All Gowks' Day Produces Ha-Ha On U. K. Campus

University Personages Recall Pranks Foisted on Them

By A. A. DAUGHERTY

"Nay, nay," quoth Eleanor Smith, the old housewren, when asked if she had ever been victimized on All Gowks' day, the anniversary of which is observed at the university today, April 1.

J. Delmar Adams, on the other hand, never laughs at the venerable gag that "Professor Zlich will not meet his class today—your needn't come. Adams is good at fooling others, too.

When in high school he once gave his geometry teacher a nasty letter with pepper in it. There is no connection between that and the fact that she flunked him in the class.

Professor Portmann, boarding house monger of the old school, recalls a time when he switched a fried omelet for the manner of better smeared on either side of a circular piece of cloth. Flannel cakes, as they are.

Justice Cook—this story is very ordinary—reports that he switched some baking powder, vice versa, in his containers, the night of one March 31. Next morning, April 1, he found his flour not any worse than usual.

Uncle Enoch Grehan reminisces that he was in a car when 16 years old, by a newspaper story that a street car had "fallen in" on West Main street, and had completely disappeared. Great crowds, said the story, were congregating at the scene, and he had completely gathered up his dog and laying them down in rapid succession.

There may be something fishy about the notice on the Commons bulletin board announcing that the All-American basketball team should see Mr. W. C. Price today at the Lafayette Hotel. To-day's sports editor of the publication in ambiguous notices, but naturally no one would think of an all-American team.

Imperial Scribner Larry Heron recounts that he rang his landlady's doorbell with the idea of fooling her. When she had opened his tone-lashing him she was no landlady, "cause ladies don't knock on doors."

Colonel Sheils, the old Frankforter, used to think it great fun to use messages for wayward roommates to telephone certain numbers when they came in. Fried, the college wickerer, says that people who do this are "old-fashioned."

Which is phony if not funny. U. K. and U. of L. To Debate by Radio Each Team Will Broadcast From Own Studio; Contest To Be April 18

With each team broadcasting from its own university studio, the University of Louisville will participate in a debate by radio, Monday, April 18, at 8 o'clock.

The debate will be broadcast from 1 until 1:50 o'clock and loud speakers will be installed in each of the studios so that the debaters may listen directly to the speeches of their opposites. Each team will present two principal speakers and a rebuttal.

According to plans announced by Prof. Elmer C. Sulzer, director of the studio, the broadcasting will be switched directly from one studio to the other and will be heard by the radio audience's opinion of the success of this type of broadcast will be made by the number of letters to the Louisville studio. If this debate proves successful from a standpoint of a broadcasting feature, it will be repeated.

FRATERNITIES TO PLEDGE Pledging exercises by Alpha Zeta Psi, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Sigma Kappa and Block and Bridge club will be features of the "Ag" society party to be held at 6 o'clock Saturday night on the experiment station farm.

Other features include an announcement of new officers of the W. Y. C. A. and pledging by Phi Upsilon Omicron, the new home economics society. Elizabeth Poole, W. A. C. president, will preside.

SALE SELECTED ALL-AMERICAN

Captain-Elect Is Chosen on "College Humor" Quintet as Outstanding Forward in South

Forest "Argie" Sale, captain-elect of the 1922-23 Wildcat basketball team, was selected as forward of the College Humor magazine's All-American basketball team.

Both Krause and Sale were awarded positions on the first team, the latter being placed at a forward berth as running mate of Lou Bender, Columbia's captain. It was impossible to choose between the pair, so the lanky Kentucky center was shifted to forward, where he has played at times during the year with the high scoring Dixie quintet.

"Forest Sale was the leading scorer of the Southern league, averaging nearly 15 points per game although having to overcome the handicap of being a marked man. He was the star offensive player of a great scoring machine, the Kentucky center, who was outplayed by boy, was not outjumped all season.

He was a fighter, a ball-hawk and an outstanding worker. Coach Ray Ellerman, Washington and Lee, said of him, "Sale was the best rebound man in the conference, and never failed to score heavily though all of Kentucky's opponents pointed their defensive efforts for him."

The All-Americans, in Les Gage's own words, are "And so, our nominations for the All-American basketball roll of honor have been completed for the winter—and may we be spared the haunting memories of the winter." First team: Bender (Columbia) and Sale (Kentucky); forwards: Krause (Notre Dame), center: Wagner (Purdue) and Berger (Maryland); guards: Second team: Loughlin (Navy) and Lindholm (U. of L.); forwards: Stewart (Auburn), center: Spahn (C.O.N.Y.) and Tuckett (Butler); guards: Light (Minnesota), and Sexton (Arkansas).

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB MEETING Mrs. Edna M. Giles, house mother of Boyd hall, Lexington, England, will entertain members of the Cosmopolitan club at 6 o'clock tonight in the dining room of Boyd hall. The dinner will be followed by a business meeting, and all members are urged to attend.

ROTARIANS HEAR ADAMS Dr. Jesse Adams spoke before the Richmond Rotary club at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night in connection with "ladies' night." His subject was "Personal Relationships."

OPTIMISTIC VIEW TAKEN DESPITE VETOING OF BILL

Court Action Required For Schools To Receive Money Provided in Budget

REMEDYING DECISION IS EXPECTED SOON

Situation Caused by Laffoon's Unintentional Misreading of Millage Tax Measure

(Special to The Kernel) Frankfort, March 31—Little danger ultimately exists that the University of Kentucky will be without funds throughout the next biennium although a clause in the state budget bill repealed continuing existing appropriations, authorities believe.

Nevertheless, the necessities growing out of the situation and Governor Laffoon's unintentional vetoing of the bill placing the millage tax in the general fund will call for a decision by the courts to permit state educational institutions to receive the money that has been provided in the repealed budget bill.

Governor Laffoon in signing the reduced Kentucky budget bill, unwittingly approved a clause that repeals the millage tax contribution to the schools. The clause provides that "all annual and continuing (but not recurring) appropriations (later source) appropriations not provided for in this act and all other laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed."

Therefore, if the conditions of the bill were to exist unchanged the instructional institutions would be confronted with the possibility of being without funds for the fiscal year. The possibility of this contingency early today caused a furor among educational officials throughout the state, but when the news was somewhat lessened as the educators were assured that court intervention could ease the situation.

—THE JESTER

COURAGE, KENTUCKY

The test of a great leader is the confidence vested in him by his subordinates; the salvation of an institution, the confidence of its leader. Such confidence and co-operating and persevering spirit as that revealed by both the faculty and President McVey in facing squarely and unflinchingly the present unstable financial condition of the University of Kentucky can lead to nothing other than the readjustment of immediate prospects and, in the near future, the re-establishing of a more favorable outlook.

President McVey, speaking of the university's financial problems, addressed, Wednesday, in Memorial hall the assembled faculty group. The substance of his talk is detailed in other columns of today's Kernel. In reviewing the present phases of the university's income struggle during the last fiscal year and explaining the difficulties in counterbalancing the decreased revenue, not once did the president evince a pessimistic outlook. He declared in value of taxable properties from which the university has derived the bulk of its income, the legislature's reduction of the proposed budget and its failure to provide the state with a suitable revenue measure. Governor LaFolton's subsequent resort to his veto power, and the consequent reinstating of the millage system as the university's only available source of revenue—all have been stated. President McVey outlined these conditions, only too well known by him and by the faculty, and revealed the severe cut in salaries that he had recommended as the only possible escape from the mounting deficit already confronted by this institution, the faculty did not signify the slightest dissent. On the contrary, the president's words were met with understanding and sympathetic applause.

The faculty had no overt reason for responding to the president's address in the manner in which they did respond. They had every reason for assuming a downcast and dissatisfied attitude: salaries have been decreased once this year; the second cut of which President McVey advised them will again lower their individual incomes, in all approximately 50 per cent for the remainder of the year; March salaries, due Thursday, were not distributed even in part, and will not be until after April 14; a similar delay in distribution of pay checks never before has been recorded in the history of the university. Yet President McVey was applauded. He was interrupted by applause during the course of his address, and as he concluded, the handclapping demonstrated sincere and earnest cooperation.

Although the university's activities may be somewhat curtailed to face existing conditions, as long as the indomitable perseverance revealed by the university's employees and its leader remains so steadfast.

THE COLLEGE STUDENTS—for, of course, they are, although eastern colleges received the information that they had given no students official sanction to investigate any thing—were, to quote their petition (to Governor LaFolton) demanding protection against intimidation and violence in southeastern Kentucky, "were forcibly expelled by officials of Harlan and Bell counties." Accomplishing nothing, the children have returned to the East to agitate for a senatorial inquiry into Kentucky coal field conditions.

Plans Are Completed For K. E. A. Banquet

Dinner Will Be Held Thursday, April 14, in Louisville

Plans have been completed for the university's twentieth annual banquet in connection with the Kentucky Education association, which will meet April 13, 14, and 15, in Louisville. The banquet will be held at 6 o'clock Thursday night, April 14, at the Brown hotel.

Pres. Frank L. McVey will preside and addresses will be given by Miss Florence Hale, president National Education association, and Mr. J. H. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction, Frankfort. The Men's Glee club of the university will furnish music for the occasion. Tickets for the banquet may be procured from Dr. Jesse E. Adams, chairman of the committee, and from Dr. Wellington Patrick, of the department of extension.

The program for the banquet: Address, "Our Future in Education," Miss Florence Hale, president National Education association, Augusta, Maine.
Music during the dinner hour will be furnished by the Men's Glee club of the university. Group singing will be led by J. W. Ireland, superintendent of schools, Frankfort.

Group of Concerts Will Be Presented

The concert band will present the first of a series of twilight concerts at 7:15 o'clock Thursday night, April 21, in the Memorial amphitheatre, according to an announcement made by Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the band.
These concerts will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock and will be concluded at 8:15 o'clock. The other dates are April 21, May 5, 12, 19, and 26.

Plans for the concert programs include special program for the concert, May 16, which will be dedicated to the memory of John Philip Sousa. At this time eight band directors from neighboring localities will be present as guest conductors, and each will direct one or two numbers. The program will consist entirely of selections composed by Sousa.

Pamphlet Published By Publicity Bureau

"University of Kentucky Guide," is the title of a new pamphlet recently published under the sponsorship of the publicity bureau of the university. It contains a guide to all buildings on the campus and gives instructions to tourists who wish to see these buildings.

The book contains a short history of each structure on the campus and lists the rooms and offices and the use of each room. Two maps are included in the publication and a suggested campus tour is outlined for visitors. The work was published with the thought of being of service to both the staff members and students of the university.
The book is being distributed to students and visitors at the university. Historical spots in the Bluegrass and beauty spots in central Kentucky also are pictured.

Boxes Collected By Alpha Gamma Delta

Collection of the mite boxes which have been deposited in the fraternity and sorority houses on the campus began yesterday by members of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Final results of this second campaign for funds will be announced as soon as all boxes have been collected.

The original drive began February 15 and closed March 31, extending over a period of six weeks. Because members of the faculty contribute the majority of the donations raised in the first drive, it was decided to sponsor a new campaign among the social organizations on the campus. One-third of the proceeds will be given to the unemployed in Lexington and two-thirds will be contributed to the Student Loan fund.

College Students' Beliefs Surveyed by Professor

By DOUGLAS ADDISON

With the idea of determining the attitude of modern college students of the United States with regard to present-day social and political problems, a list of 25 propositions dealing with concepts relating to these subjects was presented to 306 college seniors from seven mid-western denominational colleges. Results of the survey are outlined by Prof. George D. Dudycha, member of the faculty of Ripon College, Ripon, Wisconsin, in an article, "Social Beliefs of College Seniors," which appears in the March American Journal of Sociology. Professor Dudycha conducted the survey.

Believing that the nature and stability of a social group depend, in part, upon the beliefs and attitudes of the individual members who compose that group, Professor Dudycha undertook to ascertain the extent of belief or disbelief of college seniors with reference to certain problems, modes of behavior, and concepts. Since the questionnaire was submitted to students during the second year of 1930, and thus almost at the close of their senior year, their responses, Professor Dudycha believes, were no doubt colored to a greater or less extent by four years of college instruction.

Particular attention is drawn to the first three propositions which deal with vital social institutions—home, marriage, and the church. It is noted that 85 per cent of the seniors believe that the home is a necessary social institution, that 91 per cent believe that marriage is indispensable to society, and that 89 per cent believe that the church is one of our necessary social stabilizers. The results are not taken to indicate that these representatives of modern youth have lost faith in the home, and that they look upon marriage as a ritual of the home, marriage, and the church, of outworn taboos and liturgy. Another interesting feature of the test results is that 67 per cent of the subjects and believed by only 14 per cent.

The survey shows also that seniors believe in democracy, have faith in the United States government, but do not trust implicitly many of government officials. They favor the Golden Rule as a standard in society, indicating that they recognize rights and privileges of others. They do not believe that the white race is superior or that class distinctions should be made in modern society, nor do they believe in equal distribution of wealth.
Professor Dudycha believes that, from the results of the test, the social beliefs of the college senior have a social philosophy in harmony with the leaders among their elders.

Band Directors To Meet April 14

The Kentucky Band Directors' association will hold its final meeting of the year Thursday, April 14, in Louisville in connection with the Kentucky Educators' association which meets there at that time. Members from Lexington who will attend are S. B. Griffith, director of the Lexington public school band; E. O. Kidd; and Prof. Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the university band and president of the association.

Since the organization of the association in the fall, it has expanded until at present it includes practically all band directors in the state. Meetings are held three or four times a year for discussion of problems of public school music.
The program for this meeting is in charge of a Louisville committee and probably will include the presentation of numbers by the Louisville Male High school band.

Officers of the association are John Lewis, Jr., Winchester, vice president; Howard Hal, Frankfort, secretary; and Victor Moore, Somerset, treasurer.

SEEN FROM THE PRESSBOX

By Ralph E. Johnson

As far as the sports department is concerned the high spot in this week's news is the fact that Forest "Aggie" Sale was selected by Les Gage, College Humor sports editor, as a forward on College Humor's All-American basketball team.

And the person who least suspected it was "Aggie" Sale. It is a great honor, for College Humor annually picks the only important All-American basketball team. Kentucky is proud of Captain-elect Forest Sale.

Captain-elect Forest Sale is a member of the basketball committee of northern basketball luminaries attempted this year, for the first time, to select an Official All-American. They did this thing and it went out through the Associated Press wires, but received very little publicity. They must have used the blindfold test in their selection.

"Aggie" Sale was the only southern player named on their first squad.

Up until the time their selection appeared there had been very little stir about their intentions, but all through the season Les Gage has been in touch with the athletic department of this university, as well

Interscholastic Field Day Plans Are Formulated

Bernie Shively Announces List of Events and Trophies

Entries for the state interscholastic track meet will be mailed from the University of Kentucky early in April. The meet, which was won last year by the Post Manual of Louisville, will be held here on Still field on April 30.

Under the direction of Bernie A. Shively, varsity track coach, all events will be held on the University field.

The meet was resumed last year under the supervision of Mr. Shively after a lapse of seven years. More than 3,000 persons saw various events in which more than 200 students participated.

Trophies for the winners will be similar to those awarded last year. Again they will be dedicated to the memory of the late John Edward Madden, financier, philanthropist and sportsman.

The trophies, which are as valuable as those awarded in outstanding collegiate meets, will include the following: set of golf clubs for each event; silver trophy to the winner of the mile relay; individual gold medals for the winner of the 440 yard relay; medals for the members of the team; cup to the individual high point scorer, and a plaque to the championship team.

Plans worked out by Coach Shively call for the following events: 100 yard dash; 220 yard dash; 440 yard dash; 880 yard dash; one mile run; 120 yard hurdles; 220 yard hurdles; high jump; pole vault; broad jump; shot put; javelin; discus; one mile relay, and 400 yard sprint relay.

Any high school in the state is eligible to enter a team of any size in the meet.

Twenty-two teams from all parts of the state were entered in the meet last year, with du Pont Manual winning with a total of 72-1/2 points. In winning, Manual was led by Burton, who scored 19-1/2 points.

The other teams scoring came in the following order: Berea, 52; Male, 32; Covington, 14; Barry of Manual of Henderson, 11-1/2; Middleboro, 8; Shelbyville, 5; Paris, 4; Newport, 4; Dayton, 4; Fulton, 3-1/2; University High school of Lexington, 3; Pineville, 1-1/2.

Two new records were set during the meet, Burton, of Manual, jumping 23-1/2 feet in the broad jump, and then turning in a record time of 25 seconds in the 220 low hurdle.

HUMMELL WILL GIVE LECTURE

"The Electronic Bombardment of Potassium Vapor," is the subject of a lecture which Dr. A. D. Hummell will give at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the lecture room of the physics building. Doctor Hummell is a professor at Eastern State Teachers' college and is a member of Sigma Pi Sigma, honorary physics fraternity. The public is invited to attend his lecture.

ORGANIZATIONS

All social organizations on the university campus desiring pages in the May day publication of the Sukey circle are requested to notify Neil Dishman, associate editor of the book, at the Alpha Gamma Delta house, at once. The book will go to press within the next few weeks.

The governor's intention was to repeal the appropriations bill in order that the existing millage system, whereby the educational institutions receive their income from tax sources, would continue in effect. He also vetoed the tax reduction bill in order that the schools would continue to receive the same amount of revenue from these sources as they have in the past.

At the same time the placing of Kentucky on an operative and inclusive budget basis would have necessitated the repeal of the millage distribution, and the bill had been framed to this effect. When the governor had completed his cuts and had signed the bill, the unlooked-forly eliminated both sources of income.

Early court action is expected to redress the legal mistake. The educational institutions are at present in an unstable financial condition and further reductions in revenue would result most disastrously. It is feared. School authorities are confident that the matter will be remedied and that the courts would not allow the legal tangle to close the schools.

BOWLING SEASON ENDED

The faculty bowling league voted Wednesday night to close the 1931-32 season at the end of the Wednesday evening match on the Ansonia norman alleys. The position of the teams was Echlin, Electronics, Possis, Microbes, Cadavers, and Molecules. Entrance fees and prize money will be returned to the members of the league by their respective captains.

NO CADET HOP SATURDAY

No cadet hop will be held Saturday, according to an announcement made late yesterday by members of Scabard and Big Band. The dance has been postponed until April 8, because of High School week events which are being held in the Alumni gymnasium.
