Dear Sir,

Re Baxter Communication, your invitation to me to write for the Monthly at same figure that Wallace had been paying me. The fact is that I have not been writing for the Monthly for a year or so because the price 5¢ per page was not a sufficient inducement. I suppose he would have paid me more if I had asked it as he always seemed liberal enough with me. But I never asked it and as he did not make any better offer I simply quit writing. I have offers now to write for other papers at the same rate but have not cared to accept them.

Very Truly Yours
J. H. Steiner
