Wildcats Win Championship From Centre

Hundreds of Basketball Enthusiasts Saw Great Net Battle Friday

EVIDENCE OF SPIRIT

(Written for The Lexington Herald by J. A. Estes, who was a student in the Department of Journalism at the University last year, and is now sporting editor of The Herald.)

The Wildcat basketball squad of the University of Kentucky outplayed and decisively defeated the hitherto unbeaten Centre College quintet at the University gymnasium last night, clearly demonstrating its superiority to the mighty organization of the Danville school. The final score of the contest, than which there surely never was a greater on the Wildcat court, was 20 to 13.

Crammed and jammed into every available inch of space, plastered onto the walls, roosting on the rafters, hanging down from the ceiling like flies in winter time, and pecking through the skylights, the largest crowd that was ever squeezed into the gymnasium to see a basketball game saw the Centre aggregation take its first defeat of the year at the hands of the well trained Kentucky squad. The crowd broke loose with a fearful roar as soon as the ball was put into play, and kept up a horrible noise all through the contest, pausing only for an occasional foul to be thrown and at some tense moments when the sphere came perilously near falling into the Centre basket.

The game was so full of sensational plays, wonderful feats of goal shooting, and tense seconds when the lead depended on a hairbreadth's turn in the ball, that every one of the record audience was kept on its figurative tiptoes during every minute of the game.

RIDGEWAY

Sam Ridgeway of Shepherdsville, a member of the Wildcat basketball team for the second year, distinguished himself in the game against Centre Friday when he was quite a factor in keeping the Colonels from caging baskets. Referee Hinton of Yale said that Ridgeway is one of the best guards that he has ever seen and his work against Centre was of the most skillful and sportsmanlike type. Ridgeway plays hard and consistent. He is never spectacular, but he delivers the goods and is one of the most valuable cogs in the Wildcat machine.

WILDCAT BASKETEERS READY FOR S. I. A. A.

Varsity to Leave Wednesday To Participate in Meet at Atlanta

PROSPECTS GOOD

The Wildcat Basketball team will leave Wednesday night for the S.I.A.A. tournament which will be held at Atlanta. The team will be gone for a week and during that time will have the opportunity of proving itself the purpose of the tournament is to decide the southern championship.

All the stronger teams of the south will be represented, among which will be Auburn, Georgia Tech, Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Georgia. It has not yet been arranged which team Kentucky is to play first. The process of elimination will be used.

The Wildcats have a good chance of winning this tournament as they have already defeated Auburn, one of the strongest teams in the South. Auburn won from Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt, which gives Kentucky an edge on those teams. Vanderbilt managed to defeat Chattanooga by the scant margin of seven points while the latter was swamped by the Wildcats.

It is thought that Lavin will be able to take part in the tournament as his shoulder is almost well and he has been keeping in practice to be ready for the test. Eight men will be taken on the trip and will likely be: King, Hayden, Adkins, Lavin, Smith, Ridgeway, Wilhelm and Poyntz.

SENIORS MUST REORDER RINGS

The order for the Senior class rings can not be filled as there were only eight orders given, which was not enough to satisfy the firm. However, arrangements are being made with another firm to take as small order as is desired.

"SAY WHEN"

(Editorial)

The decisive defeat of Centre by Kentucky last Friday easily gives the University the basketball championship of the State. While it is true that each team has won a game from its opponent the fact that Kentucky won the latter game and the fact that Centre was beaten by a much larger score, leaves no further doubt as to the relative merits of the two teams.

Now that Centre has been effectively disposed of, our cap is set for the championship of the South. Probably the only dangerous contestant for this honor is the University of Georgia and it remains for the S. I. A. A. tournament, which will be played at Atlanta the first part of next week, to decide the winner. In the tournament Kentucky will be at a disadvantage, playing on a strange floor and with strange officials who are accustomed to serve Georgian teams and who probably expect to continue serving these teams. We have not forgotten the mistreatment of Centre by the officials at the Centre-Georgia Tech game. Kentucky's team, therefore, will have the odds against it but, in the judgment of The Kernel, it has, even with these odds, a good chance of bringing back the big silver loving cup which has been offered by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to the team winning the championship.

This is the first Kentucky basketball claimant for Southern honors since the famous team of 1912 and it is not inappropriate in passing to take cognizance of the man behind the guns to whom the credit is due for developing the team, Coach George Buchheit.

NO NEED TO PLAY CENTRE IF WE WIN S. I. A. A. TOURNEY

In reply to the challenge of Centre in the Louisville Herald this morning, Kentucky is more than glad, in fact anxious to play Centre again, if a date can be arranged for Kentucky is confident of defeating them again by a larger score.

In the article Centre "explains their defeat" by Armstrong not being able to play but does not mention that Lavin, a star guard of Kentucky, was out the entire last game with Centre and was out two-thirds of the first game, Kentucky having Centre four to one when he was hurt in the first game.

The State Championship is not claimed by any member of the Athletic Council and the Louisville paper makes a misstatement in so stating. All dope, however, gives it to Kentucky, and Hinton of Georgetown, who refereed the last game, stated that Centre was out played in every stage of the game.

It seems that Centre is the one who is squeaking like a spoiled baby, NOT Kentucky.

There will be no need of playing Centre if we win the S. I. A. A. tournament. Centre has lost. knows she has lost, why don't she be a sport and take her medicine like a man.

SMITH

Gilbert Smith, of Lexington, was put in the game against Centre in the place of "Bobby" Lavin who was injured in a former game with the same team. Smith showed that he is a splendid guard and his passing and floor work in general demonstrated that he can be called upon to put up a masterful battle at any time. This is the second year that "Gibby" has been out for the net game. The first year he narrowly missed making his letter and this year he is playing like a veteran.

KITTENS RETURN FROM SOUTHERN TRIP SUNDAY

Kentucky Women Lose to Peabody and Chattanooga Last Week

The Kittens returned Sunday night from their trip to Tennessee where in spite of hard training for the past weeks they were defeated by Chattanooga and Peabody.

The basketball squad left Lexington at 5:50 Thursday afternoon and returned Sunday evening. In the party were, Miss Blanding, coach and the members of the team, Lillie Cromwell, Katie Henry, Margaret Black, Dorothy Potter, Margaret Jameson, Mildred Morris and Bernice Young.

In the Peabody game, Miss Cromwell played center, and Miss Henry and Miss Potter were guards while Miss Young and Miss Jameson were forwards. The game was played in ten minute thirds, with Miss Black substituting for Miss Young in one third.

The lineup was the same in the Chattanooga game, with Miss Black substituting for Miss Young, and Miss Morris for Miss Potter. Miss Jameson, forward, and Miss Potter, guard, starred in the Chattanooga game. A chafing dish party was given in honor of the Kittens, and Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning they were members of a motor party, which visited many historical places.

The Kittens play Kentucky Wesleyan at Winchester Saturday night, and the Chattanooga girls play the Kittens here March 5th. The Kittens are expecting to recover their lost score and close the season with victory.

KENTUCKY vs. TULANE

Kentucky's first game in the basketball tournament to be held in Atlanta will be with the strong Tulane University quintet. The game is to take place Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The result will be telegraphed to the University.

Kentucky and Centre Lock Horns in Desperate Struggle

CHAMPIONSHIP WON

By Gerald Griffin

For the first time in three years Kentucky defeated Centre in basketball last Friday night in the local gymnasium by the score of 20 to 13. The game was played before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a game on the University court and as many were turned away as were admitted.

From the time the two centers first jumped for the sphere until the game was over, the Wildcats clearly demonstrated their superiority over the Colonels and, according to Referee Hinton, outplayed Centre in every department of the game. They outpassed, outshot, outfought, and generally outclassed the Colonels who were forced to accept defeat for the first time this year.

Both teams had poor luck in making long shots as only a few were successful, while the ball was continually being tossed from mid floor only to bounce harmlessly against backboard. Both teams missed many easy shots but one thing was noticeable that when Centre shot at the basket and missed, the ball went into the outstretched hands of an awaiting Wildcat, while the Kentucky five got many follow shots. This inability on Centre's part was due most of all to the untiring yet inconspicuous work of Ridgeway who gave evidence that he is one of the best stationary guards in the country.

Both sides roughed it up a bit and eleven fouls were called, eight of which were made by the Colonels. The guarding was close and the much touted Maver was accredited with hanging up only three field goals while

WHERE'S THE CAMPUS FLAG?

One of the most important duties of the educational institutions of America is to teach and foster a virile, robust Americanism. The University of Kentucky has accepted this duty and discharged it creditably.

Americans have come to accept the Stars and Stripes as a symbol of American idealism. Old Glory has come to mean to Americans an inanimate object into which has been breathed the essence of liberty and justice.

We feel that as a symbol of Americanism, the American flag should float over Kentucky's campus. The barren flag pole which stands upon the campus is an indication of negligence, suggesting that the patriotic ardor of the war has abated.

Within the month of February we celebrate the birthday of two great American characters. Washington and Lincoln are of such outstanding significance that their birthdays are national holidays yet one event has passed without the display of the colors those men loved so dearly.

There are sufficient military activities here to warrant calling this a military post. Since that is true, we feel that it properly comes within the province of the military authorities to arrange for the proper displaying of the flag. We dare not suggest that the ceremonies of reveille and retreat be observed and the colors be raised and lowered with the impressive ceremonies which accompany each of these military formations. But it is our opinion that responsibility for the displaying of the flag should be detailed by roster to the cadet corps. In the performance of such a duty they daily remind us of our allegiance to the flag we love and acquaint themselves with a military duty of importance.

MUSIC

The organization of a choral society such as that contemplated by Professor Lampert is the logical means by which to preserve and perpetuate the intense interest in things musical aroused by the production of Robin Hood. It is a happy thought to hold intact the enthusiastic and hard working body of young women and men who gave such a remarkable presentation of that opera.

It is now the plan of the Department of Music to present an opera each year. Those concerned in the production of Robin Hood know what strenuous work was required to reach any degree of perfection in three short months. With the organization of a choral society this work will be spread over the nine months of the year. The merits of the operas that can be presented may be weighed and considered; the individual possibilities of those with vocal ambitions may be fully brought out, may be trained under the watchful eye of Professor Lampert; the esprit de corps will be kept alive, and interest at a high pitch the year round.

Beyond the primary consideration of opera, there are occasions during the year when a chorus may be highly useful, when a little taste of real music may be an enlightening influence.

The organization of such a society promises great things in the musical life of the University. The Kernel is indeed glad that the opportunity resulting from Robin Hood has been seized by such eager and capable hands.

New President of "Ags."

Thomas P. Cooper, dean of the College of Agriculture, was elected president of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers in the final session of the association's annual convention at the Phoenix hotel Wednesday afternoon. Professor George Roberts, also of the College of Agriculture, was appointed to serve on the executive committee.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the University, the College of Agriculture, and students of the college for the spirit of cooperation shown in helping to make the past convention a successful one.

National Law Fraternity Entertains With Banquet at Lafayette.

Phi Alpha Delta, law fraternity of the University of Kentucky, entertained with a banquet at the Lafayette hotel, Friday February 11, at which nine men were pledged. The members of the active chapter were the hosts with the pledges as guests.

The fraternity was established in 1897 at Kent College of Law, Chicago, and now has 44 chapters. The members of the active chapter are, Robert Thomlinson, Dillard Turner, Carl Lipe, Berl Boyd, Brady Stewart, Paul Ashby, Clyde O. Burton, Milton Revill, Neil G. Sullivan, John Hewitt, Sam Cole, Marvin K. Ebleh, and George Gallup. The pledges are Donald Dinning, Richard Lee, N. G. Rogers, Williams Chism, Bailey Baxter, James Farmer, Leonard Fielder, J. L. Hayes, and Raymond Johnson. Initiation for the new men will be held in about a week.

SAW GREAT NET BATTLE FRIDAY

The minutes were days. Fans counted time by the almanac, it seemed. Dignified and undemonstrative elder members of the crowd waxed as enthusiastic as the most vivacious youngsters. All pronounced the game as a fit demonstration of the prowess of the best trained team of basketballers the University has ever put out.

The Wildcats plainly had the best of the floor work throughout the contest, but the outcome was in doubt until the game was over. Both teams guarded furiously and remarkably well, and only 11 fouls were called during the contest, eight on the colonels and three on the Wildcats. In spots, rather rough tactics were used, and cries of "football" and "throw 'em out" broke out among the more feverish of the spectators. The game, as a whole, was the cleanest played on the Wildcat floor this year, and in point of the science of basketball, it has had no rival among the contests staged here this season.

Somebody asked who starred. It would be a crime to say that any one of that bunch stood out as the stellar light of the game. The real star of the contest which labels the Wildcats the premier basketball team of the State was on the sidelines in the person of Coach George Buchheit. Buchheit has trained the Kentucky squad down to the minutest perfection ever seen in a net team of the University, and to him should go the credit for the victory of the Wildcats.

the redoubtable McMillan, of All American fame, was held scoreless for the first time in his career.

The game started with a burst of speed on Centre's part which gave them four points before the Wildcats found themselves. However the score was soon tied and the Kentuckians took the lead which the Colonels were never able to overcome, although they came desperately near it at times. The first half ended with the score 11 to 7 in favor of Kentucky.

In the beginning of the second half Centre scored two field goals in rapid succession, tying the score. A foul was called on Centre and the spectators held their breath while King shot the goal. This again placed Kentucky in the lead, which they continued to increase until at the close of the battle they were seven points ahead of the Danville team.

Coach McDowell of the Centre quintet insists upon a hird game to be played on a neutral court, preferably in Louisville to decide the state championship. But if there was ever any doubt as to the state championship it was settled by the fact that Kentucky outplayed Centre in both games that have been played and also has a five point advantage in relative scores. Athletic Director Boles declares that there is no room on Kentucky's schedule for another engagement.

ALUMNI CLUBS ARE GAINING IMPETUS

Sectional Organizations of Undergraduates Assist in Kentucky Program

Organization of alumni clubs in the several counties of Kentucky, as well as in principal cities of other states, which has gained considerable impetus in the last week is considered by the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association to be one of the most powerful factors in the building up of the "Kentucky spirit."

The sectional clubs of the undergraduate body, working through committees during the Easter holiday, will carry on further in this work. They will co-operate with the local alumni club, where there is one organized, or will help in establishing one. Definite plans for this will be formulated within the next two weeks. Short talks in the high schools about the University and its work will be one of the features of the undergraduates' work and conferences with prospective students.

A trip through Western Kentucky by the Strollers with the Glee Club. The itinerary of the two organizations, which will travel separately, will be arranged so far as possible to include towns where there are active alumni clubs. Leaders in the organization of the former students and graduates have informed the Alumni Secretary that these tours have created additional interest in the alumni clubs.

The following temporary chairmen of alumni are now perfecting plans for alumni clubs; Bell county, Presley T. Atkins, Pineville; Bourbon, William Collins, North Middletown; Breathitt, Henry L. Spencer, Jackson; Clay, Miss Mary L. Atkins, Oneida; Daviess, R. M. Holland, Owensboro; Franklin, Prof. M. J. Clarke, Frankfort; Hancock, Miss Margaret Woll, Hawesville; Harlan, A. W. COLLEGE LIBRARIANS MEET AT FRANKFORT

Miss Margaret King, librarian of the University, attended the District Meeting of the Librarians of this section of the State, last Thursday afternoon in Frankfort. At the meeting which was held in the State Commission Offices in the capitol, about twenty librarians were present including representatives from the University of Kentucky, Centre College, Georgetown College, Asbury and the Eastern State Normal School.

Miss Rawson, secretary of the Kentucky Library Commission outlined the new County Library Law of Kentucky, and Miss Dillard of Lexington led a discussion for the Loan Desk routine during the meeting.

Miss King was accompanied to Frankfort by Miss Snodgrass, Miss White, Margaret Bailey, and Halle Hunt, students of the University.

LUCILLE MOORE TO LEAD PHILOSOPHANS

At the regular meeting of the Philosopher Literary Society, held at Patterson Hall, Wednesday night the officers for the ensuing semester were elected. President Lucille Moore; vice president, Edna Snapp; recording secretary, Orena McMahan; corresponding secretary, Elizabeth Ellis; treasurer, Mildred Summerville; publicity agent, Katherine McGibben; sergeant-at-arms, Esther Harris; literary critic, Katherine Weakley.

For entrance into the society it is necessary for the new girls to write themes, on subjects assigned by the literary critic. These subjects are posted on the bulletin-board in Patterson Hall, and all papers must be handed in before March 4, so that the new girls may be eligible for a part in the Philosopher play "The Amazons," which will be given the latter part of March.

CAMPUS GOSSIP
 By D. Murphy

Dean Josephine Simrall, Professor and Mrs. Lampert went to Mount Sterling Friday to give a University Day program for the Mount Sterling Woman's Club.

 Dean Simrall will go to Atlantic City this week to attend the National Conference of Deans of Women, to be held there February 25 and 26.

 Louise Connell is improving rapidly and it is hoped that she will be able to leave the hospital soon.

The College of Law regrets very much the loss of its youngest student, John L. Williams, Jr., age 3, of Manchester, who has been attending classes regularly during this semester. He left last week to attend one of the kindergartens of the city. His parents are both students in the Law College.

 The evenings of February 28, and March 1, will be devoted to dramatizations from O. Henry, which will be produced in the Little Theater. The dramatizations to be produced were made by Carlisle Chenault, Frances Marsh, Claribel Kay, and Frank Gentry.

CAMPUS SURPRISED BY WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT

Jim Server and Alberta Wilson Secretly Married Last Week.

ANNOUNCED MONDAY

Kentucky students were surprised Monday by the announcement of the marriage of Alberta Wilson and Jim Server, both students in the University, the marriage having been solemnized Saturday, February 12, and kept a secret until the first of this week. The bride and groom are popular on the campus, and since the marriage has become generally known have been receiving congratulations from their many friends. The wedding occurred in Covington, Kentucky, the ceremony performed by the Reverend Webb, at 509 Garred avenue.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wilson, of Somerset, and is a graduate student in the University, pursuing work toward a Master's degree, and instructing in the department of Zoology.

The groom is one of the best known students on the campus. He is a member of many organizations, including Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Lamp and Cross, Mystic Thirteen, and Keys, and is the captain-elect for the 1921 football squad. Although he is classified as a Senior he will not complete his work for the Bachelor of Arts degree until next February.

Mr. and Mrs. Server intend to remain in Lexington permanently, pursuing their studies until graduation. "Big Jim" said emphatically that he would be back to play football next Fall. The "newly-weds" have engaged room at 210 Ormesby avenue, Bell Court, and will be at home to their friends.

KELLY KASH TO TALK TO LAW STUDENTS

On February 24 Hon. Kelly Kash will speak to the Henry Clay Law Society. Some very interesting programs for the society's regular weekly meetings are promised. Professor G. W. Goble gave a lecture at the meeting two weeks ago.

At the last meeting President Johnson called on four of the members for extemporaneous speeches. All responded with vim, and demonstrated the fact that they are abreast of the times.

SPRING TRAINING FOR BASEBALL HAS BEGUN

Pitchers and Catchers Work Out Kinks on Gymnasium Floor Daily

In spite of unspringlike weather, a diamond covered with nearly a foot of snow, and the thermometer hovering close to zero, baseball practice has begun. Of course this is being carried on in the gymnasium, and as yet it applies only to pitchers and catchers who have been getting the kinks out of arms for the past week in preparation for one of the hardest baseball schedules that Kentucky has bucked up against in years.

The Wildcats have splendid prospects of developing a championship baseball team this year as practically the entire team of last year, with the exception of Zerfoss and Sauer, will be seen on the diamond as soon as the weather permits outdoor practice to begin. Besides the old men coming back there is a wealth of new material in the Freshmen and men from other schools who have had baseball experience.

At present there seems to be a weakness in the prospective pitching staff as only a few men have been coming out for this position, although the men who have been coming out show remarkable talent. Among the veteran pitchers to be seen again tossing the horsehide on the local diamond will be Cooper and Sloger, two of the best twirlers that have ever donned a Kentucky uniform. Both of these artists played on semi-professional teams last summer and are anxious to help bring honors to the Blue and White.

FAMOUS TRAGEDIENNE TO APPEAR THURSDAY

Miss Dorothea Spinney, Interpreter, to Give Free Performance

Miss Dorothea Spinney, an interpreter of classic drama of international reputation will appear in the Chapel of the University of Kentucky at 3 p. m. Thursday, February 24, under the auspices of the University. Miss Spinney will read the Iphigenia in Tauris of Euripides. There will be no charge of admission and the classes will be dismissed during the performance.

Miss Spinney was born a few miles from Stratford-on-Avon, in Warwickshire, and has always lived in dramatic and literary circles. She has appeared before classical associations and in theaters, universities, and colleges in England, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and the United States; as the London Daily Telegraph has said: "her work invariably calls for nothing but praise."

Included in Miss Spinney's repertoire are six tragedies of Euripides, and one tragedy from Sophocles, and the following shorter plays: "Rosalind," "Maker of Dreams," "Down," "Hour Glass," "Yeats; and "The Traveling Man," Lady Gregory. The plays are given in costume before a setting of curtains, two tapers burning, and therefore there are no stage distractions. As quoted from the London Morning Post this celebrated English tragedienne "has a fine face, capable of intense expression; unusual clearness of articulation, a voice of considerable mobility, a rare sense of music and rhythm." A large attendance of students and those interested in classical interpretation from throughout the Bluegrass is expected.

The following committee of faculty folk has been appointed to attend to Miss Spinney's arrangements and entertainment: Miss Pollitt, Miss Jewell, Miss Cornell, Dean Simrall and Professors Grehan, Farquhar, Sax, and Mikesell. A tea will be given in the University Cafeteria dining rooms, immediately after the performance in honor of Miss Spinney.

FIGHT FOR FRATERNITY BASKETBALL CUP IS ON

Four Contestants Are Eliminated in First Week of Tournament

With the first week of the Men's Pan-Hellenic Basketball Tournament ended, the Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, A. T. O. and Kappa Alpha fraternities have one game each to their credit, while Delta Chi is scheduled to play its first game, against one of the winning four, Wednesday night.

By reason of their overwhelming victory over Phi Delta Theta, the Sigma Nu is the favorite of many, who expect them to be 1921 champions, and obtain permanent possession of the much desired loving cup. However, many others are placing their wagers on the A. T. O. quintet, which is showing some excellent guarding and sensational goal shooting.

Semi-finals, which include the Delta Chi game, will be held this week. Next week will determine who will sneak through the field and come down the stretch a winner.
