Indiana exhibited the best tennis in the country to have met this year with the exception of Tulane. However, the 'Cats will engage in a five-set match with Indiana...

In the match with Indiana Howard Wilson displayed extraordinarily good tennis in defeating Bernard Hurst, 7-5, 7-5, in the No. 1 singles. In the first set Hurst was leading 4-0, but Wilson, employing an angle shot, settled down to a steady game and defeated Hurst 7-5, 7-5.

Dean Melcher was born April 7, 1883 in Vevay, Ind., and attended elementary school there. He received his A. B. degree from Hanover (Indiana) college in 1905; his M. A. from the University of Munich and Leipzig in 1908; and his LL.B. from the University of Louisville in 1912.

He married Elizabeth Taylor of Madison, Ind., August 9, 1903, and has one daughter, Ruth Taylor. He was principal of the University of Munich and Leipzig in 1908; and his LL.B. from the University of Louisville in 1912.

Throughout his career he has been very prominent in educational circles and is identified with many fraternities and societies, among which are the Kentucky Academy of Science, Kentucky Educational Association, American Association of University Professors, American Language Association of America, Delta Upsilon, social fraternity, and the University of Chicago.

He was president of the Conference of Deans of Men 1923-1926 and is a member of the Masons and Knights of Pythias.

ASSOCIATION MEETING
The University welcomed to its campus Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, deans of some of the largest collegiate schools of business in the country who assembled in Lexington to attend the fifth annual meeting of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

Primarily, the association of deans has as its aim the discussion of problems concerning professional business training. In view of the fact, however, that the world is plagued with an economic depression of unprecedented severity, considerable attention was focused on this malady.

These conferences at Blue Ridge strive to develop sensitivity among people of the world as it is, and stresses, not merely the individual but the group feeling and cooperative thinking. FORT KNOX

While the entire country is undergoing the consequences of recent drastic governmental actions, under the guiding hand of the President, it would be quite impossible for an institution such as the University, in Lexington, to feel the effects, both directly and indirectly.

As a matter of fact, due to the reforestation measure, it is possible that R. O. T. C. work at the University may have to be suspended for the rest of the year.

Major Brewer has received notice from the headquarters of the Fifth Corps Area, supplemented by a telegram from the War Department, advising him that the regular army men here should be in readiness to go at any time.

A total of 140 officers will be needed in the R. O. T. C. instructors first assignment of recruits in the C. C. at Fort Knox.

Not only is the number uncertain, but the time when the men will be called is likewise unknown. It is as Major Brewer put it, "Word from the war department is like lightning, we don't know where nor when it will strike, but it is nevertheless certain to do so."

The need for officers is demonstrated by the large number of recruits at Fort Knox, but it is hoped that the R. O. T. C. instructors here will not be transferred until the end of the present semester.

Graduates of the R. O. T. C. unit this year who receive their commissions as second lieutenants in the R. O. T. C. will be given a chance to enlist for a period of two months or more in the reforestation corps after graduation.

This will be an excellent opportunity for the young officers to receive their first active experience, but if it is necessary for R. O. T. C. operations to be suspended, these men can not receive their commissions at the close of this semester.

It certainly will be to the advantage of all concerned if as few of these young men as possible leave the University, and these at the close of the present semester.

Are the shadows in my house;
Lingering touches of your hand,
When the world is too full of pain.

Like thoughts of a loved one that may not be spoken
Are the shadows in my house;
Crooming, whispering melodies that come
With the desire of the night.

Like the half forgotten memory of pain
Are the shadows in my house;
Remembered caresses of lovers
Whose names we no longer recall.

I love the shadows in my house -
Friendly ghosts from out the day;
Flickering, dancing, elusive shadows
Nightly patterning my walls.

Where hang the stars.
There are no words -
There is only - God.

Mary - symbol of mothers -
They have taken from your youth
He whom you carried with pride.

In torture they hanged your son
On a cross he carried with humility
To a hill called Golgotha.

Could suffering be greater than his -
As bleeding he hung from the cross?
And yet - your pain is the more.

He gave Himself -
But - you - Mary, gave the son
Whom you bore.

Noted Poet Gives Views
Ideas on Art and Poetry Are Expressed by Cale Young Rice in Interview

By MARJORIE F. HOAGLAND
In an interview Tuesday afternoon, Cale Young Rice, noted Louisville poet and author, said, "Any art is a communication, and otherwise it is of little value."

Mr. Rice, who has traveled extensively in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, attended Cumberland University and received his A. B. degree from Harvard University in 1905, and his M. A. the following year.

Mr. Rice is the author of "Stygian Freight," "A Night in Avignon," "Mirvana Days," "Early Reaping," and numerous other poems and books.

That is partly the result of contact with life as I took my degree in philosophy I have thought a great deal about life and death, and I have developed a dogmatism, but there is no very boring people by whining. Brain vs. Brawn - by Craddock

HELLO SIR

By JOHNIE CRADDOCK
In my day I have seen many and exciting games in all kinds of sport. In 1789, the Yassar d'Arle Centre in a wonderful game of croquet. The score was 99 to 99 until the last six hours of play when Yassar, after a thrilling finish, won 8,765 to 99. It was the nuts. I saw Cabbage win the derby by a head in 1876 in seventeen feet of heat. I thought I had seen everything until I heard that there was to be a match of wits and nuts in the Alumni gym, May 3, between the "first fighting" faculty and the "cauliflower" coaches. I haven't seen anything yet!

This slaughterhouse carnival will prove itself to be a battle of the ages. That is, if the humans society does not interfere with the promotion of the bloody brawl. The entire "first-fighter" outfit has been eating spinach, tin cans and barbed wire in an effort to build up an iron-like resistance in preparation for the onslaughts of the "cauliflowers."

Wrestling, boxing, checkers, hop scotch, face making and other dangerous games will be featured. But the main event will be a spitting contest between "Geraldine" Griffin and "Monkey Map" Campbell.

It will be worth the admission price to see "Harmack" McFarlan and "Slaughterhouse" Mann engage in a crowbar eating contest. The contestants have asked that we mention the fact that they will eat crowbars without salt, pepper or mustard. Come on out and hear the faculty give their blood-curdling yell!

Will they knock the coaches; We'll buy the law; With a key nonny, nonny And a rah! rah! rah

Editor of The Kernel
University of Kentucky
My dear Editor:
I am enclosing a letter from Mr. L. Combs, Jr. in which regulations are set up for the training of student flyers. If these regulations had been in force two years ago the death of Marion Stanley might not have happened. I think it might be well to publish these rules in The Kernel.

Very truly yours,
FRANK L. McVEY,
President of the University.

THE LETTER
April 3, 1933
Dr. Frank L. McVey,
Editor of The Kernel,
Lexington, Kentucky.
Dear Doctor McVey:
In order to eliminate, insofar as possible, the probability of a recurrence of the Stanley tragedy, the airport committee of the Lexington Board of Commerce has adopted regulations governing the training of student flyers and has placed a trained pilot in charge of the Lexington Airport.

The following letter was received by the editor of The Kernel from Coach Adolph Rupp commending the work of Kernel readers during the past basketball season:

April 26, 1933
Editor of Kernel, Lexington, Kentucky.
Dear Sir:
The basketball season is all over I want to take this opportunity to thank you and your staff for the splendid publicity that you gave our team during the year. I found all of your reporters fine gentlemen to work with and we were all happy that we were able to come through for you students. Again thanking you for your valuable help, I am

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) A. F. RUPP

George M. Harris Will Talk On U. S. Department of Agriculture

George M. Harris, a 1932 graduate of the College of Agriculture at the University, will be one of the principal speakers in the National 4-H club radio broadcast on May 6 from 11:30 to 12:30 o'clock. He will speak from Washington, D. C., on the subject, "What I Have Learned about the United States Department of Agriculture."

Mr. Harris won several important national honors while a student in the College of Agriculture, including a Payne Fund Scholarship giving him a year's study in the Federal Department of Agriculture. He is one of the two 1930 scholarships given yearly in the United States.

Mr. Harris represented Kentucky at the National 4-H Club Congress and International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago and at the National 4-H club camp in Washington. His outstanding 4-H club work won him a scholarship to the University of Kentucky, where his studies in the College of Agriculture, together with his notable 4-H club record, won him the scholarship to the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

As a member of the College of Agriculture's livestock judging team, Mr. Harris was the best judge of Jerseys at the National Dairy Exposition in St. Louis in 1931 and received a $600 scholarship from the American Jersey Cattle club of New York.

In college, he was a member of Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture fraternity; Block and Bridle club, honorary animal husbandry organization; the University 4-H club; and the University Scholarship club.

Casual Observations

By FRED H. SHEILS

A glorious tradition which is given an annual one-day breath of life will be revived by students of our University on Friday, May 5, when fraternities and sororities will vie for the May Day best float award.

Pomp, ceremony, color, beauty, style, and, above all, comedy will bring supreme. The May Queen and her attendants will top off the morning's celebration in the usual fashion. It will be a much less expensive affair than in past years, because of many good reasons, but the life, liveliness, and humor will remain the same.

It has come to the attention of The Observer that effort to make campus roadways passable has been under way for the last two weeks. Those of us who have cars and are forced to drive them into University limits desire to express our appreciation for what has been done, but don't stop now—there are lots of holes yet to be filled.

The old weather-forecast offers the following forecast from the second through the seventh: High winds, frequent showers, and cooler nights through Wednesday; from Thursday through Saturday, we may expect a change for the better with warmer days, fewer showers, and less high wind. There's that fair weather that you were promised.

"Duck!... Eggs!"
"Do you know," remarked a kind old lady, "that one of the coldest days last winter a sparrow came to our window. I took the poor, cold, little fellow in where it was warm and he stayed a half an hour and made only one tiny mistake?"
"What—forgot to take his hat off?" asked the listener.
"E.V.D."

In the minds of thinking men the future always exists and the troubles of others are interesting, because we like to compare them with our own. For example: If we pass or are graduated, we consider ourselves superior to others; if we fail, we compare our troubles with those of others and are consoled by the discovery that someone else made a more complete failure than we did.

Generally speaking, the more shiftless a man is the more critical he is of the shiftlessness of others.

"What—forgot to take his hat off?" asked the listener.
"E.V.D."

Musical Honorary Elects Officers

James Scholl, Utica, N. Y., junior in the College of Engineering, was elected president of Phi Mu Alpha, national professional and honorary music fraternity for men, at a meeting held Thursday afternoon. Howard Matson was elected vice-president. The other officers were Kenneth Keyes, secretary; Joe McDaniel, treasurer; Charles Struble, warden; and Carl Boone, historian. Plans to announce the spring pledging were discussed and several short talks were made.

Library Receives 500 Law Volumes

After lengthy negotiations on the part of William Kenton of the University, the history department was able to secure an indefinite loan of more than 500 volumes of Kentucky documents from the Mason county officials in Maysville.

These books virtually complete the University's collection of Senate journals and other state records since the entrance of Kentucky into the union. The valuable collection will be placed in the library at the disposal of law and history students.

GUSS CLAIMS LAURELS

Morris Guss of the University of Utah, claims to be one of the Bing Crosby championship fans of the country. Crosby, working in Paramount's "College Humor," received a letter from Guss who admitted the possession and ownership of 104 Crosby records.

Howard Jones, whose University of Southern California football athletes have won 20 consecutive games, has turned actor. He enacts the role of the coach in Paramount's "College Humor."

Something to Say
not just saying something

A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say":

"I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click... I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.'"

Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy."

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By DELMAR ADAMS

After a rather mediocre start, the Wildcat tennis team has displayed remarkable form in its last few matches and bids fair to be the best team ever seen at the University.

Howard Wilson, never a brilliant player but always a steady and dependable, No. 1 Kentucky player, turned in the best brand of tennis Saturday, and Turner Howard, the No. 4 player, also demonstrated a remarkable improvement in his game.

Coach M. E. Potter's frosh track squad, composed in the main of football players, turned in a neat win over the M. M. I. cadets Saturday on Stoll field.

J. D. Haggard, sophomore member of the golf team, turned in his best round of the season Saturday in a turning out on the University of Cincinnati golfers on the Fort Mitchell course at Covington.

Very few star athletes have ever been developed at the University, but in the near future, two of the members of the present track squad may reach that level.

"Red Doug" Parrish, who is one of the best one-man track teams in this part of the country, is a hurdler of rare merit and holds the University record in the 120 high hurdles with 15.6 seconds.

Annually, the University extension department sponsors a high school track meet and is aided by the athletic department.

The high school meets are fully as interesting as the varsity meets and the times and distances are almost as good and sometimes better.

Sports Carnival Is Tomorrow Night

"Cadaver" and "Hack" both have a favorite hold which they are confident will bring them victory.

A boxing match will see "Young" Thomas, the Guignol leather pusher, pitted against the ring craft of the wily old master, Professor Heinz.

Ky. Science Group Will Hold Meeting

James H. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction in Kentucky and president of Murray State Teachers College, and James W. Cammack, rector of the University of the State Department of Education, will be the principal speakers at a dinner meeting of the Kentucky Academy of Social Sciences, at 6 p. m., Saturday, May 6, in the University Commons.

Teachers of social science in the schools of Kentucky are eligible for membership in the organization. Approximately 50 are expected to be present for the meeting on Saturday. Meetings are held every three months of the academic year.

Pershing Rifles Drill Is May 12

The sponsors chosen by the committee will receive all the publicity that goes with the Pershing Rifles unit.

The following is the program to be presented: Regimental parade (University unit).

Drill competition by Pershing Rifles units (order of appearance to be left).

Exhibition by American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, Man O'War Post.

Exhibition by Pershing Rifles. Fireworks display.

In reply to an invitation sent to General J. Pershing by Major Brewer, General Pershing stated that he regretted that he could not come, but that he was forced to be in Europe.

The fireworks will end with a burning picture of General Pershing and President Roosevelt with the band playing the "Star Spangled Banner."

FROSH TRACKMEN SWAMP M. M. I. 102-18

Paced by Norris "Mac" McMillan and aided by a host of yearling gridiron performers, the University freshman track team smothered the M. M. I. Cadets Saturday afternoon on Stoll field in their initial track meet of the season by a score of 102-18.

The relay team consisting of four freshman backfield stars—McMillan Ayers, Fritchard, and Glimmer, won the half-mile relay event with ease.

The outstanding performances of the afternoon were McMillan's javelin throw of 154 feet eight inches and Kelly's heave of 38 feet in the shot put.

McMillan, besides winning the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard low hurdles, and the javelin throw, was second in the broad jump and participated in the half-mile relay and scored as many points as the entire M. M. I. team.

Sigma Xi Members To Be Presented

Associate members of Sigma Xi, who will be presented at an annual banquet in May, were discussed at a meeting of the Kentucky chapter of the organization, Thursday, April 27.

Membership to the organization is based on interest and participation in scientific endeavor. Associate members may be elected from graduate students or from seniors who are planning to continue work in a scientific field.

The Kentucky chapter has a membership of approximately 80. Officers are Dr. F. E. Tuttle, president, and Prof. E. M. Johnson, secretary.

The German club met at 4 p. m. Tuesday, April 11, in Room 204, Administration building.

Several minor changes were made in the constitution and the dues were placed at 25 cents per month. Membership in the club will be limited to 35. Adele Headley was elected new secretary and treasurer.
