Organization of Alumni Association

By H. E. CURTIS, '88

In the spring of 1889 a committee was appointed by the College authorities for the purpose of organizing an alumni association. That committee prepared and sent out the following letter which was gotten out on the stationery of the President's office and read as follows:

"STATE COLLEGE OF KENTUCKY

Lexington, Ky.,....., 188—.

Dear Sir:

The undersigned have been appointed by the A. & M. College of Kentucky to invite the graduates of the Institution to meet on Tuesday, June 4, 1889, at 2 p. m. in the College Chapel for the purpose of organizing an Alumni Association.

We trust that you will find it convenient to be present on that occasion. In the bonds of a common interest, and a common devotion to the interests of our Alma Mater, we are,

Very respectfully yours,

JO. H. KASTLE, Chairman,
Lexington, Ky.

BURTON P. EUBANK,
El Paso, Texas

WILLIAM E. KING,
Elkton, Ky."

The first Annual Report of the Association, giving the organization, etc., contains the following introduction:

"On the afternoon of June 4, 1889, sixteen graduates of the State College of Kentucky met at the College in response to an invitation extended by the College Authorities and organized an Alumni Association by adopting a constitution and electing officers as detailed in the following pages. The number in attendance was small but from the earnestness of those present it was evident that they were desirous of renewing and strengthening those 'bonds of a common devotion to our Alma Mater' which it is the main purpose of this organization to cherish and from the expression of those who were unable to be present it is believed that these few but acted out the wishes of the graduates generally. Very encouraging letters were received from the following graduates, who on account of business engagements or remote residence, were unable to be present: W. B. Munson '69, T. V. Munson '70, J. A. Dean '74, H. M. Wright and N. B. Hayes '79, J. A. Shackelford, L. K. deRoode and G. G. Berry, '82, B. P. Eubank, H. C. Jones, R. T. Ramsey, and O. V. Riley '84, R. J. J. deRoode, W. D. Lambuth and W. G. Thornbury '85, T. H. Morgan and R. L. Prewitt '86 and K. L. Hifner '87.

The Association now in its infancy needs all possible help and support from its members, and if this be given, we sincerely believe that it may yet assume proportions of which we will be justly proud, and become a power for good in 'promoting the interest of our Alma Mater'. Let all lend a helping hand and let every graduate become an active member of the Association. All who can possibly do so should attend the next meeting and make it a success.

A. M. PETER, President"

The report continues as follows:

Organization of the Association

In accordance with an invitation made by the College through a committee composed of Messrs.

J. H. Kastle, B. P. Eubank, and W. E. King, the alumni of the State College of Kentucky met in the halls of the Union Literary Society at 2 p. m. on the fourth of June, 1889 for the purpose of permanently organizing an alumni association. The following were present: N. J. Weller, M. L. Pence, G. T. Gess, W. Prewitt, J. H. Kastle, H. E. Curtis, E. L. Rogers, J. R. Scott, T. W. Shackelford, C. S. Graves, Miss Belle C. Gunn, A. M. Peter, W. E. King, J. C. Gordon, R. T. Payne, G. G. Bryan

Dr. Kastle called the meeting to order and stated its object.

Nominations being in order for permanent chairman, Dr. Kastle was unanimously elected chairman and W. E. King unanimously elected secretary.

A motion was then made and carried that a constitution and by-laws drafted by Messrs. Kastle and Peter be read as a whole and then passed upon and adopted or rejected, section by section.

The motion was put to the house and carried unanimously.

It was then passed upon section by section and adopted, with such modifications as were deemed desirable by the Association.

CONSTITUTION

Article I

of subjects of general or professional interest and social intercourse.

Sec. 2. The annual meetings of the Association shall be held in the city of Lexington on the day before the annual commencement of the College.

Sec. 3. A special meeting may be called by the President at any time upon the written request of ten members of the Association at large, or upon the request of three members of the executive committee.

Article IV

Officers

Sec. 1. The officers of this Association shall be a President, Vice President, Treasurer, Secretary, and executive committee composed of five members. These officers shall be elected by the Association in the manner provided by in Article X. The Treasurer, Secretary and three members of the executive committee shall reside in the city of Lexington, or in Fayette county.

Sec. 2. The President, Vice President, Treasurer, Secretary, and members of the executive committee shall hold office for one year.

Sec. 3. No officer except Treasurer and Secretary shall be eligible for re-election to an office after holding it for two years in succession; but after an interval of one or more years will be eligible to the same office.

Article V

President

Sec. 1. It shall be the duty of the President to call and preside at all meetings of the executive committee and of the Association, and fill by appointment any vacancies that may occur in the executive committee until the next annual election and to perform such other duties as may devolve upon him by virtue of his office.

Sec. 2. In the absence or disability of the President, the Vice President shall perform the duties of the President.

Article VI

Treasurer

It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to collect monies and pay all bills of the association, but no indebtedness shall be incurred unless previously authorized by the executive committee. No bills shall be paid unless previously authorized by the secretary. The treasurer shall present to the executive committee a written report of the financial conditions of the association at the annual meeting in June. His accounts shall be audited by the executive committee.

Article VII

Secretary

It shall be the duty of the Secretary to issue notices of all meetings of the executive committee and of the Association: To keep minutes of all meetings, to record the names, addresses and occupations of its members and to perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the executive committee.

Article VIII

Executive Committee

Sec. 1. The executive committee shall have general charge of the affairs, funds and property of the Association. It shall have full power, and it shall be the duty of the executive committee to carry out the purposes of the Association according to the constitution and by-laws.

Sec. 2. A quorum of the committee shall consist of not less than three members.

Article IX

Elections

Sec. 1. The members present at the first meeting shall elect the officers for the coming year by ballot.

Sec. 2. Thereafter, officers shall be elected at the regular annual meetings by a majority of the members present and the proxies of members sent in to be voted.

Sec. 3. The officers of the Association, including the executive committee, shall be elected from the Association at large, subject, however, to the restriction as to residence contained in Article IV of the constitution.

Sec. 3. Honorary members may be elected by the Association from among persons eminent in science, literature or art, who have been, or are now connected with the State College of Kentucky. They shall be entitled to all privileges of regular members, except those of voting and holding office, and shall be exempted from payment of dues.

Article XI

Dues

Sec. 1. The annual dues of this Association shall be one dollar, payable on or before the day of the annual meeting in each year.

Sec. 2. Any member not in arrears may become a life member and be relieved from further payment of annual dues by the payment at any one time, of twenty dollars.

Sec. 3. Members one year in arrears in payment of annual dues, may, after due notification, be dropped from the roll and shall then forfeit their rights and privileges in the Association until all arrears be paid.

Sec. 4. Only those members not in arrears shall be entitled to vote or hold office.

Article XII

Amendments

Sec. 1. This constitution may be amended at any time by a two-thirds vote of all the members present at any meeting of the Association. But any amendment to the constitution or by-laws shall first be submitted in writing to the executive committee, and must be approved by it before presentation to the Association. The action of the executive committee shall be in each case final; but final action shall not be taken on any proposed amendment before the expiration of one month from the date at which such proposal is submitted. A four-fifths vote of the whole committee shall be necessary to pass an amendment. Ballots on any proposed amendment may be sent in to the Secretary, and the vote shall be counted with those of the members present.

HOME COMING

This past week-end, November seven, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one was a glorious one in some ways for the alumni who returned to the university for the largest home-coming gathering that the alumni association has ever held at the school.

Many estimates have been made as to how many former students and graduates returned to pay tribute to our football team and refresh their memories on the pleasant days spent at the university. While those who worked to get a large crowd back have no idea as to the exact number that returned, we do know that it was the largest group ever to gather for a homecoming at Kentucky.

The day's festivities were delightful, with the exception of the game, and even it had high lights for some. Alumni registered at both hotels and at the alumni office all morning. At noon the old Strollers gathered again to discuss old times and old friends; at two o'clock the crowd started cheering the Wildcats, a well conditioned group of men fighting for the glory of U. K., but this part of the day's program ended disastrously for the team and old grads, for Wallace Wade produced a strong defensive team that was alert to the situation, waited, made a splendid break and took advantage of it. A good team was defeated by an inferior one because it lacked the finesse of a well-coached outfit.

Dr. and Mrs. McVey's tea following the game was attended by several hundred alumni and this helped to dispell the gloom of the previous feature of the program.

Finally, our homecoming was brought to a close with a dance at the Lafayette hotel for all alumni. Next year you must not miss the gala occasion of our alumni homecoming. It strengthens one's love for his Alma Mater.

* * * *

Every time an editorial is written for the Alumnus we wonder if all or any part of it will be read. Our coverage of alumni is not large. It reaches many of our graduates that have the university first in their minds when progress and education is thought of so we believe that a frank expression of opinion on the part of the Alumnus can do much to create the feeling for the university that we all so fervently hope is being built up about our great institution.

In each succeeding issue of this magazine it is our hope that someone or some several former students will be brought to the realization of what the university has actually meant to them and to the life of our commonwealth. We have written about several things that this alumni association of ours, as all others, wishes to accomplish. We have gone into great detail about athletics, and have devoted pages to expansion that this or that department has made and is still making, but now we want to bring before our former students and friends, in it's entirety, the UNIVERSITY.

Since its founding, the university has been serving the state of Kentucky in many capacities, but as education is becoming more widespread so are the services that the university offers to the students, graduates and citizens of Kentucky. Around the university a cultural atmosphere is arising and as that spreads over the State we are brought face to face with the realization that the university is a great influence and we, as Kentuckians, should lend our every effort to the leading educational and experimental institution of the State.

Many Kentuckians are graduates of some other state or denominational school, but as a state consciousness is in the minds of all our citizenry we are anxious to see them united behind the efforts of the University of Kentucky.

Alumni are in the position to bring about the feeling of good will for the university that is so essential to the progress of any great business or institution. Will you help bring to the minds of all Kentuckians a conscious understanding of our school, what it has done, is doing, and wants to do, not in the field of athletics, or extra curricular activities, but in the fullness of letters and science, helping to bring to Kentucky and Kentuckians everywhere a happier and more enjoyable understanding of life?

We need and want your help.

For the benefit of those that have called, written, and asked the question, "How much longer does Coach Gamage's contract run?", we make the following announcement: Mr. Gamage is serving the third year of a five year contract. It will expire July 1, 1934.

WITH HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

Mr. Cabel Owens, graduate of the school of engineering, University of Kentucky, has accepted a position with the highway department at Burnside. He is one of Somerset's splendid young men and made a fine record in college.

New Building Dedicated

By ROBERT H. McGAUGHEY

Dedication services of the new agricultural engineering building were held at 3 o'clock Wednesday, Oct. 28, on the Experiment Station farm, with Pres. Frank McVey presiding. Speakers for the occasion were Prof. J. B. Davidson, member of the faculty of Iowa State College and noted writer of agriculture text books, and S. H. McCrory, chief of the bureau of agricultural engineering of United States department of agriculture. Invocation and benediction were pronounced by the Rev. A. H. Pitzer.

Doctor Davidson spoke on "Development of Agricultural Engineering", and Doctor McCrory's and concrete work laboratories, and storage room for lumber, supplies and machinery.

The great importance of agriculture engineering is known to few, according to authorities in the department. The type of work was recognized as a profession in this country at a conference held at Madison, Wisconsin in 1907. Since that time the ideas in this work have been developed to such an extent that at the present day 41 colleges in the United States and four in Canada offer courses for the benefit of students in agriculture.

At present 112 students are enrolled in the department at the university. The department is composed of Prof. J. B. Kelley, head of the division, Earl G. Welch, full-time extension agriculaddress was on "Contributions of Agricultural Engineering to Rural Life." Prof. J. B. Kelley, head of the department of agricultural engineering at the university, was in charge of the arrangement for the dedication.

The building, Georgian in architecture, is spacious, adequate and equipped in every way to meet the new demands placed upon the shoulders of those who must blaze the trail to new frontiers in agriculture. It occupies a prominent position at the end of the new agricultural quadrangle, just off of Rose street on the Experiment Station farm. Pleasing to the eye, it is fireproof throughout and it is conveniently planned. It measures 198 feet across the front and is 98 feet deep. The first floor is given over to laboratories for farm motors, tractors, machinery, buildings, shops, experimental work store rooms, and tool and recitation rooms. On the second floor are the offices of the staff, drafting and blue printing rooms, and class rooms. The basement houses drainage, sanitation equipment ture engineer, and Howard Matson, part-time extension engineer and instructor. In addition to teaching, the staff conducts extension and experimental work, which has proved a great aid to the farmer. Reports show that the department has prepared 136 building plans suitable for farming conditions. Last year more than 600 sets of blue prints were requested and 1,594 buildings were erected or remodeled from plans furnished by the department. The reports also show that the department has done a prodigious amount of work in assisting farmers in land drainage and terracing.

Heretofore the department has for years carried on his work while handicapped by lack of facilities, having only a small building and two or three sheds. With the new agricultural engineering building, however, adequate quarters will be provided for further development of college instruction, and extension and experimental work in order that the members of the staff may be of greater service to agriculturalists of the state.

Blue and White Entertains Many Over Radio

By HERBIE SCHOEPFLIN

The Blue and White orchestra is now starting its second year on the air lanes of WHAS, the radio-telephone of the Courier-Journal, and the first has been a most successful one from every point of view to both studio, and to the orchestra.

In writing this little discourse on the contents of some of the "fan mail" received, no reflections are cast in any direction, in fact, we are happy that the listeners will take the time to write and tell the group what they like best, what they think of while listening to the broadcasts and to tell it be known that the orchestra is playing to a regular bunch of "fans."

During the summer so many requests for pictures of the Blue and White were received that the idea was conceived to have postcards made so that friends could see what they looked like. Two views were made, one in the garden behind the Guignol theater and the other on the stage of the same theater. The pictures were made which took about 10 days, and during this time the announcement had been made that photos were available to radio fans and the mail started pouring in from every direction, and by the time the pictures were ready the mail was so stacked up that it was some task to get each one answered and the postcard sent out. The mail seems to be well proportioned as to the sections heard from, that is to say, the coverage of WHAS is not varied but almost a perfect circle with Louisville as the center.

They have heard from the states of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee, Missouri, District of Columbia and, of course, ole "Kaintuk." The most distant points have been Washington, D. C., Roanoke, Virginia, Dayton, Ohio and Columbus, Ohio.

The programs are planned for the variety and with the hope that they please most of the listeners each time while also ALL requests will be played as soon as it is possible to get them on the programs. In some cases it is impossible to get the musical score to numbers and others are restricted for use on the radio except by special permission from the copyright owners and the Blue and White orchestra has been granted this permission just recently on two tunes which they received so many requests for, "Dancing in the Dark" and "I Found a Million Dollar Baby."

Up to the time of this writing the orchestra has received approximately 700 letters of comment and requests and each name and address is filed and recorded so that systematically these requests can be played.

Due to the wide scope of the radio the Blue and White orchestra has built up a reputation as a most desirable band for out of town engagements, and is wanted in the following cities for dances which it hopes to be able to fill so that they may meet some of their unseen audience: Louisville, Ky., New Albany, Ind., Bloomington, Ind., Seymour, Ind., Madison, Ind., Muncie, Ind., Lafayette, Ind., Henderson, Ky., Evansville, Ind., Frankfort, Ky., Cynthiana, Ky., Hopkinsville, Ky., Bowling Green, and Corbin, Ky.

Still another letter reads, "Please send me a photo of the Blue and White orchestra. Their programs are always on top of the world. Their only mistake is that they are not on the air long enough. Believe it or not." One letter received from Indianapolis from some young girls stated that they danced to the music of the Blue and White at their bridge parties, and that Spud Spaulding was a second "Rudy Vallee, and that he was their favorite and that they wanted an autographed photo of him. Another one of the fellows in the orchestra received a letter from an admirer saying that she had "fallen in love with him from the first first time she saw him," also asked for an autographed photo and for him to sing anything for her as everything he sings is perfectly adorable!" One young lady, a junior in Indiana university, sent her photograph to another one of the boys in the orchestra, saying she hoped she was not writing to anyone who was married and that she picked him out because of his "cute" smile in the picture. From numerous fans comes the saying that they put the picture in front of the loud speaker and listen and imagine what the members look like when they are on the "air." Some of the letters are almost unreadable and in one letter the "fan" asked pardon for her uneven writing as she was always nervous just after the orchestra has gone off the air. One letter the "boys" all liked said, "I try never to miss any of your programs for if I did I would feel sorry for I think you have one of the best orchestras in the United States, this includes the singers also. 'Stardust,' my favorite piece, sounds wonderful when the Blue and White orchestra plays it. I could not be thanked more for these few lines than to receive a picture of the Blue and White orchestra autographed by Spud Spaulding." Another pleasing one to the boys reads, "Your orchestra is great. Arrangements should be made to put it on from WHAS to the NBC." Still another goes like this, "Just a few lines to let you know how much I enjoy your programs. I never fail to listen, for I think your programs are the best WHAS has."

During the past summer a special broadcast was put on by the Blue and White orchestra at night through WHAS for all the U. S. Veterans' hospitals in the United States and 25 out of 27 received the program and wrote in requesting that the orchestra have another special radiocast right away. In one city in Illinois, at the American Legion club, amplifiers were put up in the auditorium and the folks danced to the music.

The radio fan mail of the Blue and White orchestra averages more than 100 letters a week, which does not include the local requests by phone.

Members of the band are:

Hugh Adcock, senior, Hopkinsville
 Gene Royse, Graduate Student, Maysville
 Max Kerr, senior, Louisville
 Zave Schuler, sophomore, Louisville
 Chas. Spaulding, freshman, Williamsburg, W. Va.
 Bruce Hoblitzell, sophomore, Louisville
 John Young, Graduate, Paris
 Herbert Schoefflin junior, Henderson
 Jim McGurk, Versailles
 Harry Thompson, Lexington.

Article III

All committees shall be appointed by the President unless otherwise ordered.

Article IV

These by-laws may be amended at any regular meeting of the Association, but only by a vote of two-thirds of those present, and provided that ten days notice in writing of the proposed amendment shall have been given to the executive committee; and also that notice of the same shall have been given by the Secretary in the notices of the meeting.

SIGNED—

C. S. Graves	J. R. Scott
B. C. Gunn	Jo. H. Kastle
Thos. W. Shackleford	Geo. G. Bryan
Geo. T. Gess	R. T. Payne
Wm. C. Prewitt	J. C. Gordon
Alfred M. Peter	N. J. Weller
W. E. King	H. E. Curtis

M. L. Pence

The Association then proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing year.

A. M. Peter was elected President by acclamation, Dr. J. H. Kastle, Vice President, William C. Prewitt, Secretary, Miss Belle C. Gunn, Treasurer, Prof. M. L. Pence, G. T. Gess, C. S. Graves, W. E. King and N. J. Weller, members of the executive committee.

A committee composed of N. J. Weller, J. C. Gordon, and T. W. Shackleford was appointed by the President who withdrew and drafted the following resolution; which was unanimously adopted:

We, the committee on resolutions, desire to submit the following:

Resolved that the members of this Association heartily concur in the present action of the Alumni of this College in forming themselves into an association.

Second, we purpose to use our best endeavors to make this Association beneficial to the graduates and the College.

Third, we desire to encourage students of the College, male and female, to become graduates and members of this Association.

Fourth, to express our satisfaction with the present meeting, both in point of pleasure and business.

Respectfully submitted and signed by the gentlemen of the Committee.

There being no further business, upon motion, the house adjourned.

Alumni Banquet

At the invitation of the resident graduates, all the alumni present, together with several members of the faculty and Board of Trustees and other friends of the College, assembled in the Phoenix hotel at 8 p. m. and enjoyed a most sumptuous banquet. It was a grand success in every respect, as was confessed by all present. After feasting to repletion on all the dainties of the season, the assemblage was entertained for some time by excellent addresses from President Jas. K. Patterson, Judge W. B. Kinkead and Dr. J. D. Clardy, members of the Board of Trustees, Judge J. H. Mulligan, Hon. J. O. Hodges, N. J. Weller and N. B. Hayes. The evening will always be remembered not only for its pleasure but also for the good college sentiments it inspired."

Then follows a directory of all the classes from 1869 and including the class of 1889. Signed, Wm. C. Prewitt, Secretary.

It is to be noted that there were no graduates in 1872, 1873 and 1876. The total number of graduates at the time of the organization of the Association was 51.

At the present writing, 24 of this number have died, six can not be heard from, leaving 21 whose whereabouts are known.

The first graduate of the institution, who graduated in 1869, is one of the 21, still living—namely, W. B. Munson, Dennison, Texas.

The writer has in his possession a copy of "The Bayonet," Vol. I, No. 1, June 1889 (Official College Publication) and under Alumni Notes is the following:

"A meeting of the Alumni has been called for the fourth of June, 1889, for the purpose of organizing an alumni association. It is earnestly desired that as many as possible will make it convenient to be present."

Attention is called also in this publication to the banquet to be held at nine o'clock that evening at the Phoenix hotel.

In these same notes concerning alumni the names of 36 members are mentioned, referring to their occupations and giving their addresses.

Winifred Nancy Johnson

Mr. and Mrs. Vinson Lair Johnson, Pinehurst, N. C., are welcoming a daughter. The baby has been named Winifred Nancy, and is the first child. Her mother was Miss Winifred Daviess, Bronxville, N. Y., and Mr. Johnson is the only son of Prof. and Mrs. Richard Johnson, Lexington.

Greathouse-Proctor

A recent wedding that is of interest to a host of central Kentucky friends was that of Miss Elizabeth Greathouse to Mr. James A. Proctor, Lexington and Winchester, which was solemnized October 21, in the Calvary Baptist church, Denver.

The bride had gone to Denver to be with her sister, Mrs. Morrison K. Bailey, who had been ill, and the wedding took place there in order that Mrs. Bailey might be present. Mr. John M. Kennedy, Denver, was also present for the ceremony.

Mrs. Proctor is an exceptionally pretty young woman and a valued member of the staff of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children. Mr. Proctor, an alumnus of the University of Kentucky, is a member of the firm of the Dixie Ice Cream Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Proctor visited in Fort Worth, Tex., before returning to Lexington, and after spending a week with the bride's mother, Mrs. W. W. Greathouse, they are at home in Elsmere park.

Hall-James

Mrs. Frank L. Ripy, Frankfort and Lawrenceburg has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Hazelrigg Hall, to Mr. Ollie M. James, Louisville and Lexington.

The wedding will be an event of the early winter.

The bride-elect was a student of Oxford College, Oxford, Ohio, and of the University of Kentucky where she was a pledge to the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Her father was Thomas A. Hall, Frankfort; she is the granddaughter of the late James H. Hazelrigg, who held the office of chief justice of the Kentucky court of appeals.

Mr. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. James, Louisville, and the nephew of the late senator from Kentucky for whom he was named.

Mr. James is an able young newspaper man, a former student of the University of Kentucky and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He also attended the University of Louisville.

Nickell-Fain

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Nickell, 422 Rose Lane, announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise, to Mr. White Elmore Fain, Saturday, Oct. 31, at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Good Shepherd, with the Rev. J. H. Chillington officiating. Only the family and close friends were present.

The bride was lovely in a blue transparent velvet gown with a blue hat, blue shoes and other accessories to match. Her shoulder bouquet was of pink rosebuds, forget-me-nots, and fern. Her only attendant was Miss Jeanne Peak who was also gowned in blue. The groom was attended by Mr. Ernest Foley.

Mrs. Fain is a former student at Henry Clay high school, and Mr. Fain is a former student of the University of Kentucky, where he was a member of the Phi Psi Phi, social fraternity. He is now employed by the Swift Company. They will make their home with the bride's parents for the present.

Rodes-Drury

Mr. and Mrs. J. Waller Rodes announce the marriage of their daughter, Ann, to Mr. William Truman Drury, Jr., on Friday, November the sixth, 1931, Lexington, Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. Drury will be at home after November the fifteenth at Atlanta, Georgia.

WILSON—OGDEN

The marriage of Miss Louella Wilson and Hayden Ogden, jr., was solemnized at nine o'clock Thursday morning at the home of the bride in Owensboro, Ky. Only members of the immediate families were present at the ceremony. The groom is the son of H. T. Ogden of Madisonville and a grand-son of the late Dr. L. C. Royster, physician of Smith Mills, Ky. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. After the ceremony the couple left for a motor trip through the South.

STAPP-EASLEY

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stapp, north Broadway announce the marriage of their daughter, Gwendolyn, to Mr. Lynn Easley, Pikeville. The wedding was solemnized Sunday night at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. A. W. Fortune, in the presence of Miss Lola Combs and Mr. Richard Heizer.

The bride is an unusually attractive and popular young girl, an alumna of Transylvania College. Mr. Easley is a student at the University of Kentucky. They will make their home temporarily with the bride's parents.

RETURNS TO ALMA MATER AT 83 TO ENTER CLASSES

Sixty-four year ago, Walter L. Church of this city, was graduated from the University of Missouri. Church has announced he will return to the university to take a post-graduate course. He is 83 years old.

He was a student at the University of Missouri during the last years of the Civil War. At that time Federal troops were quartered in the university buildings and guarded the school.

Although he holds four degrees from three universities, Church said he planned to return to the Missouri university when the next school year starts. He will specialize in sociological and educational subjects. He received a bachelor of arts degree from the university in 1867 and a master of arts degree in 1870.

In 1866 he went to the University of Kentucky and received a doctor of divinity degree. A few years later he received a bachelor of laws degree from Washington University at St. Louis.

Church made and lost a fortune during the gold rush days in Alaska. He recouped his fortune, however, by practicing law. In 1900 he retired.

H. P. INGELS JOINS NEW YORK BROKERAGE FIRM

Lexington relatives and friends of Howard P. Ingels learned lately that Mr. Ingels, already a partner in the Wall street firm of Theodore Schulze and Company, Inc., has been made a member of the firm of Munds and Winslow, of Broad street.

Announcements of Mr. Ingels' new connection, issued by Theodore Schulze and Company, stated that the company was expanding the scope of its business to include general brokerage. In this connection, a letter from the firm stated, "As the most satisfactory way of entering this field, we have united our activities with Munds and Winslow, in which firm Theodore Schulze, Howard P. Ingels and N. Peter Rathvon will become general partners, effective May 5. We are preparing to become active not only in securities, but in leading commodities.

Mr. Ingels, son of E. S. Ingels, of 135 Woodland avenue, visited his father over the week-end of the past week. He has been connected with Wall street since his graduation from the University of Kentucky in 1905, and has been a partner of Theodore Schulze and Company since the World war.

ADVISER TO SIAMESE MONARCH

The chief industrial and development adviser of King Prajhipok of Siam, theoretically an absolute monarch, who is now on a visit in the United States to have a cataract removed from his eye, is a Louisvillian, Capt. Herman F. Scholtz, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Scholtz, 1432 Cherokee road.

While he holds no governmental title, Captain Scholtz is head of the International Engineering Company and controls the carrying out of the plans of the King to modernize the little Asiatic kingdom. His firm is in charge of the construction of the railroads, hydro-electric plants, pumping systems to flood rice fields in time of drought, paved highways, ice plants, and other modern conveniences.

Mr. Scholtz, who is the chairman of the board of the Joseph Denunzio Fruit Company here, said his son enjoyed the intimate confidence of the King and was virtually in control of the budgets and plans for public works. Captain Scholtz was educated at the du Pont Manual Training High school, the University of Kentucky and Cornell University. During the World war he was a captain in the 138th Engineers Corps.

Former University Student Is Honored

Louis Bryan, former student at the university and now cadet commandant at the United States Naval Academy, was recently honored by being chosen to escort Mlle. Josette Laval, to a tea given at the academy in her honor.

Bryan, whose home town is Jett, attended the university during the years of 1926 and 1927. Last year Bryan was the outstanding tackle on the midshipmen's football team and was named on several all-American teams. He did not play football while at the university.

While in attendance at the university, he was active in campus activities and was a member of Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity.

J. E. Conboy, University Graduate With N-J Staff

This week, Mr. Joseph E. Conboy, a graduate of the journalism department of the University of Kentucky, has entered upon the discharge of his duties as an associate editor of the New-Journal. —News-Journal, Campsbellville, Ky., Thursday, October 29, 1931.

Special to the Kentucky Alumnus, October 22, 1931—Miss Llewellyn Jones of the class of '27, who is now social director of the world's largest hotel, The Stevens, Chicago, has recently been asked to become a member of the Chicago branch of the National League of American Pen Women, which includes in its membership roster some of the outstanding women writers in the United States. In connection with her duties as social director, Miss Jones contributes personality sketches to several Chicago papers and also writes for a number of periodicals including the house organ of her hotel.

Within the past week Miss Jones has also been appointed director for the state of Illinois of the International Association of Social Executives. The association will hold its annual convention in Chicago next May with The Stevens as headquarters.

TALKING ABOUT THE WILDCATS

As each day passes it becomes more evident that the Kentucky-Tennessee game to be played on the Wildcat field at Lexington on Thanksgiving Day will attract what probably will be the largest crowd ever to see a football game in Kentucky. Last fall 25,000 persons saw Alabama and Kentucky clash on Stoll field. It looks like standing room only for the Tennessee game this fall.

From all parts of the state, players have come to the university to be members of Kentucky's freshman team this fall. This squad, while not the largest ever to come out for football, is certainly one of the gamest and best balanced outfits. To them go a lot of credit for the success of the Wildcats because of the opposition given them in scrimmage, and how those freshmen are looking forward to being members of the Big Blue team next fall.

U. K. ENGINEERING GRAD TRANSFERRED TO JAPAN

W. G. Hillen, formerly of Louisville, a graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Engineering in the class of 1927 has been made chief engineer of Tokyo Carrier Kogzo Kabushiki Kaisha a subsidiary of the Carrier Engineering Corporation, and will leave soon for Japan, according to a letter received by Dean F. Paul Anderson.

Since his graduation from the University, where he made an excellent record in his studies, Mr. Hillen has been conducting the training school for young Carrier engineers at the main offices in Newark, N. J.

SIX STATES SEND AG. PUPILS HERE

Seventy-four Kentucky counties, six other states and one foreign country are represented in the enrollment in the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, this year.

Fayette county has the largest student representation, 14 boys and 27 girls. Fayette is equalled by Boyle county in interest in good farming, the latter county also having 14 boys studying agriculture.

Of the six counties bordering Boyle, only Lincoln and Garrard have boys enrolled in the College of Agriculture. However, girls from Washington, Mercer, Casey and Marion counties are studying home economics.

Eastern Kentucky is well represented this year, there being students from Perry, Pike, Magoffin, Knott, Bath, Estill, Lewis, Knox, Harlan, Greenup and Breathitt counties.

Other states sending students to the Kentucky College of Agriculture are Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Virginia. Russia is the only other country represented.

ANDERSON'S TRIBUTE TO ENGINEERING WIZARD

Dean F. Paul Anderson, head of the College of Engineering, University of Kentucky, who personally knew Thomas A. Edison, paid the following tribute to the great inventor, whose death is mourned by the nation:

"Thomas Edison has erected a monument of scientific and engineering accomplishment that will last to the end of time.

"His fundamental contributions enlarging the scope of man's most important senses—seeing and hearing—make him immortal.

"No greater were his material bequests to man than were those heritages of kindness, gentleness, fairness and appreciative interest in others he has given to posterity to emulate."

CONN VISITS HERE

Fred Conn, graduate of the university in the class of '29 and for four years advertising manager of The Kernel, is a visitor in the city for several days. Mr. Conn is at present on the advertising staff of the Sherman Democrat, Sherman, Texas.

U. K. SUB-STATIONS FUNCTIONING WELL

The work of the University of Kentucky agricultural experiment sub-stations at Quicksand and Princeton were praised by Louis Hillenmeyer in a report made Wednesday to the executive committee of the board of trustees of the institution, Mr. Hillenmeyer, a member of the board, was designated to make a study of the work in the extension units at an earlier meeting of the committee.

Of the Quicksand station, Mr. Hillenmeyer stated he found the property and equipment there "being well cared for and apparently used in a practical way which should inspire confidence and be an example to those who live in that section."

He also praised activities at the Princeton unit, saying that it is "just beginning a great work."

Two resignations accepted by the committee were those of Julian M. Dyer, agricultural agent in Henderson county, and C. J. Maupin, field agent in poultry improvement. Miss Bess Parry was appointed clerk in the agricultural engineering section of the College of Agriculture, and a leave of absence from Feb. 1 to June 1, 1932, was granted to Harry R. Allen, chemist at the experiment station. Mr. Allen plans to continue his study for a doctor's degree.

The meeting was held in the offices of President Frank L. McVey, and was attended by the following committeemen: Judge Richard C. Stoll and E. B. Webb, Lexington, and Robert G. Gordon, Louisville. Dr. Wellington Patrick, secretary of the board, also was present.

KENTUCKY BAND THRILLS CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Playing stirring military marches and southern football songs, the University of Kentucky's 90-piece band took the national capital by storm today after its arrival for the Kentucky-Maryland football game this afternoon at College Park.

From the Union Station the band paraded up Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol, where it played several numbers.

Marching to the tune of the school song, "On, On, U. of K.," the band went back down Pennsylvania avenue to the National Broadcasting Company's studios where it gave a 30-minute program over a national hookup.

The Kentuckians received cheers all along the line of march and those on the street crowded the curbs to get a glimpse of the students dressed in colorful blue and white uniforms. The band sponsor, carrying a large bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied with blue ribbon, got a big hand all along the route.

Following the broadcast, the band went through its various formations for news reel cameras. An attempt was made to have the band received by President Hoover, but it could not be arranged.

HONOR R. O. T. C. SQUADS LISTED

Company winners of the squad competitive drill held Monday and Tuesday were announced and designated honor squads for the first semester, according to general orders issued Tuesday by Capt. W. A. Cunningham, university military department.

The squad winners of each company, their platoon, and their corporals are as follows:

Company A: Second squad of the third platoon; S. C. Osborne, corporal.

Company B: Third squad of the second platoon; J. C. Bishop, corporal.

Company C: Second squad of the first platoon; R. J. Kercheval, corporal.

Company E: Fifth squad of the second platoon; R. D. Vinson, corporal.

Company F: First squad of the third platoon; M. W. Guthrie, corporal.

Company G: Sixth squad of the third platoon; W. Lowenthal, corporal.

Company I: Third squad of the first platoon; H. Van Antwerp, corporal.

Nearly 300 students took part in this event. In each company two of the best squads from each platoon were chosen to compete with each other. Senior officers of the company judged the contest.

Club News

A letter from R. E. Clark, secretary of the Cleveland Club of University of Kentucky Alumni tells us that the Cleveland Club is still one of the most active ones we have.

Members of the club had a beach party at Madison, Ohio on the lake in July. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Bewlay.

On Saturday, October 24th, the University of Kentucky alumni were entertained at a bridge supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Day, at Lakewood. This was the first fall meeting of the year and a good number were in attendance, including three new members, Aubrey L. Sparks, '31, and Mr. and Mrs. William Glenn, of Barberton, Ohio.

Mr. Clark tells us that James M. Nieding, '15, was married in July to Miss Rebecca Horsman at Highland. Mrs. Nieding is a graduate of Ohio University. Mr. Nieding holds a responsible position at the main office of the Cleveland Trust Company.

Mr. Clark says that the members of their club have been watching the progress of the Wildcat team and wish them luck.

(Editor's Note: Oh, for more club secretaries like Mr. Clark! Secretaries, send in your notes for publication. Let all alumni see that you are alive.)

The re-organization meeting of the Louisville Alumni club was held Friday evening, October 30, at the University club in the Brown building. About 35 alumni of the university attended this meeting. Ben King, president of the club, presided.

After a delightful dinner, President King called on some of those present to say what they thought of having a club in Louisville. It was decided to have a club there and to hold quarterly meetings. Mr. L. K. Frankel and J. S. Shropshire were also asked to express an opinion.

Among those from the Lexington Alumni Club who attended the meeting were Miss Billy Whitlow, Miss Anna May, Miss Virginia Conroy, Miss Betty Hulett, L. K. Frankel, A. A. Bablitz, and James Shropshire.

The next meeting of the Louisville Alumni Club will be held in January at the University Club. The program will be planned by the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association.

There was quite a bit of discussion about the University playing a game in Louisville in 1932. Members of the Executive Committee were asked to take up this matter with the Athletic Council when they had received the formal petition from Louisville.

The members of the Executive Committee, appointed by Ben Garr King, to have charge of the January meeting are: Ben J. Collings, chairman; E. F. Schimpeler, Earle Grabfelder, G. T. Bogard, Tom A. Ballantine, Berl Boyd and Joseph M. Robinson.

Those attending the meeting of the Louisville

Alumni club Friday evening, October 31, 1931 were: Mesdames: Ben J. Collings (Bess Hayden), '10; A. A. Krieger (Eugenia McCulloch, '06; James R. Leach (Mary Elizabeth James), '24; Edd R. Gregg ("Cissy" Peterson), '24; Tom A. Ballantine (Marie Pfeiffer), ex-'27; and Homer Puckett, '27.

Messrs: G. T. Bogard, '08; Bowman Webb, ex-'28; Bob Mitchell, ex-'21; W. B. Wendt, '06; S. J. Ridd, '13; N. Gray ("Rooster") Rochester, '12; E. F. Schimpeler, '12; Ben Garr King, '28; Joseph M. ("Sap") Robinson, '18; Arthur D. Bickel, '26; Ben J. Collings, '11; Homer Puckett, '04; Edd Gregg, '22; Berl ("Senator") Boyd, '22; Tom A. Ballantine, '25; John R. Bays, '23; Lawrence Curry, '31; Ken Larmee, '31, Earle Grabfelder, M. E. Trumble, C. W. Moseley, Wendle M. Smock, Chas. M. "Buck" Thomas, S. H. Mashburn, F. H. Johnson, D. O. (Dud) Williams and Russell Mayhall.

Guests: Mrs. Lawrence Curry and Mrs. M. E. Trumble. Misses: Billy Whitlow, Virginia Conroy, Anna May, Betty Hulett. Messrs: W. C. Forsythe, A. A. Bailey, L. K. Frankel, Jas. S. Shropshire.

A number of times we have received letters from you and others requesting information as to the activities of the University of Kentucky Alumni of Chicago, for publication in the Alumnus. Although late, the old saying is, "Better late than never."

We recently had the pleasure of joining with the Kentucky Society of Chicago, the Kentucky Society of Evanston and North Shore, and the Kentucky Society of the South Side, in a Kentucky jubilee. This party was held at the Congress Hotel Ballroom room, and we are attaching to this letter the invitation sent out to the members of the various societies and their friends.

Mr. C. H. Gullion, connected with Swift and Company of Chicago, of the class of 1904, presided over this jubilee, and his introduction of the celebrants and talented people on the program carried one back to the time when oratory was in vogue and the Kentuckians were known for their ability to speak as no others could.

Mr. Gullion's introduction of Opie Read, one of Kentucky's celebrants, who is still much in the public eye in spite of his eighty years, was presented by Mr. Gullion in these words: "England had her grand old man in William E. Gladstone. If we touch but lightly on the world old—sprinkle in a full measure of endearment—and bear down heavily on the word grand, we may well say that Kentucky has her grand old man in Opie Read, author, lecturer, story teller known in many lands, but once a Kentuckian—always a Kentuckian—our own Opie Read."

Other former Kentuckians on this program of entertainment at the Kentucky jubilee were Miss Fannie May Baldrige of the National Broadcasting Company, who rendered entertainment for the delight of the Kentuckians with stories of Southern atmosphere, and a sublime Negro spiritual.

Tom Corwin, the inimitable imitator, known as the Rin Tin Tin of the air, carried everyone back

WEAVER-JACOBS PLAY IS STROLLER TRY-OUT BEST

"Between Trains," presented by Miss Marjorie Weaver, Louisville, and James Jacobs, Cumberland, was judged best of four one-act plays given recently in the training school auditorium for the 16th annual amateur night of Strollers, student dramatic organization at the University of Kentucky.

Honorable mention was given to "Have a Pill," with Miss Elizabeth Jones and Robert Gaitskill. Approximately 200 persons witnessed the performances, which were judged by Misses Helen and Willy King, Prof. Enoch Grehan, Lawrence Shropshire, and O. K. Barnes.

William Ardery, director of the organization, announced that Strollers will present a play before the Christmas holidays and that rehearsals will be started soon. He also read the following list of 60 eligibles for Strollers chosen during the try-outs:

Phil Ardery, Virginia Bosworth, Elizabeth Greene, Marjorie Weaver, Elizabeth Jones, Katherine Walsh, Donald McGurk, Margaret Sidner, Bettie Boyd, Caroline Stuart, Gene Luening, A. Fisher, Betty Watkins, Robert Gaitskill, Calvin Applegate, Louise Johnson, Alfred Miller, Mary Higgison, Marjorie Weist, Phoebe Turner, Helen Bierley, Dorothy Day, Armer Mahan, Martha Gunnerman, Andrea Skinner, Ray Stark, Sara Bethol, Dorothy Williams, Ruth Rogers, Bill Conley, Mary Stuart Blackwell.

DEAN W. E. FREEMAN RETURNS FROM MEETING

W. E. Freeman, assistant dean of the College of Engineering, and Mrs. Freeman returned Monday night from Kansas City, where Dean Freeman attended the bi-annual meeting of the Southwest district of the American Institute of electrical engineers, held October 22-24. This conference was attended by delegates from Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, and Arkansas.

A student session was held Thursday in connection with the conference. At this time, students from the various states presented technical papers in competition for money prizes. The first prize was 15 dollars, the second 10 dollars, and the third five dollars. Friday and Saturday were devoted to technical sessions at which various members presented technical papers. On Friday afternoon, the National executive committee met to handle the business of the American institute of electrical engineers. Dean Freeman was vice-president of the committee.

Before returning to Lexington, Dean and Mrs. Freeman visited with Captain and Mrs. James Taylor, at Fort Leavenworth. Captain Taylor was stationed at the University of Kentucky four years ago.

CLASS OFFICERS ELECTED AT U. K.

Efforts of a group of independent students at the University of Kentucky to break the reign of organized groups in achieving elective honors proved futile October 26 in the annual class elections when fraternity and sorority nominees were declared winners in all of the races.

The elections this year were the most hotly-contested in the history of the school since the independent students formally organized their party and placed an entire ticket in the field.

Balloting on class officers continued throughout the day under supervision of the men's student council.

Edwin Humphries, Georgetown, nominee of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, was elected president of the graduating class. Miss Virginia Young, Lexington, a Kappa Delta, was named vice-president; Miss Jane Bland, Lexington, Zeta Tau Alpha, secretary, and William E. Florence, Augusta, Alpha Gamma Rho, treasurer.

Other officers selected in the election follow:

Junior class—Malcolm Foster, Nicholasville, Pi Kappa Alpha, president; Ellis Johnson, Ashland, Alpha Tau Omega, vice-president; George Skinner, Lexington, Delta Tau Delta, secretary.

Sophomore class—Ralph Kercheval, Lexington, Delta Tau Delta president; Miss Muriel Wiss, Morristown, N. J., Zeta Tau Alpha, vice-president; Miss Hazel Nollau, Lexington, Kappa Delta secretary.

EXTENSION DIVISION MAINTAINS CENTERS IN 17 CITIES

The department of university extension each year carries on extension teaching in various cities of the state. This semester the department has extension centers at Ashland, Carlisle, Brookville, Covington, Danville, Falmouth, Frankfort, Louisville, Maysville, Newport, Nicholasville, Paris, Salyersville, Somerset, Stanford, Versailles, and Williamsburg.

For the past two or three years the number enrolled in extension classes during each semester has been around 1000 individuals with about 700 taking correspondence courses. According to a statement by the department, there will be a slight increase in enrollment during the present year.

The members of the university faculty who are giving courses during the present semester are:

Dr. Jesse E. Adams, College of Education; Mr. W. A. Heinz, hygiene department; Prof. A. J. Lawrence, College of Commerce; Prof. Rodney Sullivan, College of Commerce; Dr. J. T. C. Noe, College of Education.

Dr. W. W. Jennings, College of Commerce; Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, zoology department; Prof. Edward Newbury, psychology department; Prof. A. C. McFarland, geology department; Miss Mildred Lewis, music department, and extension department combined; Mrs. May K. Duncan, College of Education.

Prof. J. S. Mitchell, College of Education; Dr. George K. Brady, English department; Prof. R. L. Lunde, history department; Prof. L. L. Dantzer, English department; Dr. Paul K. Walp, political science department; Prof. E. F. Farquhar, English department; Dr. Edward Tuthill, history department; Prof. L. C. Carter, College of Commerce.

HORTICULTURISTS TO MEET HERE DECEMBER 3-4

The annual winter meeting of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society will be held at the experiment station of the University of Kentucky December 3-4. The first day's program will deal with orchard management and insect and disease control, while marketing problems and small fruits will be discussed the second day. The society and the College of Agriculture will cooperate in the program.

STAPLTON, JONES REPRESENT U. K. AT REGIONAL MEETING

Ben C. Stapleton, head master of Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity, and John Jones, treasurer, represented that group at its annual regional convention recently held in Columbus, Ohio. Five chapters were represented at the meeting which was held at the Delta Sigma Pi chapter house, Ohio State University.

Officers of the local chapter are: head master, Ben Stapleton; senior warden, John Hieber; junior warden, George Stewart; treasurer, John M. Jones; scribe, Walter Hadymon; historian, Robert McVey; chapter adviser, Prof. R. D. McIntyre; senior guide, Earl Surgenor; junior guide, Paul Todd, and chapter correspondent, Al Kikel.

U. K. AGRICULTURE STUDENTS HEAR TENNESSEAN

Farming is now, as it always has been, the bulwark of the nation, and the return of prosperity is going to wait upon farming, Dean C. A. Wilson, of the Tennessee College of Agriculture, declared at an assembly of agricultural students and faculty at the University of Kentucky.

He said that there probably never would have been any depression, had prices of farm products been maintained at the same levels as those of manufactured goods. Manufacturers have insisted on keeping their prices up, he said, while farm prices have continued down since 1920.

As a result, "they killed the goose that laid the golden eggs," he added, pointing out that farmers comprise the nation's greatest potential market for manufactured articles. Farmers, now, however, must produce one and one-half times as much in order to have the same necessities as in 1905-10, and they have gone on a buyers' strike, he said.

Professor Willson believed that farmers, with all their troubles, now are in a better condition than industry. "They have a job, and there must always continue to be a demand for their products at some price," he continued. "They have food and clothing and a place to keep warm. The boys and girls that went away to the factories are coming back to their father and mother. There are indications that farming is more appreciated."

Dean Thomas P. Cooper introduced Dean Willson.

Prof. Fordyce Ely presented the members of the student judging team who won eighth in a contest of 23 state teams at the National Dairy Exposition in St. Louis recently. The team was fourth on Jerseys and eighth on Guernseys and Ayrshires, and eighth on all breeds. George Harris, Carrollton, was the best individual judge of Jerseys, among the representatives of all 23 states, and won an American Jersey Cattle Club scholarship worth $600.

Other members of the team were Ollie J. Price, Princeton; Kelley Cromwell, Clinton, and Edgar Heathman, Nicholasville.

175 FARM HOME AGENTS GATHER AT UNIVERSITY

The annual conference of agricultural extension workers opened at the Experiment Station, University of Kentucky, recently. Approximately 175 county and home demonstration agents and field agents and members of the faculty of the College of Agriculture were in attendance.

Most of the week was devoted to lectures, with general assemblies each morning, addressed by Dr. C. B. Smith and George E. Farrell, of the United States department of agriculture, B. B. Derrick of the federal farm board, and members of the university faculty. T. R. Bryant, assistant director of the extension service of the College of Agriculture, presided at the meeting.

Subjects discussed at the sectional meetings included: "Status of Cooperation Among Farmers of Kentucky," "Diseases of Dairy Cattle," "Coddling Moth Control," "Concrete Mixing," "The Kentucky Farmers Management Problem in the Present Agricultural Situation," "The Use of Shade Trees Around the Farm Home," "Infectious Abortion in Cattle," "Harvesting and Threshing Lespedeza Seed," and "Poultry Possibilities in Kentucky."

Dr. Smith spoke at the Wednesday morning assembly in the livestock pavillion. The county agents held all their meetings in the pavillion, while the home agents met there in the mornings and in the agricultural building in the afternoons.

Women attending the conference gave a party in the livestock pavillion. A banquet was held on Thursday night.

CLAUDE MARSHALL, FORMER U. K. STUDENT, FATALLY HURT

Claude Marshall, 23 years old, of Ashland, former University of Kentucky student, died at Ashland Monday, Nov. 9, of injuries received in an automobile accident near Salt Lick in Bath county at midnight Saturday night while he was on his way to Lexington to attend homecoming celebrations of some of his former classmates.

The accident occurred near Salt Lick Sunday morning when Marshall's car left the road and overturned three times. Marshall did not see a sign warning that the road was being repaired, it was said. Frank Guthrie, also of Ashland, who was in the car, escaped uninjured. Marshall was taken to Ashland.

Homecoming Day Was Colorful Event

Hearty handclasps, cheery greetings, outstretched arms of welcome and other forms of cordial salutation swept aside all other incidental features of Homecoming Day at the University of Kentucky.

About 3,000 old grads and former students returned for the festivities to give their Alma Mater one of the most colorful homecoming celebrations in its history. Despite the facts that the Wildcats suffered defeat at the hands of the Duke Blue Devils, it was a wonderful day to all who were here.

Adding to the holiday appearance given to Lexington by appropriate window displays in downtown stores were the colorful decorations arranged at practically all of the sorority and fraternity houses. For the most original decoration, SuKy, student pep organization, offered silver loving cups. Judges in the contest were Prof. Enoch Grehan, Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, Miss Anne Worthington Callihan, and Miss Virginia Nevins.

The Alpha Gamma Delta house won first prize for the sororities. A battered and bruised face, representing the Duke players after the game, covered the entire entrance to the house. Kappa Sigma won first place for the fraternities. The house of that group was covered with paper painted to represent a stone prison. In the doorway was a hanging figure, wearing full dress, above which was a scroll bearing the words: "The Fate of Duke, A. D., 1931." In the yard at the Kappa Sigma house was a grassy mound, covered with flowers, and headed by a tombstone, bearing the name WADE.

After the game, the alumni were guests at a beautiful tea given at Maxwell Place by President and Mrs. McVey. Several hundred guests were present. They received a hearty welcome from the members of the faculty and staff who were present.

At 6:30, Strollers, student dramatic organization, held a dinner meeting at the Lafayette hotel. Many Stroller alumni were present. This Stroller meeting is an annual event and takes place each year on Homecoming Day. Leo Sandman, '14, Louisville, was elected as chairman in charge of a program for the next meeting. Mr. Sandmann was one of the organizers of Strollers and designed the Stroller pin.

Saturday evening, from 9 until 12 o'clock, the Lexington Alumni Club entertained with an alumni dance at the Lafayette hotel. About 600 people were present. It was a fitting climax to end an almost perfect day. A good orchestra, a wonderful reception, many old friends whom we had not seen for years and the spirit of the University of Kentucky all combined to make everyone have a grand time.

Very few of those who were here registered at the Alumni headquarters. However, we were able to get a few of the names. Some of those present were:

ARRANGE LAW CONVOCATIONS FOR U. K. LAW COLLEGE

A series of convocations in the law school, University of Kentucky, to which the public is invited, has been arranged for November and December, Dean Alvin E. Evans announced.

The first address was made by Dr. Charles J. Turck, president of Centre College and former dean of the Kentucky law school, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, November 12.

Other prominent men who have agreed to speak at the following convocations include Dean Merton L. Ferson, of the University of Cincinnati law school, on "The Technique of the Common Law;" Judge Richard P. Dietzman, Louisville, chief justice of the Kentucky court of appeals, on "The Work of the Court of Appeals," and J. Verser Connor, Louisville, president of the Kentucky State Bar Association, on "The Relation of the Bar Association to the Law School." Judge Simeon S. Willis, prominent Ashland jurist, will also probably deliver an address in this series.

Judge Lyman Chalkley is preparing an address on "The Jurisprudence of the Scandinavian Countries" to deliver at a convocation some time in November in connection with a study of those countries sponsored by Pan-Politikon, student organization for the study of international relations.

MCVEY ASSISTS AT INAUGURATION OF N. C. PRESIDENT

Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, has been to Chapel Hill, N. C., where he acted as official representative of the southern colleges and universities at the inauguration Wednesday of the new president of the University of North Carolina.

Dr. McVey remained in North Carolina the remainder of the week, working with a state commission expected to draft recommendations in connection with the proposed consolidation of the University of North Carolina, the Women's College and Agricultural and Mechanical College.

In addition to Dr. McVey, others who assisted the commission in its work were Dr. George Works, University of Chicago; Dean Ford, University of Minnesota, and President Wickenden, of the Case Scientific School, Cleveland.

SARGENT FUNERAL AT LOUISA MONDAY, NOV. 9

Funeral services for Emmanuel Marvin Sargent, 24, for several years a member of The Lexington Leader news and advertising staffs, were held Monday afternoon, Nov. 9, at 2 o'clock at Louisa, conducted by Rev. J. H. Francis, pastor of the Williamson Baptist church.

Six of his fraternity brothers, members of University of Kentucky chapter, Lambda Chi Alpha, acted as pallbearers. They were Cary Burchett, Gordon Finley, Vernon Chandler, Howard Matthews, William Preston and Neil Plummer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Plummer, Lexington, friends of the Sargent family, went with the aforementioned to attend the funeral services.

Mr. Sargent died Friday night, Nov. 6, at an Ironton, O., hospital following an extended illness.

ALABAMA 9; KENTUCKY 7

Denny Stadium, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Oct. 31.—The University of Alabama's Tide like all others, may rise and fall, but each year it manages to reach its peak against University of Kentucky elevens. This afternoon was no exception and the Crimson Tide turned on with its greatest game of the 1931 season to completely out-play the fighting Wildcats and win their ninth consecutive football victory over the Kentuckians with a 9 to 7 final.

Only once did the Kentuckians carry their offensive into the Crimson's territory. That occasion came on the third play of the second quarter when "Shipwreck" Kelly, Kentucky's fleet back, raced off right tackle, reversed his field and ran 57 yards for a touchdown. It was the first score of the battle and Capt. "Babe" Wright added the extra point to give Kentucky a 7 to 0 margin.

With that touchdown and extra point advantage the approximately 200 Kentucky fans who were included in the 10,000 that witnessed the contest saw visions of an end to Alabama's long rule of this annual melee. And they will always speculate on what the ultimate outcome of today's game might have been had not a Kentucky fumble on the Wildcats' own 26-yard stripe been recovered by Moseley, of Alabama.

Kercheval stood near the back edge of the end zone to boot out for the Wildcats. Throughout the second quarter he had succeeded in getting his kicks away from his point before the fast-charging Alabama line got to him, but on this occasion Laslie came too fast and blocked the efforts. The kicker used quick judgment in recovering the ball and allowing only two points instead of six, had it been recovered by Alabama. It ended the day's scoring with the Tide on top, 9 to 7.

On the next play, Kercheval, punting from his 20-yard line booted the ball 65 yards in the air to Holley, who received it on his own 15-yard line. It was the longest punt ever made on the Alabama field.

How completely Alabama had the advantage of Kentucky in rushing the ball was shown in the statistics which gave the Tide 11 first downs to the Cat's one, the result of Kelly's long run. The Crimsons ran through Kentucky's line for 126 yards and added 102 on flank maneuvers for a total of 228 yards gained in running against the 'Cats' 77, which included 61 yards on end runs and 16 on line plays. Kentucky passed three times and completed one for no gain, while the Tide took to the air 11 times and gained 30 yards on three successful heaves. Kercheval punted 16 times for an average of 40 yards against Cain's average of 38 yds in 12 kicks.

Kentucky received at the start of the second half, Kelly taking Whitworth's effort on his 11-yard stripe, ran the ball back to Kentucky's 43-yard line. Johnson tried the left end without success on the first play and then Kelly streaked out through right tackle, reversed his field and stepped out of the arms of Holley and Cain to run for a touchdown. His interference cared for him nicely all the way.

Following that touchdown, Alabama came back with a vengeance and put over a marker.

Following the touchdown that came after Kercheval's fumble, Whitworth kicked off to Kentucky again and the third period ended after Kelly had carried the ball twice for eight yards and a third down on Kentucky's 28-yard line.

In the early part of the final period the Kentucky team seemed to crack, but improved as the quarter waned. However, it never possessed a threat against Alabama, although the 'Cats tried everything they had.

WILDCATS TURN BACK GOBBLERS

Playing on a soggy field and in a muggy atmosphere, the Kentucky Wildcats turned back the Gobblers of V. P. I. by a 20-6 score, Oct. 31, on Stoll field. Brilliant runs plus clever head-work outshone the ragged playing of certain sections of the line in the Big Blue's second conference win.

The half ended with the score standing 7-6 in the 'Cats' favor, and the first downs 9-8 in favor of the driving Virginians. Kentucky supporters felt none too easy over the situation, but the third-quarter comeback set their fears at ease while the fourth quarter continued in the same vein.

As usual, "Shipwreck" Kelly played an outstanding game. His line drives showed a world of power, and his knife-like slices off-tackle plus his celerity around end provided the color and dash that the spectators cry for. In Ralph Kercheval, Kentucky has discovered a ball carrier of great possibility and a punter of no mean quality. Ellis Johnson replaced Urbaniak and turned in as good a record as has been turned in by the Ashland boy since his days as a freshman.

Captain "Babe" Wright proved his knowledge of football in an act that few noticed, but one that deserved plenty of credit. It was on a play that called for a forward pass from way behind the line. A wave of Virginians surged back to swamp Johnson, who saw he was trapped. In his haste he heaved the ball at the first blue jersey he saw, and the first he saw was Wright. The ball came straight and hard as a bullet but "Babe" dropped to the ground, with almost incredible speed, to allow the pigskin to pass over him uninterfered with. Had the ball touched him it would have gone to the opponents.

Expecting sloppy going, the Big Blue went out onto the field dressed with two jerseys, but the weather proved to be hot (76 degrees) and extremely humid, and may have caused the line to slow up as the half drew to a close.

The Gobblers got a bad break when they fumbled ed on their own 26-yard line. Johnson and Skinner recovered for Kentucky; and line smashes by Kelly and Kercheval gained a first down. On the next play, Johnson skirted an end, reversed his field, and crossed the line standing up. Wright added the extra point in a perfect kick from placement.

KITTENS BEAT SEWANEE

Despite the fact that an autumnal drizzle fell from murky clouds all during the game Saturday afternoon, the University of Kentucky Kittens proceeded to paint soggy Stoll field with sunshine and a hard-earned 20-0 victory over the freshmen eleven of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tennessee. The Greenies were led in their attack by the blond-haired Jack Jean, stellar half-back from Owensboro.

The game was stubbornly fought throughout and it was not until the final moments that the scattered Kentucky fans felt at ease for the Kittens. The Sewanee frosh presented a well-balanced team that held its own for the greater part of the game, only to weaken in the final moments and allow the Kittens to shove across a third touchdown.

The Kittens seemed to be taking things easy throughout the four periods of play and had it not been for the work of the dazzling Jean the Kentuckians would not have made as good a showing as was turned in with the final result.

GEORGIA TECH-KENTUCKY CAGE GAME CANCELLED

The Kentucky-Georgia Tech basketball game, scheduled for Jan. 7 at Atlanta, has been cancelled, Adolph Rupp, coach of the Wildcats, announced. The reason for calling the game off is that Tech plays a post-season football game December 26 and Coach Roy Mundorf will not get his men in time to prep for the Kentucky tilt.

Canceling the game means the Wildcats will lose a proposed trip southward, but Coach Rupp is working on another trip. He has written Washington University at St. Louis, Marshall College, and West Virginia for games away from Lexington.

DUKE AND KENTUCKY FANS BET THEIR PANTS

Georgetown, Ky., Nov. 7—It happened at a Georgetown eating house. The gang had gathered for its nightly discussion of the week's football games when one gridiron fan loudly acclaimed that Duke University would win over the University of Kentucky football team this afternoon. A Wildcat supporter lost no time in disputing the former's statement and after a few minutes the debate reached wagering proportions.

The Duke supporter gathered together $13.08 which was quickly covered by the Wildcat fan, but the argument started anew. Having already wagered all his cash the Duke believer offered to bet his tie. Off came the ties.

Next came the hats, and finally the garters, but neither seemed to be satisfied.

"Bet you my pants," said the man who favored the Wildcats.

"You're on," said the other.

Off came the pants....

UNIVERSITY ANNOUNCES ART EXHIBIT PROGRAM

Universities have harkened to the murmurs rising from the market place. No longer are they sequestered with forgotten things of the mind; they are bending their energies to the solution of practical problems. Ideas evolved in the classroom, and formulas arrived at in the laboratories are brought forth for the use of busy people. Sometimes foreknowledge of their destination limits the quality of these ideas rather severely, but, anyway, the ideas are made more accessible than they used to be.

Universities serve their communities well in these practical matters. Meanwhile the ideals of the great teachers are not forgotten; candles are kept burning on the high altars of culture and learning, whatever the grime of mundane affairs. So there is still a place for the Fine Arts in the program of every university worthy of the name. This evidence is perhaps the most enduring of all, for these things measure the quality of life in a community more surely than volumes of trade. "Man can not live by bread alone."

The University of Kentucky, in proportion to its resources, makes very worth while contributions to the cultural life of this community. There are the weekly vespers in Memorial Hall where good music can always be heard and frequently the concerts there are of major importance. Something the game is true of the exhibitions held from time to time in the Art Center for the enjoyment of university people and public alike. Every person in a progressive community is entitled to such opportunities as these and the university takes a commendable initiative in offering them, free to all who care to come.

Lexington may some day build an art museum with a concert hall adjoining it so that the cultural life of the whole community can be centered there and its art activities focused in a way to emphasize their civic importance. Meanwhile the University of Kentucky is bringing art exhibitions each year which are comparable in quality to those scheduled for the larger museums and galleries. Four of the exhibitions coming to the Art Center on Euclid avenue this season are on museum circuits and will be shown in New York, Cleveland and Cincinnati as well as in Lexington before the year is ended.

The exhibition season has already opened with a display of printed silks from the collection of Miss Julie Michelet, of the Art Institute of Chicago.

The University announces the following exhibitions to be held at the Art Center during the coming season:

Nov. 2-14—Water color paintings from the John Herron Art Institute, Indianapolis.

Nov. 15-28—American cotton textiles from the American Federation of Arts.

Dec. 10-24—Contemporary prints—Lithographs, etchings, wood-cuts—from the Weyhe and Downtown galleries, New York, through the cooperation of the Cincinnati Art Museum.

Jan. 18-Feb. 6—Contemporary American book illustrations including drawings by Rochwell Kent—
—from the Lakeside Press of Chicago.

Feb. 8-29—Exhibition of self portraits, by contemporary artists of all countries, assembled by the College Art Association.

March 1-25—Modern textiles by Ruth Reeves, leading textile designer—from the Art Center, New York.

March 28-April 9—Pencil drawings by Kenneth Conant, who is in charge of the excavations and restorations of the famous Cluny Monastery.

April 16-June 4—Water color paintings in the modern idiom, including the work of Charles Demuth, Ernest Fiene, Maurice Prendergrast and Rockwell Kent—from the American Federation of Arts.

June 6-18—Annual exhibition of student work, department of art, University of Kentucky.

Other exhibitions may be scheduled for the dates still open. The University is definitely engaged in making art of museum quality more accessible to its students and all the people of Lexington.

CLUB NEWS

to the small Kentucky town he knows so well.

We are attaching hereto clipping which appeared in the Chicago Tribune, May 29th issue, telling a brief story of the event in a general way.

We thought the Alumnus would be interested in the above, and are passing same along to be used as you see fit. So much for the Kentucky jubilee, and back to the University of Kentucky Alumni of Chicago proper.

The University of Kentucky Alumni of Chicago entered into golf competition on the 26th day of May and a grand time was had by all. All told, there were four foursomes competing for low score and trying to set a course record for the well known Olympia Fields Country Club, of which we have a number of members in the Chicago Alumni group.

After turning in the scores on the 18th hole, the party then continued at the 19th hole, and a good time was had by all. As far as who won the tournament that has not been settled, and some time this Fall we will go into the matter a little more deeply, and take on any challenger of other alumni including the Lexington group, should they feel ambitious. Such being the case, have them communicate with the writer and he will see if we cannot take care of them to all satisfaction.

Trusting that you will be able to use the above some time in the near future, the writer begs to remain,

Yours very truly,

C. B. SAUER, President,
U. of K. Alumni, Chicago.

A meeting of the Executive Board and officers of the Alumni Club of Southern Ohio and Northern Kentucky of the University of Kentucky will hold a meeting Monday evening at the home of Miss Lillian Rasch, president of the club, on West Eleventh street, Covington, to formulate plans for the annual dance given by the club during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. John R. Bullock has been appointed chairman of the committee for the dance, assisted by Messrs. I. B. Helburn, Lawton Daily, Carl Rueskin, Neal Carroll, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Reynolds, Miss Adele Slade, Miss Virginia Ebbert, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Elsey and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whaley.

The dance is one of the delightful social functions of the Thanksgiving holidays, as it brings the members of the alumnae together for a very happy reunion, and large groups of their friends and the Northern Kentucky boys and girls who are students of the university will be passing the holidays at their homes.

SPEAKS IN KANSAS

Dr. Jesse E. Adams, member of the College of Education faculty, University of Kentucky, has left to attend the Kansas State Teachers' Association meeting in Lawrence, November 5-7. On the first day he addressed the university and college section, on the second day he went to Chanute, Kansas, to speak before the high school section, and on the final day he addressed the University of Kentucky Alumni club in Wichita.

LOCAL ATTORNEYS TO ATTEND STATE FRAT CEREMONIES

George W. Meuth and Rodes K. Myers, local attorneys, plan to go to Lexington tomorrow where they will participate in the installation of a chapter of the Order of the Coif at the University of Kentucky.

The two local men, who are graduates of the university, have been honored by being selected as members of the new chapter.

The Order of the Coif is comparable to Phi Beta Kappa only, it is stated. It is to the law schools what Phi Beta Kappa is to the arts and sciences colleges.

The English Order of the Coif was of very ancient origin. It is said to antedate the Norman Conquest.

From its members were chosen the judges of the Court of Common pleas and for a time the judges of the King's Bench and of the Exchequer were also appointed from among the Serjeants of the Coif. The English order controlled legal education through the Inns of Court.

The name is taken from the word used to designate the cap the members wore.—Bowling Green, Ky., News, Friday, October 16, 1931.

WILDCATS LOSE TO DUKE BLUE DEVILS

Wallace Wade continued his nine-year jinx over Kentucky football teams when his Duke Blue Devils defeated the Wildcats by a 7-0 count Saturday afternoon on Stoll field. Approximately 12,000 fans attended the game.

The Blue Devils did not play like a Wade-coached team except that they exemplified the old Wade luck and took advantage of a break to win the tilt. In the third quarter, Johnson had dropped back to pass on his own 20-yard line and Crawford, Duke end, seeped through as the Devils had all day, grabbed Ellis' arm and deflected the ball into the air. It was taken by Hawkins, Blue Devil tackle, who raced to the goal line and was tackled on the three-yard line by Skinner. The big tackle crawled the remainder of the way to the twin white lines to get the lone score of the day, and "Kid" Brewer, Duke captain, put the game on ice with his placement.

The Wildcats outfought, outgained and outplayed the visitors.

The fact that Kentucky gained 262 yards to 59 for Duke is sufficient proof that the Wade men were outplayed. On paper it would seem to the average reader that the Big Blue should have had at least three touchdowns, as they threatened three times in the first stanza alone.

STUDENTS MAKE GOOD RECORDS
AT ST. LOUIS

The University of Kentucky furnished the best judge of Jerseys and its student judging team ranked eighth among the 28 state teams judging cattle at the National Dairy Exposition in St. Louis.

George Harris, Carrollton, stood first as an individual judge of Jerseys, and received a $600 scholarship from the American Jersey Cattle Club of New York. Other members of the Kentucky team were Edgar Heathman, Nicholasville; Ollie J. Price, Princeton, and Kelley Cromwell, Clinton. They were trained by Prof. Fordyce Ely, head of the dairy department in the College of Agriculture.

MUSIC SORORITY PLEDGES

Kappa chapter, at the University of Kentucky, of Phi Beta, national honorary musical and dramatic sorority, has announced the pledging of 10 co-eds and one honorary member.

The new pledges are Misses Jean Foxworth, Elizabeth Hardin, Katherine Drury, Sara Bethel and Ruby Evans, all of Lexington; Lucille Couch, Princeton; Madeline Shively, Sturgis; Mary Hopper Laytham, Maysville; Alice Francis, Newport, and Mary Taylor, Madisonville. Mrs. Nanette Bryon, Lexington, was pledged as an honorary member.

Donna Patricia Lane

Mr. and Mrs. Fon Rogers have received news of the arrival of a second daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Lane, at Long Beach, Cal.

She is called Donna Patricia Lane in honor of her father. Mrs. Lane was formerly Miss Magdeline Rogers, Lexington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fon Rogers.

MARTIN NEW EDITOR

The November issue of "Poultry Science," an outstanding scientific magazine devoted to the poultry industry, will carry an announcement of the selection of Prof. J. Holmes Martin, head of the poultry husbandry department, University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, as its new editor. This high honor has come to Professor Martin in recognition of his contribution to scientific information in poultry raising. The magazine of which he is now editor contains valuable reports of scientific work with nutrition, genetics, pathology and economics, as related to the poultry industry. It is the official publication of the Poultry Science Association, which held its annual meeting at the University in August.

UNIVERSITY STUDIOS TO BROADCAST PLAYLETS

Prof. Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the University of Kentucky remote control radio studio of Station WHAS, Louisville, has announced a series of four Kentucky folklore playlets which will be presented on consecutive Friday programs, beginning Nov. 13.

These playlets will be under the direction of Prof. Frank Fowler, director of the Guignol theatre. They will present several aspects of Kentucky history, including a scene from the siege of the old Bryan Station fort, a Civil War romance, and a modern story laid in the oil fields of western Kentucky. The plays will go on the air at 1:15 o'clock and will continue 15 minutes.

Professor Sulzer also announced an indefinite series of weekly musicales on the university radio-cast, presented under auspices of Phi Beta, honorary musical and dramatic sorority, with Miss Loretta Bitterman in charge. These classical concerts will be offered from 1 to 1:15 o'clock each Friday afternoon.

FORMER UNIVERSITY GRID STAR DIES

Burial services for George Trieber, 25 years old, former university grid star, who died at his home, 129 Clay avenue, were conducted at the St. Peter's Catholic church with the Rev. Father Joseph Klien officiating. Trieber died as the result of a heart attack.

An effort was made to save Trieber's life by rushing him to the St. Joseph's hospital after he was stricken at his home but he died before reaching medical aid.

While a student at the university Trieber was an outstanding football player in 1927 and '28. Commenting on his death Coach Harry Gamage said that he was a "hard scrapping end and we all liked him mighty fine." He was out of school for three years before playing end in 1928. At the beginning of the season he weighed 200 pounds, but by hard work and strict attention to duty, brought his weight to 170, said Coach Gamage.

YEARLY SU

The King's Penance

By Mrs. P. D. Tryon, Minneapolis Junior League. One of a series of TIME advertisements prepared by Junior Leaguers.

In December, 1170, Archbishop of Canterbury, Thomas à Becket was foully murdered before the altar in Canterbury Cathedral by henchmen of King Henry II. In vain Henry fasted, wept, denied responsibility. God-fearing bishops, clerics and laymen, knowing that the death of Saint Thomas occurred after hasty words uttered by the King; knowing also, that it followed years of bitter controversy between Henry and Becket on questions of Church versus State privilege, doubted his sincerity, thirsted for his excommunication.

Back in Normandy, after the conquest of Ireland (undertaken at this time partly to escape visits from papal legates), amid his dissension-ridden French provinces, Henry found himself still in bad odor with the church, ardently desired reconciliation. At Avranches he buried his pride, met legates of Pope Alexander III, before whom he swore to innocence of the murder, and as penance for his angry words promised many concessions. To complete his submission he secretly vowed a final humiliation.

As TIME, had it been published July 16, 1174, would have reported subsequent events:

Idle onlookers at the gateway of the town of Canterbury last week watched weary travellers plodding barefooted toward the great Cathedral. Object:

Cultivated Americans, impatient with cheap sensationalism and windy bias, turn increasingly to publications edited in the historical spirit. These publications, fair-dealing, vigorously impartial, devote themselves to the public weal in the sense that they report what they see, serve no masters, fear no groups.

to visit the shrine of the late Archbishop, Thomas à Becket, sainted martyr of the Roman Catholic Church.

Bloodstained footprints in the dust behind him drew the attention of the bystanders to one pilgrim in particular. Ruddy, square-jawed, freckle faced, noble in mien, though in the garb of a penitent, he made his way thru the dusty street of Canterbury followed by a crowd of the curious, who soon knew him to be his most gracious Majesty, Henry II, King of England, Duke of Normandy, Count of Anjou, Maine and Touraine, Count of Poitou, Duke of Aquitaine, suzerain lord of Brittany.

Up the steps of Canterbury Cathedral, into the vaulted silence they followed. King Henry straightway descended into the crypt, threw himself at the foot of the sepulchre of Saint Thomas, where he lay prostrate with outstretched arms, bitterly groaning, weeping, the while Gilbert Foliot, Bishop of London ascended the pulpit and addressed the multitude.

Eloquent, he adjured them to believe the King's assertions of his innocence of the murder of Becket and to accept this humiliating penance as proof of his regret for the passionate expression which had led to the crime, albeit unintentionally. The expression: "Will none of the cowards who eat my bread, rid me of this turbulent priest," uttered shortly before the murder to a group of courtiers.

Not yet content, burly King Henry repaired to the Chapter House, where were assembled eighty monks and bishops. Here he stripped, bent his bare shoulders, received from each monk three, from each bishop five stinging lashes with a monastic rod.

Bruised and bleeding he returned to the shrine, fasted, and watched the night thru, at dawn took horse to London where he arrived next day. His Majesty is still confined to his bed. . . .
