

L.S. met me so cordially here. Lottie walked down the very next evening to see me and staid although sister & Phebe were out. We both went to choir meeting, with Phebe. Mr & Mrs McL. were both there. She slipped up behind me and put both hands over my eyes. I take peculiar pleasure in having other witness these little demonstrations, because of my past trials. Mr McL. Mr Kate Athur & I took turns in pumping the organ. Lottie assisted in singing. They sang several fine anthems & chants. You dont know how much I enjoy any thing of this kind. I have said nothing about this here, because it is something that cannot be helped. They are trying to have a street railroad here. Then I shall be made up, because I can go and come without any trouble.

Mr B. wrote to Richard about a letter recently received about the Iowa lands being in danger of being sold for taxes. Sister requested me to mention it - for fear he may not have received the letter. I was sorry I could not tell him "good bye". I did not attend to half my shopping. I wish one of the girls would get those yokes at Madame Muller.
I do not know the price. I will send the money by Kate. I owe you 10 cts for grapes. and please let me know if there is any thing more for expressage etc.
Phebe and I are cooks today, and the funeral is this afternoon, and I promised my usual Monday visit, and having spun out two long letters, must suffice for one days work.
