BOOKLETS SENT OUT BY SENIORS

Secretarial Association Sponsored Pamphlet Which Explains Merits of Commerce Grads

The Secretarial association at the University has issued a pamphlet, "Bargains in Secretarial Work," copies of which will be sent to a number of business men in Kentucky.

This will be the first pamphlet sent out by the secretarial division of the commerce-seniors class, although a series of pamphlets was issued last year by the commerce-senior class Employment association.

The pamphlet tells of the students who will be prepared to fill the positions of secretaries. It explains to the business man that in addition to the secretarial courses, such as typing, shorthand, office-management, business English, and secretarial accounting, all the students have had a varied basic college education. All have taken English, history, French, Latin, law, and some in agriculture. Many have taken the entire business administration course, and some in the College of Commerce. Quite a few are trained in the specific fields of accounting, advertising, marketing, psychology, salesmanship, and statistical methods.

Vesper Soloist Heard in Debut Recital Sunday

James O. Roberts, Baritone, Presents Program in Memorial Hall

By HARRISON ELLIOTT An audience which completely filled every seat on the main floor of Memorial hall heard James O. Roberts, baritone, in his debut recital Sunday afternoon.

All numbers sung by the recitalist were warmly received, although strange to say, Mr. Roberts saved the best for last, giving better renditions of and drawing most applause on his encore numbers than on any of those of the program list.

John Shelby Richardson accompanied Mr. Roberts on the piano. Mr. Roberts' program was varied in text and music. On the first, "The Bird Song," by Charles Lemaire, Mr. Roberts' interpretation of these songs was most pleasing.

Without doubt, the type of songs in this group is most suited to the lyric quality of Mr. Roberts' voice. The melody of the singer's voice came to light in this group of songs.

The second group of songs on the program consisted of "My Dark Canoe," a North American Indian folk song; "At Parting," a Slavonia ballad; "Cherry Blossoms," a Japanese folk song.

A limit of $25 dollars will be set for the amount which may be spent in the preparation of decorations. A committee of judges including University faculty members will make the decorations Thanksgiving morning.

Suiky circle made plans at the meeting Tuesday for a dance which will be held Saturday night, November 25. Andy Anderson and his orchestra will be the featured attraction which will be held in the Alumni gymnasium from 9 to 12.

"Mrs. Moonlight" Is Feature of Little Theater on Stage

MRS. D. F. PETTIT STARS

By T. J. ROPKE "Mrs. Moonlight," which is being presented this week at the Gignon theater, is one of the most difficult plays this group has ever attempted to stage.

Due to the lapse of the time between the last two plays, several of the players, several of whom are inexperienced, to fill their roles. Only four of the cast have ever appeared before on the stage.

Mrs. Moonlight, on her wedding day, receives a necklace which has the power to grant one wish.

At the birth of a daughter several years later, she makes a wish she never thought of. At the opening of the play we find that her appearance has remained unchanged.

After 17 years she returns to visit her husband under the name of a stranger. She has never seen him, and she finds that she looks no older than her daughter Jane. She vows one (Continued on Page Four)

Powerful, Lashing Attack Is Too Much for Squad of Wildcats

CROWD OF 12,000 SEES KENTUCKY LOSE, 34-0

Numerous Substitutions Made By Both Teams; Kelly Is Injured

By JAY LUCIAN "Little Preacher" Roberts rode the surf board on the crest of Tulane's Green Wave to hopelessly submerge the invading Blue of Kentucky 34 to 0, Saturday afternoon before a surprised crowd of 12,000 in the sultry air of New Orleans.

Scoring a touchdown on the fifth play of the game, the Green-laden swept the demoralized Cats before them to continue a scoring spree that netted them four touchdowns in the first quarter, and one the second.

Numerous substitutions were made on both sides at the beginning of the second half and the game was more evenly played; with neither team scoring. Kercheval made out-plays the rest of the half, besides playing an out-standing defensive game. Able Avers also mastered Kercheval and played at top-speed while in the game.

Two minutes after his first touchdown, Roberts ran 75 yards to score again. A little later, after an 80-yard punt by Simons, Thomas, a substitute back, scored after Tulane marched 63 yards to the seven-yard line. Roberts converted the first three touchdowns from placements.

On the first play after the next kick-off, Kentucky fumbled away the ball. On the next play Thomas ran 21 yards for another touchdown and he converted the point. Roberts recovered the fumble game before the first half ended.

The last touchdown came in the second quarter when a Kentucky player recovered on Kentucky's 19-yard line. Thomas scored on an off-balance run of 12 yards.

SPIRIT OF KENTUCKY

"For when the One Great Score comes to write against your name, he writes not that you won or lost, but how you played the game."

Last Saturday a courageous Kentucky football team was defeated by another team, equally courageous, and unquestionably superior.

The overwhelming victory of Tulane was a bitter one for most of us to swallow. We have a tender veneration (although no one would suspect it, at times) for those boys who, fighting under a tremendous handicap, strive for triumph for the Blue and White of old Kentucky.

It is not our contention that everything is as it should be. Obviously, something is wrong. If Coach Gamage has not produced a winning team, it is not because he has not tried.

Is Kentucky different from other schools? Can she not suffer defeat gracefully and in sportsmanlike manner? It must be remembered that winning a game means just as much to the opposing side, so, be reasonable in commenting on defeat.

OBLIGATIONS AND LIFE At its best, life is a very complicated thing. This is not an original observation, but it is quite true.

with one another. Christ has told us that we cannot serve two masters and the beetle life of our modern civilization certainly proves this to be a fact.

It is not a question of trying to do too many things, for if the things which we try to do are related, they may serve to complement one another. It is because the things which we are striving to accomplish are in conflict with one another. So it is that the slight second thing to get on to a third, we give our best to none of these things, and each is but half done.

Is there a remedy for this? It is hard to say. Often after we have once obligated ourselves, there is no release. So it behooves us all to pick our obligations carefully.

Some may say that they have no obligations. This is an untrue and pathetic statement. It is impossible for anyone in this life to avoid obligations. We have obligations to our family and our friends. However, other obligations which are just as strong are to the past and the future.

But we must choose. We cannot by giving part of ourselves to the present and part to the future add very greatly to either. We must choose to what we are going to devote ourselves, and adhere to it unflinchingly if we are to find perfection and contentment.

WE ARE WILLING, ARE YOU?

The issuing of a pamphlet, "Barangins in Secretarial Efficiency," by the Commerce-Security Clearance Employment Association, typifies the youth's earnest attempt to seek for itself a place of economic independence in spite of adverse conditions which have existed during the past four years.

The pamphlet briefly states the qualifications of the senior graduate in the Secretarial Commerce course, giving also the method by which a personal interview may be arranged. Approximately 600 copies of the pamphlet have been mailed to various parts of the state.

The serious problem of unemployment has faced more pertinently the college students than any other group. Those young men and young women who have taken four years of their time in which to secure their education have undoubtedly incurred obligations which must be met, yet they have had little prospect of finding employment since the number of employees, where it has not been cut, has remained at the same point. In other words, "No new men are being taken on," has been heard frequently.

With the working out of the Recovery Administration program, there is the probability that the question of seeking employment will be less grave. Members of the college group are eager for an opportunity to work, to maintain an economic independence and to meet their obligations. The typical attitude of University students, to seek diligently for an opportunity of obtaining employment, is indicated by the publication issued by the members of the Commerce senior class.

Since hardly anyone can pronounce correctly "Peep's," we suggest that an easier as well as a more descriptive name for The Kernel's take-off of his famous book be "Peep's Diary."

And then was the freshman who defined "symmetry" as "a place where dead people are buried."

Scandal Snickerings

Once again we taken our little Remington "in hand" to dash off a few random shots. But there is very little to write again as usual. It seems that our contemporary, "Doc," delights in taking a crack at us in every opportunity. We have hesitated in saying anything about her, but here goes. It seems that her greatest horror is being exposed. She is none other than a Junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, Lexington.

A round of the sorority houses on Sunday afternoon revealed very little. The Alpagham house we find that Mary Elizabeth Bruce, Stearns, Ky., is wearing the pin of Delta Sherill Smith. Smith also lives in Stearns. But is not school now. At the Trielid house we witness an episode between Sister Peg Haskins and Leslie "Lige" Scott. Peg spends some time in tantalizing Scott with some mischief, but Leslie declares "He has never kissed a girl in his life and doesn't intend to begin on any boys and takes the rejection very hard." He thinks a lot of Peg, but denies any report of a budding romance between Peggie and him.

Congratulations Bud! Marjorie Duncan, popular Lexington, is wearing the pin of Bud Hunt. Nie, going, Bud. "Was He Dere, Betty?" We wonder if Kappa Betty Ann Pennington recently refused to answer her questions in the games of truth and Consequences at the Kappa Lodge.

"The rumored that Chio Pleb Jane Goodwin is wearing the pin of one of the Bill Dawsons. Sigmasky Bill Dawson denies the report. By the way, the rumor that the members of Sigmasky Bill Dawson.

Several days ago a Yale professor who was visiting the Kentucky campus approached a group of four boys and asked the question: "What is the name of the building on the Geology building. One of the group replied, "Sorry mister, we don't know, we just play football here."

Delaw Len "Yanky" Van Arsdale picks peculiar places to do his Sunday afternoon starting with Virginia Robinson. They climbed three flights of stairs to the top floor of one of the campus buildings. According to Van, "They were watching the sunset". Come, come, Yank, that's an old story.

Another Club The formation of the Worm Club has recently been called to our attention. In fact we have had an invitation to become a member. According to members of the organization include Hugh Adcock, Jimmy Finney, Don McGurk, Mary Elizabeth Dunn, Lady Eliza Beecher and her two love, Hunt Thomas, Catherine "Cab" Calloway, Ann Payne, Perry, Gates, and the names of the members are Irvin and Bonny Hutchinson. This club probably explains why Bonny Hutchinson acquired the name of "Angledworm". The organization is purely social and non-secret.

RANDOM SHOTS: Phidelt Walter Hillenmeyer should get his women straight and stop calling all his girls Nancy. It is said that Alphas T. J. Ropke took a terrific beating from Kappasg "Red" Bullock during a football game between those two lodges. Kadee plib, Jerry Gilbert received a mouse in a still when she was ordered to go. Alphasg Bill Howe is still wondering what became of his Alphasman date. Piekap Phil How and Kappasg Bill Howe are twin brothers. Delaw Bill Haag takes Kappa Eliza Woodard out for Sunday night supper. Kappasg John Johnson is escorted to military class by fraternity brother, Trid, Trid, Pleb, June Curd, the Wilmore flash, has a way with Phidelt Pleb, Johnny Cradock, and a good "Cutem". Chio Pleb, Jane Piero is not afraid of overweight. She drinks milk. We wonder why Trid, Peg Haskins called to Bobby Rouneval in the theater recently when she was kept waiting by the Dartmouth grad, Sigmasky Pleb, Bob Herron, has a new name. It is "Smoother". Alphasg Dick Sproles and Alpagham Edna Evans are seen together very often in the University Commons. We puzzle at Sigmasky, Louis Hillenmeyer, who is a sophomore (believe it or not). My nominations for May Queen, Trid, Betsy Frye, with Alpagham Lillian Holmes, Kappa Mary Dantzer, Sarah Whittinghill, and Kappa Ann Payne Perry as maids of honor.

Jest Among Us

During cold winter months these fresh have one advantage over us upperslanssers in that they can wear their caps, and still look collegiate.

The only difference between our boarding-house food and that of the Philippine Islands is that the natives there know positively that it is dog meat that they're eating.

A Typographical Error? From Seen From the Pressbox: "The athletic department is again running the gridgraph, which depicts a play-by-play account, directed from the scene of action."

LEAVES IN NOVEMBER Must you sweep the leaves away. Clear off the bark, make clean the lawn?

It seems 'twould be a little thing To leave them there to crinkle in a step -And answer swiftly to the gay wind's call. Swift as my bright, dead leaves, Bristle, legs with your jointed tips.

Do all these things; I shall not sweep you away. -DOROTHY.

U. K. STUDENTS How lucky we U. K. students are. We will have come from near and far. To have such a wonderful school as this. In which to spend our days of bliss. Collections Cosmopolitan

By HELEN ALFREY Six continents, 36 foreign countries, and 24 states are represented on the campus of the University of Kentucky. If you don't believe it go over to Mechanical Hall sometime and look over the collection of minerals, petrified wood, and hard stones and plants. These specimens are on display all the time, and attached to each one is a card telling the name and the place where it was found.

There are representatives from South Africa to Alaska, the Island of Elba to Westphalia, and Maine to California. This collection is valued at approximately $20,000. But the great worth of it is easy to understand when it is realized that you are looking at a unique and fascinating collection of minerals, petrified wood, and hard stones and plants. These specimens are on display all the time, and attached to each one is a card telling the name and the place where it was found.

Some of them are polished, but most of them are exactly as they were taken from the earth. It is very interesting indeed to see the very noticeable difference in the appearance of the stones that are beautifully mounted in your bracelets and rings, and those that are still in their original state. It gives you a fair idea of the extensive process that a stone undergoes in polishing. It justifies the well-known saying that a diamond is not a girl's best friend. This is a superior grade of skill and workmanship. They are flowering plants that are carried out in the rough. The grace and beauty of the natural plant is retained in the tracery and coloring.

This highly-prized collection was presented to the College of Engineering in August, 1929 by late Col. William Boyce Thompson, of New York. Colonel Thompson was a mining engineer, and became famous for his research in this work. He established the Boyce Thompson Institute for Plant Research in Crokers, N. Y., and the William B. Thompson Arboretum in Superior, Arizona. The College of Engineering takes pride in this collection, which is one of the most complete of its kind.

AW, WHAT'S IN A NAME

What is the most popular name on the campus this year? Jones. I'll bet you will say. But you are mistaken. Jones is left far behind with a measly 15, but Johnson craves through with the top score of 22, and Davis runs a close second with 18 claiming that surname. And just look at all the names among us, too, and those two Vics might drag some good little boys from their studies.

Now to get religious, we have one Parrish, four Bishops, one Elder, and one Nunn. Among our buildings are three Holmes, one House, and one Shedd. In a financial way, only one student has to be rich. But we have Kash, Nickells, Money, and a Pinney. We should never get hungry this year with such food around as Berlys, Cherrys, Rice, Parsley, Spice, Wheat, and Coffey to drink.

Life on the campus should never get monotonous with such an assortment as this.

Roamin' the Rialto

By BEN BLACK

The throbs, throbs of every beat Tears at my strength, beats at my feet. Clear off the bark, make clean the lawn? Doors of quietude. The heathen tempo makes my body glow restlessly. Impatient of the leather and wool that binds and holds it; It struggles to be free! Sob, wind! Cry, wind! Only stop that ravishing song!

Leave me alone! (Throb!)—(Throb!)—Swish—swish—swish! (Throb!)—(Throb!)—Swish—swish—swish! (Throb!)—(Throb!)—Swish—swish—swish! Black forms leap 'round red sacrificial fires. Swaying, twisting, shaking, slinking. Drunk with the music's fury, wild my feet desire. Turning, leaping, bending, sinking! Drums! Cries! Sobs! And that mad throbs! Let white lipped dawn come, this night to rob! Sob, wind! Cry, wind! Only stop that ravishing song! Leave me alone! —L. J.

Following "The Invisible Man" Jack Holt will be shown in "Men of Men." This picture gives us Jack Holt in one of his best and most typical roles, the big strong hero-man. It is another one of those pictures where a strong man is ruined in his thirst for power.

All four Marx brothers in their maddest, craziest, merriest, absurdity "Duck Soup" is the current attraction at the Kentucky. And, in addition to these dozens of girls and boys who are coming to the city of music. Also Louis Calhern, who plays the part of the villain, Margaret Dumont, the dignified actress, who has previously appeared with them, are in the cast.

The mythical country of Freeland is badly in need of money, and Grochu becomes the dictator. Harpo and Chico are the two spies of the rival country of Sylvania, and they are working to overthrow Grochu. Grochu plays upon their weakness for food and girls and hires them to work for him too. But Raquel Torres, another spy, causes Grochu to take a bit of trouble. Finally to ward off his enemies he declares war. For a time things look bad for Freeland, but it all comes out O. K. in the end.

To herald the lowering of their prices to ten cents for matinee and fifteen cents for night the Strand Picture Palace has presented an unusually bill this week. Yesterday and Sunday "Saturday's Millions" was presented and today and tomorrow, "Take a Chance," is shown.

"Take a Chance," is one of the latest of musical pieces with plenty of dancing and an abundance of good music. At least five songs, "New Deal Rhythm," "It's Only a Paper Moon," "I Never Took a Leap in My Life," "Should I Be Proud," and a new version of "Eddie Was a Lady" may be recommended.

This film details the adventures of four side-show entertainers who try their luck on Broadway. The quartette, composed of James Dunn, June Knight, Cliff Edwards and Lillian Roth find that the great white way isn't much different from Main street; and they climb to the top by a series of episodes in which they get involved with a gangster, work in a crooked gambling joint and put on a musical comedy success. The supporting cast is composed of Charles Rogers, Lillian Roth, Louis Andre and Robert Gleckler.

There is a very serious question which it would be hard to put any two men to agree on the qualities to be sought in either. Dean Harry N. Irwin.

SHOP SIGHTS

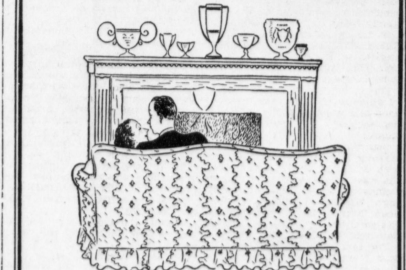

By MARY REES LAND

Baynham is showing shoes of a new material, that is, new for shoes. It is genuine seaskin AND is scuff-proof. They come in many styles including oxfords and the more dressy type. The spectator is among the latter type. It is a brown fall color with a stitched pattern of brown. For the want of a better adjective we call this shoe "smart."

Stockings are usually mentioned in connection with shoes. Mitchell, Baker & Smith have hose for afternoon called "Queen's Lace." They do not look like a mesh but like a real lace pattern. They are too dainty to hang from a brick mantle, but such a gift from Santa would be appreciated.

"Hot-Cat Bath Wraps" made by Cannon are on display in Embury's lingerie department. They can be used for almost any purpose and it is said that fashionable hotels in Europe furnish them to their guests instead of towels. They are made of terry cloth and have a white cord belt that is so easy to tie. They are white with gay stripes, solid colors with deeper colored stripes, or in a variety of patterns. They are laundered like a towel and are quite warm.

PHANTOWN: A long, black afternoon dress of a fashionable cut is to be seen at the College Shop. It has tiered net edged with gold sleeves. You know, the gleam of her ivory arm through the lace of her dress' idea. The rabbit's wool sport anklets at DeWitt's to wear to the games and for skating, etc., come in solid colors. After they washed and dry, brush them gently and it will return to its former state.

Now...in regard to your love life

Many a girl would confess to boredom at resting her shapely head against nothing but the usual plain colored shirts. So Arrow is giving the ladies —and you—a welcome change with a dazzling new assortment of fancy (but not fancy) shirts. Subdued patterns, neat patterns, small checks and plaids. All Sanitized Shrink—which means no shrinkage—over!

All the current rumors about the signing of a new coach for the Wildcat football team are truly baloney and nothing more. According to the athletic council and "Daddy" Boles, the council has not considered this matter until after the Thanksgiving game with Tennessee. Every fan in Lexington has his idea about the coach and several different men have been reported to have been engaged. It reminds us of the boys who yelled, "Wolf! Wolf!" and when the wolf did arrive, no one would believe it and the prowl-er escaped unmolested. When the coach is signed, no one will believe it until he appears in person next fall.

yards. The placement for the extra point was missed.

Kentucky put up a better defense in the second half and twice came within scoring distance, once when Rupert barely missed a pass over the goal line. Neither team made any more attempts to score during the rest of the game.

The Kentucky team seemed to have been stricken with the suddenness of the Green Wave attack and never recovered till too late. However, the star Tulane backs were removed from the team soon after the first quarter. In all justice to Kentucky the weather was unlike anything the Cats had encountered this year. With the beginning of the second half, the Kentuckians changed their heavy blue jerseys for the light white ones and they seemed to play a better game.

Intramural
By J. B. WELLS

All boxers and wrestlers are urged to begin their training as soon as possible and not to postpone the date for beginning the training period. It is very important that the qualification will be the result of any noncompliance. Some may wonder at the department's setting down such strict rules, but the whole of the thing is to eliminate that tired feeling which has usually accompanied the bouts heretofore.

A decided interest has been shown in intramural football. This has been shown by the fact that this team has failed to participate on the day set. The Independent dormitory team and the Pi Kappa Alpha teams apparently have the strongest interest in the "Alpha Gamma Delta" running a close second. However, we may be wrong since weight does not always mean strength.

A vote was polled last week regarding the eligibility of numeral and lettermen. The result favored the former, and it is hoped that they have won awards in the respective sports. Another phase of the question was brought up, and the resolution stated that regardless of where or where it was received the student who is ineligible to participate in the respective intramural sports.

BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY IN 1933

Margaret King, U. K. Librarian, Announces in Annual Report that 19,954 Publications Have Been Received

During the college year 1932-33, the University library added 19,954 publications, according to the annual report made by Miss Margaret King, head librarian. Of this number, 266 books and 413 periodicals were purchased while the remaining 19,275 were gifts. These accessions bring the total number of books in the library 148,507.

One of the most important gifts was that of the president and trustees of Centre college, which consisted of 479 volumes of the "serial set" and 2,683 miscellaneous volumes of the United States "Public Documents." About 500 of the new additions were duplicates of the collection brought to Lexington by the transfer of the Kentucky geological survey. Many other donations, ranging from one volume to hundreds, have been received from time to time and have added materially to the collections.

A special effort has been made during the past year to acquire an adequate and useful collection of Kentucky historical source material. Pamphlets, bills, letters, pictures, and the like have been acquired, photostating processes being used on the most valuable.

Popularization of the library work has been carried out to a great extent this past year. Radio talks, publication of a start paper, and preparation of 40 different exhibits in the various display cases of the library have been the chief movements toward this end. An increased attendance and use of the browsing room, one of the library's newest features, was also noted.

The average attendance of the general library was 1,280 per day, or 3,122 a week. Total circulation for the year was 51,382.

The parts of Willie Raag and Percy Middleton, courtesy of Jane, played by Marjoris Powell, are high points of the production. Ole Williamson, in the role of Willie, and Howard Smathers, as Percy, give authentic representations of the two men of 1903. The next group of songs was composed of German classics. The audience must have had more appreciation for the German language than French or Italian because they applauded the renditions in this group more. "Aus Meinen Grossen Schmerzen," by Robert Franz, was fairly well given. Three songs by Robert Schumann were well received by the audience. "Wohin" by Franz Schubert was most appreciated. As an encore number Mr. Roberts sang "Die Lotosblume," by Robert Schumann.

As his fifth and last group Mr. Roberts chose a melodramatic quartet of selections, "You in a Gondola," by Robert C. Clarke; "The Midshipmate," by Stephen Adams; "I'm Wearing Awa," by Arthur Foot; and "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," by Geoffrey Hara.

RUPP UNDECIDED ABOUT SQUAD'S PROSPECTS

"I will not say whether I have a good or a bad club until I see them in action against an opposing team."

With these words Coach Adolph Rupp expressed his opinion as to what the public can expect out of his varsity basketball candidates during the coming semester.

Working principally on fundamentals, Coach Rupp has exactly two weeks in which to perfect his squad for its first game with the alumni, the night of December 5. Following the winter games, the Wildcats will meet Georgetown December 9. Marshall comes here December 14, and the night of December 16, the court artists will engage the University of Cincinnati Bearcats, this being the last game before the Christmas holidays.

Coach Rupp has been shifting his men quite a bit in order to find the best possible combination, and the only man who seems to have clinched himself a regular berth is "Little Bill" Davis, but should Lewis improve any he will give the captain a battle. Lewis is only a sophomore and lacks the experience that DeMolloy possesses, but he has the height and seems to love the game.

Andy Anderson seems to have the inside track on the other guard post, but Sam Potter, who is at present occupied with football, will be in there giving Andy a royal battle when the pigskin season ends. Edwards is another guard who is not to be "sneezed at."

This was not the official freshman team, but just a group of players selected by the coaches from the freshman ranks.

Cooperation

Rooting Sections and College Newspapers

ISN'T it unusual for you to associate a rooting section scene in the stadium with your campus newspaper—the Kentucky Kernel? Yes, it is, but let's look at it from the following point of view:

A rooting section must cooperate in a precise and minute manner, the slightest lack of cooperation may ruin its successful functioning. Isn't such a lack always ruinous to the successful operation of any group? Well, therein lies the association.

The Kentucky Kernel needs the cooperation of every U. K. student.... It requires your support. It's inevitable that you patronize many business institutions. Many such institutions advertise in the Kentucky Kernel, thereby furnishing you a newspaper. Why not support them?

So, let's cooperate.... patronize Kentucky Kernel advertisers.... let them know it.... and aid this student undertaking.
