BASEBALL PROSPECTS ARE VERY PROMISING

Preliminary Work Has Begun on New Practice Field

Indications of fairer weather than prevailed last week and the first of this week have served to stir the baseball cohorts to increased activity and any afternoon, barring Sunday, a trip to the east end of Stoll Field will convince anyone of the seriousness with which the squad is going into baseball practice.

The ex-star Wildcat athlete and now progressive assistant coach, Bill Tuttle, has the men in charge for the preliminary "loosening up" period. "Doc" Tigert will be out within a few days and will assume command.

Only light batting and fielding practice has been indulged in and until the really hard work begins it will be impossible to get a good line on the men. The ability of the members of last year's team is well known, but there are quite a few men both in the freshman and upper classes who threaten to supplant the regulars.

Work is being rushed on the new diamond, which had to be moved a short distance to the east of last year's arena. When this work is completed and the extra bleachers provided along the first base line, a week or so of hard practice will put the Wildcat baseball steam roller in readiness to overwhelm the haughty Michiganders in the opening game, April 8.

ROBINS CAMPAIGN HEARTILY BOOSTED

Committees Busy Working Out Plans Among University Students

WHAT THEY SAY.

Judge Barker says:

"This is the most extensive effort ever undertaken to uplift the moral life on the campus. I want every member of the student body to take part in it."

President Torrence says:

"The Y. M. C. A. is pouring its whole soul into the Robins' campaign and asks all the men in the school to take their stand with it in the fight."

Secretary Zerfoss says:

"The message of Raymond Robins has made a stronger appeal to College men of the United States than has any thing of its kind in the history of the Nation."

BOLD THIEF STEALS HANDSOME TROPHY

Mustache Contest May Be Called Off As Result

The handsome engraved loving cup which was to be given by the Kernel as a prize to the senior possessing the finest mustache was stolen from the Kernel room by unknown persons Tuesday night. The thief entered by picking the lock of the door and left absolutely no clue as to his identity. Student detectives are on the trail, however, and it is probable that the offender will be caught before the date set for the awarding of the cup. In case the prize is not recovered the contest will be called off, as the Kernel has recently paid a large debt and is financially unable to purchase another cup.

The trophy was made of the finest silver and was handsomely engraved. In order to make the prize useful as well as beautiful and to add to its appropriateness the cup was made in the form of a shaving mug.

How the thief entered the building is unknown, but it is thought that he sneaked in and concealed himself while the night watchman had the building open for inspection.

The news of this robbery comes as a sad blow to many of the seniors, who, since the announcement of the contest, have been so diligently cultivating their "brushes." One senior, upon hearing the news of the robbery, was with difficulty prevented from leaping from the window of his room in the dorm and cutting himself to pieces on the broken glass below. At the latest report he was resting quietly.

In addition to the student detectives the North Broadway Detective Force will be put on the case unless the stolen goods is recovered before the end of the week.

PATTERSON SOCIETY TO HOLD ANNUAL CONTEST MONDAY

The annual oratorical contest of the Patterson Literary Society will be held in the University chapel next Monday night. The winner of this contest will meet the representative of the Union Literary Society later and the victor in the inter-society affair will represent the University in the Kentucky inter-collegiate contest to be held in May. A gold medal will be awarded the winner of the contest Monday night.

The speakers and subjects will be as follows: M. U. Condit, "The Evolution of Democracy;" David Glickman, "The Next War;" William Shinnick, "America and the Age of the Ideal," and C. P. Nicholson, "Our Country and Our President." The public is invited to attend the contest, which will begin at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged.

March 28 ROBINS

McBRAYER IS STATE ENTRY FOR INTER- COLLEGIATE CONTEST

J. J. McBrayer, of Lawrenceburg, won the contest to represent State University in the Inter-collegiate prohibition contest, April 7.

Only two men entered the contest, the other being D. T. Ricketson, of Kansas City, Missouri.

Mr. McBrayer's subject was "The Great Internal Destroyer," while the subject of Mr. Ricketson was "The Fall of the Nation." The judges were Professor L. L. Dantzier, Dean Anna J. Hamilton and Enoch Grehan.

Mr. McBrayer will receive the prize, five dollars in gold, and will represent the University in the State contest.

DEAN HAMILTON TALKS TO H. E. CLUB

Dean Anna J. Hamilton delivered an address before the Home Economics Club of the University on "The Home Beautiful," Monday afternoon at 3:30. Miss Hamilton emphasized the three-fold function of woman as housekeeper, wife and mother, and the need of her influence.

All the Home Economics faculty and a large number of the major students of that department were present at the talk, and at the tea which was given later in honor of Miss Hamilton by the members of the club.

R. S. HART DIES AT LEXINGTON HOME

Doctor R. S. Hart, father of Derrill Hart, a fellow in the department of English of this University, died at his home on the Versailles pike at 9 o'clock last night, after an illness of about three weeks.

His death was caused by a weakening of the heart due to an attack of grippe.

Dr. Hart was 73 years old and was a Confederate veteran, having been a member of the 22nd Alabama Regiment, under General Bragg, during the internal strife. He studied medicine at Baltimore immediately after the war's close, and then came to this State where he located near the Woodford County line. He has lived there practicing his profession ever since.

Illinois.

Illinois University has loaned $70,000 to students this year as against $158 in 1895.

BENNETT TRIO HERE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Unusual Musical Attraction Is Offering of the Lyceum Course

The Lyceum Course has found a great musical attraction in Mr. Charles Lewis Bennett, baritone. At the outbreak of the war Mr. Bennett had a contract to sing in the Royal Opera in Brussels, Belgium. He has spent seven years abroad in perfecting his art, at Paris, London, Dresden and Florence. Mr. Bennett sings with an emotional interpretation that makes his work extraordinary.

Mr. Bennett will be assisted by Miss Elsie Bennett, mezzo-soprano. Miss Bennett sang a great deal in Belfast and London for the war-relief fund before coming to America. Mrs. Bennett is a perfect accompanist in that she follows the lead of the singer without subordinating the accompaniment too much.

All students are urged to be present Friday at 8 p. m., March 24. It will be a rare treat.

The program follows:

Prologue—"Paliacci," R. Leonevallo. Mr. Bennett.

A—"The Dawn of Spring," P. Tschalkowski.

B—"The Swan Bent Low to the Lily," C—"A Maid Sing Light," Ed. MacDowell. D—"The Bird and the Rose," Amy Horrocks. Miss Bennett.

HERBERT GRAHAM IS MADE MANAGER OF STATE TRACK MEET

Herbert D. Graham, of Frankfort, a senior in the College of Arts and Science, has been elected interscholastic track manager at a meeting of the athletic committee. This is the first time a student has held such a position in the University athletic life.

The State miners' first aid contest will be held on Stoll Field May 13, the same day as the interscholastic meet. The miners will be assigned the football field for operations, while the track men will use the eastern portion.

STATE STUDENT DOES COMMENDABLE ACT

Gives Mountain Boy a Chance For Recovery

State University is not without her heroes. Another has appeared in the person of Elmer Kranz Robertson, a special student working his way through school, in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, who with heroic self-sacrifice and untiring devotion, has made it possible for Matt Simms, an orphan from the Kentucky mountains, to go out into the world, unashamed, without a trace of what was once a repulsive physical deformity.

Simms is now at St. Joseph's Hospital undergoing an operation whereby his nose, nearly eaten from his face by successive attacks of catarrh in childhood, will be entirely restored and his features rendered nearly perfect.

Robertson first saw the boy at a mission Sunday School in the Kentucky mountains last summer. Becoming interested in his case, with a great pity for the friendless lad, he arranged to bring him to Lexington for a medical examination. While he was being treated here, Robertson shared his room with the boy, soliciting aid for him from anyone he could interest in the case.

In a few weeks Simms will be dismissed from the hospital. He is a capable boy, well mannered and of no bad habits. His many friends are looking for employment for him in Lexington.

GUMBERT IS ELECTED BASKETBALL CAPTAIN

Dr. Tigert Entertains "K" Men and Women at Dinner

George Gumbert, star basketball guard, was elected captain of the 1917 Wildcat five at a dinner given to the 1916 "K" men and women at the home of Dr. John J. Tigert on Bassett Court Saturday evening. James Server, the lengthy center, so well-known to Kentucky fans, was chosen manager. The election of Miss Innis as captain and Miss Haydon as manager of the girls' team for 1917 was formally confirmed by the young women. Those present at the dinner were: Misses Nancy Innis, Pearl Bastin, Cecelia Cregor, Elsie Heller, Dawn Flanery and Lillian Haydon. Messrs. Karl Zerfoss, Derrill Hart, James Server, George Gumbert, R. RAYMOND ROBINS.

More than a hundred students of the different colleges of the University who have volunteered to co-operate with the Y. M. C. A. cabinet in urging every student to attend the meetings of the Raymond Robins' campaign, which starts Tuesday morning, are busy this week seeing the men of their departments, distributing programs and inviting the students to hear Robins.

In order to make the teams of students more effective, several outside Christian leaders have been invited to come here for the entire campaign to co-operate in the work, among whom are: C. E. (Chief) Blevins, Assistant Y. M. C. A. Secretary at Georgia Technical, of Atlanta, Ga.; F. H. Hoeler, Y. M. C. A. Secretary at University of Cincinnati, of Cincinnati, Ohio; E. L. Terrell, post-graduate student at Oberlin, Ohio; J. L. Childs, manager of the Robins' campaign in Kankakee, Ill.; J. W. Berghold, State Secretary of College Y. M. C. A. for Kentucky, of Louisville, Ky.

President Barker is heartily in cooperation with the cabinet and is taking an active part in preparing for the campaign. Deans Anderson and Lafferty have given an hour from class work in their departments for special meetings for the lawyers and engineers. The whole school is ablaze with spirited interest ever the student evangelistic revival.

All student activities will give way to the campaign during the four days in which it is held. Societies have postponed their meetings so as not to interfere with the plans outlined by the Y. M. C. A.

The pastors of the churches of Lexington, the Commercial Club and city Y. M. C. A. have accepted the invitation extended by the cabinet to cooperate in the work of the revival and will lend their personal efforts.

The power of personality, earnestness of purpose and eloquence of Raymond Robins have drawn great crowds of students into all his meetings. He is one of the most successful workers among young men in the United States.

In introducing President Barker, Dan Crowe, president of the labor federations, mentioned the high esteem in which President Barker is held by the union men of Lexington and also of the honors he has earned as head of the University.

STATE LOSES IN DEBATE WITH CENTRE

The debating team of Centre College won from the State University last Friday evening in the inter-collegiate debating contest, held annually among State University, Transylvania College, Georgetown College and Centre College. This is the first of these contests that State has lost for several years, and makes Centre College of Danville, champions of the association. A large crowd attended the debate which proved interesting throughout. Medals will be awarded to each member of the winning team.

The question debated was: "Resolved that the United States should propose the Taft plan of international peace to the other nations for adoption." The affirmative side of the question was upheld by Centre College with the following team: V. I. Chebithes, Thos. H. Lockett and Robert Dunn. The State University men who represented the negative side were G. C. Wilson, F. A. Harrison and J. V. Chamberlain.

The judges were Colonel J. R. Allen, of Lexington, M. C. Swinford, of Cynthiana, and Oscar Hinton, of Georgetown.

In the near future Georgetown College and Transylvania College, the defeated members of the association last year, will hold a similar contest in Morrison chapel at Transylvania. The winner of that contest will meet Centre College next year.

JIM PARK PRAISED BY ST. LOUIS PAPER

Correspondents for St. Louis papers are lavish in praising the work of Jim Park, former University of Kentucky hurler, for the Browns, who are on their southern training trip at present. Park went to the Browns last year at the close of the Lexington Colts' season and pitched a few games which he won as handily as he formerly did on Stoll Field. Previously he had hurled eighteen games for the Colts, winning twelve and tying one. In fielding he topped all the other slab artists in the Ohio State League. Manager Fielder Jones, of the Browns, believes in Park as do all his Kentucky friends.

In part the St. Louis Star says: "The creditable work of Park at Lexington attracted the attention of Rickey and in no time Park was on the register at the Brown's park. This spring he is showing up in fine style in the practice games and is always right there for his share of the work. Jim owns a sort of overhand delivery and possesses a fast ball, coupled with a good assortment of curves, but he does not rely on these balls altogether. He uses his head while on the mound and this in the main is a good asset, if the twirler has a brainy noodle, which Jim has.

"In the winter Park is a professor in college and out of the game looks the part, being a bit dignified and keeping to himself most of the time."

"Hey, Molke, and phwat do ye 'tink of these new sanitary drinkin'-cups?"

"Sure, Pat, and soon we'll have to spit on our hands wid an eye-dropper!"—Michigan Gargoyle.

Wit Every Kappa Knows.

"Is that the key to your heart." Sprung only 3,400,000 times.

"Is that the key to heaven?" Only 240,000 times.

"Who holds the lock?" (Very subtle)—Only 50,000 times.—Exchange.

ENGLISH CLUB.

The English Club will hold its second meeting in Professor Dantzer's room in the Main Building Wednesday afternoon, March 29, at 3:30. Professor E. F. Farquhar will address the club.

Y. M. C. A.

Harry Giovannoli, editor of The Lexington Leader, spoke to the members of the Y. M. C. A. in the Y. M. C. A. rooms Sunday evening at 1:30.

Mr. Giovannoli emphasized the fact that the world is growing better, and that it is better today than it was several years ago, showing the responsibility of the present college man.

President Henry S. Barker made a short talk urging the boys to go out from the institution with high ideals and raise the reputation of State University in the eyes of the people of Kentucky.

About fifty students attended the meeting. The Y. M. C. A. extends an invitation to all students of the University and urges them to be present at the Sunday evening meetings.

UNION SOCIETY.

The Union Literary Society held its weekly meeting in the Society Hall Saturday evening at the regular meeting hour, 7:30 p. m. The chief interest of the meeting was the setting of the dates for the oratorical and declamatory contests. The dates selected are on the evenings of April 12 and 21. It is to be determined later which of the dates will be given to the oratorical contest.

Spring Editorial.

Though Spring has not come at Kentucky State, and we are yet to enjoy that first sunny day that will bring the students out to stroll upon the bluegrass, to forget everything except the little "thou beside me," we know by consulting the calendar that Spring is coming and the Kernel bows to the age-old custom, which says that it must write a "Spring editorial."

For the last few weeks we have known we would have it to do before long. We have seen the effects of Spring on editors of papers of southern schools. We have watched the progress of the "Spring editorial" malady as it sweeps north from the University of Mississippi, seen it engulf Vanderbilt and Tennessee and have looked forward to its arrival in Lexington with fear and apprehension. Miami to the north, evidently has an early Spring, and this week the editor effuses on "Romance," which he attempts to deny is "the attraction of sex for sex," but declares is the "love for the open road," etc. He fools no one.

We have seen editors who have written serious meritorious editorials all year become infected and head their columns with sentimental "mush" that would shame a "society writer." And the worst of it is that we realize that it is likely to get us before long. Old, gray-haired and settled in our ways as we are, we fear our young man's fancy is going to lightly turn when the first warm breezes blow. Distasteful as the prospect seems now, we know we are due to write a "Spring editorial" this season—we owe it to tradition. But we are determined that it won't be one of the kind our fellow editors are guilty of, so we are getting it out of our system now before that funny Spring-time feeling hits us and makes us really want to write things we will be ashamed of some day.

Just to show that we are still free from infection, we make this altogether unromantic suggestion to the management of the University. In doing Spring housecleaning around the campus, it would not be a bad idea to make some efforts to remove that black paint some one smeared on the cannon last summer during vacation, which art decorations have remained untouched since that time.

R. M. Allen.

The departure of R. M. Allen, of the Experiment Station, head of Food and Drug Control for Kentucky, causes a distinctive loss to the University. Mr. Allen has been granted a year's leave of absence and left Sunday for New York, where he will have charge of the pure food supervision of the Ward Bakery Company, the largest firm of its kind in the world. He is a graduate of the University of the class of 1900 and since graduation, as well as before, he has done much to advance the standing of the school both locally and throughout the Nation.

Mr. Allen is one of the leaders in the fight for pure food regulations. The passage of the model Pure Food Bill by the last Legislature was largely due to his efforts, he has done much for the civic betterment of Lexington, and was influential in the passage of the National Pure Food Law. He was secretary and a member of the Executive Committee of the Association of Federal and State Food Departments at the time of the passage of the law and at present holds the office of President of the American Pure Food League.

The present favorable, almost "boosting," attitude of the local newspapers toward the University has been due in large part to Mr. Allen, who has written voluminously for The Lexington Herald for several years.

We believe the Kernel expresses the wish of all the students and faculty when it sincerely expresses the hope that Mr. Allen will be called back to the Station at the end of the year's leave which has been granted him.

SPRING EDITION.

The Kentucky Colonel Says:

In the spring our college men turn their thoughts to love and the co-eds turn to thoughts of new clothes, suh. In ethah case fathah is the goat, suh.

Get This Deep One.

Jones: Is chemistry a hard course?
Bones: O yes; nobody gets through that department with ease.

Fellows, when you look way down in her deep blue eye and see yourself reflected, don't get the idea that it's a photograph. It's just a reflection.

Because you own a trunk it doesn't necessarily follow that you loom up like an elephant in the public eye.

Spring Cometh Tripping Lightly.

As our beloved editor has written his spring editorial for this issue, we hasten to bring forth ours. This one has the facts.

Spring is ye joyous season when new clothes, young mens' fancies, the early robin, sunshine, belated snow, baseball, grip and sarsaparilla engage in a free-for-all and end up by putting ye editor down for ye count. One goeth forth at early morn to pick daffodils beside ye purling brooks and returneth at dewy eve with mud on ye feet and a cough in ye chest. Then one placeth two feet on ye radiator and ye daffodil in ye bath-tub and writeth Spring Poetry, as follows:

O lovely springtime,
O ye purling brooks,
I love thy subtle perfume;
I hate my horrid books.

O spring, thou art a gentle thing,
As modest as a dandelion,
Abloom upon the emerald fields
And all the world defyin'.

O what is so fair as a dandelion
That brighteneth so many scenes?
We rejoice in its lovely fragrance
And eat of its succulent greens.

Can you beat it?

The Freshman Journalist is Loose.

Here is the latest one he wrote: "Amid a splendid scene of nature which staggers the imagination and makes the stupendousness of the world more easily appreciated, a battle was fought in the majestic mountains of Breathitt County last week. Neither was hurt, as in the early stages of the struggle the battle was broke and peace speedily ensued.

If you see a fellow going round the campus with a hard-boiled look on his face you may put down a jitney that he has had his picture taken for the annual and hasn't recovered yet.

The only trouble with these people who want peace is that they are so darn quarrelsome.

FIVE YEARS AGO

(From the Files of The Idea.)

March 23, 1911.

Third term begins.

Y. M. C. A. sends delegates to State convention at Danville.

Judge Charles Kerr becomes member of the faculty of the College of Law on appointment by the Governor.

Dear Editor:

The Inter-Collegiate debate between Centre College and State is over and Centre won. We are so constructed that we do not crow when we win nor do we howl when we are defeated. The debate was as good as any that has been held in the University chapel, I believe. There is nothing to be said about the speeches of the Centre team, since they won. Each member of the team from Centre handled himself with credit. But I believe that we should express our appreciation for the speeches delivered by our home team.

Grover C. Wilson, of Paint Lick, had the introductory of the negative side of the question, based upon a solid basis so far as logical construction was concerned. The composition and thought were excellent. F. A. Harrison, of Williamstown, followed in the path mapped out by Mr. Wilson in a most estimable manner. The diction and verbae of his speech were a credit to the institution. J. V. Chamberlain, of Unionsville, followed his colleagues with some of the finest reasoning that was displayed throughout the entire debate. Every word he said shook the Dardanelles of the affirmative side beyond doubt. In fact each speech is worthy of great praise.

The debaters are satisfied with the decision, the local societies are satisfied with the decision, all were satisfied with the splendid audience and the interest manifested in the debate, but there is one thing with which the literary societies of the University are not satisfied. That is the financial embarrassment we have to suffer. Every other college activity has been placed upon a financial basis by the University authorities. We do not object to the students giving $4,800.00 to the Athletic Committee or the Kernel to be placed upon a financial basis. We are glad of it.

But we do believe that literary achievements should be supported by the institution as are the other student activities. Such support is all we ask. The sum of two hundred dollars would put us on a good footing financially. We ask each member of the faculty to give us careful consideration as being in favor of some aid being given to us. These literary contests are as worthy of the support and attendance of the student as a football game or a basketball game.

Yours truly,

J. T. GOOCH.

Everyone is invited to come and pull candy.

There will be no charges for entrance or candy as the ladies have asked that they be permitted to give this to the students.

GRADUATES VISIT THE UNIVERSITY

N. T. McKee, class of 1903, Mechanical Engineer for the Locomotive Superheater Company of New York, stopped over in Lexington about a week ago to visit the University. He says that as an example of the tremendous industrial activity in the United States at this time, the contracts of the steel companies for the ensuing year call for 2,000,000 tons more steel than it is possible for the United States to produce working at the utmost capacity.

W. B. Croan, class of 1915, visited the University the first of last week on his way home for a week's vacation, before accepting a position with the American Blower Company at Detroit. Croan has been in the student course of the Ford Motor Car Company since graduation and has secured valuable experience in the Ford efficiency methods. He says that 27,000 men are now employed in the Ford works at Detroit, running three eight-hour shifts a day, and it is rumored that the capacity of the plant is to be increased so as to employ 100,000 men.

Croan is to take the student course in Sales Engineering with the American Blower Company that J. E. Bolling and H. E. Barth of his class are now taking.

Both Bolling and Barth are making good with this company and are rapidly progressing in their department.

Bolling's and Croan's residence address is 3048 Grand Boulevard, West, and that of Barth and S. B. Mellen—Packard Motor Company—is 212 Medbury Avenue.

WATT SOCIETY.

The regular meeting of the Watt Society, juniors, will be held in the Mechanics of Engineering room in Mechanical Hall this afternoon at 2:30. An interesting program will be given by the members.

WESTINGHOUSE.

Professor Cassidy, instructor in Heat Engineering, addressed the Westinghouse Society last Saturday morning at their regular meeting. He took as his subject, "Efficiency," and in an interesting and instructive manner made a comparison between an engineer and a steam engine, showing the students that efficiency must be a main factor in the life work of an engineer.

Professor Cassidy is an honorary member of the society, and has been of great help to the members in arranging programs and other activities.

CABINET MEETING.

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet met in regular session Tuesday evening at 7 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. President Torrence presided at the meeting and the final plans for the Robins' campaign were discussed. The cabinet agreed to meet in regular daily meetings at 8:15 a. m. to offer prayer for the success of the campaign.

The cabinet men are working hard to have the students recognize the Y. M. C. A. as a students' organization and they ask for the co-operation of every one in the University to help them obtain this recognition.

SENIORS!

In view of the fact that the Kentuckian is near its completion insofar as the work of the editor and his staff are concerned, and since it is the intention and policy of the management to allow no pictures of individuals, who have not paid their class dues nor made satisfactory arrangements with the management for paying them on or before April 10th, to remain between the covers of our 1916 Kentuckian, I wish to remind, for the last time, each and every member of the senior class to give immediate attention to this matter before the above named date.

The dues are practically all in and to the few who have neglected this I suggest that they see to this at once.

Owensboro Dance.

The Owensboro Club dance at the Armory Saturday afternoon was all that was expected of it, which means that it was a success in every sense of the word.

The officers of the club, Mr. R. E. Hundley, president, Miss Martine Ratican, vice president, and Mr. Floyd Potts, secretary and treasurer, received the guests.

Alumnae Club.

Mrs. J. H. Kastle was elected president of the Alumnae Club of the University of Kentucky at its meeting Saturday afternoon. Other officers elected were Mrs. Charles J. Smith, vice president, and Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, secretary-treasurer.

Lecture at Phoenix.

Professor E. F. Farquhar will continue his series of lectures for the College Club at the Phoenix Hotel this afternoon at 4 o'clock. His subject will be "The Pentecost of the Race."

Professor Farquhar delivered his lecture on "The Philosophy of Drama" before the Woman's Association of Georgetown College, Tuesday afternoon.

HORACE MANN.

The Horace Mann Society held its regular meeting Thursday evening, March 16.

Mr. W. J. Foster read an interesting paper on "Habits," and Professor Noe delighted the society with two of his new poems. A business meeting concluded the program.

BITTER-SWEET.

I love to buy a magazine
And find a verse, a plaintive thing,
Vague, languishing, and full of woe,
"Oh hearts that break, oh thoughts that wing!"—

I simply dote on every line
They never are too sad for me
And though they break my very heart
I read them all with glee.

Y. W. C. A.

The Young Woman's Christian Association installed its new cabinet at the regular evening service, March 19. The following are the officers for the new year: President, Miss Linda Purnell; vice president, Miss Jane Dickey; treasurer, Miss Mary Hamilton; secretary, Miss Frances Dawes.

Miss Purnell has shown great interest in the work and the association will have one of its most prosperous years under her direction and management.

Miss Dickey has served on the cabinet for the past two years as chairman of the Social Service Committee, and has merited her election to the vice presidency.

Although Miss Hamilton has never served on the cabinet, her work in other fields has been ample proof of her ability.

Miss Dawes has been on the cabinet for the past year and her readiness to always do her part assures the fact that her new work will be done with this same spirit.

Miss Purnell has chosen for her cabinet the following young women: chairman of Bible Study, Miss Myrtle Smith; chairman of Program Committee, Miss Mildred Graham; poster, Miss Celia Cregor; hospital, Miss Vivian DeLaine; association news chairman, Miss Marie Becker; membership, Miss Lelia Gault; choir, Miss Helen Burkholder; music, Miss Frances Geisel; room, Miss Ruby Asher; social, Miss Emma Halton; social service, Miss Kathleen Garrow.

Miss Purnell is to be congratulated on her excellent cabinet. Some of the members have served before, while others are new in the work. With Miss Purnell and her splendid cabinet, a year greater and bigger than ever before is expected for the Y. W. C. A.

DR. CROISSANT SPEAKS IN CHAPEL FRIDAY.

Dr. D. W. Croissant, Professor of English in the University of Kansas, will address the student body on the subject of "Simplified Spelling" at chapel hour Friday, March 24.

Doctor Croissant will come under the auspices of the English Club, at the invitation of Professor Dantzer. His subject is one of interest to all students, and his audience should be a large one.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT TO CELEBRATE SHAKESPEARE TER-CENTENARY.

The Department of English is making plans to celebrate the Shakespeare Ter-Centenary in an appropriate and attractive manner. Students of the University will present a masque on the campus May 11, which will be the most ambitious attempt in that direction ever made by Kentucky students.

The Deereux players will present several Shakespeare plays during commencement week. This company ranks with the Coburn Players and The Ben Greet troupe in the excellence of its work, and Lexington lovers of the drama as well as the University students, will have a rare opportunity.

At T. C. I. I. I.

Miss Cornelison: I never did know how little I knew about the Bible till I studied Biblical literature. Now, I always thought Dan and Beer-sheba were man and wife.

Miss Grimes: Well, Mae, who were they?

PHILOSOPHIAN.

The Philosopher Literary Society has completed its arrangements for the staging of "Twelfth Night" by a cast of young women members of that organization some time during the month of April.

The production of a Shakespearean play is a decided departure from the usual custom of the society in giving a modern drama each year, but it has a peculiar interest during the Shakespeare celebration, and is a most commendable feature of the literary work of the Philosopher.

Miss Christine Hopkins will coach the players, and the tentative cast, as announced by Miss Ina Darnall, chairman of the play committee, is as follows:

Duke Orsino—Anna E. Lewis, Celia Cregor.

Valentine—Mary Hamilton, Vivian De Laine.

Sir Toby Belch—Celia Cregor, Eyril

Richmond.

Sir Andrew Aguecheek—Maude Harmon.

Sebastian—Maude Harmon, Dew Flanery.

Antonio—Elizabeth Farra, Vivian De Laine.

Malvolto—Alma Bolser, Austin Lilly.

Clown—Edith Sachs, Austin Lilly.

Fabian—Mary Howard, Nell Crawford.
