

to match the ribbon bonnet, and whatever kind of narrow strings are worn, i.e. to match bonnet or flowers. I send two samples of ribbon and would like my bonnet to be the prettiest shade between the two.

In my last letter I forgot to say how ^{much} yards of silk cord I want. $\frac{3}{4}$ of a yd.
will answer.

By coming in time for our reception, Sister would have had a pleasant time, I think, but I know she will have a more pleasant, in L- as she knows so many persons already.

If Sister stays later than the 1st of July I will not see much of her, as I can not make so long a visit in Mayssville as she & Amy will.
How is Father? I hope not still confined to the house.

Mrs Foster sends you her best love, and says be sure to tell you that you have a "right nice daughter up here". She has offered me one of her grand Lettie says she feels better to-day. There is no permanent change for the better that we can see.

In haste, with much love.
