AN EDITOR COMMENTS

In the Lexington Herald every Sunday appear some delightful humorous pieces of philosophy or satire that are making "Bob" Breckinridge's contribution to that paper famous. In connection with a similar offering last Sunday appears the following concerning President McVey, which the Kernel takes pleasure in reproducing, not only on account of its friendly attitude, but on account of the admirable and just estimate it gives to our beloved chief executive.

"We have sort of jumbled along about colleges, culture and agriculture, but we realize that most of the presidents of our colleges have many problems and are meeting those problems with attitude. There is one, Frank McVey, President of the University of Kentucky, to whom we feel every Kentuckian owes a debt of gratitude. Considerate of weakness, prompt in sympathy, gentle in his firmness, accepting ingratitude with attitude, meeting that which would be betrayal with matches, finessed, covering disappointment with indomitable courage, restoring broken ideals as best he may, the indefatigable energy of the day releasing the oft times weariness caused by the thoughts which come at night, handling that which gives him with such skill that each and every year is more productive than the years which have passed, he has made, is making and will continue to make his life's work such that the memory and fame of it will last long after life has ceased for himself. Regardless of what may be said of culture, agriculture, speeches, spouting or spouting, one's thoughts can always turn to the memory and fame of it of Kentucky with the realization that he deserves well at the hands of everyone, regardless of creed or belief.

ARE ASSIGNMENTS JUST?

Students talk and talk and sometimes they have something to talk about. However, if the gist of their conversations reaches no farther than student groups such talk has been worthless and a mere waste of words. The Kernel endeavors through its editorial columns to voice student feeling, good and indifferent, and feels that a few inches might well be devoted to a rehearsal of the current complaints on assignments.

It has been brought to our attention, as it has to the majority of students, that an entire class, in many instances, has been assigned to read a certain book, or portions of that book, which is in the reading room, and have been required to report on the subject matter of that book within 48 hours after the assignment has been made. The result is that many students are unable to obtain a copy of the book at all in so short a time, and must report to class unprepared. There may be response to this statement from some professors who make such assignments, that probably the students did not try often enough and sincerely enough to get the book. In reply to this we would venture to suggest that the majority of students carry from five to seven or eight courses, and are not at liberty to spend an entire day in the reading-room.

Some thought in regard to the size of the class, the length of the assignment, and the number of books should surely be taken into consideration when a professor contemplates such work. Reasonable ones should enter into all class work. The university is made up of many types of students. Some of these probably never know what an outside reading looks like, but there are others who do, and who would like to become better acquainted with these books. It is for these that we would solicit consideration. Certain departments of the university pride themselves on requiring of the student unreasonable things. It is certainly not those departments that students will gain the most from during their college career, nor remember longest after that career has been finished. They are the ones which cause the bad taste in the mouth of their students. They are the ones which incite disgust with college life and college professors in general.

We hope that this matter may be taken into consideration by professors and that students may be encouraged to get all that it is possible to obtain from college courses instead of disgust and disillusionment.

New York's in a bad fix. She faces a water shortage just after starting to clean the bench.

SIGMA UPSILON

The Kernel learns with mingled emotions of the establishment of a new honorary fraternity upon the university campus. There is always much which can be said in favor of organizations such as Sigma Upsilon; unfortunately, however, too frequently there is just as much which can be said against them. The University of Kentucky, in common with most universities of today, is being burdened with a super-abundance of organizations. Honorary fraternities have the disconcerting habit of becoming merely another activity—another point toward O. D. K.—another field for fraternity political maneuvering. Standards have been lowered, and faculty supervision, probably because of disgust upon the part of faculty advisers, has been negligible. Initiation expenses and dues have increased to enable such organizations to enter a social field entirely out of the scope originally planned by the student body.

Sigma Upsilon, however, enters the fraternity field at Kentucky with the most favorable of backgrounds and history. Few honorary organizations have more successfully maintained over a period of years such a standard, probably because of disgust upon the part of faculty advisers, has been negligible. Initiation expenses and dues have increased to enable such organizations to enter a social field entirely out of the scope originally planned by the student body.

The field is a large one—too long neglected at the university. Literary creation upon the part of students seemingly has become a thing of the past. The art of the appreciation of literature is fast becoming overshadowed by interest in such works as may be found in the sensational magazines of the day. The Kernel welcomes Sigma Upsilon for all it has meant in the past for all its aims and ideals—and for all it may mean to the University of Kentucky in the future. The fraternity may rely upon the full cooperation of the Kernel in any way in which it can be of service.

HOUSE FATHERS

House mothers are no longer unusual accessories in fraternity houses, in fact the majority of large universities compel all fraternities to have them. Their duties for the most part are social; their responsibilities are made up almost entirely of the duty of managing the house and servants. However, a new and rather startling innovation has been proposed by Delta Tau Delta fraternity at Illinois, that of having house fathers.

The preceptor, or "house father," of the fraternities who have adopted this plan is a man who lives at the house and acts as a guide, philosopher, and intelligent friend and companion of the men. As a general rule this man is either a young member or a graduate student. His duties are to act as the house adviser, supervisor of scholarship, tutor, warden and monitor; in other words, he is the "house father," for he acts as the friend, the guide and the administrator of "his" boys. This system has proven to be so successful that twelve universities have adopted it during the past year.

It is reasonable to think that this young man can do something to help the neophytes in squaring their ideas, forming their ideals and in improving their scholarship. In the first place he himself is young and is acquainted with the pitfalls of undergraduate life and understands the student attitude well enough to know how to guide college men without being offensive to them and in that way to accomplish his purpose. He is not intend-

LOVE AMONG THE GREEKS
 We are publishing this week a list of Greekettes who have fraternity pins, whose and what pin they have, which we believe is almost complete and correct. We have spent a great deal of time in the compilation of this masterpiece of snooper and we feel more than appreciative to those who have assisted us.

The list should be of inestimable value to the ed who is trying to decide whether or not to place his jewelry on the fair breast of any of the fair ones on the list. Naturally there is a great deal of misunderstanding about the whole group of our bejeweled and beloved ettes. At the dance Friday evening two Kappa Sigs traded pins and then began seeking someone whom they might adorn. Both were successful. One of them has located his pin but the other is still wandering about in a vain search for the unknown dream girl who proudly wears his pin. Things like that make a list like this difficult.

Perhaps it is only fair to mention that many of the pins are not worn in public, or if they are, they are worn on the dainty unmentionables of the wearer. Asterisks after a name have many and varied meanings. If we are not positive the girl has the pin you will find the asterisk. Anyway, one of the charming little dots means that there is a

Eleven Classes To Meet Again At UK in June

By BETTY HULETT
CLASS REUNIONS! How much do those two small words mean to you Alumni? Just as much as you will get almost as much pleasure from your university after graduation as you did before. Your university life did not stop when you received your degree nor when you stopped school. It may have been only beginning then.
Of course, there are some alumni whose minds have never turned to the university since they left it. They never wonder about the changes, about their friends among the faculty members or about the class mates. The alumni of the University of Kentucky which belong to this species are few and far between, for not many people have ever attended this wonderful Alma Mater of ours and left with no love in their hearts for the school and all for which it stands. And that is why we have class reunions: Because the members of the classes want to come back to the university and to Lexington, June 1931, the classes ending in 1 and 6, and the class of 1928 will hold their reunions at the bi-annual meeting of the Executive committee of the Alumni association, plans for the year 1931 were discussed and a committee was appointed to formulate further plans. Dr. C. Davis Buckner, president of the association, originator of class reunions at the University of Kentucky and chairman of the committee above mentioned, is very much enthused over the prospects for a big year. Last year the goal was 500. This year it is many more than that. Doctor Buckner states that he has already heard from many of the class secretaries in regard to the reunion. All signify their desire and willingness to cooperate and help with all the plans. It is through these secretaries that the alumni and their families are told of the many good things in store for them when they return to the university in June.
Many of you have not been back to the university since you received your degree many years ago, and you certainly wouldn't know the place now. Perhaps you have read in the ALUMNI that there are beautiful changes that have taken place, the beautiful new buildings that have been erected. We have tried to keep you in touch with every thing that has been happening here but you can realize all that has happened unless you see it for yourselves. Aren't you just a little bit anxious to see beautiful Memorial hall, the handsome "Teacher's" training building, McVey library, the new dairy building and many others that have been erected since your school days?
And how about the Prof who gave you a D instead of a C and who turned out to be a very good human after all, only you didn't know it when you took his course. Yes, they are here, waiting to welcome you back to your Alma Mater, talk over the many pleasant memories that you have let "by-gones be by-gones" as the case may be.
And last, but not least, how about the friends you had in school? Do you know you want to see them. The men will want to find their old "gang" and talk over the pranks they used to play on the profs and the profs who used to get with their "confidantes" and talk about the boys who were in college, and discuss how this or that courteship broke off or terminated. Then, of course, there is that only natural curiosity to know how your friends have turned out in life, whether they have done well, fair, or foul. You will want to meet the husbands or wives of your former classmates and meet their children, and see if you think they have done well for themselves. Talk all this over with your own "best-bud" and decide whether or not

Tea Dance for Pledges
Miss Julia Catherine Webb entertaining the pledges and actives of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority with a tea dance from 4 until 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at her home at 225 East Maxwell street.
The rooms open for dancing were decorated with many candles in long silver holders and flowers of many kinds.
The guests of honor were Mrs. Caroline Cantard and Miss Charley Smith, and the hostesses who are Misses Mary Ellen Byrd, Marion Finney, Sue Rogers, Sue Loyton, Charlotte Johnson, Dorothy Carr, Kerr, Francis True Brown, Mary Taylor, Grace Seas, Margaret King, Virginia Pitzer, Gertrude Evans, Marjorie Faulkner, Ann Irvine, Virginia Whitehead, Charlotte Johnson, Julie Ochs, Janet Pugh, Matty Lee Whitworth, and Betty Davis.
Miss Virginia Dunstie and her daughter, Mrs. Carl S. Miner, Glence, Ill. were special guests of honor.

The house was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and plants, and the tea table was presided over by Mrs. D. H. Peak, Mrs. Walter Priver, Mrs. N. R. Elliott, and Mrs. Frank McFarland.
Assisting the hostess were Misses Gladys McAtee, Ida Munch, Hazel Turner, Virginia Kearns, Cora Westlake, Dorothy Brown, Dorothy Carr, Marjorie Gould, Opal Scoggins, Elizabeth Goff, Christine Blakemore, Fannie Belle Ellis, Anna Cul-ton, and Katherine Fulton.

Misses Josephine Will, Martha Holman, Ellen Goode, Mildred Nelson, Justine White, and Messrs. Jack Nahn, Chester Malaski, and Andrew Hoover were Christmas gifts Wednesday and attended the performance of Lystrata.
Miss Anna Mae Lewis spent Tuesday night at her home in Anchorage.

Phi Beta to Meet
Phi Beta, women's honorary musicians' fraternity will meet at 8 o'clock this afternoon at Patterson hall. All members are urged to be present at the meeting. The president, Miss Bessie Lee Denton has announced plans for the spring activities of the organization will be formulated at this time.

FRATERNITY ROW
The Y. W. C. A. school has been

Judge A. J. Cochran Speaks at Meeting
International Relations Club
Hears Talk on Spirit of Self-Education

Members of the International Relations club met Tuesday night in McVey hall to hear Federal Judge
A. M. J. Cochran deliver an address on "The Scientific Spirit and Self-Education."
In this address Judge Cochran told the members that the greatest need of adults today was self-education and that the majority of people were not interested in intellectual achievement. He cited the willingness to learn, eagerness, humility and purity of heart as the most worthy goals. He gave Christianity as the most desirable means of attaining these ends.
Mrs. E. Culbertson presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker, Pres. Frank L. McVey.
Following the meeting a reception was given in honor of Judge Cochran in the club rooms of McVey hall.
Judge Cochran received an honorary LL.B. degree from the university 15 years ago.

Darnell Is Leader Of Vesper Service At Patterson Hall
The Y. W. C. A. vesper service was held in Patterson hall at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, with Miss Helen Darnell acting as leader.
The meeting opened with pep songs which were followed by a poem,
"The Deathless Tale," by Miss Mattie Lee Whitworth.
The "Sermon on the Mount," was read and discussed by Miss Darnell.
The meeting closed with a hymn and benediction. Approximately 28 girls were present.
Following the vesper service a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet was held. It was decided that the officers should attend Play Day, February 28, at Cincinnati. Members: Eleanor Swearingen, presi-

Best Prints of Year Chosen by Critic

Prints by twelve of the American artists whose works are on display at the Art Center this week have been chosen by Louis Mumford, prominent critic and writer on art, to be among the "Fifty Prints of the Year." The 12 are: Peggy Bar-con, Cuffow Best, Howard Cook, Adolph Dehn, Werner Drewes, Mabel Dwight, Ernest Flene, Wanda Gag, Emil Ganso, Victoria Hutson, Louis Looswick, and Arthur Young.
Number 68, "Brooklyn Bridge," by Louis Looswick and number 55,
"Lilies" by Arthur Young, are two of the identical prints in the "Fifty Prints of 1930." Number 65, "Twin-light of Man," by Rockell Kent, was one of the "Fifty Prints of the Year 1928."
In addition to these prints there are etchings and lithographs by English, French, and other American artists. The variety of pictures on display is most unusual.

The Southern Conference

The big question on the Kentucky campus this morning is, "Who's going to win?" And back comes the loyal echo, "Kentucky." And quite right.

Ten years ago, Kentucky won the first tournament ever staged in the South. The Big Blue defeated the Georgia Bulldogs, in an S. I. A. A. tournament.

In 1922 and 1923 the members of the S. I. A. A. and the newly formed Southern Conference played in the tournament. In 1924 the conference boys separated from the combination idea.

Teams from the northern end of the Southern Conference are better than teams from the southern section, according to statistics. Only three titles have remained in the South, seven have gone north.

The Southern Conference committee has rated the four seeded teams. They are Alabama, first, Georgia, second, Kentucky, third, and Maryland, fourth.

A seeded team is any of the four leading teams who are so arranged in the tournament as to draw what appears to be an easy foe, or "set-up." The four teams mentioned above are seeded because they have won more games than any of the other 19 conference teams.

According to an Associated Press story, Maryland is picked as the "dark-horse." A "dark-horse" is any team that has but an outside chance to win the tournament.

We wonder why the Associated Press picks such a team, when the committee picks it as one of the four doped to win. Surely Alabama, Georgia, Maryland or the Wildcats are the favored teams.

Last year the committee picked the Crimson Tide of Alabama to win the title. They had only an outside possibility of winning. They were undefeated during the season but they did not rule as favorites. They won, however.

This year this group of men, consisting of H. J. Stegeman, Georgia; W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech; Gus Tebell, Virginia; C. P. Miles, V. P. I.; S. A. Bales, Kentucky; and W. C. Smith, Tulane pick the southern Conference champions, Alabama to repeat.

The Tide lost two games this season. Both defeats came after the all-Southern center Hood was lost to the squad due to injuries. Hood suffered a broken blood vessel in his leg. He was the key to the Alabama offense and with his loss, went the hopes of the Crimson Tide for an undefeated season and the title.

Tennessee with four wins and eight losses, was picked over Sewanee, whose average surpassed Volunteers by 42 points. Mississippi also was tied with the Tennessees. Clemson was tied with Sewanee with three victories and five losses.

Tennessee is a worthy foe for any team. They beat Alabama, yet why should Sewanee have to take a back seat because such a foe has a bigger and more powerful name. We would like to see little Sewanee play in Atlanta today.

Many teams are not invited in these tournaments because they have little drawing power or happen to be situated quite a distance from Atlanta. Kentucky has a large following in Georgia and does not have to fear this unforeseen catastrophe befalling them.

The Kernel believes as all students so loyally do, that a Wildcat victory this afternoon is only the initial step on the path to a second title within ten years. We honestly believe that Kentucky will either fall by the wayside today or come back the champions of the South.

The past winners of the conference tournaments are:

Year	Winner	Runner-Up
1921	KENTUCKY	Georgia
1922	North Carolina	Mercer
1923	Mississippi Aggies	Chattanooga
1924	North Carolina	Alabama
1925	North Carolina	Tulane
1926	North Carolina	Mississippi Aggies
1927	Vanderbilt	Georgia
1928	Mississippi University	Auburn
1929	North Carolina State	Duke
1930	Alabama	Duke

Duke had the most logical team to win last year. She had been nosed out by North Carolina State the year previous. Yet Alabama beat the Blue Devils decisively.

North Carolina State, looked down upon with contempt by many fans and writers, meet with the Wildcats at 4 o'clock this afternoon. N. C. State has a good team. They have won five and lost five.

With the high grade of teams which are in the conference finals this season, no-one can say that any team is a set-up. The lowest in ranking, Tennessee beat Alabama the first ranking squad, 26-24.

No one knows who is going to win. But we like to guess and see how far we are from being wrong. We pick Tennessee over Alabama; Georgia Tech over Florida; Clemson over Duke; Kentucky over North Carolina State; Maryland over Louisiana State University; W. & L. over Georgia; Auburn over Virginia; Vanderbilt over North Carolina.

In the quarter-finals, Tennessee over Georgia Tech; Kentucky over Clemson; Maryland over Vanderbilt; Auburn over W. & L.

In the semi-finals, Kentucky to beat Tennessee and Auburn to defeat Maryland. And in the finals Kentucky plays Auburn. Pick your winner. I'm still rooting for Rupp and his boys.

In the final official tabulations of high scorers of the conference it was found that Perkins, Georgia Tech center, had set an official new conference scoring record. He scored 11 points in the South Carolina game to surpass the mark of 129, th old record made by Williams and Cox of W. & L.

Captain Carey Spicer, one of the greatest forwards ever produced at Kentucky was seventh. The list of the seven highest include:

	F.G.	F.T.	T.P.
Perkins, center, Georgia Tech	84	20	148
Strickland, forward, Georgia	54	13	121
Mayo, forward, Virginia	47	22	116
Gooding, forward, Georgia Tech	50	13	113
Coffee, center, Vanderbilt	45	19	109
Schwartz, forward, Vanderbilt	44	24	102
Spicer, forward, Kentucky	43	24	100

Coach Rupp believes his boys will win. He said, "Although it is practically impossible to predict the outcome of a tournament, we are going to Atlanta with a lot of confidence and determination and feel that we stand as good a chance as do the other teams."

A new conference of southern universities is being planned. A meeting is to be called in Atlanta during the play-off of the tourney and the representative teams will be asked to join.

Kentucky has received an invitation to be affiliated with the new organization. The notice requesting teams to meet in Atlanta Thursday for the meeting was sent by Roy Mundorff, Georgia Tech coach.

The schools that have been asked to join are Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida, Auburn, Alabama, Tennessee, and Vanderbilt. It is believed that steps will be taken to organize a basketball league within the Southern Conference that will decide its championship on a percentage basis next year.

If this is done, and these teams refrain from conference tournament competition, it will mean the discontinuance of the tournament.

The best break that any team could receive was the drawing of North Carolina State by Kentucky. The Wildcats are in the same bracket as Duke, Alabama, Clemson, Tennessee, and Tech. Yet they play the supposedly weakest of the strong teams.

Teams in Kentucky's bracket have won 49 games against conference competition during the season and lost 40. In the lower bracket, teams won 56 and lost 31.

Three teams in the Wildcat's bracket Florida, Clemson and Tennessee finished the season lower than 500 per cent. In the other, only Virginia fell below the 500 mark and they finished ahead of Florida, Clemson and Tennessee.

North Carolina State is the strongest five in the Carolina's. North Carolina U. and Duke finished better in percentages but Gamecocks are the best team. Unless N. C. State is a tournament team, Georgia and Alabama will have plenty to worry about while the Big Blue are contented... merely to wait... and... hope... for victory.

TO FRANK HOOVER

Life is but a story

On the pages of the earth
With a line or two of glory
And a paragraph of mirth.

Life's a story typed by fingers
Of a hand that may be cold,
While the thought within yet lingers
In a heated printer's mold.

There may come another story
With teardrops of a friend,
With phrases that are gory,
And "39" at the end.

-DANIEL W. GOODMAN.

The Kernel deeply regrets the untimely passing of Frank K. Hoover, the sports editor of the Herald. Frank was sports editor of The Kernel in 1924, '25 and '26.

University Senate Grants Permission For New Sorority

The University Senate has granted permission to a group of girls to form a new local sorority on the campus which will be known as Theta Sigma Tau. The organization will be composed only of girls whose fathers or brothers are members of the Masonic order or whose mothers are member of the Eastern Star.

The group will rent a house for the fall term of 1931 and expects to petition Phi Omega Pi, national Eastern Star sorority.

Members of Theta Sigma Tau are Bernice Hooks, acting president, Virginia Carlin, Anna Dugan, Willie Anne Frass, Thelma Evans, Alice Mae Durling, Helen Alperin and Caroline Foxworth. Pledges are Jean Foxworth and Frieda Robinson. Mrs. Wayland Rhodes and Mrs. Eda Giles will serve as faculty advisors.

Misses Louise Otterback and Kathryn Vogel will spend the weekend at their homes in Louisville.

Duke, Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia Tech, Virginia, Vanderbilt Are Predicted Winners of First Day at Tourney; Upset Seen in Generals-Bulldog Game

By TOTSY ROSE

The Southern Conference basketball tournament this year appears to be the most open affair in the history of the organization. With Georgia and Alabama in the same bracket, there is a wonderful opportunity for one of the "dark horses" to come through for the championship.

Kentucky and Maryland have powerful teams but their records are not overly impressive due to the fact that they met very few of the basketball teams in the south. The Wildcats have played a slough brand of basketball during most of the season although they have been capable of rising to great heights in coming from behind to win the large majority of their games.

Maryland has displayed wonderful basketball against strong opposition but when matched against weak teams they have failed to show to an advantage. Georgia undoubtedly has the strongest team in the Conference. They have been made the favorite to win the championship because of their great record this season.

Washington and Lee vs Georgia: The outstanding game of the first round. The Bulldogs appear stronger than the Generals but an upset will not be surprising.

U. K. RIFLE TEAM WINS IN SIX MATCHES

Firing six matches by telegraph, the university rifle team won every match that it heard from this week. Two schools have not sent in scores, University of California and University of Nebraska.

The award for the Hearst trophy is an enormous silver plaque to the winning team and a week's trip to Washington for the individual members of the team.

The real surprise of the week issued from our radio loudspeaker. It was the voice of Madame Queen. You may be interested in knowing that Peepod's show at the National Broadcasting Company for time on the air during 1930 was $1,219,422.

The Kentucky has Columbia's gangster picture booked for Saturday and Sunday. You know, every company must have an underworld picture or so on its schedule.

After proving to the world that Daisies do tell, Clara Bow has started rehearsals on "Kick In" as her next Paramount release.

The Ada Mesada has a new stage company opening Sunday. Having closed a highly successful run of Arthur Haak's "Sunshine Revue," Billy Hitch's show is planning an equally profitable visit to Lexington.

Racketeers Will Meet for First Spring Prep Today; Four Lettermen to Return

Prof. H. H. Downing, tennis coach, has issued a call for all varsity or freshman tennis candidates to meet today in room 128, McVey hall.

The varsity enjoyed a brilliant year last season on the court and prospects for another winning team are good this year. Lettermen who are returning this year are: Kee, Senff, Spicer, and Farquhar. These men turned in good racket performances last year and with such promising material as Kline, Bishop, and Foster, eligible for varsity competition this spring, it seems that Kentucky will enjoy another successful season.

The varsity squad won the majority of their matches last fall, the titles being as follows: Kentucky 7, Berea 0; Kentucky 3, Georgia Tech 3; Kentucky 1, Vanderbilt 5; Kentucky 5, Sewanee 2; Kentucky 4, Tennessee 2; Kentucky 2, College of the City of Detroit 5; Kentucky 6, St. Xavier 0; Kentucky 1, University of Cincinnati 8; Kentucky 4, Georgetown 2; Kentucky 1, Berea 0; Kentucky 8, St. Xavier 0. These matches give an impressive seven wins, three losses, and one tie.

The freshmen, though quite a bit behind the varsity average, succeeded in having a fair season with the following results: Kentucky 4, Bellevue High School 2; Kentucky 4, University High 2; Kentucky 6, Henry Clay High School 1; Kentucky 4, Georgetown 3; Kentucky 3, Covington Tennis club 2; Kentucky 1, Withrow High School 4; Kentucky 0, St. Xavier High School 5.

He started the movement for a sport page which eventually found itself as a permanent feature in future editions of the Kernel.

The column idea was initiated by him. It has been continued for the last seven years.

Frank was one of the outstanding authorities on horses in this country. Yesterday a 76 page racing edition by the Herald was published, attesting his knowledge of horses.

He has never failed to pick a Derby winner yet. He picked Equivoque for the 1931 winner.

As sports editor of The Kernel, he placed sports on a high plane and as editor of sports for the Herald, he continued his great work.

Everyone liked Frank. No one could be found who did not like him. Many times he was wrong. He admitted it. Yet he never turned down a dare.

He was fearless, as all true newspaper men are, and he was not afraid to say what he believed or to stand by his convictions.

Frank Hoover died fighting for his life, and like a cool breeze from the north that sweeps upon us unexpectedly, Frank Hoover was gone.

As a friend and admirer of this fine gentleman and sports writer, I like to think of Hoover as a newspaperman "who died for his newspaper."

And now, kiddies, for a big slice of the great outdoors brought to you by Bill Boyd in Pathe's production, "The Painted Desert," opening at the Strand Sunday, Helen Twelvrees, of the wistful eyes, is in the female lead spot. "The Painted Desert" takes its locale around the Grand Canyon section and the scenery is said to be impressive. Pathe worked a long time on the picture. You perhaps remember reading of several members of the company getting injured in an ill-timed explosion while on location.

Interview Arranged With P. G. Soap Man

A representative of the Procter and Gamble Soap Co., will visit the university on March 18, and will interview all seniors interested in obtaining employment with the organization. The applicants for the positions must be seniors in the university and must have attained a high scholarship while in school.

The positions include sales department, buying, advertising, and cost accounting. Those interested should apply to Doctor Beaumont, room 301, Neville hall, or to Professor McIntyre of the Commerce College.

The interviews have been arranged by Professor McIntyre of the Commerce College and will be held in his office, 202 White hall. Additional interviews are being arranged by Doctor Beaumont and will be announced as such as the arrangements are completed.

WILDCATS CLOSE FOURTH WEEK OF PREP

By BILL LUTHER

The University of Kentucky Wildcats completed their fourth week of spring football practice Wednesday afternoon with a long but spirited scrimmage. The two first teams were sent against the third string outfit and were able to score two touchdowns and an extra point to win 13 to 0.

Coach Gamage tried to make the opposing teams as nearly equal as possible by allowing the Red Shirts five yards for a first down while the Blues were required to make the customary ten. With this advantage the small backs and linemen making up the scrub team ran rampant through the heavy forward wall piling up a great lead in first downs.

The Blue team with alternating lines, but with the same backfield of Hand, Foster, Shanklin and Bach were able to make but four first downs during the afternoon. Foster and Bach scored the touchdowns with runs from mid-field. Urbanik made good one of the tries for extra point with a perfect drop-kick.

N. Wilder led the offense for the Red Shirts after he replaced one of the smaller backs. The big boy from Corbin hit the line as Holm time after time for 5 yard gains. Most of his plunges were directly through the center of the Big Blue forward wall. Bob Goodman, the North Dakota ramrod, and Lysowski were also good for gains practically every time they carried the ball. Jack Allen did the greatest part of the work in the line for the scrubs.

The lines used in the scrimmage against the third outfit were picked from the following men: Blevins, Kreuter, Andrews and Montgomery; ends: Fribble, Drury, Jacobs and Davidson; tackles: Aldridge, Carruthers, Parrish and Gibson; guards; and Seale and James, center. The backfield that played behind both lines was composed of Foster, Bach, Hand and Shanklin.

The scrubs were given plays used by Alabama last year, and which will probably be used by Duke in the next football campaign. They were drilled in the use of these plays by Len Miller, assistant coach.

and they were sent against the Blue. The Red Shirts were: Murphy and Nicholson, ends; Kirby and James, tackles; Allen and Jacobs, guards; Luther, center, with Lysowski, Goodman, Keyes and N. Wilder in the backfield.

The heavy squad that reported for the first day of spring practice has slowly dwindled down to about 30 men. The large list of absences are attributed to slight illness and injuries both old and new. Bill Humber, a promising guard, is out for the rest of the spring with an internal fracture of the left knee joint and Wagner, the only other injured Wildcat, has not been able to participate in practice since the game last Saturday.

Colds and slight touches of the flu are keeping Beckel, Ed Wilder, Kipping, Asher, Richards and a number of others from donning moleskins for practice. Kelly and Urbanik have dropped out to participate in track and baseball respectfully. A number of the other men who reported in the early sessions have been dropped for unexcused absences.

After the workout yesterday Coach Gamage announced there would be no practice this afternoon nor tomorrow if the Big Blue basketball team gets through the first round in the tournament at Atlanta. He further explained that there would be no practice until next Wednesday afternoon if the 'Cats reach the final.

The brief halt in the spring drill will allow minor injuries and illnesses plenty of time to be healed—should the Ruppmen reach the last round—and the rest will benefit the squad as a whole.

Professors Return From Conference

President Frank L. McVey, and seven members of the faculty of the College of Education have returned from Detroit, where they attended a meeting of the department of superintendence, National Educational Association, which was held there last week. Dean W. S. Taylor, Prof. M. A. Ligon, Dr. C. C. Ross, Dr. Jesse E. Adams, Mr. Louis Clifton, Mr. L. M. Chambers, and Mrs. May Dunham of the College of Education were professors who attended the event. Fayette county and Lexington were also represented at the convention by Dr. H. H. Hill, superintendent of the city schools of Lexington, Miss.

Nan Lacy, elementary supervisor of the Lexington city schools, and D. L. Dunn, superintendent of the Fayette County schools.

companies of congenial men of a literary inclination may meet together for the purpose of spending an informal evening; and to furnish the highest reward for conscientious efforts in furthering the best interests of literature in the broadest sense of the term.

Meetings will be held on alternating Thursday nights at a place yet to be chosen by members of the fraternity. Informal programs will be given at each meeting in which original works of the members will comprise a large part. Contemporary literature has been chosen as a general topic for discussion.

Associate members of the fraternity are Prof. L. L. Dantzer, Knight and Galloway, and Mr. Palmer of the department of English at the university. Professor Galloway acted as chairman of re-organization of the fraternity and was instrumental in securing the chapter for the local campus.
