Candidates running for the Constitutionalists Party are: Arts and Sciences—Tom Brabant, lowerclassman; Glenn Sanderfur, upperclassman; Barbara Ashbrook, lowerclasswoman, and Ann O'Rourke, upperclasswoman. Agriculture—Doyle Oliver, lowerclassman, and Bill Phelps, upperclassman. Education—David Noyes, lowerclassman—Cliff Hagan, manager-at-large, upperclassman. Engineering—Alan Stellberg, upperclassman. Graduate School—Hunt Perkins, representative-at-large. United Students Party candidates running for election are: Arts and Sciences—Bill Billiter, lowerclassman, and Curtis Songter, upperclassman; Shirley Fauger, upperclasswoman; and Yvonne Eaton, lowerclasswoman. Commerce—Bruce Utter, lowerclassman. Education—name unavailable.

Three Run For Re-election In the Dec. 16 election, three Constitutionalists who were elected at this time last year will be running for re-election. They are Glenn Sanderfur, Ann O'Rourke, and Cliff Hagan. None of the United Students Party candidates in this election have been in SGA before.

In the 1952 elections, six of the 19 candidates elected to SGA were Constitutionalists, although the United Students Party retained a majority of 11 to 15 within the Assembly. Present incumbents of the two parties are Charles Palmer, Constitutionalist, and George Shaolan, United Students Party.

United Students' Platform Long Debate On Officers

The purpose and function of the United Students Party is to be a full and true representation to all students of the University in their Student Government Association. The party policy has been, it, and will continue to be one of equal representation of both Independents and Greeks by selecting candidates from both of these groups.

- George Shaolan, president of the party, after a specially appointed committee had studied Miss O'Rourke's proposal, it was decided that only class officers, without the bicameral body, would be elected in the proposed amendment. In its final form, the one presented Monday night, the bill for amendment was tabled for 10 minutes to allow SGA president Carter Glass to drop from the assembly roll call members who had not been attending meetings. Glass explained that, in order to pass, the bill would have to be approved by two-thirds of the assembly. Only 17 members were present. By cutting the official roll call from 16 to 25 members, the necessary two-thirds of the assembly needed to pass the bill was obtained. Roll Call Vote Obtained A roll call vote showed five members opposed to the bill for amendment, 10 for the amendment, and one abstention. Glass did not vote. Because of the lack of the two-thirds ratification, the bill was defeated. Some of the main arguments given against electing class officers were: The fact that class officers are becoming less and less frequent at large universities, fear that class officers might fall into the control of fraternities and sororities, thereby lessening true and equal representation; and the difficulty in finding enough candidates (from 16 on up) for class officers.

SGA Closes Long Debate On Officers

By RONNIE BUTLER

Bringing an end to a month-old subject of debate and argument, the Student Government Association voted Monday night to reject a proposed amendment to its constitution which would have made the election of class officers possible. The proposed amendment, which would have been the ninth amendment to SGA's constitution if it had been passed, was first made by Ann Marie O'Rourke, Constitutionalist, on Nov. 1. Originally, Miss O'Rourke had suggested that SGA be converted to a bicameral body, to meet separately and then convene. However, after a specially appointed committee had studied Miss O'Rourke's proposal, it was decided that only class officers, without the bicameral body, would be elected in the proposed amendment. In its final form, the one presented Monday night, the bill for amendment was tabled for 10 minutes to allow SGA president Carter Glass to drop from the assembly roll call members who had not been attending meetings. Glass explained that, in order to pass, the bill would have to be approved by two-thirds of the assembly. Only 17 members were present. By cutting the official roll call from 16 to 25 members, the necessary two-thirds of the assembly needed to pass the bill was obtained. Roll Call Vote Obtained A roll call vote showed five members opposed to the bill for amendment, 10 for the amendment, and one abstention. Glass did not vote. Because of the lack of the two-thirds ratification, the bill was defeated. Some of the main arguments given against electing class officers were: The fact that class officers are becoming less and less frequent at large universities, fear that class officers might fall into the control of fraternities and sororities, thereby lessening true and equal representation; and the difficulty in finding enough candidates (from 16 on up) for class officers.

Slight Delay Expected In Work On Frat Row

By KEN LITCHFIELD

Construction on one of the new fraternity houses could be completed in two weeks, but...

A local shortage of specialized construction workers will delay the actual completion of the six fraternity units for a short time, according to Elvan B. Farris, chief engineer at UK.

However, he said the buildings are expected to be ready for occupancy by the beginning of second semester. Worker shortages exist in plumbing and pipe covering sections. But this is only a temporary shortage. Farris points out, and construction will continue on the other houses.

Have Identical Floor Plans The two-story housing units, located on an extension of Woodland Avenue, have identical floor plans with only slight variations existing in the exterior rock structure. Each $120,000 building contains 12 bedrooms, 14 by 11 feet, providing housing for 48 students. With two bunk beds to a room, plans call for a chest of drawers and overhead mirror placed between individual cots.

The first-floor plan, characterized by readily accessible facilities, includes a lobby, dining room, and kitchen along the front side. The spaces 23-by-27-foot dining room can be converted easily to a dance floor by moving the folding furniture to an adjacent storage room.

Along the back side of the fraternity house, a living room, fellowship room, and chapter room comprise the main first-floor plan.

Housemother's Quarters Provided Quarters for the housemother are provided at the right end of the structure, adjacent the lobby. Nearby is a mechanical room and storage bin.

Interior construction features include walls—painted concrete blocks—ceilings—acoustical tile; floors—asphalt tile. Individual color schemes have been worked out by the contractor with the fraternity occupants.

Present plans call for the following fraternities and organizations to occupy the new buildings: (beginning on the first row, adjacent to Cooperstown and located on Wood-

State Legislature To Hear Proposal On Medical School

Building a medical school at UK will be one of the suggestions made to the General Assembly next year by the Advisory Committee on Medical Education.

In addition to suggesting further appropriations to the medical school at the University of Louisville and financing Kentucky students at out-of-state schools, the committee will advise the state of UK at a cost of between $11 and 16 million dollars.

The State Legislative Research Commission estimated that it would take 10 years or more to establish a medical school at UK at this time, and the committee, while urging that plans for its construction should be set on the state's financial permit, advised that the state increase its grant to the U. of L. by $5,000 and send 25 students a year to medical schools outside Kentucky for $37,500 annually. In addition it suggested increasing the Rural Education Scholarship Fund for medical students.

The suggestions were made to help correct the shortage of doctors and medical facilities in Kentucky which is shown by the fact that there are less doctors per capita in the state than 40 years ago.

Although she is not interested in him she plays upon his interests and gets him to promise her anything up to half the kingdom. Then she dances for him and asks for the head of Jokoham.

Senior Considered For Rhodes Grant

Floyd Cannack, a senior in Arts and Sciences at Lexington, was selected Wednesday as one of two representatives from Kentucky to compete for four scholarships to Oxford next fall.

A modern foreign language major, Cannack is president of Phi Sigma Iota, romance languages honorary.

He will represent the state along with Hector J. Morris, a cadet from West Point whose home is in Louisville.

ODK Tag Winners To Be Announced

The winners in the ODK tag sales contest will be announced at half past five on Monday night, Jim Perry, secretary of ODK, announced.

The University team, coached by Dr. J. D. Kemp of the meats department of the College of Agriculture, made a 2,649 out of a possible 3,120 points.

They judged and placed nine different classes of beef, pork and lamb, including carcasses and whole sale.

Town Meeting Set In Coliseum Tuesday

"America's Town Meeting of the Air," a nationally broadcasted discussion radio program, will be presented in Memorial Coliseum at 8 p.m. Tuesday as the next Community Concert Series attraction of the year.

Doors of the Coliseum will open at 6:45 p.m. for the program. A rehearsal will be held at 7:15 p.m., and the actual broadcast will begin promptly at 8 p.m. when the Coliseum doors will be closed.

Topic of discussion in the program will be "What Are the Prospects for the President's Legislative Program?" Moderator will be Orville Hitchcock, executive director of Iowa State University and administrative assistant to the president of Town Hall, Inc., the corporation that runs the Town Meeting.

Congressman Steve Two congressmen, Representative Sidney R. Yates (D-Ill.) and Congressman Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich.), will serve with Hitchcock on the board.

Three prominent Lexington journalists will be chosen to serve as assistant moderators with Dean Elvis Shahr, Dean A. D. Kirwan and Prof. Jasper Shannon on the program.

Prof. Hitchcock, who is 44, obtained his Ph.D. degree from State University of Iowa in 1936. He is a member of the Speech Association of America and editor of the speech publication, "Speech Monographs."

Leaves Law Practice Congressman Ford left a Michigan law practice when he was elected to Congress in 1948. Re-elected in 1950, he became a member of the House Committee on Appropriations, and in the 82nd Congress, was a member of the Army Civil Functions sub-Committee and the Emergency Agency Sub-Committee of the Committee on Appropriations.

Rep. Yates, a graduate of the University of Chicago, has served as attorney for the Illinois State Bank Reorganization and the Illinois Commerce Commission's attorney. He is a member of the House Appropriations Committee and the Select Committee on Small Business.

The Town Meeting of the Air will be broadcast, coast to coast, by the American Broadcasting Company. Students will be admitted to the program on their identification cards.

ROTC Graduates Receive Orders

Five UK Army ROTC graduates, commissioned as second lieutenants, have received orders to report for active military duty.

Col. Henry H. Rogers, professor of military science and tactics, announced this week that William B. Wash, Edward A. Kane, Jr., Lee W. Hardisty, Paul W. Martin, and Philip C. Kinsbury have received orders to report to Fort Benning, Georgia, in January, 1954.

The initial assignment of the officers will be to the Infantry Officers Basic Course.

UK Judging Team Wins Sixth Place

The University judging team placed sixth in the intercollegiate meat judging contest in the International Livestock Exposition held in Chicago last week.

The University team, coached by Dr. J. D. Kemp of the meats department of the College of Agriculture, made a 2,649 out of a possible 3,120 points.

They judged and placed nine different classes of beef, pork and lamb, including carcasses and whole sale.

Eastbound Coach May Be Operated

The C & O Railway Company plans to operate a through coach from Lexington to Washington, D. C. and New York next weekend if there is enough demand from students traveling east for the holidays.

R. S. Stewart, division passenger agent, announced this week.

A low group fare is available for students traveling together, Stewart said, and it will be explained to anyone calling the ticket office at 11:22 a.m. Tuesday. It is 1:00 p.m. in Baltimore at 9:45 a.m., Wilmington at 10:45 a.m., Philadelphia at 11:22 a.m., Trenton at 12:00 p.m., Newark at 1 p.m., and New York at 1:15 p.m.

Failure To Solve Parking Problem Leaves Drivers In Same Old Rut

After months of battling the parking problem back and forth, the faculty-student committee appointed to investigate the situation has come up with no solution. Instead, it suggests that UK retain its present permit system.

In its report to Dean M. M. White, who appointed the committee, the group declared, "it feels that it can offer no other solution that will not meet with equally weighty objections."

This is deplorable indeed, when one of the most troublesome situations existing on campus fails to bring about any real action. A detailed study appears to have been made by the committee. Nevertheless, from the students' standpoint, in particular, the investigation proved to be wasted effort, judging by the results. The students are not interested in detailed reports or statistics. They want positive action on the matter.

As the University continues to grow, more cars will be brought to the campus and more parking places will be needed. The present system will ultimately have to be revised to accommodate these additional cars. Why not do something about it now?

Several suggestions were discussed by the committee but all of them were declared objectionable. The ideas include:

1. Creation of enough parking space to accommodate all corners. This is a nice idea, but impossible. In acquiring additional space a large part of the campus and perhaps even some of the buildings would have to be converted into parking areas.

2. Retention of the present priority system and closing the campus to all non-permit cars. This would be even more unfair than the existing system, since too many students with cars would have to be turned away. In addition, a larger number of campus police would be required to patrol the parking areas.

3. Restriction of parking to hardship cases only, including both faculty and students. Such a suggestion is objectionable, since defining just which are hardship cases is a problem in itself. There aren't enough actual "hardship" cases to warrant the restriction of all others from campus parking.

4. Opening the campus to all corners, except for areas designated for disability or hardship cases. This seems the most plausible suggestion. Careful investigation could separate the actual hardship cases from drivers who would try to take unfair advantage of such a system. In addition, faculty members would not be completely slighted. Since most of them arrive on campus early, they are practically assured of finding parking space. Those who don't may park in off-campus areas, just as the students. Areas, such as the space behind the Agricultural Experiment Station, should be utilized by car owners who are unable to park on campus.

If a positive step were taken toward solving the present parking problem, the students would at least have reason to believe the University is really attempting to remedy the situation. The adage "actions speak louder than words," might well be applied in this case.

In the past weeks, your student newspaper has been allotting space to information based on the findings of the parking committee, under the assumption that the group would be able to offer workable suggestions. However, after looking over the results, it appears that the space could have been used to better advantage.

Columnist, Movie Editor Disagree On Prospective Oscar Selections

By LESLIE MORRIS

We got our feelings hurt this week. It seems that The Film Daily is now polling by mail certain privileged movie editors and drama critics in an effort to determine where the "American public" thinks this year's Oscars should go—and we haven't heard a word from them! Well, we just don't understand this at all, and our postman admitted under oath and after severe basting that he had not lost said correspondence, so we can only assume that we have been snubbed.

In our anguish and as the hot tears streaked across our chubby face, we began casting about blindly for something or someone upon which to vent our righteous wrath, and at last, we stumbled upon the logical victim: The movie-ed of a nearby sheet who did participate in the "poll," and (heh-heh) he led with his chin. Lets take a look at his choices and append our own selections; we'll show 'em:

Best Male Star: The honored journalist picked Frank Sinatra in "From Here to Eternity." Now we agree that Frankie-boy had an admirable job, bless his bones—but he didn't have much to read. We certainly think the lad is deserving of a medal as the best supporting actor, but let's not gift him with the party silver. As one reviewer commented, Frank only played himself. We pick William Holden in "Stalag 17."

Best Female Star: Deborah Kerr in "Eternity." Good heavens! We doubt if Hollywood is now awarding Oscars for penulm-hips and false eyelashes. As we said in an earlier column, Debbie should stay in a hoop-skirt. Our choice: Audrey Hepburn in "Roman Holiday," nosing out Jean Simmons in "Young Bess," and Maggie McNamara in "The Moon Is Blue."

Best Supporting Actor: He picks Guy Rolfe in "Ivanhoe." Who? We think we remember the guy, but Sinatra crowds him out.

Best Supporting Actress: Our guest scribe tabs Gloria Grahame in "The Bad and the Beautiful." This is like betting on Dark Star to win the Kentucky Derby, since the breathless Miss Grahame won the blue ribbon for this bit last year. Oh, well. We like Ethel Barrymore for her performance in "The Story of Three Loves."

Best Juvenile Actor: Brandon De Wilde in "Shane." We concede this one, and leave us not forget his equally sterling portrayal in "Member of the Wedding." (His old man was a former Guignol player—so what?)

Best Juvenile Actress: Our belabored victim cast his ballot for Leslie Caron in "Lili." If this babe is a juvenile, I'd like to earn a piece of change baby sitting with the child. If you'll remember this French morsel in "American in Paris," I think we'd agree that the doll is past prom days and sweet sixteen. She's grown up, dad! How old are you anyway, Mr. Movie-ed? We can't recall any outstanding performances during the year by the noppets in this division, so we pass.

Find of the Year: We all agree on Miss Hepburn. This was a hard one, wasn't it?

Western Star of the Year: George "Gabby" Hayes? We haven't seen this old prospector for years. Anyway Randolph Scott has been the top star in the oats opera since he was a young 'un (not that we particularly like the hombre).

There were several other categories mentioned by The Film Daily, but this about wraps up the best individual performers for '53. Oscars aren't bestowed in all these categories, and we doubt if we'd agree with Hollywood anyway—we know we don't see eyeball-to-eyeball with the aforementioned movie-man, that's for sure.

We have finally excited some fan mail! "A loyal reader of the Kernel" has written in complimenting us on our personal opinion of "The Robe." Our anonymous reader thinks our work is "uncouth, uncalled for, underhanded, and extremely corny." We like you, too.

This romantic correspondent felt the movie "was one of the best sermons ever preached for the spreading . . . of Christianity." Now we had not intended to get into a religious controversy, and purposely limited our remarks to the dramatic and acting faults of the spectacle, and as we said (and as our friend agreed) CinemaScope, as a technical process, was terrific. Since our new-found fan is disturbed about our spiritual health, let us assure her (him?) that it was because we have such respect for "one of the highest points in Christian history" that we resisted the melodramatic assault upon our senses.

As one Christian to another, thanks for the title: "hierich (sic) of the journalistic world" (whatever that 'is). If you will send us your name and address we'll send you a year's subscription to "Thrilling Romances."

Which reminds us—if by some strange happenstance you might disagree with any of our spewings, please write us care of the Kernel (if you like us, keep your mouth shut). We almost guarantee you a hearing.

dates themselves, who are dubious about the amount of time they will have to devote to the student organization, should not hesitate to drop out of the race.

Our SGA can be strengthened only by electing the best representatives to membership. If we are to have a functioning student assembly, the new members as well as those re-elected, must be willing to assume their rightful responsibilities.

Party platforms are not as important as the individuals. Both the Constitutionals and United Students parties have advocated many of the same plans at one time or another. In the past, newly elected SGA members have sometimes forgotten their party platform. If the parties hope to gain the respect and confidence of the student body they should carry out their campaign promises.

Some of the articles set forth in this year's platforms appear to have real merit. Others are unreasonable proposals, evidently designed to capture the attention of the student voter. However, several of the plans deserve special mention:

One of the most worthwhile ideas is that of obtaining better lighting on campus. At present, the lack of such facilities about the campus is nothing short of dangerous. Both parties mention the subject of electing class officers. We agree that at least a further study should be made of the proposal and the findings openly discussed. Another subject which should be re-examined is the proposal to join the National Student Association, mentioned in one of the party platforms. We do not believe that the suggestion was given proper consideration.

One proposal mentioned in which the Kernel is particularly interested, from a news standpoint, is that of publicizing the decisions and operations of the Judiciary Committee. We have advocated this suggestion for some time.

If action is initiated, on matters such as these, by the new representatives, regardless of party affiliations, a positive step will be taken toward a more active and worthwhile SGA.

Students Must Vote Intelligently On Their SGA Representatives

Student Government Association elections will be coming up next Wednesday, and it is up to University students to see that the most capable and conscientious candidates are chosen as your representatives.

There is a certain amount of prestige attached to the job of SGA representative, but the distinction is not all that goes with the office. The responsibility involved is of primary importance.

Too often in the past, representatives have failed to take their jobs seriously. Not only have they neglected to participate in Assembly discussions, but some have not even bothered to attend meetings. Admittedly, there are always the "faithful few," but there are times when that number fails to comprise a quorum, necessary in accepting a proposal.

University students, in voting for their candidates Wednesday, must know the prospective representatives' past records and qualifications. The candi-

Too Few Students Attend First Game

With Kentucky rated as one of the top basketball powers in the nation it seems reasonable to assume that UK students would attend home games and support their team.

But such is not the case. Last Saturday's game with Temple University at the Memorial Coliseum drew less than 79 per cent of the Kentucky student body to see the first game after a chastening year "suspension" from NCAA competition.

University ticket officials said that two sections of the seats reserved for students were not taken at eight o'clock Saturday, and 780 standing room ticket-holders were allowed to occupy them when the game started. These supporters were apparently willing to stand during the game, while 1,081 students with reserved seats failed to attend and claim their seats.

Let's hope the next home game Monday with Wake Forest will show more UK spirit and a greater turn-out for the team.

You're Another One

By JIM BAREICKMAN

Hagan and Company, last Friday, rolled up an impressive victory against Temple. Hagan scored 51 points against the hapless Owls. You've got this deal all wrong, Cliff. Those point averages are for the whole team.

Disturbing rumors have come our way concerning non-payment of parking tickets issued to faculty members. Come, come now, boys and girls, let's not be stand-offish. All equal, and all that sort of rot, you know.

Senator Joseph McCarthy has urged Americans to send cards and letters to President Eisenhower, urging McCarthy's probes into Red activities be continued. We suggest someone send a gift to McCarthy—also a muzzak.

Never let it be said that UK professors are not co-ordinated. How else could they arrange their exams so that each student has half a dozen on the same day?

Our Readers Speak: Concerning Discrimination

Dear Editor:

It was with exceedingly grand pleasure that I sat through last Saturday's athletic event at Memorial Coliseum, and the pleasure which I experienced upon this occasion seems to have come from not one, but two main sources. One of those sources was, of course, the admirable performance of a Mr. Hagan and company. But, enough has already been said in their praise.

The other source—a more immediate one—was provided by some of the grand wits which one may find on the UK campus. Their originality has, in my opinion, yet to be equalled by anyone. And, in case some of those present missed the brilliance of it all, please allow me to enlighten them.

This display of wit and originality to which I refer is that art of greeting colored members of the opposition's basketball squad with such illustrious appellations as "Jungle Bunny," "Chocolate Drop," "Coon," and, of course, "Sam." For those responsible (unfortunately I am unable to give personal recognition) for this delightful and well-timed entertainment, I should like to give three cheers for a job well done. Perhaps some one of you ingenious persons could inaugurate an organization for the purpose of banning the participation in inter-collegiate sports of all those who are not white and those whose last names begin with the letters B and G. Perhaps this program could be carried through to the extent that we could ban them all from colleges. Or maybe, if all of us really get behind and push, we can realize the long standing dream of us confederates: e.g., "send them back to Africa."

Nevertheless, I'm sure that we have been successful in showing at least those people from Temple U., who, by the way, do not even have one All-American, that we Kentuckians stand up for what is right. And, thank heavens, my kids will never have to go to school with a "Jungle Bunny."

Yours truly,
Don M. Topping

To the editor:

After witnessing the Kentucky-Temple basketball game last week, I am ashamed to admit that I'm a student at the University of Kentucky.

The display of poor sportsmanship on the part of Kentucky was revolting. This was not the first or only time. It is quite apparent that the local "grandstand officials" cannot take any penalty whatsoever, but the display of vicious racial prejudice is a far cry from the democracy and Americanism that this and all universities should represent.

'Unlimited Yaks' Pick Candidates Of High Caliber

By RONNIE BUTLER

"Awright, as you guys know, we gotta have candidates ready for The Endless Debating Society elections tomorrow. We gotta have people to run as representatives of The Unlimited Yak Party. Any suggestions?"

"How about Hal E. Toesses?"
"Yeah, good idea. Hal's a good frat man, spends enough time in The Grill to know everyone, and can talk for hours without firing."

"I nominate Dan D. Huff."
"Accepted! Old Dan can confuse the best parliamentarian in the country—make motions to adjourn, table motions, move previous question—sometimes he does it during roll call. This really fouls 'em up."

"Say, I think Kathy Claws would be fine for us."
"Wonderful! Kathy can make the stupidest motions in the world. Remember when she moved to reduce the amount of air students breathe so as not to endanger heavy clouds flying over school buses?"

"We need one more candidate."
"How about another girl, Syrupy Gert?"
"Marvelous! We've got it made—if she's elected, Syrupy Gert acts so syrupy that none of the boys would dream of defeating any motion she makes."

"Will the Platform Committee of The Unlimited Yak party please present the preamble and the platform?"

"WE, THE UNLIMITED YAK PARTY EXIST TO FUNCTION TO FIND A PURPOSE. WHENEVER STUDENT RIGHTS ARE INFRINGED UPON, WE GUARANTEE TO SET UP AN INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE POSSIBILITY OF CEASING TO EXIST TO FUNCTION TO FIND A PURPOSE."

"Let's us posters."
"Good idea! What can they say?"

"Well, first, you get the picture of your candidate."

"Yes? Then what?"

"Then you list his activities."
"Give us an example."

'Seal' Contest Appears Close In Final Week

The contest for "Miss Christmas Seal" is now entering the final week, with Sally Maggard, Kappa Delta, in the lead by twelve votes, followed by Lucy Ware, Kappa Kappa Gamma. Joanne Watson, Alpha Xi Delta, is in third place, and Allene Bach, Alpha Gamma Delta is in fourth place.
The other candidates, in respective positions are Peggy Keller, Jewell Hall; Anne Latta, Chi Omega; Peggy Ellis, Alpha Delta Pi; Dottie Pfeiffer, Delta Delta Delta; Donna Sturdevant, Boud Hall; Gin Nicholson, Patterson Hall; Mary Burns, Delta Zeta; Hart Hagin, Kappa Alpha Theta; Carol Conrad, Zeta Tau Alpha; and Meredith Drasin, Phi Sigma Sigma.
Only 48 votes separate the first and last place contestants.
Five days remain before the contest will close. Midnight, Wednesday, December 16, is the closing date for the contest.

W. W. McLendon, executive secretary of the Lexington-Payette County Tuberculosis Association, sponsors of the contest, said today, "We want to make it clear that any 'Miss Christmas Seal' contestant can easily win the contest because so few votes separate the first place and last place contestants. The continued interest of the students at the university gives them the opportunity to select their choice in the contest and at the same time make a contribution in the fight against tuberculosis."
"Because of the tremendous tuberculosis problem which we have in Kentucky—third highest death rate in the nation—everyone should be especially generous in purchasing Christmas seals," Mr. McLendon pointed out.
All contributions should be mailed to the Lexington-Payette County Tuberculosis Association, 180 Market Street, or given to one of the "Miss Christmas Seal" contestants.

UK Gets Request To Enter Group In Bridge Contest

UK is one of the more than 600 colleges and universities in the United States invited to compete in the 1954 National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament. An invitation and entry blank were set last week to deans and directors of college unions by the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament Committee.

The 1953 campus Contract Bridge champions at UK were June Lewis, Pat Wallington, Fred Bradley, and Lynn Hudson.

All play will be by mail and will be conducted on the individual college campuses in a single session, on a date fixed by the tournament director between February 17 and 24. These hands will then be returned to Committee headquarters, where they will be scored by Geoffrey Mott-Smith, author and contract bridge authority, who will determine ranking between February 17 and 24.

Prizes will include trophy cups for the colleges winning the national title, one cup for the college of the pair scoring highest, on the East-West hands and one cup for the college of the North-South hand winners. Each of the four individual national winners will receive a smaller cup for his permanent possession.

Rounds Of Parties, Serenades Highlight Campus Yule Season

Don't look under the tree and stay out of the closet until after Christmas! Many curious-eyed packages are hidden in rooms as a part of the season's good will and fun. Kentucky has already received one of its biggest and best presents from Cliff Hagan in the form of 31 record-breaking points—first game in two years and one record down already!

The Alpha Gamma aren't using a crystal ball to see what Santa has in store for them. They know it will be their annual "Silver Ball" dance in the Student Union tonight at 9 p.m.

The Delta Zeta formal dance will highlight their season's festivities tonight at Bowling Springs Country Club. The dance will begin at 9 p.m. With minicore dancing from every doorway, the Kappa Sigma will hold their Christmas party at their house at 8 p.m. tonight.

Delta Phi Dance Tonight

The Delta will be looking for Santa Claus tonight at 8 p.m. to honor their house dance and the AGR's plan to dream of a white Christmas at the dance at their house. The Sigma Six will ring the jungle bells, too, at their house starting at 8 o'clock tonight.

By the light of the traditional blue Christmas tree the Chi Omega will hold their annual Christmas house dance tonight. The Phi Delta aren't going to miss out on any of the holiday cheer, either. Their Christmas party will also be tonight at 8 o'clock in their house. The Farm House will be holding a gala celebration out their way at the same time.

There is no doubt about it, everyone will certainly have opportunity to get well into the festive mood before the holidays arrive and be ready for the climax of the week-end, the Interfraternity Council Dance tomorrow night in the Ballroom of the Student Union. The doors will open with a bang at 8 p.m. for an evening of laughter, dancing, and fun.

The ZTA's will have their party for orphans at 5 p.m. tomorrow afternoon at their house. Sunday the Alpha Xi's and Alpha Gamma will entertain some orphans with a Christmas party at their houses. The Theta's will hold a Christmas party at their house Sunday from 8 to 7:30 p.m.

Serenades Scheduled
The holiday spirit will be in the air with music on Tuesday and Wednesday next week. The ATO's will lead the way Tuesday night and the AGR's, ADP's, ATO's, and ZTA's will be serenading Wednesday night.

The ADP's will hold their Christmas party for children at their house Wednesday night from 6 to 7:30 p.m. The Chi Omega's will have their annual Christmas party for orphans at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and the ZTA's will be hostesses for a Christmas party at their house at 6 p.m. The DE party for underprivileged children will be at 6 o'clock Thursday evening. The KA's have scheduled their party for underprivileged children a week from tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Four girls pledged sorority recently. Joyce Meyer pledged ZTA and Barbara Benjamin, Betty Smith and Carolyn Noel pledged Kappa Alpha Theta.

The Kappa Sigs initiated four men last Sunday. The new initiates are Charles Ponce, Kenneth Lucas, Leonard Nave and Delamare Cannon.

The No Parking sign seems to have taken a fancy to our statue because it is once again perched on the knee of President Patterson. All signs favor the Yule spirit except the spring-like weather. Be sure and check what hangs over your head. It may be dangerous. Start your Christmas shopping early next year.

UK Engineers Hear Lecture On Parachute

"From a circus stunt to a major scientific problem in 30 years." That was the evolution of the modern parachute as traced by L. L. Irvin, Lexington, president of the Irving Air Chute Company, in a speech before the UK College of Engineering general assembly.

"Parachutes," Irvin said, "were thought of even before the advent of the balloon, but only as a circus stunt." Irvin described his first jump in a modern type parachute in 1919. Shortly after the jump, in which he suffered a broken ankle, Irvin's company was formed, he said.

Parachutes, Irvin told the engineering students, are now being made as large as 200 feet in diameter. They are used for stopping large airplanes for landing, returning guided missiles to scientists and for bomb stabilization, he said.

"The whole world is going airborne now," he said, "we see no limit to the parachute field, but our one great problem is obtaining engineers."

Irvin gave a demonstration on the Memorial Hall stage on how a parachute is opened. During the demonstration, he explained the main features of the Irving chute.

Store representatives will choose one girl from each of 12 colleges with the largest enrollments from the Louisville area to act as models in their College Fashion Show and to sell in their College Shop during August. The girls will be paid for their work.

Any girl interested in serving on this board may submit her name to the office of the dean of women before noon Wednesday, Mrs. Holmes will then submit her recommendations to Miss Nagel.

J. Paul Shredy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

Here's a sad cotton tale: poor Paul was in a stew about his hair until his paw wrote: "I can't get a hair on because your stuff left you. Now, lemme look at the doc's facts. To get in on the biggest bargain, smart rabbits foot it down to any outfit goods agent for Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's biggest-selling hair tonic. So fix things tomorrow, invest 25¢ in a bottle of hair oil. Causes itching, itching. Non-alcoholic. Grooms the hair. Believes annoying dandruff. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test." Shredy used Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he's a jump ahead of every Tom, Dick and Harry. So what're you waiting for? Get Wildroot Cream-Oil today, and ask for Wildroot at your barber's. You're bound to like it!

How silent is the night?

Watching the serenity of Christmas skies we are conscious of deep silence. Yet the stars are talking to us all the while—talking in radio waves that are full of meaning to scientists probing the depths of space.

The important discovery that some stars produce radio waves was made by a Bell Laboratories scientist while exploring atmospheric disturbances which might interfere with transoceanic telephone service. His discovery marked the birth of the fast-growing science of radio astronomy. It is telling us of mysterious lightless stars that broadcast radio waves, and it promises exciting revelations about vast regions of space concealed by clouds of cosmic dust.

And so from the probings and skills of Bell System scientists and engineers has come another tool to help man understand better the universe in which he lives. These men are a proud team—members of a still larger team engaged in research, engineering and administration and working on telephone problems in all parts of the country. We would like you to consider joining them.

There are employment opportunities with the companies that provide telephone service, with Western Electric, and with the Bell Laboratories. We need young men for the leaders in tomorrow's Bell Telephone System. Check today with your Placement Officer for details.

Well-Known Reindeer Tells All

NORTH POLE, ARCTIC. Looking very dapper for an 18-point buck with chalking muzzle and matching white tail assembly, Dasher, famous front-running reindeer for the S. Claus Parcel Service, stated today:

1. Conditions on the northern tundra are pretty much the same as ever. Now, TV hadn't affected the grazing habits of the middle-class herds.
2. That despite reports to the contrary, you don't ever thoroughly adjust to sub-zero weather, regardless of the warm esteem people hold you in.
3. Rumors of a reindeer strike for Christmas Eve are unfounded. Somebody's got a termite in his antler.

When asked about the most popular Christmas gift down through the years he replied without hesitation: "Menswear by Manhattan. I've helped haul Mr. Claus's sled, roe and buck, high unto forever . . . so I ought to know . . . nothing makes a man happier than shirts, sportshirts, ties, pajamas, beachwear or underwear labeled Manhattan. Don't know whether it's the live style that makes a man look and feel so good, whether it's the traditional tailoring detail, or the array of fabrics, patterns and colors that are all so unmistakably quality. I'll admit one thing. I've kind of wished sometimes that Manhattan would make deerwear."

Top Teams Mark 1954 Grid Season

By KEN KUHN. Athletic Director Bernie A. Shively has announced a 10-game card for next season that will pit the Wildcats against the nation's number one grid powerhouses, Maryland, in the season curtain raiser at Lexington, Sept. 26.

Potentially the toughest football schedule ever attempted by Wildcats and likely one of the most difficult of any major eleven in the country, the card also will see the forces of Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant in action against Sugar Bowl participant Georgia Tech and Gator Bowl-selected Auburn, in addition to highly-regarded Mississippi archival Tennessee, 'darkhorse' Florida, Louisiana State, Vanderbilt, Villanova and triple-threat Memphis State.

The grid contest with the powerful Maryland started up with an equally dangerous Split T aggregation from Oklahoma in the home game of the year at Miami's Orange Bowl Jan. 1, will establish precedent as the highest-ranked football power to invade Lexington and the first time Kentucky has been scheduled against the defending national champions in the grid sport.

A unique background to the tilt provided by the fact that Coach Bryant, who has guided the Wildcats to three major bowls and lifted them into national football prestige during the past eight years, was responsible for laying the groundwork that got Maryland started up in the national grid ladder while he was head coach of the Terrapins in one year (1945) before returning to Kentucky.

The oft-interrupted rivalry with Georgia Tech, eighth-ranked power of the country by the final Associated Press poll (9th UP) and runner-up to national champion Michigan State a year ago, will be resumed in Atlanta on Oct. 23. In their last meeting in Atlanta during the 1950 campaign, UK took a 24-14 victory as a stepping stone to its first Southeastern Conference title and a bid to the Sugar Bowl.

Mississippi, who lost a clinch on this season's league crown by being held to an upset tie by Auburn, State in their final game, will be back as one of the league's strongest contenders next year. The contest with the Rebels, one of only two teams to beat UK this season, is slated in Lexington on Sept. 25, following by one week the Maryland opener.

Auburn's young and coming gridiron squad was spotted for an obscure eleventh place finish in the SEC in pre-season balloting, but came through as one of the top surprises of the year at the Gator Bowl on New Year's Day, are due to be back stronger than ever in '54. Kentucky and Auburn last met in football in 1938.

Prospects for the Volunteers from Tennessee, to be tougher than ever in next season, are classed in the good category. The Vols can be expected to be matched into one of the conference's toughest teams by the time they entertain the Wildcats in Knoxville on Nov. 20 with notions of recapturing the cherished old beer keg taken by UK this year for the first time since 1935.

The entire 1954 card, which schedules six home engagements and four road games, is as follows: Sept. 18—Maryland at Lexington. Sept. 25—Mississippi at Lexington. Oct. 2—LIT at Baton Rouge. Oct. 9—Auburn at Lexington. Oct. 16—Florida at Gainesville. Oct. 23—Georgia Tech at Atlanta. Oct. 30—Villanova at Lexington. Nov. 6—Vanderbilt at Lexington. Nov. 13—Memphis State at Lexington. Nov. 20—Tennessee at Knoxville.

Remember, my face is my fortune. Oh, I'm sorry. Can I lend you two?

Paolone, Meilinger Land Top Grid Honors For 1953

By BILL BURLESON. The football season is here for the gridder. The season is just a recent memory. Despite the lack of a bowl bid, the year 1953 will live a long time in the minds of the Big Blue faithful.

In case there are a few who would like to see the final statistics of the Wildcats in respect to their opponents and to show a few non-believers in the future, here they are.

Paolone In Leading Runner. Pullback Ralph Paolone with his wicked running on handoffs from Quarterback Bob Hardy wound up as Number 1 yardage gainer on the squad. In 108 tries at the line, "Rumbler" Ralph picked up 620 yards for a 5.7 yards per try. Last year's top runner was Al Pelch with a mark of 48 who also ran from the fullback slot.

Steve Meilinger, All-America selection in many quarters, was runner up with 326 yards in 73 tries for a 4.6 average. Big Steve made up for this in the pass reception field as he took 18 completions for an additional 308 yards and three touchdowns.

Meilinger Tops Punters. Big Steve also made his mark in the punting department as he averaged 36.3 yards in 35 kicks covering a distance of 1,288 yards. He also was the leading interceptor of enemy passes snagging four and running back a total of 69 yards.

Leading passer for the Wildcats was, of course, Bob Hardy, who completed 24 of 47 for 51 percent. He had only three intercepted and three for a total gain of 418 yards and five TD's. This total is way off Dick Sbatto's total last year when he was a total gain of 418 yards and five TD's. Despite the fact that Kentucky's running attack was more highly regarded this year than last, this

I-M Survey

Sigma Chi, Kappa Alpha and SAE in the fraternity division and Clifton Cals and Porter Brothers in the independent league, appear to be the teams to beat in the I-M cage leagues as the season starts the finish.

SAE's own a 3-0 record while the Sigma Chi's own two impressive wins for a 2-0 record. KA's downed the always tough SPP's and appear headed for the tournament.

The Clifton Cals soundly trounced Men's Dorms, 78-28. In what might be a record score for one team.

The swimming meet has been postponed until next semester due to the Blue Martin show.

Next week's Kernel will carry a complete result page of I-M contests for the past two weeks.

Cagers Face Tough Xavier, Wake Forest

By JOHN K. RYANS

The Kentucky Wildcat Cagers swing into the heaviest part of their schedule tomorrow night when they meet the Xavier Musketeers in Cincinnati. They follow this contest up with five more games during December which should prove the toughest on their schedule.

Monday night at 8 p.m. in Memorial Coliseum the Wildcats meet the Wake Forest Deacons, last year's champions of the powerful Southern Conference. Then they follow these two contests with games against St. Louis, two games in the Kentucky Invitational Tourney, and Minnesota. If the Cats survive these six games, DePaul is the only major obstacle to a possible undefeated season.

The Xavier Musketeers, perennial foe of the Cats, always manage to give them a rough time. This season the Muskies are undefeated in two contests. They defeated the Union College Bulldogs of Burlington, Kentucky by a score of 77 to 51 in their opener, and followed up with a 81 to 64 rout of Kent State last Saturday night.

The Muskies lost five lettersmen from last year's squad, including Huck Budde, who proved quite a thorn in the Wildcats' side two seasons ago. However, Coach Neil Walk has several veterans back from last year's team.

Facing the Cincy team this year is Bob Heim, the captain, who is an outstanding forward. Heim stands 6-2. Others returning this season are Chuck Dow Fiestek and forward center Hoffmann, the tallest men on the squad at 6-5. At the guard are Lou Vonderbrink and Paul Margerus. Dick Schneider, 6-3 sophomore substitute, led the Muskies attack against Kent State with 20 points.

Jan O'Connell, a sophomore guard who was expected to see regular duty this season at one guard slot, suffered a broken arm in the first clash between the Cats and Muskies, at least.

Coach Harry Lancaster's freshman cagers meet the Georgetown College freshmen in a preliminary to the Wake Forest game, starting at 6 p.m.

One of the forwards listed on the Xavier roster is Mark DeBor, former star of Lexington LTK.

Wake Forest Invades TK

The next team to invade the Wildcat lair will be the Wake Forest Deacons on Monday evening. The Deacons of Coach Murray Gresson are also undefeated in their first three contests, having beaten Davidson 98-46, Maryland 71-54, and Virginia Tech 82-55.

The clash from North Carolina were the Southern Conference champions last season, defeating North Carolina State 71-70 in the finals of the conference tourney. Their 1952-53 record was 22 wins against seven defeats, including a 79-71 loss to Holy Cross in the first game of the NCAA playoffs.

The Wake Forest Cagers have five players returning from last year's "Six Iron Deacons." The six players received this name because they were largely responsible for carrying the team to its successful season. The one missing cager is Jack Williams, a high scoring forward, who averaged 20.2 points a game last year.

Leading this season's returnees is Dick Herrin, the Deacons' candidate for All-American center. The 6-6 Herrin was sixth in the nation in scoring last year with 727 points and a game average of 21.1.

At the guards Gresson will probably start two veterans from last season, Billy Lyles and Al DePorter. Lyles averaged 10.2 points per game last year and DePorter 8.2. At the forwards are George Maurice, a 6-1 regular last year, and Ray Lipstam, a 6-4 sixth man of last season.

Another returnee is John Koticki, a 6-5 forward, who is returning after two years in the army.

Whew! It wears us out to even try to keep up with the scoring parade this year. It seems that the attempt to score in the fifties is rampant in the nation in this 1953-54 year of speed up basketball.

Cliff Hagan broke five different records last Saturday night when he scored 51 points. So what does our fair haired rival from L.S.U. do a couple of nights later? They feed the ball to Bob Pettit during the entire game against some Podunk College down in the Bayous of Louisiana and the "Wonder Boy" with his six-foot nine-inch frame dunks 60 points.

"Bevo" Francis, scoring sensation from Rio (pronounced Rio) Grande College has become a national figure because of his scoring antics last year. Sporting News has just released a full page and a half concerning the bean pole scoring machine's trip to New York city and the publicity he was given from soup to caviar and lobster at a classy restaurant.

Many quarters consider the rangy center nothing more than an above average player from a small school which plays small teams in competition—so they practically beat Villanova and he scores 39 points. They have a few more teams of high caliber to play this season so let's wait and see.

Your writer feels that if Kentucky would open with Georgetown College instead of Temple, Cliff could come pretty close to Bevo's record and leave Mr. Pettit in his dust.

It is a fact that with the one-plus-one foul rule in effect, scoring in the thirties has become a reality and the 100 mark for a team is no longer an absurdity.

Maybe the baskets ought to be raised. Pettit and Francis both stand six foot-nine inches while a new sensation from Oregon State, Wade "Swede" Holbrook, stands an even 7-foot 3-inches. Hagan tips the measuring rod at a mere 6'4" which is considered a midget in most quarters, yet he scores 51 points.

Mr. Francis, according to a recent article in Sport Magazine, takes his nickname of "Bevo" from the brand name of a favorite near beer which his father drank during prohibition. His given name is Clarence.

The wraps have finally been put on the football season with the exception of post-season bowls and senior games. (Steve Meilinger and Ray Correll are each playing in a couple of the latter) but the season is finished at UK.

We would like to go on record and predict that next year's Wildcat edition will match if not better this year's record. A few of the names which you will be hearing a lot more of at that time are Ray Calahan, Bob Phillips, Dick Rushing, Dave Kuhn, and others who will assume the spotlight vacated by Correl, Meilinger, Tom Adkins, Joe Platt and Ralph Paolone.

Good luck those boys who will be back and to those who are graduating—we say the best in life to each and everyone of you.

Many observers feel that Hagan could have gone way over the fifty mark had he not had three men hanging on to his arms every time he went in for a layup. The referees called the game as they see it but they apparently didn't see the hanging on. It is still amazing that Cliff did as well as he did under the circumstances.

Tom Siler of the Knoxville News-Sentinel came up with a full column on Ray Correll following the Vol loss to Houston last weekend.

It seems that the All-America Correll came within just so close of playing his collegiate ball at Tennessee. Siler says that Ray was given a tryout at Tennessee but never heard from the school thereafter. (Someone is kicking himself around the campus down there, we'll wager)

Upon the invitation of a girl to come to Lexington for a dance, Ray, used the excuse to come that he was to be given a tryout. Well when he got to Lexington, he called Coach Bryant, requested a tryout and ultimately was given the scholarship.

Cage Coach Adolph Rupp originally came to Kentucky in 1930 as a basketball coach but among other duties, he was to assist Mr. Bernie Shively as track coach and also was to coach the reserve football team.

There is a story concerning Rupp's decision to coach basketball which he often tells. When it came time to make the decision, he says that he took a basketball in one hand and the pigskin in the other hand and let them drop to the floor. The basketball bounced straight up but the football bounced here and there in its usual manner.

He tells how he said to himself, "Basketball is for me—you always know where it is going to bounce but you can't tell about the football."

There is more truth than fiction in these words on the basis of the short life of many grid coaches in the past few years.

Anyone want a slightly used Wildcat? He answers to the name of "Colonel".

It seems from rumors, that Suky is trying to find a home for "Colonel." They feel that his presence at the games isn't required since no one pays any attention to him. They have been dickering with zoos in the area to take him, according to these rumors.

We would like to know why? A mascot or lucky piece is always a good thing to have around. Maybe his cage ought to be put on a higher cart so that fans and spectators can see him.

We also think that it would be a mistake to get rid of this animal that has been a part of Kentucky's major victories in the past several years. You had better ask Coach Bryant first.

Hagan Spearheads Win Over Temple With 51

By DON HENRY

Cliff Hagan, Kentucky's All-America center, pulled down the record book that the NCAA had placed so far out of Kentucky's reach last year and rewrote it over to cover, scoring 51 points to lead Kentucky to an 86-59 victory over Temple Saturday night.

When that fifty-point point went through the hoop in the closing minutes of the game, five collegiate records fell from the pages of the annals. Hagan set a new single game record for SEC play against Bob Pettit's 50 points for LSU against Georgia last year.

The high score against non-conference teams of 40 points held by Spivey, tumbled early in the fourth period, along with the Coliseum record of 40 points which Spivey also held.

Hagan also topped his own record for highest score by a Kentucky player in the fourth period with a driving lay-up for his 44th point leading his former mark of 42.

The last record fell at the free throw line where he dropped through 17 points, setting aside the old mark of 11 held jointly by Bobby Lewter, LSU, and Jim Line UK.

Hagan proved to be too much for Jim Kane, Temple's center, as he performed with grace and perfection of a ballet dancer, leaving the big Owl gasping in his tracks. Kane left the game early with 6:35 minutes to go in the third period, committing his fifth personal foul in an attempt to keep Hagan from receiving a pass.

The entire crowd of 13,000 knew by the beginning of the fourth quarter that Kentucky had the game sewed up, and the whole interest centered on the sitting hands of Hagan scoring column. After the public address system announced that the Coliseum record had fallen the crowd rose to a fervent pitch, hoping for the 50 mark.

Just seven seconds later Puckett took a Temple shot off the backboard and passed the ball in length of the floor into the sitting hands of Hagan, who dropped it in for his fifty-first point.

Coach Rupp started three seniors, with Hagan, Ramsey, Evans, Rose and Thiroropoulos, for this first game in the Coliseum in over a year. The first quarter was raged for both teams and the period ended 18-11 for Kentucky.

The Wildcats never relinquished this lead throughout the game. With Lou Thiroropoulos and Hagan cleaning the backboards, Kentucky began to pull away in the second period. Temple tried to slow down the play using a stalling figure eight offense, trying to get in for close shots. The Kentucky defense was equal to the task, and the Owls found it hard to get close to the basket.

The Cats came out well ahead of the Temple Owls in the shooting percentage for the first half, holding a 33 per cent to 17 per cent.

Orawmeyer started the second half, replacing him well ahead of the Temple Owls in the shooting percentage for the first half, holding a 33 per cent to 17 per cent.

Orawmeyer started the second half, replacing him well ahead of the Temple Owls in the shooting percentage for the first half, holding a 33 per cent to 17 per cent.

SEC Meet Opens Here

Seventy-five presidents, athletic directors and head football coaches of the SEC opened the 21st annual conference meeting here in Lexington yesterday afternoon. The meetings, closed to the public, are being held in the Phoenix Hotel.

The conferees will have before them, such problems as whether or not to make a tie-up with the Sugar Bowl as host team each year; Kentucky plans to recommend to the assembly that certain measures designed to de-emphasize recruiting practices be adopted. The plan, patterned after Bryant's Kentucky recruiting-only, suggests essentially that grants-in-aid to out-of-state athletes be kept in line with percentage of non-state students attending the school.

Other items on the calendar are: (1) cutting athletic scholarships from 140 to 120. (2) Revision of 29 session in 30 days' limit on spring practice. (3) Basketball practice set-away date be moved from October 15 to November 1. (4) Rotating football schedule which will require teams to meet each other at least one every ten or twelve years.

Curses, Foiled Again!

Charlie Champ was a scrawny Junior who never had any claim to fame on campus. Then, one day, it became known that he had become manager of the Fencing Team. Immediately he was surrounded by a group of incredulous students.

"How come you're managing the Fencing Team?" asked one of them. "Well, it's this way," replied Charlie. "Last week I went down town and got a couple of Van Heusen VANDUROY Sport Shirts... for only $7.95 apiece. When I put on one of my rugged corduroy beauties, I looked so handsome that I was immediately surrounded by all the beautiful co-eds!"

"Is that a fact?" murmured one of his classmates. "But then, all their boyfriends gathered 'round and said, 'Charlie, what would you do if we beat you up?' So I looked 'em right in the eye and said, 'I'll manage a defense!'"

"Get, what happened?" asked a wide-eyed Freshman. "Just then Angelo, coach of the Fencing Team, walked by. He said, 'You manage de fence. Atsa good, da teams need a manager!'"

'Ditto'

By DEBBIE SCHWARTZ A very poor habit Acquired in college Is trying to cram

Your brain with knowledge This was the thought uppermost in the mind of a student columnist at Vanderbilt University when he boldly set forth several reasons why a c/o'clock classes should be abolished.

First of all, a normal amount of sleep is impossible, since students who party until 3 a.m. cannot be expected to rise and shine at such an early hour. Furthermore, he said, the sun is hardly up and the Nashville smog is reaching its peak of concentration. A student could trip and break something vital while trying his way through the darkness.

These reasons are all valid ones, but if such a law should be enacted at UK, not only 8 o'clock classes, but all afternoon ones should "go out the window" also. Then everyone could sleep all afternoon or spend a leisurely three or four hours in the Grill, and thus be well rested for the evening activities.

"Boody" Williams, a little black cat who starred in the W. Va. University Players' "Bell, Book and Candle," has run away from home. He left no note of explanation for his worried parents, so this letter, addressed to "Boody," appeared in the school's paper, "The Daily Athenaeum." We might entitle it—An open letter to a stage-struck cat...

"Wherever you are, 'Boody' will find you, pick up your little cat feet and creep home."

"Surely your success in 'Bell, Book and Candle' didn't go to your head. The critics raved and the University players may even give you a contract. But you are a home cat at heart."

"Give up your worldly pleasures, 'Boody,' and that cat, (whoever she may be), and come home."

All Tulane University it's not who can has the blarney stone, but who can move it.

Jealousy over conflicting school credits last weekend motivated 29 Commerce students to dig up the Engineers' prized "relic," a 2,000-pound, multi-colored Blarney Stone, and move it across campus. Two hours and 29 exhausted students later the stone was a long way from its original site.

The Engineers retaliated with a warlike attack, but the stone was replaced and an official apology rendered. "The Commerce Building (relic) is destroyed." But the relic used by the Engineers was declared "subversive," and from all reports, the Commerce students are continuing their protests, and their building is still standing.
