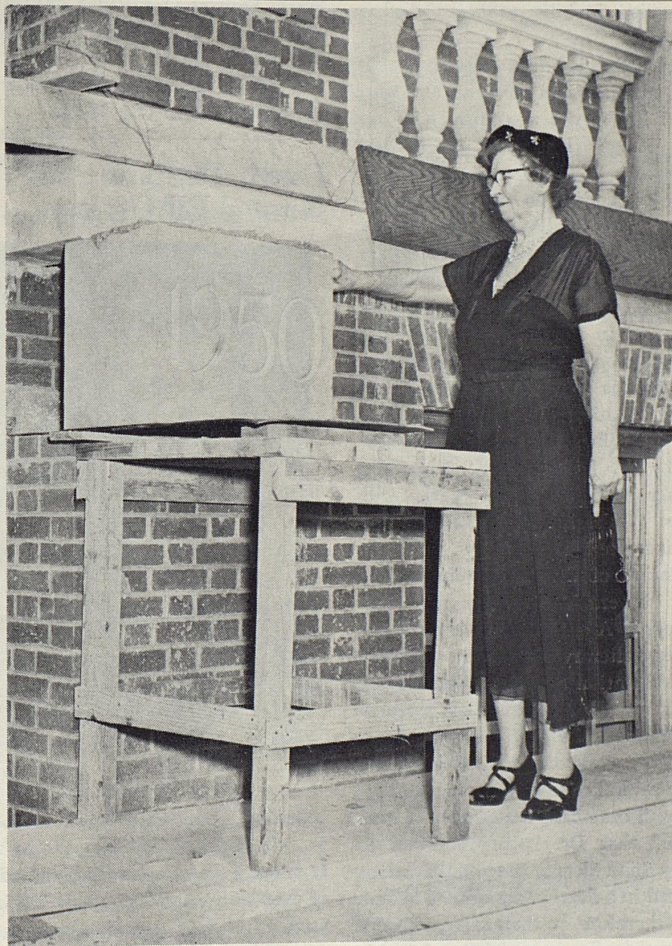

'40 GRAD TEACHING VOCATIONAL AG.

William Judge, '40, formerly of Moorefield, Ky., is the new agriculture teacher at Lafayette and Bryan State

High Schools in Fayette county. He was appointed last summer.

Mr. Judge has served as vocational agriculture teacher at Owingsville High School for eight years and prior to that was a teacher at Camargo High School.

In Owingsville, he worked with the Future Farmers of America and in 1946 his Owingsville chapter won a gold medal rating at the Future Farmers convention in Kansas City, and in 1947 he received the honorary American Farmer degree at Kansas City, the highest award given an agriculture teacher.

Miss Margie McLaughlin, long-time professor of journalism at the University and "the students' choice," adds mortar to the cornerstone of the new journalism building in fulfillment of her dream and that of thousands of her former students.

Dr. L. A. Pardue, '25, Resigns UK Deanship

H. E. Spivey Heads Graduate School

Dr. Louis A. Pardue has resigned as dean of the University of Kentucky Graduate School to become vice president and dean of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute graduate school. He will be succeeded by Dr. Herman E. Spivey, English Department head.

Dean Pardue's resignation was termed by President H. L. Donovan "another tragic loss to the University of Kentucky, brought about by the University's inability to meet the salary situation."

Dr. Pardue is known internationally as an educator and physicist, and since Jan. 1 has served as chairman of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies.

Recommending Dr. Spivey's appointment as dean of the Graduate School, Dr. Donovan made the following statement to trustees of the University:

"Dr. Herman E. Spivey came to the University in August, 1943, as head of the Department of English. Since that time he has won the confidence and esteem of his colleagues by his fine sense of values, his professional zeal, and by the friendly and co-operative manner with which he works with others. Under his leadership, the staff has increased significantly, and the reputation of the department among other universities has been materially enhanced. A series of lectures by outstanding literary figures has attracted much attention and contributed in an important way to the cultural program of the University.

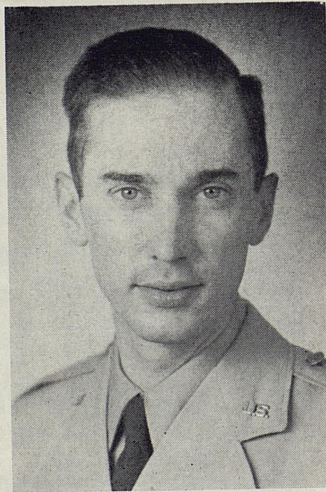

"After consultation with the deans of the several colleges of the University and with others on the campus, I have decided that Dr. Spivey possesses to a very high degree the qualifications we need in a dean of a graduate school. I am, therefore, recommending his appointment, effective as of Oct. 1."

Dr. Pardue became dean of the University's Graduate School in July, 1948, succeeding the late Dr. W. D. Funkhouser. He was appointed to represent the University on the Oak Ridge Institute Council in the summer of 1948 and was elected vice chairman in June, 1949. In June 1950 he was named chairman of the Institute for a two-year term. In 1948 Dr. Pardue was named a "distinguished Professor of the University" by action of the Board of Trustees.

During World War II, Dr. Pardue made important contributions to the war-time atomic energy research programs both at Oak Ridge and at the University of Chicago metallurgical laboratory. He returned to UK at the end of the war but has since made frequent visits to Oak Ridge.

Lieut. DeSpain, '48 Named PR Officer

Lieut. DeSpain, '48

Second-Lieut. Charles D. DeSpain, Jr., '48, of Anchorage, Ky., World War II veteran and former assistant editor of the Shelbyville, Ky., News, has been assigned to duty as public information officer with headquarters Military Air Transport Service in Washington, D. C.

'43 Graduate Heads Phone Directory Co.

Marshall Smith, '43, former Lexington newspaperman, is the manager of the General Telephone Directory Co., which opened offices in Lexington on October 1.

A four-man staff is handling publication of all directories of exchanges and independent outlets of the Kentucky Telephone Corporation and Smith will be sales supervisor.

A graduate of the University and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Smith of Lexington, Mr. Smith's wife, the former Jeanne Collins, also attended the University.

DEPUTY STATE DRAFT DIRECTOR, UK MAN

Lt. Col. Carroll S. Carter, of Lexington, instructor in mining engineering at the University of Kentucky since 1946 was named deputy director of the Kentucky Selective Service System August 21.

Colonel Carter was graduated from the University with a B.S.M.E. degree in 1923 and obtained his M.S. degree from UK in 1947.

The University graduate served in a similar Selective Service post in Kentucky in 1942 and 1943, and was chief of the manpower division of the Ohio Selective Service system after returning from duty in Italy.

AIR DERBY WON BY U. OF K. ALUMNA

Mrs. Greenwood Cocanaugher, of Lexington, won the annual "powder puff and beaux derby" which ended August 26 in Boston, Mass. under the sponsorship of the Ninety-Nines, an organization of women pilots.

Mrs. Cocanaugher was three minutes off her estimated flight time and several tenths of a gallon off her estimated fuel consumption. She piloted a Stinson Voyager carrying four passengers.

J. J. Bradley, '26, Named To Newly Created Judgeship

Judge Joseph Bradley

Joseph J. Bradley, '26, of Lexington, is the new judge of the Criminal Common Law and Equity Division of Fayette Circuit Court.

Gov. Earle C. Clements made the appointment last June from a list of three names submitted to him by the Fayette Bar Association as that groups' selection for the new judgeship. The 1950 legislative act creating the two divisions of the court went into effect at noon on the day the appointment was made by the Governor.

Judge Bradley, whose term doesn't expire until January 1952, has been practicing law in Fayette county for 24 years, since his graduation from the University. He was commissioner for the United States District Court for nine years, resigning that post last December to become the first full-time attorney for the City of Lexington. Upon his selection as circuit judge, he was replaced as Lexington corporation counsel by Foster Ockerman, A.B. '41, LL.B. '47.

A native of Lexington, Judge Bradley was educated at St. Catherine and St. Peter schools, Model High School and the University. He is a member of the Fayette, Kentucky and American Bar Associations.

Judge Bradley is married but has no children. His two brothers, Lasserre, '33, juvenile-trial commissioner of Fayette County Court and Emmett, '25, a member of the Morehead State College faculty, are also University graduates.

Judge Chester D. Adams, '13, a senior member of the court, has been on the bench since 1940. His term also runs until 1952. Before becoming circuit judge Mr. Adams served eight years as county judge and two years as corporation counsel for the city of Lexington.

"Kentucky" Column Written By Porter

J. Sherman Porter, Jr., A.B. '31, M.A. '41, formerly of Lexington and Maysville, and now sports editor of the Daily Tribune at Gallipolis, Ohio, featured his Alma Mater in a mid-summer column which combined so much of loyalty and nostalgia for home that we quote it here, in part:

"Up until the midcentury year, your sports editor could claim a uniqueness—a distinction which no one else could claim. It was the fact that he was the most prominent graduate of the University of Kentucky in all of Gallia county. Of course, a contributing factor was that he was the only graduate of the University of Kentucky. Now a pipe-smoking bloke named Truman Morris has come along and knocked the whole situation into a cocked hat. Now we're only the second most prominent graduate of the University of Kentucky in Gallia county. Or maybe even third or fourth, for Miss Eileen Foster and Miss Joyce Blades, Holzer Hospital laboratory technicians, are alumnae of the school which Adolph Rupp has

Miss Blanding Gets Honorary LL.D. Degree

Dr. Sarah G. Blanding, '23

Dr. Sarah G. Blanding, '23, president of Vassar College, was awarded the honorary LL.D. degree by Pembroke College in Brown University September 19.

At the same time, a large group of officials, students and alumnae of Pembroke saw Miss Nancy Duke Lewis, A.B. '32, M.A. '35, formerly of Lexington, installed as the fifth dean of Pembroke.

Miss Blanding, also a native of Lexington, was former dean of women at the University of Kentucky and was elected president of Vassar in 1946, the first woman ever to hold that office.

Prior to going to Vassar she was dean of the New York State College of Home Economics in Cornell University.

made more famous than anybody else."

The Gallipolis sports editor continues his column with reference to the fact that Mr. Morris is general manager of Radio Station WJEH at Gallipolis, which station was formally dedicated on June 21. Mr. Morris is a 1940 graduate of the University, and Misses Foster and Blades obtained their degrees in 1949.

Martha Frances Gatewood, '49, of Georgetown, assumed her duties as therapeutic dietitian at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington on Oct. 2.

Nancy Duke Lewis, '32, Named Fifth Dean, Pembroke College

Installed Sept. 19

Nancy Duke Lewis, A.B. '32, M.A. '33, of Lexington, was installed September 19 as the fifth dean of Pembroke College in Brown University, in colorful ceremonies which also saw the awarding of honorary degrees to three prominent women, including Sarah G. Blanding, '23, president of Vassar College.

Before the opening of the impressive ceremonies in Alumnae Hall, gowned faculty, administration and Brown Corporation members, alumnae, students and special guests marched in a solemn procession to the Pembroke campus just off College Hill. Lines of Pembroke freshmen and sophomores dressed in white formed the route for the 500 marchers which included Rhode Island's governor.

William H. Pell, B.S. '36, M.S. '38, now in the Graduate Division of Brown University, represented the University of Kentucky at Miss Lewis' installation.

Miss Lewis' new appointment is another step in the rapid development of her career following her graduation from the University of Kentucky. After further study here and at Syracuse University, she filled a position as counselor and academic advisor at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

In 1943 she went to Pembroke where, as dean of students, an office created especially for her, she achieved outstanding success in counseling. In addition to serving on the faculty, she has also held the post of acting dean since 1949. Early last year she was the first woman to be awarded a travel grant by the Carnegie Corporation, and spent several months visiting over 20 colleges.

After receiving her new title at the installation services, Miss Lewis presented the candidates for honorary degrees.

Dr. A. E. Evans Named St. Louis Law Dean

RANDALL JOINS HIM

Dr. Alvin E. Evans, dean emeritus of the University of Kentucky College of Law, who was named dean of the St. Louis University Law School last summer, took up his duties there with the opening of the fall school term.

A graduate of Cotner College, the University of Nebraska and the University of Michigan, Dean Evans headed the UK College of Law from 1927 to 1948. During the 1948-49 school year he was on the faculty of the John B. Stetson University School of Law at Deland, Fla., and last year was visiting professor at St. Louis University.

Another former member of the UK staff, Dr. Frank H. Randall, professor of law at the University for 20 years, will join Dean Evans on the St. Louis law faculty. He also was placed on emeritus status at UK in 1948.

James B. Cooper, '34, Author of Textbook

Prof. James B. Cooper, B.S. in Ag. '34, M.S. '38, formerly of Lexington and now associate professor of poultry husbandry and associate poultry husbandryman for the South Carolina Experiment Station, is the author of a poultry textbook released recently by the publishers, Turner E. Smith and Co., Atlanta, Ga.

The title of this 487 page book is "Poultry For Home and Market." Professor Cooper's book is one of the few on this subject to be written by a southern author. This textbook, which is primarily to be used in vocational agricultural classes, is the first book on poultry to be published in 1950.

Before going to Clemson College, Professor Cooper was connected with the Georgia Experiment Station at the University of Georgia.

ENGINEERING GRADS IN WAR-CAUSED JOBS

The Korean War provided jobs for engineering graduates at the University of Kentucky last June, according to a report from Dean D. V. Terrell.

About 70 per cent of the 328 graduates had jobs at the close of the school year last June, but according to a September check-up, all were working or had been offered jobs.

Dean Terrell also reported that more of the University's engineering graduates were staying in Kentucky. In 1948, 42 per cent got jobs in the state, in 1949 about half of them remained and this year the percentage was approximately 60.

Harry R. Conrad, '48, a native of Burlington, Ky., and a life member of the Alumni Association, was granted the Master's degree from Ohio State University last December. He is presently employed as research assistant at Ohio State and the Agricultural Experiment Station there. His address is Box 35, Rd. 3, Wooster, Ohio.

'34, "Doctor Sam" Achieves Goal

His Practice Is "Public" Now

By Joe Reister, '34

The Courier-Journal Lexington Bureau

Dr. Sam B. Marks is a man possessed of a down-to-earth philosophy.

He just can't understand why so much fuss should be made about his giving up private practice to take the position of full-time City-County health officer in Lexington.

"There isn't a thing in the world unusual about it. It's no secret that I've been interested in public work for almost 35 years, so I took the job when it was offered to me on a full-time basis."

But that doesn't end the story of Dr. Marks and his earthy philosophy.

His is the story of a physician-surgeon's never-ending interest in public health work and getting into that work when he felt like the proper time had come.

Dr. Marks became a member of the old City Board of Health in 1918. He continued as a member of the City-County Board of Health when the units were combined in 1938.

Accepts Part-Time Job

In January, 1949, Dr. E. M. Thompson resigned as City-County health officer. Dr. Marks took over the post on a part-time basis.

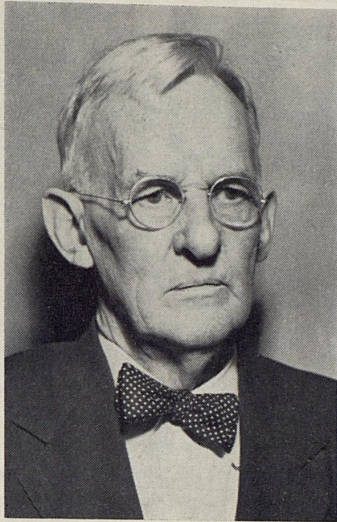

The City-County Board of Health experienced a great deal of difficulty getting a full-time health officer.

Last July Dr. Marks accepted the full-time post.

In his best there's-nothing-unusual-about-it tone, Dr. Marks said:

"They were having trouble getting a full-time man, so I took the job. I gave up my private practice because I couldn't run both jobs. I enjoy this type of work very much. We have an excellent force and hope to do the best job possible."

Dr. Marks, who was awarded a bachelor-of-science degree from the University of Kentucky here in 1899, studied in an age before the advent of specialization in medicine and surgery.

He received his medical degree from Columbia University, New York City, in 1903.

After serving an internship at the Post-Graduate Hospital in New York, Dr. Marks started practice here in 1906.

Those first few years of practice weren't too easy.

"I was doing about everything in those days," Dr. Marks recalled today.

"One day, a detail (laboratory) man asked me:

"'Doctor, have you had a busy day?'"

"Well, I had delivered babies, had a tonsil operation, performed some surgery, and had done just about everything that day, so I told the man:

"'Yes, I've worked on everything today but the skin.'"

"Returning to my office, I found a small boy sitting in the reception room.

Yes, and That, Too

"After asking him what the trouble was, the boy replied:

"'Doc, you gotta do something for me. I believe I got the itch.'"

Dr. Marks engaged in general med-

C. E. BARNES, '50, NOW IN AIR CORPS

Lieut. C. Edwin Barnes, '50, of Louisville, who received a permanent Air Force commission while at the University of Kentucky, is presently assigned as assistant staff judge advocate at the Air Proving Ground, Eglin Field, Fla.

Lieutenant Barnes received his LL.B. degree last June, and was admitted to the Fayette County Bar in August. His wife, the former Wanda Scrivner, '44, of Lexington, and his son, Edwin Caywood, fifteen-months-old, have joined him in Florida.

ASTRONOMY HEAD GOES TO FLORIDA

F. Virginia Rohde, Ph.D. '50, instructor in mathematics and astronomy at the University of Kentucky for the past four years, who has been in charge of astronomy at the University for the past year, has resigned to accept a position in the department of mathematics at the University of Florida, Gainesville, Fla.

Dr. Morris S. Davis, New Haven, Conn., who recently received the Ph.D. degree in astronomy from Yale Observatory, will be in charge of astronomy at UK during the current year.

Sherwood Kirk, '49, of Catlettsburg, Ky., was a candidate for the master's degree in library science from the University of Illinois last August. He has been a staff member in the circulation department of the U. of Illinois library since last February and recently was appointed a full time member of the library staff there.

icine and surgery here until the early 1920's when he became an ear, nose, and throat specialist.

Later, he earned the reputation of being one of Kentucky's best in that specialized field.

"Dr. Sam," as he is affectionately known in Lexington, is a past president of the Alumni Association, a life member and a member of the Half Century Club.

Col. John Dabney, '26, With Army in Korea

Col. John Dabney

Col. John Dabney, '26, formerly of Hopkinsville, Ky., was named last August to serve as G-3 (plans and training) for the Eighth Army located in Korea. Prior to this appointment Colonel Dabney commanded the 21st Infantry Regiment in Kumamoto and later served under General MacArthur in Tokyo.

A graduate of the University in 1926 he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Keys, Lamp and Cross, Mystic Thirteen, Scabbard and Blade, Strollers, Suky and the Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity during his undergraduate days. He received a regular Army commission following graduation.

As a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army, Col. Dabney has served with the 17th, 31st, 11th, 23rd, 65th, 7th, and 10th infantry regiments, on duty in the United States, the Philippine Islands and Puerto Rico.

When promoted to a captaincy, Colonel Dabney was ordered to the U. S. Military Academy as an instructor in English for two years. After leaving there in 1939 he was stationed

TOM UNDERWOOD, JR. ADMITTED TO BAR

Thomas R. Underwood, Jr., '50, of Lexington, son of Congressman Thomas R. Underwood and Mrs. Underwood (Eliza Piggott, '19) was admitted to the practice of law in the Fayette Circuit Court last September and will be associated with the firm of Yancey, Martin and Ockerman with offices in the Security Trust Building.

Underwood was graduated from the University College of Law last June and subsequently passed the state bar examination. He did undergraduate work in journalism at the University.

During World War II young Underwood served in the Navy in the Pacific area.

SEXTON HEADS BATH SCHOOLS

Bradley Sexton, B.A. '47, M.A. '48, of Owingsville, has been elected superintendent of Bath county schools and assumed his position in September.

A native of Bath county, Mr. Sexton has taught for the past two years in the Shoshoni High School in Wyoming.

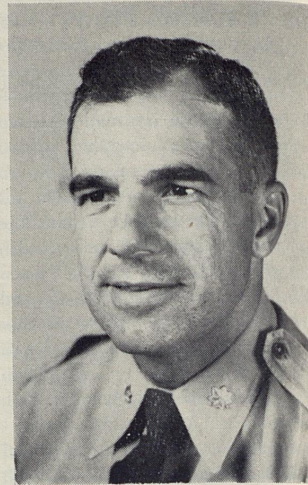

Mr. Sexton is a veteran of World War II. His appointment was for a four-year term.

in Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, Ft. Benning, Ga., and during World War II served with the Second Corps in Jacksonville, Fla., England and North Africa as G-3 and later as chief of staff.

After World War II he was stationed with the Second Army in Memphis, Tenn., and then was sent to Washington, D. C. as G-3, Chief of Training, Headquarters, Army Ground Forces. While there he was also affiliated with the staff of Central Intelligence Agency. Following his graduation from the Army War College in June 1948, Coloney Dabney was sent to Japan.

UK Man Heads Officers Club

Maj. Charles A. Baril

Maj. Charles A. Baril, of Schenectady, N. Y., a graduate of the University of Kentucky with the bachelor's degree in 1937 and the master's degree in 1941, and currently a student in the Department of Officer Communications at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., was recently elected president of the Scott Officers' Club.

He was assigned to Scott Air Force in January after serving in various personnel administrative capacities.

While serving as an instructor at the University of Kentucky, Major Baril worked with Col. Joseph J. Huddleston, A.B. '37, M.A. '40, who was elected vice president of the Officers Club.

Major Baril's first active duty with the Air Force was as a Special Services Officer. Following this he was assigned as Director of Personnel Services. Serving in this capacity at various bases throughout the continental United States, he has been on active duty since August 1941.

Reservations for football banquet, Nov. 27, must be in Alumni Office by Nov. 22.

Ky. Cage 'Cats May Be Better Than Ever

By Ken Kuhn

Director, Sports Publicity

There's a suspicious feeling afoot in Southeastern Conference basketball circles that somebody has missed the boat to Kentucky—and the fact that the Bluegrass state is virtually landlocked, geographically speaking, has no bearing on the interpretation.

Big 12 cage mentors had high hopes about this time a year ago of being able to end the Wildcats' awesome dominance of SEC court play. Kentucky's "Fabulous Four" (Groza, Beard, Jones and Barker) of Olympic and National championship fame were gone and Adolph Rupp would be forced to field a predominantly sophomore team which should be comparatively easy victims, the coaches reasoned.

Even the amazingly-successful Coach Rupp had to admit the prospects of a good season were mighty slim, but he soberly warned in the same breath that the opposition had better take full advantage of the situation. As the Cats plowed through the cream of collegiate cage competition, gaining precious experience under fire and annexing the SEC tournament title for the seventh straight year, rival coaches began to see the wisdom of the Bluegrass Baron's warning.

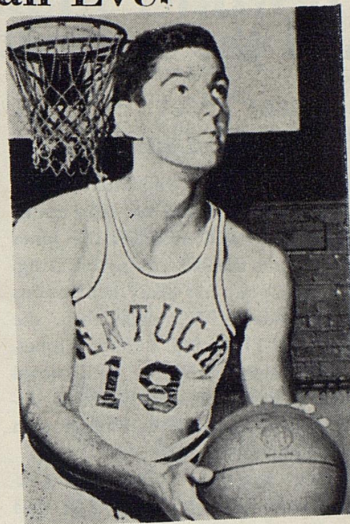

With seven-foot pivot star Bill Spivey and most of his sophomore mates returning as experienced junior veterans and new strength added in the persons of a group of sophomore stars headed by six-foot-five guard, Frank Ramsey, Kentucky's rivals seem to have missed any chance to stop the fast-rising Wildcats. "Potentially, we have one of the best team's in Kentucky's history," Rupp declares.

The team will include only two seniors—Capt. Walt Hirsch, a ball-handling wizard at forward, and relief center Roger Layne.

Nucleus of the squad will be eight juniors headed by the amazing Spivey, who led the conference scoring race and broke many of the records set by his All-American predecessor, Alex Groza, in his final season with the Wildcats. Graduated to the varsity from the successful freshman team are five sophomores and Cliff Hagan, highly touted, six-four forward-center of whom Rupp says: "He has the greatest touch of any player I've ever seen." Because he will not become eligible for varsity competition until the second semester in February, Hagan probably will be held out this season.

Coach Rupp, who was voted "Coach of the Year" honors by New York cage writers last season for the "masterful rebuilding job" he accomplished in the span of one year, doesn't bat an eyelash when he claims that his present outfit is "a better team than the "Fabulous Five"—at the same stage in their development." He points to a better-balanced bench of reserves, despite the absence of any All-Americans riding the bench as was the case a few years ago, and to more team speed.

Capt. Walter Hirsch

Facing a difficult, 24-game schedule before tournament time, the Wildcats will be forced to round into shape early. Highlights of the schedule will be the sports dedication of Kentucky's

Remember "Casey" Jones And the Lexington Drug?

"Casey" Retires After 44 Years

Kentucky alumni who attended the University from 1906 to 1934 recall with affection and nostalgia the Jones brothers and the old Lexington Drug, college hangout for many generations of UK students. To them then, the news that Elbert R. "Casey" Jones, younger member of the well-known firm is retiring after 44 years of service as a pharmacist, will come with remembrance and regret.

"Casey" has been a fixture in Lexington since he came to town in 1904 from his native London, Ky., to study at Kentucky State College, now the University of Kentucky. In 1906 "Casey" and his older brother "Doc" bought out the Smith-McKinney drug store at Main and Limestone, moved next door, and operated there until 1930 when they moved the Lexington Drug to the corner of Limestone and Vine Streets.

The firm dissolved in 1934 when Charles F. "Doc" Jones died, and since that time "Casey" has served as pharmacist at the Curry drug store at the northwest corner of Main and Limestone, and with the Phoenix drug store staff which he joined in 1937 back on the old southeast corner of Main and Limestone, continuing there when the firm was bought out by Owen Williams. Recently, Mr. Williams had to give up his lease to the Phoenix Hotel Company which is expanding its hotel, hence "Casey's" retirement.

John M. Kinnaird, '48, of Nicholasville, has been named assistant commissioner of the Department of Motor Transportation for the State of Kentucky. A University law school graduate and Army Air Force veteran, Kinnaird left the job of assistant attorney

Wildcats' Bill Spivey Too Tall For Draft

MACON, Ga., Sept 9 — Big Bill Spivey, Warner Robins high school's gift to basketball at the University of Kentucky, was classified 4-F in the Selective Service by the Bibb County Draft Board today.

Ben Chatfield, spokesman for the local board, said the seven-foot former Warner Robins high cage star was designated 4-F because of his height which surpasses the Army maximum limit for draftees. Chatfield said he did not think it would be necessary for Spivey to go to Augusta for the regular pre-induction physical examination.

Spivey, who will be a junior at Kentucky this fall, was the hub of Adolph Rupp's Southeastern Conference championship quintet last season and is being counted on again this season.

Robert Mills Now With UK Extension

Robert L. Mills

Robert Lee Mills, A.B. '38, M.A. '41, of Erlanger, Ky., has been appointed assistant in the Department of University Extension, effective last August 1.

Mr. Mills taught in the Covington schools during 1938-41. This was followed by a year of teaching in the Army Air Force Technical School at Chanute Field, Ill. The next two years Mr. Mills was head of the aircraft hydraulics department, AAFTS, Lincoln, Neb.

The following four years he spent at Oak Ridge, Tenn., in supervisory work in the electromagnetic process plant during the development of the atomic bomb. During the past two years Mr. Mills has been a research assistant, Bureau of School Service at UK, while working on his doctor's degree.

H. Logan Webb, '27, of Guthrie, Ky., president of the Todd County Alumni Club of the University and a member of the Guthrie Lions Club, has been named district zone chairman for Lions in that territory. This district includes Guthrie, Russellville, Hopkinsville and Cadiz.

UK's Engineering Experiment Station

By E. E. Elsey, '20

In July 1946, through the perseverance of Dean D. V. Terrell, the Engineering Experiment Station of the College of Engineering was made a reality by the action of the Board of Trustees.

For years research had been carried on in the various departments of the College, but there was no means of coordinating the projects or of adequately publishing reports of accomplishments. Nor was the importance of this research stressed in any way; it was just something to be done when the occasion demanded. But this was all changed with the establishment of the Station which has as its objectives:

- (1) to organize, initiate and promote engineering research of special interest to the state.
- (2) To aid and consult with industry regarding its research problems.
- (3) To promote the conservation and utilization of the state's resources.
- (4) To provide support for research training in the fundamental and applied sciences.

The executive committee controlling the Station's policies consists of the following:

- Daniel V. Terrell, Director and Dean of Engineering
- Ernest A. Bureau, Head, Department of Electrical Engineering
- Charles S. Crouse, Head, Department of Mining and Metallurgical Engineering
- Estel B. Penrod, Head, Department of Mechanical Engineering
- Robert E. Shaver, Head, Department of Civil Engineering
- Andre J. Meyer, Director, Aeronautical Research Laboratory
- E. Everett Elsey, Editor of the Engineering Experiment Station Bulletins.

During the last four years considerable progress has been made in research in the Station, research covering a variety of subjects in each of the engineering departments. At present there are some twenty-seven active projects, some of them of national interest. This is especially true of the research on the heat pump under the supervision of Professor E. B. Penrod. An actual installation of an earth heat pump has been made in the mechanical laboratory and two bulletins have already been published on this work. Besides the regular mailing list of two thousand names, requests for these bulletins have been received from all over the United States, from Canada, England, European countries, and even from far away India and Australia.

A complete list of the bulletins published to date will give an idea of the scope of work covered by the Engineering Experiment Station:

Group Will Probe Possibility Of Veterinary School at UK

Governor Earle Clements last June named a committee to investigate the possibility of establishing a college of veterinary medicine at the University of Kentucky.

The Governor was asked to name the committee at the June meeting of the U. K. board of trustees.

Hal Price Headley, Lexington, one of those named, was asked to serve as temporary chairman of the committee.

Coffee Is Member

Others named were Dr. W. M. Coffee, Lacerter, member of the State Board of Agriculture and president-elect of the American Veterinary Medical Association; W. P. Garrigus, chairman of the animal-industry group at the University; J. Lindsay Nunn, president of the Kentucky Hereford Association, Lexington, and J. E. Stanford, executive secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, Louisville.

Clements said many believe a school of veterinary medicine is essential to the development of the great potential Kentucky has in livestock production.

He added, however, that the board of trustees would not want to add this new college to the university if it was not a sound business venture and if it could not be financed within the limits of the State's resources.

FORMER KENTUCKIAN GETS BAYLOR LAW JOB

Dr. James M. Collier, a young doctor of philosophy who in his undergraduate days served as president of the student body at the University of Kentucky, was named associate professor in the Baylor University Law School last August.

A graduate of the University with a degree in political science in 1941, Dr. Collier also holds the LL.B. from the University obtained in 1947.

He is the author of several widely published articles on constitutional law

UK Man Receives $750 Scholarship

Charles Allen Dorroh, 23, of Princeton, Ky., and Louisville, a member of the Louisville Courier Journal's circulation department staff, has been awarded a graduate scholarship by the International Circulation Managers' Association.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky in 1950, Dorroh received one of the two $750 scholarships annually awarded by the I.C.M.A. to students who have received bachelor-of-arts or bachelor-of-science degrees in journalism.

While carrying papers in his hometown of Princeton, Ky., young Dorroh, during the early part of World War II, led the nation in the carrier-borne sales of defense bonds and stamps.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Dorroh, of Princeton, he was graduated from Butler High School there in 1945 and joined the Navy the same year, serving 14 months, most of the time in the Philippines. He entered the University in 1946.

In 1948 Dorroh was married to Miss Florence Bush Lewis of Owensboro. They have a 14-month-old son, Tommy.

Students awarded these scholarships may select any Class A school or department of journalism where adequate training is offered.

Dr. C. K. Cain, '32, Heads Division Of McNeil Lab., Inc.

McNeil Laboratories announces the appointment of Dr. Cornelius K. Cain, '32, as Manager of the Department of Organic Chemistry, Division of Medical Sciences. In this capacity, he will direct the synthetic organic research activities of the company.

Dr. Cain obtained his B.S. degree from the University of Kentucky and his M.S. degree from the University of Massachusetts. His Ph.D. was awarded by Johns Hopkins University. He spent two years at the University of Illinois as a post-doctorate fellow working on the chemistry of marihuana with Dr. Roger Adams.

As an instructor in Chemistry at the University of Saint Louis, he was engaged during the war in a research project on antibiotics under contract with the Committee on Medical Research. From 1944 to the present time, and at the time of his appointment to Baylor was director of an old-age assistance survey for the Budget Bureau of New Jersey. He will teach courses in public law at Baylor.

C. K. Cain

Dr. Cain was assistant professor of Organic Chemistry at Cornell University.

Dr. Cain is a member of the American Chemical Society, Phi Lambda Upsilon, Sigma Xi, Alpha Chi Sigma, Phi Kappa Phi, A. A. A. S.

540 Graduated In August From UK

Man's spiritual and ethical progress has lagged so far behind his scientific attainments that civilization itself faces destruction if the lag continues, Dr. R. G. Gustavson, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, told 540 summer term graduates of the University of Kentucky at summer commencement exercises, Aug. 11.

Dr. Gustavson, one of the nation's leading biochemists, called upon society to make a concerted effort at realizing the ethical, moral and spiritual ideals which for centuries mankind has sensed but never attained.

To develop such a system of ethics, he said, would be to develop a rule of conduct expressive of the rights of individuals or of peoples, "irrespective of their race, national affiliation, wealth or power, or their opinions about politics, economy or religion."

Through science man has gained control of energy whose quantity and intensity defy description, he said.

"What he will do with it is a question that society must answer. He may use it either to end civilization or to usher in a new era of unprecedentedly good living."

Dr. Gustavson said he had little doubt of man's ability to solve his scientific problems as they arise, but that his ethical problems show no such promise.

He was introduced to the 540 seniors and graduate students and an estimated 5,000 in attendance, by U. K. President H. L. Donovan.

Invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Thomas M. Johnston, pastor of the Maxwell Street Presbyterian church. Music was provided by Prof. Arnold Blackburn, of the University music staff, at the organ, a mixed chorus under the direction of Miss Mildred S. Lewis, also of the music staff, and accompanists Mrs. Adelle Dailey and Prof. Ford Montgomery.

The 540 graduates are seven more than last year's previous high of 533.

Registrar Lee Sprowles said. Together with the 1,579 June graduates, the summer class also established a new yearly total of 2,119, surpassing the 1949 figure of 1,803.

Members of the record class came from 82 Kentucky counties, 15 other states, two foreign countries and one U. S. territory. Degrees awarded included 15 doctorates, 191 masters and 334 bachelors.

Graduates winning high-distinction honors were Jerry Claiborne, Hopkinsville; Vernon Moore, Erlanger, and Kenneth Toomey and Nick Wallen, both of Lexington.

Graduated with distinction were Robert Barnes, Kenton; Leon Bush, Brooksville; Alonzo Cagle, Owensboro; Joe Craig, Henderson; Billy Riddle, Lionilli, and Martha Routt, Pewee Valley.

BSU REUNION

The Baptist Student Union of the University of Kentucky will celebrate its 20th birthday in the Spring of 1951. A reunion banquet of all BSU'ers of the past will be held in the Blue Grass Room of the Student Union Building on April 21, 1951.

Dr. John Carter, President of Campbellsville College and the first president of the Baptist Student Union, will be the speaker. All Council Members and BSU'ers since 1931 are urged to attend.

Reservations for the Banquet may be made by writing Bill Cody, Student Secretary, Baptist Student Union, 317 South Limestone, Lexington, Kentucky.

Full-Time Head of Ky. Press, Named

Bruce F. Denbo

Bruce Denbo, of Baton Rouge, La., has been appointed full-time director of the University of Kentucky Press, the appointment having become effective September 1.

A native of Port Arthur, Texas, Mr. Denbo has been associated with the Louisiana State University Press since 1937 and has served as business manager since April 1946.

In accepting the appointment as the first full-time director of the UK Press, Mr. Denbo will select all books to be printed by the press and will direct the editing, printing, publication, and distribution of the books. He also will have supervision of the University printing plant, directing its operations through Manager Don Grote.

Mr. Denbo attended Southwestern Louisiana Institute and holds bachelor-of-arts and master-of-arts degrees from L.S.U.

L. C. Harrison, '27, director of the Good Samaritan Hospital's clinical laboratory, has isolated the organism, Hemophilus influenzae.

The announcement of the discovery was made last May, and in verifying Mr. Harrison's work the hospital stated that its staff believed the discovery is of great significance in the treatment of influenza meningitis.

How You Can Kill Your Association

Don't come to meetings. If you do come, come late. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of coming.

Find fault with the work of the officers and other members. Never accept an office or committee appointment as it is easier to criticize than to do the things.

Get sore if you are not appointed on some committee; but if you are, do not attend committee meetings. If asked by the chairman to give your opinion regarding some important matter, tell him you have nothing to say. After the meeting tell everyone how things ought to be done.

Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary; but when other members roll up their sleeves and use their ability to help matters along, howl that the association is run by a clique.

When a banquet is given, tell everybody money is being wasted on blowouts which make a big noise and accomplish nothing. When no banquets are given say the association is dead and needs a can tied to it. Don't ask for a banquet ticket until all are sold. Then swear you were cheated out of yours. If you do get a ticket, don't pay for it.

Hold back your dues as long as possible or don't pay. When you do receive a bill for your dues, postpone paying 'til the secretary writes for the money — then get sore because you've been dunned. If you receive a bill after you've paid, — resign from the association or at least suggest to some of the members that the treasurer tried to work you or is manipulating the accounts.

Don't tell the association how it can help you, but if it doesn't help you, resign. If you receive service without joining, don't think of joining. If the association doesn't correct abuses in your neighbor's business, howl that nothing is done. If it calls attention to abuses in your own, resign from the association. When you attend a meeting, vote to do something, then go home and do the opposite. Agree to everything said at the meeting and disagree with it outside.

Get all the assistance the association gives, but don't give it any. Talk cooperation for the other fellow with you; but never cooperate with him.

When everything else fails, cuss the secretary.
