

ABBAY OF GETHSEMANI TRAPPIST KENTUCKY 40073

Sept 11, 1967

Dear Carolyn:

One thing I forgot to say the other day about Fiedler: perhaps still one of the best possibilities would be Helen Wolff at Harcourt Brace and World. She also might be interested in the other things of Victor'. Then, too, rethinking some of the things we spoke of, I believe that it would be best to stick to one idea in regard to the Niles songs: and see about them if and when J. comes. I don't think the other project would be good right now. We can talk this over some more next time I see you.

I am really sorry I kept you so late the other day. It was inconsiderate of me.

There is one other book that I could use, if you have it there:

Norman Cohn: The Pursuit of the Millenium.

I am glad the interlibrary loan dept will give me leeway with these books, but in my turn I will see to it that there is no unnecessary delay. I am grateful to all of you.

All my best

Tom.
