My dear Major

I am sorry to hear that your brief visit to N. Y. has caused you any inconvenience.
I hope it was only temporary & that you have already found relief. Since you were here there been to Worthington City & Chicago, and struck the hot wave at its worst everywhere. Gerhous Court room in Chicago was about the hottest place I ever got into, except the train from Chicago to railroad. I got what I wanted from the judge, but the heat was too much for me & I came home about used up.

As soon as Mr. Bristow returns I propose to take her to the
