FRESHMEN OPEN THEIR FOOTBALL SEASON THIS P. M.

Georgetown Cubs Will be Opponents of Kittens

PLAY IN STADIUM

Very Little Known of Scott County Team

The freshman football team of the university will play its first game of the season this afternoon in the new gridiron. Their opponents will be the Georgetown freshmen.

Coach Ecklund has drilled his men in the fundamentals of the game and they are primed for the whistle.

The prospects are promising in the university for a championship freshman team. Few injuries have happened to the men this year and it is probable that two or three men for each position will be available at all times.

Scrimmages against the varsity have shown that the candidates are in excellent condition and they will know how to handle themselves when pressed into action.

The freshman line is rather heavy this year, backing up a shifty and fast backfield. The forward wall will average 185 pounds while the backfield will average about 165 pounds.

The probable lineup for the game will be as follows: Shoulte, I.; Hickerson, L.; Belt, L.; Pence, C.; Arnold, R.; Stevenson, T.; Martin, R.; Jenkins, G.; Ellis, L.; Van Arsdale, R.; Ross, L. All of the remaining

KASTLE HALL TO HAVE ADDITIONS

Chemistry Building to Have Two New Wings

Plans and specifications for the first addition to be made to the New Chemistry Building—better known as Kastle Hall—which was completed in 1910, are now in the hands of the Chemistry department.

This addition consists of two wings, each 60 to 100 feet, which will be at each end and to the rear of the building. The new space will be taken up mainly by laboratories and recitation rooms.

The contract for this extension has been in the hands of architects since the first of March and this fall was let to Coolidge and Shattuck, architects, of Boston. Arrangements have also been made for future extension of the building by converting the present lecture rooms into laboratories, and building new lecture rooms at the rear, between the two wings.

This will be done at a later time. The plans now decided upon are practically the same as those for a chemistry building at Johns Hopkins University, and Dr. Frayser, of that institution, has commented very favorably upon them.

BEGINNING OF THE BOND MOVEMENT

The following article is taken from the "Bond Issue Campaign Book," by Chester Gourley:

After the whisky excise tax was held unconstitutional, the state road department was left with only a small amount of funds for construction, especially in view of the fact that a number of old state aid contracts continued under construction and money was necessary to meet the state's portion of those obligations. The result of this was that many counties in the state voted road bonds and donated the proceeds to the construction in the counties respectively voting the bonds. At the session of 1922 of the General Assembly a bond issue of $50,000,000 for construction of the state primary system provided by the act of 1920, was proposed and advocated by the Kentucky Good Roads Association. The bill met with great opposition and failed of passage.

The movement for the bond issue was renewed by the Kentucky Good Roads Association in the early months of 1923 and that association, through the advocacy of a $50,000,000 bond issue for road purposes until a movement was launched just after the November election in 1923 to increase the bond issue to $75,000,000 to provide funds for the various educational and other institutions of the state for permanent improvements and also to fund the state floating debt.

Mr. John M. Atherton, of Louisville, a retired business man, who has been much interested in philanthropy and the advancement of education, in a letter to Mr. Desha Breckenridge, published in the Lexington Herald, first publicly advocated the bond issue in its present form. There were many other advocates of the bond issue as now submitted to the people, including Judge A. P. Humphrey and Mr. E. S. Tachau, of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, Mr. Lewis C. Humphrey, editor of the Louisville Post, Mr. Desha Breckenridge, editor of the Lexington Herald, Mr. Robert Gordon of Louisville, a former president of the State Bar Association, Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the university of Kentucky, and many others.

Up to the time of movement for the additional $25,000,000 started, the Kentucky Good Roads Association had been advocating only the bond issue of $50,000,000 for roads. A meeting was arranged between officials of the Kentucky Good Roads Association and those prominent in the movement for the additional $25,000,000, the result of which was an agreement to present the whole matter to the Governor elect, Hon. Wm. J. Fields, and to advocate either the single bond issue for roads or the bond issue with the additional $25,000,000 for state institutions, as the Governor might decide to recommend in his message to the legislature.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

The Governor on Tuesday, January 8, 1924, appeared before the legislature and delivered his biennial message which was devoted almost entirely to the recommendation of the submission of the $75,000,000 bond issue in the present form, and in the course of his message he thus stated the reasons that moved him to make that recommendation:

"The constitution imposes upon the governor the duty to make recommendations to the legislature on the affairs of the state. In obedience to that mandate I appear before you, to submit for your consideration my most earnest recommendations."

EDUCATION

"Among the highest obligations of the state is the obligation to afford opportunity for its citizens to acquire an education. The sons and daughters of Kentucky are entitled to opportunities equal to the opportunities afforded the youth of any other state, which are now denied them. I therefore address myself first to the needs of her educational system.

PRIMARY AND HIGH SCHOOLS

"Many counties of the state are unable, by reason of lack of revenue, to provide suitable and even habitable houses for primary and high schools. It is difficult, in some instances impossible, for the children of these counties to secure an elementary education. Yet, from the youth of those communities may be developed the state's brightest intellects and most useful citizens.

"Those children will become a part of the income of the state. Their value to the state and to society, as well as to themselves and their dependents, will be measured by their training and education. Their education of the youth of Kentucky. It is a local problem. This being true, I recommend that provision be made for the state to advance money to counties that are unable to erect and equip buildings for primary and high schools on such terms and for such time as will make easy its repayment through the development of their natural resources and their increase in wealth.

NORMAL SCHOOLS

"The efficiency and results of our elementary system of education depend upon the character and training of its teachers. To secure a sufficient force of trained teachers it is necessary to increase the accommodations and equipment of our normal schools, which are now deficient, to the detriment of our whole elementary system. It is therefore essential to erect new buildings for four white and for two colored normal schools.

THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

"The University of Kentucky is a state, not a local institution. Its purpose is not to afford opportunities to the children of wealthy and college education. It was created and is maintained to put within the reach of the sons and daughters of every class the opportunity for the higher and most useful training.

DEAF AND DUMB INSTITUTE

"The deaf and dumb children of the state are entitled to the full sympathy and assistance of the state, and should be given every advantage that will contribute to their becoming self supporting and independent. The accommodations of the Deaf and Dumb Institute are wholly insufficient.

THE INSTITUTE FOR THE BLIND

"The Institute for the Blind is one of the most worthy of our institutions. The demands upon it have grown far in excess of its capacity, and it should be supplied with sufficient funds to meet these demands.

TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIA

"Kentucky is paying an annual toll of inefficiency, suffering, death and financial loss due to the prevalence of tuberculosis, a preventable and curable disease. There is no provision for the treatment and cure of a victim of that disease in a state institution. No citizen of Kentucky unless a resident of Jefferson or Fayette counties can secure treatment except by full payment therefor. It would be wise economy as well as enlightened self-interest for the state to provide for or to assist in the erection and maintenance of sanatoria for the victims of tuberculosis.

PENAL, CORRECTIVE AND CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS

"With the increase in population the need for room in our penal institutions far exceeds their capacity. Especially is this true of the State Reformatory at Frankfort. Conditions in that institution are deplorable, because of insufficient and antiquated buildings.

"While the inmates of this and similar institutions have, with rare exceptions, placed themselves in the class of undesirable citizens, they are, nevertheless, human beings whose crimes, in many instances, are due to mental or moral weaknesses for which they may not be entirely responsible. Notwithstanding the fact that by their own conduct they have made themselves wards of the state, they are entitled to humane treatment. We have outlived the barbaric age when to torture the convict was regarded as an honor to the state and a protection to society.

KENTUCKY SCHOOL OF REFORM

"The reform school for boys and girls is wholly inadequate to meet the needs of the state. This institution is doing a valuable work, making an incalculable contribution to future citizenship by caring for and training in the rudiments of good citizenship boys and girls who have been neglected or have shown themselves so uncontrollable that they have passed, or would quickly pass into the criminal class. From this institution have come many boys and girls who are making good citizens who but for the training afforded would have developed into hardened criminals.

HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE

"The asylums for our insane are a disgrace to our state. The inmates of these institutions are the state's most unfortunate citizens, with whom fate has dealt most cruelly. They come from every class of our people. They are wards of our state often by reason of misfortune, not because of misconduct.

"These unfortunate are housed in quarters that are both inadequate and unsafe. Should fire break out in one of these institutions, the rescue of its irresponsible inmates would be practically impossible. Such a tragedy as would result would place an execrable blot on Kentucky's name that would continue on through coming years to mar the fair name of our state.

"Such a condition is repugnant to the conscience, the conscience, the heart and the soul of Kentucky's manhood and womanhood, and should no longer be permitted to exist.

CARE OF THE FEEBLE MINDED

"There is only scant provision made for the care of white feeble minded and no provision at all for the colored feeble minded persons, who are free to roam and propagate their kind, thereby imposing an ever increasing burden on the state. Provisions should be made for the proper care of both white and colored idiots and feeble minded.

MINERAL RESOURCES

"In mineral resources Kentucky is the richest state east of the Mississippi river, if not of all the states. There are few, if any, of her counties that do not possess valuable minerals, among which are asphalt, fire clay, cannon coal, bituminous coal, fluor-spar, barium, oil, gas, marble, mineral waters, oil shale, materials for making cement and others, whose location and value have been indicated, not proven conclusively.

"In the long list of resources are some that have been located to a limited degree by basic topographic mapping. One-half of the state, however, to be exact, twenty thousand seven hundred and five (20,705) square miles remained unmapped on July 1, 1923. That portion of the state is practically an unsurveyed mineral wilderness. Nothing would aid so much in the development of our mineral resources as the completion of a basic topographic survey of the state.

"Kentucky's proximity to America's center of population, her navigable streams around her northern, eastern and western borders and across the area of her territory, her possibilities on the development of hydro-electric power, combined with her mineral wealth, make her one of the most attractive and inviting states of the continent for industrial development. With that development her revenues would correspondingly increase. We should therefore no longer be delayed in the mapping of the resources of the state. This initial step in her industrial development, the completion of which will make Kentucky one of the country's greatest industrial fields, should now be taken.

"Such a survey would cost approximately four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000). No other investment of such an amount would yield such a large return so long as it contributes so much to its development, future wealth and prosperity.

PUBLIC DEBT

Kentucky has a floating debt of debt of approximately six million dollars ($6,000,000) in outstanding state warrants. The credit and the good name of the state demand that this debt be liquidated, that these warrants, which in many instances are being sold at a discount because of the state's failure to redeem them, be called in and retired.

"The individual who would permit his promissory note to be bartered and sold at a discount, when he has ample credit on which to secure funds with which to pay it, would be charged with bad faith, aye, with a discreditable act. Yet that is precisely what Kentucky is doing, and states are not different from individuals, they are only collections of individuals. Kentucky, therefore, in justice to her credit and to her good name, can not afford to permit her floating debt to continue unliquidated, but should make arrangements for its settlement, and I recommend that steps be taken to accomplish that result with the least possible delay.

GOOD ROADS

"Kentucky can never be what it should be and what it has a right to be without a complete system of public roads. Every citizen of vision fully realizes that fact, and none will deny that the construction of a comprehensive system of roads throughout the state would enhance the value of all property within her borders and make Kentucky a more desirable place in which to live. Such a system would contribute much to our educational advancement, particularly in rural sections, by making the schools more accessible to students.

"I would bring the residents of all sections of the state into more intimate social relations with one another, thereby contributing to the intellectual advancement of the state and increasing our common interests.

"Furthermore, with the rapidly growing motor transportation, a system of thoroughfares connecting the agricultural sections with the industrial centers and mining regions would result in the creation of direct commercial relations between producers of agricultural products and the consumers in the industrial and mining sections of incalculable benefit to both.

"Surrounded as it is on three sides by a mining region, I can conceive of nothing that would contribute more to the establishment of a permanent and profitable market for the products of the great agricultural section of our state than direct connection with the markets of the mining region through a system of roads sufficient to support truck transportation.

"Road construction, and the enactment of laws relating thereto, have been, to a great extent, an experimental program for the past decade. But we should now profit by our experience and our mistakes and reap a richer return from our investments and our efforts than he have had in the past."

WELCOME, RECRUIT!

The Kernel is overjoyed at the firm stand Centre College has taken in regard to the playing of ineligible players on football teams.

The Centre College team was scheduled to play the Carson-Newman College eleven at Danville last Saturday. The previous year Centre had taken the measure of the Tennessee outfit, which consequently had come to Danville with more or less blood in its eye and a craving for revenge in its heart. Albeit, Carson-Newman had some chance for procuring that revenge. However, the team, indiscreetly, went through a practice session on Cheek field that disclosed that it was brimful of football ability. Immediately thereafter Centre appeared with the charge that the Carson-Newman team had four former Syracuse University players in the lineup. Prompt measures were taken; Friday night the game was called off and everybody in Danville lived happily afterward. Centre has done a very creditable thing. The evils of the "ringer" type of football have been apparent in Kentucky for a long time, and some years ago University of Kentucky authorities took a firm stand against the player tainted with professionalism. The Kernel is glad to note that Centre finds itself in position to join the university in declaring against a practice that is always nefarious, especially when it is the enemy who indulges in it.

"LA SUCCOUR"

The Wildcats play their first Southern Conference game tomorrow against the fighting Generals of Washington and Lee University. Incidentally, both the Wildcats' and the Generals' colors are Blue and White, both call Lexington their home town and both are famed for their pugna-tious proclivities.

The game will be the first real test of the Wildcats. On its outcome will depend many things. The fans will revise their Centre-Kentucky estimates. They will think up new things to observe about the coaching staff. They will decide whether the Wildcat line is strong enough to stand firm before the attack of the big teams to come along later. They will announce whether the backfield is as flashy as it should be; and so on.

The mob wants touchdowns. The usual reaction to a touchdown for the home team is an outburst of cheering. But let's show these Wildcats of ours we're for them! Touchdown or no touchdown. The best example of concentrated vocal support in the state—namely Georgetown College—came over last Saturday and set for us an example. Let's get out there and yell for the Wildcats until they make us a touchdown out of sheer gratitude for the support they're getting.

THE MILITARY DEPARTMENT

In other columns of this issue is published a military history of each member of the military staff of the R. O. T. C. unit here. The military department is to be commended for the splendid work it has done during the past few years. From a unit of 333 in 1920 the organization has grown until the total enrollment in the military corps here is now 830 cadets.

During the session of 1919-1920, there were three companies in the military department and a major of the regular army was commandant. The band consisted of 25 pieces and there were no sponsors. In the spring of 1921 sponsors were elected to march with cadet officers in formal parades.

Previous to 1920 instruction in the military department was conducted mostly on the team or miss plan, but during that year it was put on a sound basis and the sophomores were given different training from that received by the freshmen. The staff, at that time, consisted of Lt.-Col. Geo. D. Freeman; Major A. S. J. Tucker; Lieut. Joseph Torrence; first sergeant McDaniels; first sergeant Kennedy; first sergeant Knight. In December of 1920 Major H. E. Mitchell reported on in November of the same year sergeant Cox and sergeant Promin reported.

In 1921 sergeant Cox and sergeant Promin were sent to other stations and first sergeant Knight was made warrant officer. During the summer of 1921 Captain John J. Bethurum was sent here from Fort Benning, Ga., and in the fall of the same year Captain Marvin Marsh reported. In the spring of 1922 sergeant McDaniels had an accident which necessitated the amputation of his arm and he was retired. Sergeant McDaniels was replaced by sergeant McGahan, who had been on duty at Cleveland public high schools.

During the summer of 1923 Major Tucker was detailed to the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., as a student officer. Major C. A. Phelan, U. S. Army retired, replaced Major Tucker, but, due to ill health, was ordered to the west coast by his doctor and left the university in April.

Lt.-Col. Freeman was made a colonel in January of 1924. He was ordered to Fort Benning as student officer in August of 1924. Col. Freeman was replaced by Col. H. P. Hobbs, who had been attached to the 29th Inf. at Fort Benning for the last four years. Major Phelan's place was taken by Captain Taylor, of Fort Benning, who reported for duty here September 25, 1924.

First sergeant Powell was retired from the Army in December, 1923, and was employed by the university as civilian store keeper for the military department. Sergeant McGahan has been promoted three times since May of 1924—from sergeant to staff sergeant to first sergeant and is now master sergeant, which is the highest non-commissioned grade in the Army. He retires in April, 1925, after 20 years of service.

The foregoing, in short, is the history of the military staff since 1920. The corps now consists of a regiment which is divided into three battalions of 10 companies and a band of 65 pieces. There are 10 company sponsors, three battalion sponsors and a regimental sponsor. The department is one of the best on the campus and indications are that this corps will be placed with the distinguished college list in the near future.

CLASS ELECTIONS

Students of the university will employ their right of suffrage to elect presidents and vice-presidents of various classes Oct. 28 and 29. Upon the eight students thus elected to the highest and most important offices their classmates can bestow, an onerous responsibility will rest. It is apparent that men and women, energetic, capable and of high purpose should be chosen.

Class elections held each year bear closer relation to the real purpose of the university than is discernible at only a cursory glance. Woodrow Wilson in an address delivered at survey of the proportion of citizens who have cast away their ballots in a period extending throughout the last thirty years, reveals an appalling reticence on the part of voters to express their opinions and assume the sceptre that is theirs. In 1896 eighty per cent of the electorate voted, in 1908 sixty-six per cent, in 1912 sixty-six per cent, and in 1920 only a bare fraction under fifty per cent exercised the right of kings. This apathy on the part of Americans is fraught with ominous foreboding for the welfare of the country. Especially upon college men and women does the duty to vote fall. For from those to whom much is given much shall be demanded. The state demands of its sons and daughters that they utilize their training for its advancement and progress.

The duties of citizenship and the election of class officers bear a close relationship. The men and women of tomorrow must appraise the qualifications of aspirants and decide upon whom their approbation is to be conferred. Party alignment will play no part, but cliques and cabals will exert their sinister influence. To vote for the man or the woman without regard to coalition or group influence is the test of wise suffrage, and its value to the future citizen is without measure and without price.

undivided support of the entire student body. Be there, cheer and yell, but don't razz. Do you folks realize that outside a boiler factory this is the noisiest place in the world? It is. A few days ago we were walking across the campus as the shades of evening were being drawn. (Ain't that beautiful?) There was noise in front of us, noise behind us, and noise on each side of us, but not a discordant note. To the front and up the band was blaring away; to the left the stentorian voice of the military department was propounding the fundamentals of drill into freshmen heads; behind the glee clubs were roaring away; to the right, the yelling of the football squads at practice rent the evening air. All of which are emblematic of true college activities.

The "chicken-walk" of Patt Hall is no longer to be a dark, lovely lover's lane. With the erection of light poles along the side of the walk, tender hearts break in twain. No longer will the sweet cooed and her Lochinvar be surrounded by darkness as they wend their way up to walk from the "Greek's" or from the library. No longer will they experience trouble in finding a bench, for the lights will show the way. Truly, it's a straight and narrow path, but it will be well lighted.

JUST A WORD

While the Wildcats were scrapping with Georgetown last Saturday afternoon, many members of Centre's squad and all of Carson-Newman's squad sat in the stadium and watched the fray. Centre informed the Carson-Newman team last Friday night that she would not play that team because of doubt as to the eligibility of some of Carson-Newman's men.

Tomorrow we have a hard fight on our hands. The Generals will be here eager to break in their favor the tie of last year. The team will need the prize will be awarded to the cast of the best of these three by a group of judges, which will consist of some of Lexington's best dramatic critics. The following is a list of the plays submitted by the committee for try-out presentations: "Mothers of Men," "In the Net," "Catechy," "Embry," "Playing With Fire," "The Noble Lord," "House of Cards," "Dawn," and "The Question of Mortality," all by Oscar Wilde, and "Overtones," by A. Gerstenburg.

HOWELL SPEAKS TO Y. M. COUNCIL

Former Football Man Gives Purpose of Organization

Fifty students, including twenty freshmen, attended the first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. student council Tuesday night. The first part of the meeting was taken up by the president, George Kavanaugh, in explaining the purposes of the organization and the duties of the members of the council. The president was followed by the secretary, Mr. Peak, who suggested some of the opportunities for service offered by the local "Y."

Before the business meeting, the Rev. Ratcliffe, head of Simmons University, a colored institution of Louisville, made a short talk on behalf of better racial relationship.

Most of the business consisted in organizing the student council. The freshmen present were taken into the council as new members. After the organization was completed the new council laid plans to begin a membership drive next Tuesday under the direction of James Darnell, chairman of the membership committee. It was resolved to observe Prayer Week on the campus during the week of November 9.

Mr. E. G. Howell, state student secretary of the Y. M. C. A., well-known in football circles of two decades ago as a tackle for Centre college, stepped over in Lexington and was present at the meeting. Mr. Howell addressed the council member briefly on the purposes and ideals of the organization.

LEE HANKS, FORMER STUDENT, DIES IN NORTH CAROLINA

Word has been received of the death of Lee F. Hanks, of Carrollton, who attended the University of Kentucky some years ago. Mr. Hanks died in Charlotte, N. C., following an operation. The body was sent to Carrollton, where Mr. Hanks was born.

Mr. Hanks was an expert in freight tariffs and rose steadily in his profession until at his death he was in charge of freight clearing for railroads in nine principal ports of the United States. His position was with the Southern Weighing and Inspection Bureau of New York.

REPUBLICAN CLUB ORGANIZED ON THE UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

The Sackett Club, a Republican organization of the University of Kentucky, was recently organized. The following officers were elected: Bryan Johnson, president; George Taylor, vice-president; Lovell Liles, secretary and treasurer.

James Ross Todd, young business man of Louisville, and an organizer of Sackett clubs throughout the state, gave an address in which he compared Sackett and Stanley in regard to their respective policies. James Parks, the Fayette county chairman of the Republican party, also gave a brief talk.

Y. M.-Y. W. JOINT MEETING

Last Thursday evening the Y. M. C. A. held its first regular religious service of the year in the Men's Dormitory, and a very interesting program was given, the Rev. Hayes Farris, of the Woodland Christian Church, speaking to the young men on the subject of "Choosing a Life Work." A large number of students were present.

This subject is to be discussed further Sunday evening at a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., at Patterson Hall. At this meeting Hon. McHenry Rhoads will speak on "Teaching a Life Work." All students of the university who are interested in the "Y" are invited to attend this meeting.

SHRINERS WILL MOTOR HERE TO SEE THE FOOTBALL GAME

According to news received on the campus, the motor club of the Shriners of Louisville will motor to Lexington Saturday to see the Washington & Lee-State football game.

The motor club is a pleasure organization in connection with the Mystic Shrine and the custom is to motor to places not too far from Louisville for the week-ends. There will be members of the alumni of both Washington and Lee and the university. They expect to have twenty or thirty cars in the party.

AG COLLEGE NOTES

The annual conference of home demonstration and county agents of the state will be held at the university Oct. 27 to 31. The meetings will be held in room 303 of the Agriculture building Monday, Tuesday and Friday, and in Dicker Hall Wednesday and Thursday. Complete arrangements for the conference have not been made, but a number of noted speakers will give talks and reports from the various counties.

Thirtieth-seventh meeting of the Lexington section of the American Chemical Society was held Oct. 15 at the university. A cafeteria supper in the faculty dining room at the cafeteria was given from 5:30 to 6:30. The regular meeting followed and Dr. J. S. McHargue, councillor for this section, gave a report of the council meeting which he attended at Ithica, N. Y.

An important meeting of the Freshman Home Economic girls was called Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 2 o'clock in the student room of the Agriculture building. The meeting was a social and business session and was given so that the girls might become better acquainted and that Miss Hopkins, dean of the home economics department, might give the new girls some idea as to the plans of their first year's work.

Miss Fitzgerald, who is at the university in interest of public health work, spoke to the class, stressing the importance of good health, and of health as taught in schools.

Miss Hopkins will go to Louisville October 16 and 17 to attend the Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs.

MUSIC SCHOLARSHIP IS GIVEN

John B. Beam, student of the University of Kentucky, won the scholarship of the Lexington College of Music in the voice contest held there Saturday afternoon, Oct. 11.

The scholarship was offered by Miss Anna Chandler Goff, principal of the College, and Mr. Beam will receive one lesson a week under the new director of the voice department, Glenn Crowder Staples.

The second place, honorable mention, was won by another university student, Miss Elizabeth Benson. However, only one scholarship was given.

Law Fraternity to give Smoker

A smoker will be given on Monday evening, October 20, by the members of Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity. It will be held on the third floor of the Science Building. An invitation has been extended to all students now registered in the college of law, the instructors, and the dean of the college. An enjoyable get-together party is anticipated.

Building Constantly Toward Perfection

BECAUSE efficient machinery is now and always will be indispensable to profitable farming, this subject is of prime importance to every man who would master the fundamentals of Agriculture.

No machine is perfect, but the tendency must always be toward greater perfection because no machine can long survive except as it demonstrates superior efficiency, economy and dependability.

The series of Case advertisements which will appear in this magazine during this school year will tell the interesting story of the Case Engineering Code—how, through a system which provides sure, steady, orderly progress toward perfection, Case machines are kept as near as possible to the top notch of efficiency and economy.

It's an unusual story; one that will, we hope, prove both interesting and helpful to you in your future work.

GENERALS ARE TO GIVE 'CATS ACID TEST TOMORROW

Murphy's Men Are Favored to Win Game

A CRUCIAL CONTEST First Conference Game For W. AND L. Team

Saturday afternoon the Wildcats will meet their first real opposition of the season when they take the field against the Generals of Washington and Lee. The Virginia team, though losing to Wake Forest last Saturday, is considered to be even stronger than the team which Kentucky was barely able to tie in the contest of last year.

If the teams live up to their names, a mighty scrap should ensue for with General Pitt against Wildcat, there should be a fierce struggle. The Generals have a passing attack that will no doubt cause the Kentucky team and supporters a lot of worry before the contest ends. In the backfield the redoubtable Cameron is playing his last season and is the chief link in the offense that the Virginians will flash. Dehart has built up a passing game that is similar to that of Notre Dame and is a powerful scoring weapon.

Coch Murphy has been putting his charges through their paces all week, giving them lectures on weaknesses that have appeared in the two games played and running the team through some hard scrimmages. The whole team will enter the game in top shape and should play at a fast pace throughout. There has been observed a tendency to lag on the part of the team at certain stages in the previous two games. No doubt the temperature had a great deal to do with this, as there has been no football days, as there has been no football days, as there has been no football days.

The Washington and Lee team is particularly desirous of making a good record this year, for upon the success of the football team of this year rests the decision as to whether or not a new stadium will be built at the school. Just back of the DeRemus gymnasium at Washington & Lee there is a large natural bowl which is particularly adapted to the erection of a stadium which could be built at a minimum cost. With a successful football team there would naturally be more sentiment in favor of a stadium, and the Generals are out to set a great record. In their first game they beat Maryland, which had practically the same outfit which held Yale 17-16 last year. Saturday the Virginians lost to Wake Forest by a low score. Wake Forest has an unbroken string of victories for the past two seasons.

Teams representing Washington and Lee and the University of Kentucky have met three times in the past, two of the games resulting in a tie and one in a 6-0 victory for Kentucky. In October, 1899, the two teams met on two successive days, the first contest ending 0-0 and the next game was won by Kentucky 6-0. Last year the teams battled to a 6-6 tie on Stoll field.

The Wildcats will enter the fray Saturday with practically the same lineup which was used in the Georgetown game. Shelton will probably get into the game at one of the tackle

AS SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By FRANK K. HOOVER

We're not making any predictions, but we'll give you a gentle hint—don't hesitate to put your iron men on the Blue and White hopefuls tomorrow to win by at least two touchdowns. Coach Murphy has a bagful of surprises he's going to spring on the Generals. It has been rumored, but from the scores of the respective teams this year, fans will not see a 42-0 score, nor even a 32-0 score. Last Saturday a little school, Wake Forest, defeated the Generals 10 to 8, which is not indicative of a healthy victory for the W. & L. boys.

It was Pettie again. Derrick went in near the end of the game and heaped coals on the heads of the already downtrodden jungle birds. He was in the game about three minutes and during this time he accounted for about fifteen yards for the felines, broke up two Georgetown plays for losses, and started a pass to Gregg which went for a five yard gain. Just before the last touchdown was made, he slapped the backfield men on the back and pulled one of the linemen into position after a spill. A minute later Hughes crossed the goal line for a marker. The spirit counts.

The announcing of football scores, race results, etc., was made through the medium of the press box, but occasionally the wrong report was transmitted to the yell leaders, as was the case of the Centre-Carson-Newman game. Such unauthenticity should be avoided as much as possible.

"The Howling Hundred" was again the feature of the student section. If any noise was heard which the fans could not account for, they knew it came from the H. H. section. This organization has put in a "howl" that is strictly an engineers' section. They wish to make it known that their cheer leader is Mr. Roy Hilde, senior engineer, instead of Kyle Whitehead, as was reported in last week's Kernel.

The team emerged from the Tiger game in good shape. Sanders suffered a slight injury, but "Togo" will be plowing through the opposition again Saturday. The line showed a decided improvement and it was easily seen that a master hand has been training the whole team in the finer points of the game. The awkwardness and uncertainty of the Louisville game were gone and the team worked more smoothly in every play. With the line holding its own Saturday the backfield should be able to pile up a winning margin.

STATISTICS OF THE GAME

Kentucky made twenty-four first downs while the Scott county team gathered five. The Blue and White margin of superiority in the first and last quarters was enough to offset the few gains made by Georgetown, despite the fact that the 'cats were victims of the Tiger onslaught during most of the second and third quarters. The visitors tried twelve passes and completed five, while Kentucky tried eight plays by the aerial route and was successful in only two of them. The alertness of the 'cat backfield saved T. N. T. a mighty setback when Coach Horvater's men were trying so many long heaves.

Centre had a delegation over to see the game. They probably got an eye full.

"Simp" Estes proposes to take a picture of Ed Gans and send it to the leading papers of the United States with the caption: "The Prince of Wales." Ed and his hand gave us a thrill we haven't been able to place.

Doping out the amount of yardage gained by each man is a pretty hard task, but we find after reviewing the game, that Hughes had some opposition in this line. He came in first with an even victory, Tracy was second, and Smith was third. Although Captain Sanders didn't get in the money, he hit the line regularly and we have him chalked up with 65 yards. His centre plunges were of the type which cause fallbacks to be ranked with the best in the game.

Coaches Fred J. Murphy, of the varsity and Ray Ecklund, of the freshman squad, sat near us during the game. Coach Murphy has a telephone in the press box and is able to communicate at all times with the "bench" on the playing field. He directed the attack and made substitutions through this medium.

The backfield worked like a top in Saturday's game and the combination of Hughes, Tracy, Sanders and Gregg, with Smith eager to break in, will be a hard one to beat any time this year.

Ramsey Taylor, the Georgetown cheer leader, was about the brightest feature of the Georgetown crowd. He led the yells in big league style and kept up the spirit when it seemed it would run low. Thirty-five to 10 did not daunt the Tiger cheer leader and his frenzy was at its height when Georgetown made her last bid for victory late in the last quarter—an impossible thing. That's the kind of enemy we like to fight.

FIFTEEN ANSWER X-COUNTRY CALL

Absence of Last Year's Letter Men Felt Keenly

Due to the unknown quality of material and of the failure of a large number of men to answer the call of Coach Applegran, cross-country running has failed to make the progress it should have made during the past two weeks. About fifteen men reported last week, while last year fifty came out at the first call. Some of the most promising material out this fall are: Brame, Hendryx, Davidson, Finn, Cochran Davis, Riffe and Miller.

Coach Applegran has been sending the men through various exercises to loosen muscles, which consists of running and other exercises. Once a week they run over the two mile course, which begins at the entrance of Stoll field on Winslow, down Rose Lane to Men's Dormitory, down Washington avenue to Limestone, up Limestone to Winslow.

The university has the unique record of not losing a single cross country run in which it has participated. The authorities hope to get a combination which will uphold this record in this year's meets.

Only two meets have thus far been arranged; one at Washington & Lee, Nov. 15, and the other at Louisville on Thanksgiving day. Should the team develop properly, other meets will be arranged.

TIGERS GO DOWN TO DEFEAT BY A 42 TO 0 COUNT

22nd Attempt to Wrest Victory Proves Futile

AIR ATTACK GOOD

Visiting Team Plays Best Football in Years

A long line of gold-jerseyed figures filed out of the University of Kentucky stadium last Saturday afternoon on their weary homeward journey after the final whistle of the Georgetown-Kentucky game. The Tiger from the Scott county college had failed in its twenty-second attempt in as many years to wrest victory from the claws of the Wildcats, and it fled to its lair—a victim of a 42-0 slip of the 'cat clasp.

Georgetown Passes Disastrous Coach Horvater's team displayed the best football they have displayed for six years against Coach Murphy's team, twice holding the 'cats for downs on the Georgetown one-yard line. Coach Murphy had heard of the Tiger's feared aerial attack and was not to be caught napping. A few Georgetown passes went for some yardage, but three of these passes were their undoing, for interceptions by Kentucky men paved the way for rapid scoring. Georgetown had a light backfield which ran ends for substantial gains during two quarters of the game, but in the last quarter of the fray the Tiger line crumbled and the backs were smothered in every other attempt at end run, pass or line plunge.

Tracy, First Quarter Star During the first quarter of the game, Len Tracy was the outstanding star. He tore off from five to ten yards around ends at will and thrilled the stands with some of the most sensational side-stepping seen on a University of Kentucky gridiron for many a day. Tracy reeled off eight yards on the first 'cat play. He was given the ball for a second attempt and gained one yard. After an exchange of punts, Tracy got twenty-six yards off left end. Sanders and Hughes alternated at carrying the ball, during which time they worked it up to the shadows of the Tiger goal. Here the Orange and Black held the 'cats for downs and Hackman kicked twenty-four yards to Tracy, who made a nineteen yard return. Sanders made a small gain. Tracy hit left end for eleven yards and on the next play he took the oval one yard for a touchdown. Sanders kicked goal.

On the next kick-off Tracy got fifteen yards on two end runs and after an exchange of punts, he ran through a broken field for thirteen yards and the second touchdown. Sanders again kicked goal.

'Cats Begin Slaughter During the second and third quarters Smith and Sanders gained more ground, with the Tigers having the better of the argument. At the end of the third quarter, Smith had worked the ball to the Tiger three yard line on beautiful end runs and line plunges. At the start of the last quarter he took the ball over for the third touchdown. This score seemed to break the stamina of the Tiger and he went to pieces.

Immediately after the third touchdown, Smith intercepted a pass, which he returned twenty-six yards. Tracy gained nine yards on two plays and Sanders took the ball over the chalk line for another score. Kentucky then kicked off to Georgetown, who made a thirty-five yard return. An attempted pass lost twenty yards and Hughes intercepted a pass on the next play on the Tiger's thirty-yard line and with Kirwan running superb interference scored another marker. Sanders added the extra point.

Hughes Scores Again
Hughes tore off eighteen yards around right end soon after this and with the help of Pettie Derrick, Turk added another touchdown for the final score of the game. Gregg dropped kicked goal, making the final score 42-0.

The Wildcat offensive and defensive worked 100 per cent better than it did in the Louisville game, but Murphy has a great deal of polishing to do in both lines of play before the Centre game. He has been working on his charges during the week and Lexington fans will see a different team from the one which took the field against Louisville and Georgetown, tomorrow when the 'cats line up for their second annual clash with the Washington & Lee

Generals, the first game of which ended in a 6 to 6 tie.

For Young Men

There is nothing like a STETSON

MOST young men today know the importance of looking fit. Good appearance counts much in the game of life. The young man who dresses with taste has a decided advantage.

But—it is surprising how little thought the average man gives to his hat. It is his crown, yet he seems to stop dressing at the neck.

Be careful in your selection of your headwear. When you buy a hat, select a Stetson. Its style is right, its quality means long wear.

NEW VOLUMES IN KY. LAW LIBRARY

"Public Utility Reports" New Reference Books

According to a recent announcement made by Mrs. Clara White, librarian of the university law library, that institution has just completed its collection of books on the subject of "Public Utility Reports," comprising fifty-eight volumes and embracing the leading decisions by public service commissions of the several states and by state and federal courts on public utility matters. The reports are annotated under the editorial supervision of Henry C. Spurr, a noted authority on public utility law, and are the most valuable reference books in that field.

The law library of the university plans to procure additional and supplemental volumes, as published, and thus will keep the set up to date. They also expect a number of new textbooks in the next few weeks. A set of "Cyc" has been donated by the American Law Book Company. These books, as are all other books in the library, may be used free of charge by lawyers and others interested, as well as law students. The library is open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. daily except Sunday, and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. daily except Saturday and Sunday.

AERIAL EDUCATION IS LATEST METHOD

New York University Institutes "Air College"

A paragraph from the Lexington Herald says that aerial education will be New York University's newest contribution to the cause of higher learning. That institution's "air college" was scheduled to open last Monday night. With the aid of the radio, it will extend its campus to the shores of the Mississippi for twenty-minute periods five nights of each week.

Monday night's session extended from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock and marked the formal opening of the college. The program included chapel service, with an explanation of the work planned for the school year, addresses by the faculty, and a musical program.

The regular course, as scheduled, begins on Tuesday night with a lecture by Prof. V. D. Magoffin, of the department of classics.

The "air students" have been instructed to tune in at 8:30 o'clock, eastern standard time, every night except Saturday and Sunday nights. Each lecture is broadcast by station WJZ from the university auditorium at Washington Square and will be of twenty minutes duration.

ALDA TO APPEAR IN CONCERT HERE

Metropolitan Quartet at Auditorium Night of Oct. 27th

The Alda-Metropolitan Quartet, composed of members of the Metropolitan Opera Company, of New York City, has been selected by Miss Anna Chandler Goff, director of the Lexington College of Music, as the opening feature of the Seventh Annual Artist Concert series at the Woodland Auditorium Monday night, Oct. 27, at 8:15 o'clock.

The quartet, including Frances Alda, soprano; Merle Alcock, contralto; Aemond Tokayan, tenor, and Lawrence Tibbet, baritone, is made from leading members of the famous opera company. The company, in addition to presenting the second act of the opera "Martha," will each be heard in a group of solos, which include a number of the most famous arias from various operas.

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, Percy Grainger, famous pianist, Louis Grauever, "the king of baritones," Marie Sundelius, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, with Socrates Barozzi, violinist, make an array of talent which probably excels that of any series heretofore presented in Lexington.

Season tickets are sold at $11.00, $8.50, and $7.00, the latter price to students and teachers only. Single tickets to the Alda Quartet are $3.50, $2.75, $2.25, $1.65, and $1.10, including tax.

Order season or single tickets now by phoning the Lexington College of Music. Enclosed self addressed stamped envelope if tickets are to be mailed.

KENTUCKY SOCIETY OF CHICAGO MEETS

General Tandy Ellis Introduced by Former Student

General J. Tandy Ellis, one of Lexington's local poets, attended the meeting of the Kentucky Society of Chicago, held in September. An enthusiastic audience attended the meeting, and General Ellis did his part in excellent style in extending the true Kentucky spirit.

General Ellis, as the principal speaker of the evening, was introduced by Beverly W. Howe a Carrolltonian by birth, and a former student of the university. Mr. Howe is now national president of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and attended the convalesce held here last year.

Carroll Gullion, also of Carrollton, and a former student of the university, department of engineering, attended the meeting.

According to Mr. Gullion, in Beverly Howe's oratorical flight, the Kentucky river "wound its way in lover's embrace about old Carrollton ere it kissed the waters of the Ohio."

General Ellis was immensely entertaining from "song to song," and his mixture of humor and pathos made every one present glad that he was a part of the Kentucky atmosphere and of the Kentucky spirit which pervaded the meeting.

LOUISVILLE BOARD WARNS ATHLETES

Would Abolish Athletics for Posting Scores

The City of Louisville plans to abolish athletics of the students of both Male and Manual high schools if they do not stop the practice of painting the results of games on buildings.

The Board of Education called representatives of the two schools for a conference and threatened that if the students persisted in "telling the world" of their victories, the Board would stop athletics in both schools. According to statements, the participants in the games are not the ones who deface buildings in this manner, but students "pepped up" over the victories of their respective teams, grab the paint pot and go forth to "spread joy."

As a football player he's a good poet

LET'S admit that all men are not born for gridiron honors, just as all men are not born poets.

You can admire a man's grit for plugging away at the thing that comes hardest to him. He does derive benefit in developing himself where he is weakest. But to achieve real success it is only common wisdom to pick out the line for which you have a natural aptitude—and go to it.

Particularly if you are a freshman it may be useful to remind you of this principle, because it can help you start off on the right foot in both your campus activities and your college courses.

If your fingers love the feel of a pencil, why not obey that impulse and come out for the publications? You can serve Alma Mater and yourself better as a first-class editor than a third-class halfback.

Similarly, when it comes to electing your college courses, you will be happier and more efficient if you choose in accordance with your natural aptitude.

The world needs many types of men. Find your line, and your college course will be a preparation for a greater success.
