GAMAGE SHIFTS LINE-UP
Visitors Fear Wildcat Passing Attack; Kentucky to Watch Winchester Line Plunges
Coach Gamage and his Wildcat troops, tripped and lame, will do battle with the Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on Stoll field. The game with the Panthers has a bearing on the state title and the champion may be named after this contest.
The Panthers have won two games and have not been scored on. Kentucky has tied one game and lost one and a win tomorrow will just about even things up as far as percentage is concerned.
The Blue and White will have a new representation on the field when they tie up with the Panthers and it may take fame and attention a little while to figure out Gamage's battle array.
In the backfield there remain only two of the "midgait backfield," these in question being Al Portland and Elmer Gibb. The other men in tomorrow's line will more than likely be Covington and Deen. Deen will play offensive half and defensive tackle. Ray Ellis will shift to the line and play defensive end and to the offense. Gibb will call the signals and Portland and Covington will do the ground gaining.
Say's Moliney will be missing from the line, as will Phillips. Captain Wert will play offensive guard and defensive halfback. There is so much shifting when the ball changes direction that a good staff is needed to take them down. Try and pick them out.

Delving into the dope bucket we find that Wesleyan has a very strong line and it will take some hard plugging for the Wildcats to get through. The Panthers are also good on the offense and have an exceedingly good punter. Reports have it that the Wildcats fear the Wildcats' passing attack and this phase of the game may determine the outcome. Who will punt for Kentucky tomorrow?

Students Must Call at Gym for Mail
Students who have not called at the university postoffice and secured the number of their mail boxes are urged to do so at once.
These boxes have already been assigned and many students have several pieces of mail awaiting them here. Since both outside and university mail comes through the university postoffice, delayed mail is causing some confusion at the office.

ANNUAL PICTURES MUST BE READY
Dorothy Sellers, Editor of Kentucky Announcements Dates on Which Students Are to Have Pictures Taken
In order to facilitate the work of the photographer and make it more convenient for the student body also, the Kentucky staff body that students follow schedules already announced.
All pictures are being made in the trophy room in the men's gymnasium, and students are requested to report there on the day scheduled for their organization. Students not in organizations may report to the trophy room any time.
The cost of the initial sitting is $1.50. This includes one print. Additional prints may be procured for fifty cents each. One print is necessary for each time the student's picture is to appear in the annual.
Young and Carl, Cincinnati, are taking pictures for the annual and they have arranged with the photographer staff to supply enlarged photographs of all students desiring them for a very reasonable price.
Proofs of the pictures will be back one week after the sitting. Students who have already had their pictures taken are requested to call at the trophy room and select the picture they wish to appear in the year book.

Robinson Experiment Station Shows Results of Modern Farming
Efforts of the university to help point the way to the full development of farm lands were explained at the annual harvest and fair of the Robinson Experiment Station, which opened last week, when President McVey and Dean Cooper, accompanied by a number of other, visited the experiment station.
The main farm, composed of 15,000 acres of barren land, was donated to the state by E. O. Robinson, of Port Thomas, and it was this tract of land that the university succeeded, through scientific methods, in making one of the most beautiful spots in the Appalachian valley. Through the cooperation of the officials of the university, modern methods have taken the place of crude farming once employed there, and the exhibits from the farm this year have ranked with the best in Kentucky.
President McVey and Dean Cooper were among the speakers and emphasized the value of education and cooperation among the farmers.
CATHOLIC CLUB TO MEET
The Catholic Club of the University is holding its annual meeting at the Federation of College Catholic Clubs at Newman Club. The first meeting of the Newman Club will be held Sunday, October 9, after the 9 o'clock mass in the palm room of the Phoenix hotel.

Campus Club Elects New Officers for Year
Miss Muriel Hopkins is New President of Women's Organization
Miss Muriel Hopkins was elected president of the Campus Club, at the banquet and business meeting, held by the members of the club in the faculty dining room of the university cafeteria Tuesday evening.
Miss Ethel Caswell was elected secretary of the club and Miss Minnie Pherrigo was made chairman of the program committee. The resigning officers are, Mrs. J. M. Server, president, and Miss Maple Moore, secretary.
The Campus Club was organized several years ago by Mrs. Frank L. McVey, in order to bring together the women of the university. The purpose of the club is to promote a better social spirit and understanding among the women, and to bring them into closer relationship with the university.

'K' Handbooks Are Still Available to Students
Approximately four hundred and fifty students have not obtained their 'K' handbooks. Through the generosity of the Y. M. C. A., enough books were published for every student on the campus to have one. To date only sixteen hundred have availed themselves of this opportunity.
The four hundred and fifty who have not obtained books are urged to call at the office of the Y. M. C. A. at once. The books are valuable to anyone connected with the university, and particularly so, to new students.

Centre Student Body Adopts Resolutions About Recent Trouble
In response to a resolution sent by the Men's Student Council of the University of Kentucky to the student body of Centre College, the student body of Centre College has adopted a resolution expressing regret for the trouble between Centre College and Kentucky students at the Maryville-Kentucky games, September 20, and immediately after the Maryville game the University Men's Student Council met and drafted resolutions expressing regret for the occurrence and expressing regret for the fact that the council would do its utmost to avoid any such trouble in the future.
The resolution adopted by the Centre student body and sent to the Men's Student Council was written in much the same tone, condemning the action of its students in pledging the support of Centre students in preventing any such trouble in the future.

U. K. GLEE CLUBS HOLD TRY-OUTS
Prof. Carl A. Lampert States That Material Is Promising; Rehearsals Are Progressing
First semester tryouts for the Girls' Glee Club, and the Men's Glee Club were held Wednesday and Thursday, this week. Approximately 45 students tried out for each club. Professor Lampert stated that he has found promising material among those who tried out.
Every member will have a number of the clubs will be announced in the next issue of The Kernel.
A practice, started last year, by which all members of the glee clubs received real vocal training, is being continued this year on an extensive scale. Every member will have definite idea of how to improve the tone quality of his voice. This class will be conducted by Professor Jarman, who has recently been added to the faculty of the department.
Regular practice of the glee clubs began last week, for those trying out. Professor Lampert stated, though, that anyone who has been unable to try out during the regular time will be given a special tryout. The Girls' Glee Club held their initial meeting, Tuesday afternoon at 9 o'clock. Out of the 40 members enrolled, Miss Jennie Williams, of London, was elected president. Miss Williams is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, and a member of the Alpha Delta Theta sorority.

Rehearsals Begin on New Romany Play
Rehearsals were begun this week on "The Singing Lady," the new Romany play, and it is thought that by the end of October, Romany auditions may have the pleasure of enjoying Mr. Perkins' hilarious comedy. The play will be portrayed by a local cast and the patrons of the Romany plays, it is hoped, there will be a record attendance at the dance.
The popular "W" by Charles Lindbergh is one of the latest bibliographies at the library. Some of the others are "Tracer Horn," by Lewis; "Moderns," by Moore; and "The Birth of the Nation," by Watson; "Washington Irving's Diary," and "The Diary of James Galt." There is also a group of art books on the different phases of Spanish art in America in the collection of the Hispanic Society of America at the library.
For those interested in antiquities there are "Old Glass, Earthenware and Pottery," by Moore; "The Olden Time," by Morse; and "Early American Pottery and China," by Spargo.
The new books of travel include, "A Chinese Mirror," by Ayscough; "Present Day Japan," by Surumi; "Nive: The Old Coast," by Upton; "Twilight Sleep," by Wharton; and "The Royal Road to Romance," by Halliburton.

Kernel Featurist Discusses Campus Parking Situation and Suggests Four Possible Remedies
(By Alfred P. Robertson)
The parking situation is getting acute. Please do not misunderstand me, I mean the parking of cars on the campus during the day, not on the country roads at night. The latter does not concern us—except in dividends. Let the county patroller worry about that. But the other is a campus problem. At least so the deans tell us.
Being one of the great majorities, I am not too greatly worried. To us the chief problem is to watch both ways at all the campus road crossings to prevent our individuality from being separated from our anatomy. At that it is sometimes a toss-up whether one should be hit by "Laspign Len's" or "Jennie Chrysler."
But as it is a civic problem, so to speak, we of The Kernel staff have studied the problem and have formulated several suggestions for the assistance of those who are fortunate enough to own their own transportation. The parking space on the campus is necessarily limited and cannot be accommodated. Someone must be left out. Take care that it is not you. The Kernel offers these suggestions:

1. Get up at 4 o'clock in the morning, drive your car to school, pick out a good parking place, an walk back to breakfast. If you find the campus already crowded, try 3 o'clock the next morning.
2. Go somewhere on Rose street and send a fire alarm in to all stations. The students will see the engines, jump into their cars, and go to the fire. You can pick out the space you want.
3. Sprinkle tanks copiously on all streets leading to the school, leaving a small lane for your own car. You will then be able to park in peace.
4. Leave your car at home.

Freshman Candidates Are Unopposed; Keenest Rivalry Shown in Senior Race With Four Men Nominated
URGENT STUDENTS TO VOTE
Nominations for president and vice president of the various classes of the university closed Wednesday, and the election will be held next Tuesday, October 11. Ballot boxes will be placed in front of buildings of the various colleges on the campus. The men and women nominated were:
Freshman
President, Pat Alberts, College of Engineering; vice president, Ruth Bonnin, College of Arts and Sciences. Sophomore
President, O'Hanlon Wilson, College of Engineering; vice president, Ed Covington, College of Arts and Sciences; Sara Lynn Tucker, College of Arts and Sciences. Junior President, W. D. Simpson, College of Engineering; Elmer Gibb, College of Arts and Sciences; vice president, Lucile Short, College of Arts and Sciences. Senior President, W. King, College of Engineering; J. R. Bullock, College of Arts and Sciences; Gayle Mohney, College of Arts and Sciences; Ray Bryant, Commerce; vice president, Ann Carvill.
The committee appointed by Robert McGary, president of the Men's Student Council, is composed of Leroy Miles, chairman; Bill Durbeck and W. E. Ranney. The voting will continue all day, and the election will have ballot boxes on the campus in which the votes may be cast. Members of the council will officiate.
In former years the percentage of students who have voted in the class elections has been very small. This year the student council is making a determined effort to get every student to vote.

DANCE FOLLOWS W. & L. GRID GAME
Suky Circle to Give First Hop of Year; Proceeds Go to Sent Band on Grid Trips
INVITE ALL STUDENTS
The first gridiron dance of the fall semester will be given by the Suky circle Saturday night, October 22, following the football game with Washington. The dance will be held in the men's gymnasium from 9 to 11:45 o'clock.
Fred Conn, chairman of the dance committee, said that the proceeds from the dance will be used to send the band with the football team when they leave home territory. Music for the dance has not yet been secured but the name of the orchestra will be announced in a later issue.
Subscription will be one dollar, and it is expected that a large number will attend as it is the first university dance of the season. Plans are being made to attend the centennial celebration of the University of Toronto October 6, 7 and 8, as the representative of the University of Kentucky. Mr. McVey accompanied Doctor McVey on the trip. They plan to return home about October 12.
Doctor McVey spent part of his summer vacation in Canada this year when as a representative of the National Association of State Universities, he attended the Conference of Canadian Universities, held at the University of Saskatchewan.

PRE-MEDS TO MEET
The Pre-Medical Society will meet in Room 203 of the Science building, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. A good speaker has been procured and all pre-meds are expected to be present.

Leroy Smith Returns to Ranks of Kernel Writers and Promises to Aid the Paper—and Wastebasket
(By Leroy Smith)
I could write a better story than this is going to be only if I did, they'd expectin' me to write one just as good, or maybe better, next week and so I'm going to leave room for improvement—plenty of room. Johnny looked over the last one and says he had read a sorer one somewhere but he couldn't remember just where but it didn't make much difference. He says it's small and unimpressive but he says he'd like to see it. So he threw it in the waste basket, and just before press time last week, he said he'd like to see it. So he threw it in the waste basket and just before press time last week, he said he'd like to see it. So he threw it in the waste basket.

University Library Receives New Books
Number of Popular Works on Variety of Subjects Rest on Shelves
The University of Kentucky Library has recently received a number of new books relating to fiction, travel, literature and biography.
Of the best of fiction received is "Love's Knots" by Young; "Mistress Nell Gwyn," by Bowen; "Galahead," by Erskine; "Wild Honey," by Nive; "The Old Coast," by Upton; "Twilight Sleep," by Wharton; and "The Royal Road to Romance," by Halliburton.

Engineering College Will Show Series of Industrial Pictures
The College of Engineering will show a series of industrial moving pictures on Thursday evening of next week at 7 o'clock in Mechanical Hall. Two series of seven interest groups at a meeting held last Wednesday night at Patterson Hall.
The series are: "What Is Life?" the first group, "The art of being physically fit," includes athletics; the second, "What is my attitude toward boys?" includes getting acquainted and love; the third, "Can I be a Person?" includes overcoming timidity, acquiring charm, and being an abundant life; the fourth, "Can I have a Real Friendship?" includes getting acquainted and knowing people; the fifth, "How to be a Good Neighbor," includes dramatic art, music, reading, and homes; and seventh, "How Can I Serve the University?" includes studies, religion, usefulness and cooperation.
The groups will meet as often and as long as their members desire. Many interesting discussions of these various problems will grow out of the groups. They are open to all new girls, and anyone wishing to join a group may see Miss Margaret Lewis, room 119, at Patterson Hall, and sign up for it. A schedule of the time and meeting places of the groups will be posted as soon as possible.

Secretary Elected by A. & S. Faculty Members
The Faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences held its first meeting of the year Monday afternoon. Prof. G. C. Jones was elected secretary of the faculty for the coming session to succeed the vacancy made by the resignation of Prof. L. D. Dantzer, head of the English department, who served two terms.
The meeting was presided over by introducing to the body the new professors and instructors in the College of Arts and Sciences and to a consideration of the new courses offered in this session in the departments of chemistry, English, political science, journalism and extension courses in geology, history, archaeology and science by Doctor Finkhouser, head of the Graduate School, and Professor Webb, head of the physics department. This was the first meeting of the body.

Ask All Seniors to Apply for Degrees
The following notice has been given out by the registrar's office: Seniors who expect to complete their work at the end of the first semester or in June, are requested to make application for degrees at the office of the registrar, during the week beginning October 7. Commencement lists are made from these cases and it is important that applications be made at this time.
No one will be considered who has not made application.
EZRA L. GILLIS, Registrar.

W. A. A. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Fall flowers were tastefully arranged throughout the house and a centerpiece of chrysanthemums decked the luncheon table. The guests remained at the house for the night.

Zeta Tau Alpha Luncheon

Zeta Tau Alpha sorority of the university entertained with a buffet luncheon Saturday at their home on East Maxwell street in honor of new pledges of the sorority. The house was tastefully decorated with golden rods. Following the luncheon, bridge and dancing were enjoyed by the guests.

Chi Omega Supper

The Chi Omega sorority entertained their new pledges Saturday evening following the Kentucky-Indiana game with a beautiful buffet supper at their home on South Limestone street. The house was artistically decorated with autumn flowers and the sorority colors of cardinal and straw were carried out in the decorations.

Campus Club Meets

Tuesday the Campus Club of the University of Kentucky held the first meeting after the summer vacation at the university cafeteria, with dinner at 5:30 o'clock. The annual election of officers took place.

Kappa Delta Tea

The pledges of Kappa Delta sorority were guests for a tea Sunday afternoon at the chapter house on East High street.

Shaded lights and flowers were the lovely decorations, and punch was served throughout the afternoon. About 100 guests called.

Beta Sigma Omicron Entertainments

The pledges of the Beta Sigma Omicron were entertained Saturday evening by the active chapter of the sorority with a buffet luncheon at their home on Washington avenue. Richmond and Killarney roses, the sorority flowers, were used in profusion throughout the house. The dining room glowed softly in the light of ruby and pink tapers, and a miniature corsage of roses was given each guest.

—Error Corrected

The Kernel wishes to apologize for the error which was made in this column last week concerning the Delta Chi and the Sigma Chi pledges.

The Delta Chi pledges are:

W. C. Vaughn, Catlettsburg; W. S. Focht, Lexington; Oscar Bond, Georgetown; J. Davidson Bond, Georgetown; Wayne Damron, Catlettsburg; Rufus Wilson, Pineville; Charles Blain, Dry Ridge; R. H. Brown, Sherman, Texas; John Cole, Lexington; Frank Lane, Paintsville; William Evans, Middleboro.

The Sigma Chi pledges are:

Jack Gillman, Kansas City, Mo.; Jack Cousins, Hamilton, Ohio; Robert Mowry, Princeton, Ind.; Henry J. Scott, Pikeville; Francis T. Watson, Ashland; J. P. Smith, Lexington; Preston Powell, Lexington; Wendell Reading, Paris; Frederick Greer, Paris; James Somes, Louisville; L. G. Farquar, New Castle; Henry Hayn, Chicago, Ill.; Robert Lewis, Danville; Austin Anderson, Ashland; Alvin Freeman, Louisville; Lawrence Rump, Fort Thomas.

Weddings

Lipps—Fentress

The marriage of Miss Genevra B. Lipps to Mr. John M. Fentress was solemnized Saturday morning, October 1, in the parlors of the Central Christian church, Dr. A. W. Fortune officiating. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Emma Chase Lipps, of Maxwellton court, and for several years has been a member of the clerical staff of the agricultural experiment station.

Mr. Fentress, a former student in the College of Engineering at the University, is the only son of Mrs. Eula Slaton, of Greenville, Ky. He is now employed by Allis, Chalmers Company, at Norwood, Ohio.

Zeta Entertainments

The Alpha Chi chapter of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority will entertain with a dinner this evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Croft, who were recently married. Mrs. Croft was formerly Daisy Taylor, an attractive member of the sorority and later its advisor. Mrs. W. E. Davis, grand vice president of Zeta Tau Alpha and Mrs. Joseph Turley will also be guests of the chapter.

PERSONAL

Dr. Frank L. McVey and Mrs. McVey left Monday morning for Toronto where they will remain for ten days.

Among the visitors at the Alpha Xi Delta house over the past week end were Misses Henrietta Blackburn, of Versailles, Mattie Baxter, of Harrodsburg, and Katherine Brown, of London.

FRATERNITY ROW

Mr. Elmore Vossmeier, of Covington, was a guest at the Pi Kappa Alpha house last week end.

Miss Edna Louis Wells, of Ashland, visited the Kappa Delta house and attended the Kentucky-Indiana football game.

Mr. Dick Hicklin, of Marion, and Mr. Ray Schulte, of Covington, were visitors at the Phi Kappa Tau house last week end.

Publish Poems

Works of U. of K. Graduate Are Printed

Three poems by Virgil Leon Sturgill, who worked on his master's degree at the university this summer, appeared in the 1927 edition of the "New American Anthology of Verse" published by the Unicorn Publishing Company, of New York. This book has just recently come off the press. The poems of Mr. Sturgill occupied one page in the Anthology of Verse, the title of the three poems being, "Pictures," "Quations," and "Longing." Mr. Sturgill has had other poems published at various times.

Mr. Sturgill was graduated from the university in 1926. In 1924 he won the Kernel prize for poetry. While a student here he was a member of Sigma Upsilon, honorary literary fraternity. At present time Mr. Sturgill is teaching English and public speaking in the Owensboro High school.

Dr. Gilbert Bailey Gives Dinner for Phi Alpha Deltas

Dr. Gilbert L. Bailey entertained the Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity Monday night at his mansion on the Newtown pike with a dinner followed by informal speaking. Forrest Black and Dean A. E. Evans, of the College of Law of the university, were among the guests at the festivities.

Active chapter members present at the dinner were: Dr. Bailey, Charles Daniels, P. G. Rumberger, Paul Fugter, Robert Bird, M. W. Klein and Alfred Powell. Pledges present were: Messrs. Drake and Byron. Alumni attending the meeting were: Prof. Roy Moreland, Judie Lyman Chalkley, Dr. Louis Roberts, Howard King. Guests attending were: W. C. Scott, Gayle Mohney, Louis Cox, Joe Johnson, Roy Hupper, and Messrs. McGurk and Hartford.

Instruction by air will be resumed at the University of Iowa October 10 from broadcasting station WSUI with a staff of five instructors, according to Edward H. Lauer, director of the extension division.

Undiscovered country in industry

THE globe's surface no longer holds much undiscovered country, but the pioneer-minded man can still find plenty of it in industry—particularly in the telephone industry. In the Bell telephone companies throughout the entire country, men are now exploring the 1930's and 40's and 50's, charting the probable trend of population and the requirements for service. In research and development, and in telephone manufacture as well, the Bell System takes seriously its responsibility to give adequate service now and to guard itself for a long future.

THE LIBRARY

There are many practices for which university students are condemned and conversely there are many practices for which university students are praised. Of those practices receiving condemnation, none merits it more honestly perhaps than that disregard to which the university library is continually subjected.

One of the most entrancing buildings on the campus and one in which lingers the most delightful atmosphere, the library is viewed as habitually as one avoids a first hour class—except, of course, when one has a particularly hard assignment or again at the time of examinations. Then its status becomes unquestionable.

For it is at such times that the library becomes a haven of safety, for at that crucial period one is likely to accept that inviting retreat with green and "cream down crumbs of knowledge" with a snarl.

The one time in which the library became famous in the history of this institution was some two years ago when it became known as a trying place for the Romeo and Juliet of the campus between the evening hours of 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. Since that notable occasion, little attention has been paid it, other than that mentioned.

Seemingly, what cannot be realized is that the library is not primarily a work shop, or a laboratory in which one must labor, but that it is a place set aside for students, where they may at odd hours enjoy themselves.

Oscar Wilde maintains that all knowledge comes through pleasure. Accepting that observation The Kernel suggests that you "drop around" at the library sometime and idly and indolently glance over some of the books or some of the magazines. One could not help but become interested in something and thus quite inadvertently commit oneself by learning that which one does not have to know.

And it should be a delightful sensation, this way of digesting the "crumbs of knowledge." Much more delightful than "cramming" or having it "crammed" down one's throat.

THE LITERARY SECTION

For some time The Kernel staff had racked its brain, trying to devise a means whereby the intelligentsia of the university might be persuaded to take more interest in the publication.

This peculiar and always misunderstood being, the intelligentsia, uttered a loud moan on Friday mornings with the appearance of The Kernel, and glancing wearily at the headlines, let the paper drop with nervous fingers. Then, they resumed their reading of the American Mercury or the Atlantic Monthly as the case might be. It was quite evident that athletics did not appeal to the intelligentsia.

Chi Delta Phi, women's honorary literary fraternity, were asked if they would sponsor a literary section, wherein the poetic wail of the intelligentsia might find expression. Singular as it may seem, no one objected to this. Even when one poet spoke of the estatic feeling she experienced on "Wild plum blossoms falling through her hair," no one was heard to protest. This continued, and "Why We Behave Like Human Beings" was ultimately settled. The intelligentsia were satisfied and read The Kernel regularly.

With the advent of "Letters" among university publications, The Kernel has lost a number of its reliable talent. However, the Literary Section must continue, if only because of the added prestige, it cannot fail to contribute to The Kernel regularly.

Anything will be acceptable from doggerel to the most embryonic utterance in vers libre. Those inheriting the creative instinct are urged to give it full rein. If they do this, only a bigger and better literary section can result.

If by coajery a few dollars can be coaxed from the business manager of The Kernel, prizes may eventually be awarded to those contributing the best poem to the Literary Section. Certainly the Literary Section should serve as an inspiration to the students, and The Kernel hopes that you will do your utmost to make it a success.
—Byron Pumphrey.

CONGRATULATIONS, R. O. T. C.

Despite the one-sidedness of the Indiana-Kentucky score two bright spots stand out from the gloom occasioned by memory of the 21-0 count. One of these bright spots is, of course, the wonderful fight put up by the Blue and White club team in the face of greatly superior weight and brawn; the other, the never-savering support of the student body. For years Suky circle, The Kernel, the University have preached school spirit—spirit such as that shown in Saturday's game.

To The Kernel it seems that a large share of the credit for the improved cheering should go to the members of the advanced and basic corps of the R. O. T. C. Of their own volition, these men gathered Saturday afternoon and marched in uniform to the stadium where a special section had been reserved for them. Once there the advantage of an organized body was readily perceptible for not only were the yell louder and more enthusiastic during the game, but also, for the first time, there were real cheers given for the team after the game was over.

The Kernel wants to take this opportunity to congratulate each individual member of the university R. O. T. C. unit for the splendid work he did Saturday. The paper further wishes to urge the students to keep it up—to come out tomorrow and every Saturday when we have a home game—in a body and in uniform. If the students in the R. O. T. C. unit will do this the remainder of the season they will have performed an invaluable service to the university and to the student body.

WAILS OF THE WEEK

FAIRY TALE

Once upon a time there was an Arts and Sciences student who was elected president of a class. Soon after this the College of Engineering was established.

CAMPUS AESOP

People who are Zetas should not throw stones. Among the surprising bits of wisdom which we have picked up from our enclaves are included the following remarks found in the summer issue of the Kentucky Wesleyan paper.
"Boys who do not wish to loaf at home can go to Sta. . . .
Subtract nothing from 0 and you have Georgetown College."

The following picture is printed for no particular reason except that some of our friends might well take the hint.

You may take this at what it is worth. And now that everybody has been pledged to one thing or another, what of it? And why?

THE SEARCH

I passed beneath the surface of your soul,
And left behind the old routing of tides.
Descended through a realm of fading light
Uneasy with the surge of storms above.
League below league and mile below mile
I sank into a darkening, cold reserve,
And, for a time, found only stillness here,
Then strangely there was beauty all about,
A luminous, deep-drifting host of thoughts,
Like wondrously colored lights of hidden fire,
The magic phosphorescence of the sea.
—E. S. C.

SPIRAL NEBULAE

Golden dragons writing
In the sky's vague orient
Above the wind, beyond the stars
You have remained unseen
By centuries of slanting eyes,
That might have worshipped.
You are revealed to men,
Now knowledge-coarsened.
Who cannot pay due reverence.
—E. S. C.

DESOLATION

A gaunt, bare, grey-brown tree,
Its boughs uplifted to a grayer, duller sky
With slate-black storm clouds brooding o'er it;
Poised at the crest of a knoll,
Alone of its kind on the barren, stony landscape,
Forgotten of men, a sentinel of Desolation.
—N. F. R.

TWO CULTS BEFORE A STRANGE GOD'S SHRINE

I chanced to meet a strange, small God
The other day;
I passed before His shrine awhile,
Then turned away. . . .
A strange, small God whose votives learned
A wanton play.
Some called this 'mad God love, and some Old Baal's child.
Some gave the flame their souls, a few
Thought flames defied.
Two cults before a strange God's shrine—
At both I smiled.
—N. G. A.

IT DOES NOT MATTER—

It does not matter, dear, at all,
Perhaps love only lied of you.
When idle rest who'd stay their fall?
What matter if you are not true?
Why labor with some mock-excuse
When we both know the mockery?
Perhaps love lied of both; why muse
On futile loving? We are free.
—N. G. A.

PREVIEWS OF LOCAL SHOWS

STRAND THEATER

"LILLIE THE TOLER"

In preparation for her role of "Lillie" in "Lillie the Toler," her latest Cosmopolitan production, now showing at the Strand Theater, Marion Davies read exactly seven hundred and twenty of Russ Westover's comic strips, on which the film play is based. In this manner she became thoroughly acquainted with the character of the little stenographer-heroine of the "funnies." The picture was directed at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio by Hobart Henley.

"LOVES OF CARMEN"

Years ago Raoul Walsh made a picture called "Carmen," with Theda Bara as the star. From the day the production was ordered until the finished print was shown, three or four weeks elapsed and when it reached the public "Carmen" was greeted with widespread approval. It was and now a second Walsh picture called "Loves of Carmen," has been produced. The picture was directed by Raoul Walsh through many months of production.

The picture begins Sunday at the Strand Theater for a run of four days. A football study picture will also be presented and other features.

BEN ALI THEATER

"OUT ALL NIGHT"

Marion Nixon, diminutive screen actress who danced her way into pictures six years ago when she made her appearance at a Los Angeles show house, now being screened at the Ben Ali Theater. Three acts of vodvil will also be given.

"CHAIN LIGHTNING"

Jack Baston, famous for his portrayals of screen villains, plays the "mace" in Buck Jones' new Fox Film production, "Chain Lightning," which comes to the Ben Ali Theater Sunday. Baston is one of the best known "heavy" in Western dramas, and his finished performance always add intrigue to the usual type of screen "bad man." Besides Baston, others in feature roles are Diane Ellis, Ted McNamara and Gene Cameron, as the high lights of the comedy relief. Lambert Hillyer directed the production.

"THE SECRET STUDIO"

"The Secret Studio," Victor Schertzinger's ninth production under the Fox Films banner, which comes to the Ben Ali Theater Monday for three days, with Olive Borden in the leading role, is provided with some of the most artistic settings seen here this season.

The locale is New York City—the interiors mainly in an artist's studio, typical of the best. A ball-room sequence also admits of comprehensive expression of the interior decorator's art.

The exteriors, too, are picturesque and assist materially in putting over the atmosphere of the story which revolves around Olive Borden in the role of Rosemary Merton, a New Jersey village girl, who goes to New York to embark upon an artistic career.

OPERA HOUSE

Another delightful theatrical entertainment from the pen of the author who gave to the stage those two excellent exceptional comedies "The Paley" and "Applesauce" will be the next week's offering of the Roberson Smith Players at the Opera House.

"Hell's Bells" is the title of the new play, which enjoyed a long and prosperous run in New York last year and which was only recently released for stock presentation. It is a lively comedy with the rare and outstanding element of extreme suspense. No one knows what is going to happen next in this story of two who have returned from Arizona to their home town in Connecticut and pose as millionaires with nary a cent between them. Relatives of one of the men plan to railroad his to an asylum and appropriate his "fortune." It may not sound funny to the reader, but

Patron Offers Prize for Best Play Upholding Faith in Life to Youth

Boston, Mass., September 22.—The startling number of suicides among college students during the past year has led a patron of the Repertory Theater of Boston to offer $1,000 for the best American play which shall hold up faith in life to the youth of America. The announcement of this prize has been made by the trustees of the Repertory Theater through whom the award will be made. The competition is open to any person who shall have been a student in any college, university, or dramatic school in the United States at any time during the calendar year of 1927.

The committee of final award, consisting of Winthrop and David Belasco, theatrical producers, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and head of the newly organized society, The Church and Stage, Dr. John H. Finley, former commissioner of education of the New York State and editor of the New York Times, and Mrs. Frances Jewett, representing the trustees of the Repertory Theater of Boston.

Full Evening's Entertainment

All plays to be considered in this competition must be of sufficient length to provide a full evening's program. They must be in the hands of the trustees of the Repertory Theater by midnight of December 31, 1927, or have been placed in the mails by that time. The rules of the competition further provide that each play must be typewritten on one side of the paper only, that each play must be submitted anonymously with the name and address of the author in a sealed envelope attached to the manuscript, and that the play should be addressed to the Prize Play Committee, the Repertory Theater of Boston, 264 Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass. Manuscripts will be returned, after announcement of the play award, if return postage is enclosed. A person may submit more than one play, but each play must be submitted under separate cover.

The donor of the prize has imposed the condition that the award shall be given for a play, the purpose of which shall be to inspire faith in life in the youth of America. The writer may employ comedy to teach the joy of living or tragedy to reveal the value of human life. Emphasis will be put upon the spiritual in distinction from the material values of life.

Scholarship Also Given

In addition to the prize of $1,000 a scholarship in the Repertory Theater workshop will also be awarded to the successful contestant. The prize play will be produced in the Repertory Theater of Boston during the season of 1927-28, and will become the property of the Jewett Repertory Theater Fund, Inc. Any income derived from this play will be used to promote the drama in accordance with the purpose of this fund. If two plays shall be judged of equal merit, the trustees will award two scholarships and will divide the prize of $1,000, or if in their judgment the plays are of exceptional merit, two prizes of $1,000 each will be awarded.

The Repertory Theater of Boston, which this fall celebrates its 40th week of repertory, was founded by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jewett and their associates, is owned by an incorporated fund, and is conducted by a board of trustees as a civic theater without private profit. It is the only civic repertory theater in America, exempt from city, state, and federal taxation as an educational institution. In its scope the theater is professional.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

POORLY PAID

For investing a device which lumbermen admit will save 100,000 feet of lumber annually through the elimination of waste in cutting, a Wisconsin youth wins a prize of $1,000 from the lumbermen's national association. It is admitted that the device will save many times the cost of the award, but the inventor, as is usually the case, will probably only get a few dollars' wage for his engineering. The men who develop and manufacture the machine, or whatever it is that is required, will get the profit.

John Milton, by the way, received less than $25 for "Paradise Lost," and Paul Dresser, who wrote Indiana's well known state song which sold into the millions, was paid $100.

Men who blaze trails and establish footing in the unknown must rest content with fame, not dollars.

Subject Selected for High School Debates

The subject of interscholastic debate for Kentucky during the 1927-28 session will be "Resolved: That the McNary-Haugen Bill Should Be Passed by the Congress of the United States." This question, which will be discussed by high school debaters throughout the state, is especially appropriate in the rural sections of Kentucky, and should arouse public interest to a greater extent than have some of the subjects discussed in the past.

Mr. Clifton said that the fact that the bill has been vetoed makes the subject no less debatable, but that it is still a matter of paramount interest to the electorate, and therefore is an ideal question for student discussion.

Jill—"Oh, yes; that's mother."
"It seems to me you want mighty big wages for a man who has had so little experience," said the foreman to the man applying for a job as a skidder operator.
"Sure," replied the prospective skidderman. "Ain't it harder for me when I don't know how?"

She: "Do you play the piano?"
He: "No, only the piano and the fool."

University Cafeteria Has Spent $2,000 on Improvements

The university cafeteria in the basement of the Administration building has opened for another year of service. Approximately $2,000 has been expended this year for new equipment and improvements to enable the cafeteria to serve the student body and faculty more efficiently.

The cafeteria is an institution of long standing on the campus. It is run by the department of home economics under the direction of Miss Lily Kohl as a practical training school for its students. Students and faculty members find in the cafeteria a convenient place to eat. A variety of food is offered from which one can always select a meal to suit one's mood or appetite. It is also open between meals so that students may drop in for a sandwich or a piece of candy.

The cafeteria, in addition to furnishing practical training for the students of home economics, gives work to a number of students, 15 or 20 being employed each year.

Many a man is doing work day after day that an electric motor can do for less than a cent an hour

College men and women recognize electricity as one of the principal aids to progress in the factory, on the farm, and in the home.

Guided by human intelligence, electricity can do almost any job a man can do. From stirring to grinding, from lifting to pulling, there is a G-E motor specially adapted to any task.

WILDCAT ELEVEN BEATEN BY CRIMSONS, 21-0

Coach Major's Kittens Give Poor Showing in Early Scrimmage

Entire Kentucky Team Wages Determined Fight Against Heavier Foes

(By John W. Dutton, Jr.) Last Saturday Kentucky's light but scrappy eleven fought a huge Crimson juggernaut from Indiana almost to a standstill in the first half of the game, but were unable to hold out against an ever strengthened and much heavier team in the second half, after many of the Blue and White reliables had been removed from the fray due to injury.

Attacking with frequent sallies off tackle, aided by surprising pass work, Indiana won the verdict by the count of 21-0. However, this does not belittle the Wildcat efforts, since it put up one of the best exhibitions of fight against admittedly superior odds ever witnessed on Stoll field.

Bennett, plunging and versatile running back of the Crimson team, was easily the visitors' most outstanding star. He contributed two touchdowns to his team's margin of victory, and made consistent gains every time he was called upon. The whole Wildcat team starred for Kentucky. However, Jenkins, Mohney and Len Miller were outstanding for their remarkable field work. All three of these men were out of the game before the close.

Approximately seven thousand spectators were in the stadium, and with the exception of a few hundred loyal I. U. supporters, all pulling for the Kentucky eleven to overcome the pride of Hoosierland. At the very start of the game, the Blue and White made a determined offensive effort carrying the ball straight down the field. In this drive the Wildcats unleashed a number of very tricky and effective plays. Mohney, with gains of 25 and 15 yards, was the star of this advance. Paul Jenkins also contributed greatly to the attack, making consistent gains through tackle.

The Crimson received their first break of the game at this stage, when Kentucky fumbled, and Ringwalt, I. U. tackle, recovered. The Hoosiers had been greatly taken back by this unexpected attack, but it did not take them long to start functioning. Jenkins and Miller were out, injured. Bennett and his best cohorts soon discovered the weakened secondary defense, and proceeded to utilize it to the greatest possible advantage.

The injuries suffered in this game may keep some of Kentucky's stars on the side-lines for a number of weeks. Len Miller has a badly wrenched knee, and Paul Jenkins hurt his ankle again. The absence of even a fair punter is telling on the Wildcat chances of putting over a winning combination. Frank Smith, last season's punter par excellence, is certainly missed this season. In the line, Dees and Drury stood out, while the whole line functioned remarkably well.

The summary:

Kentucky (O)	Pos.	(21) Indiana
Mohney	L.E.	W. Catterton
Phipps	L.T.	Shields
Belt	L.G.	Matthew
Dees	C.	Randolph
Walters	R.G.	Ringwalt

Shows Ability

TOM WALTERS

Here and There

By J. W. D.

One of the best movements inaugurated around the school for some time was witnessed last Saturday at the Kentucky-Indiana football game. The R. O. T. C. unit attended as a body, and they certainly did yell. The spirit certainly underwent a complete metamorphosis from that of the preceding week, and the organized attendance was the major cause of this awakening of the student body. Although the cadets had been drilling only a week, they made a fine appearance, and should show up even better later on, when it is planned to hold regimental reviews before each game.

Kentucky's prospects for future games received a rude jolt in the last game. Captain Wert was on the sick list, and did not play at all. Jenkins suffered another injury to his bad ankle, and Len Miller wrenched his one good knee. It seems as though Kentucky's ill luck always comes in bunches. Coach Gamage is working overtime to perfect his substitutes, few though they may be, to take the place of his ailing stars.

One thing noticed especially Saturday was the lack of fatigues among the spectators, freshmen, etc. More attention was paid to the game than was evidenced on the previous Saturday. That is the proper spirit. Get out to the games and back the team to the fullest extent possible. Yell yourself hoarse, but let the boxing exhibitions go till another time.

Kentucky Wesleyan, whom the Wildcats meet tomorrow, won their second game last week. They had already beaten the University of Cincinnati 12 to 0, and may give the Wildcats some real opposition.

It won't be long now till the track and cross-country aspirants will be seen practicing for fall events. Mr. Potter, director of the intra-mural athletic department, will conduct a track and cross-country meet, and also a fall tennis tournament, providing the weather remains suitable.

GOLF, TENNIS TO BE INTRA-MURAL OPENING EVENTS

Next Wednesday All Participants in These Two Sports Are Expected to Be Ready for Beginning

TO GIVE CUPS AS TROPHIES

Track Meet, Cross-Country Run, Basketball, Volleyball, Are Next

(By Herman Sharp)

Intra-mural athletics will begin in earnest next Wednesday, according to Mr. Potter, a member of the physical education staff at the University of Kentucky. Intra-mural athletics will begin of fall tennis and golf, the first events of the extensive schedule to be followed during the year.

It is very necessary that those who intend to participate in the golf or tennis events, should make it known in person to Mr. Potter at his office on the first floor in the men's gymnasium, no later than Monday, October 10, for no one will be enrolled after that date.

Perhaps it is advisable to again add, for the sake of clarity to all, that intra-mural athletics were inaugurated for the express purpose of giving students who are non-participants in regular university sports a chance to show their adroitness in physical sports and at the same time enjoy recreation in wholesome exercises, and furthermore, that all students not members of a corresponding varsity team in a certain sport, are eligible to compete in the intra-mural meets. There will be a fee of 25 cents for those competing in either tennis or golf, and a fee of 35 cents for those participating in both events.

Both single and double matches in tennis and the qualifying rounds in golf will start on the aforementioned date. The golf tournament will be held at the Headley Park Golf Club, a course of nine holes, extended to the use of the university for the purpose of holding the tournament. The greens are not in the best condition and it is the express hope of Mr. Potter to get access to the Ashland Golf course or some other later on. Silver loving cups will be given as trophies to the winners and runners up in each event.

A number of memberships in the local golf club have been taken out by the intra-mural department, which will afford participants to indulge freely in the game. Mr. Potter estimated that 50 would compete in tennis and thirty would participate in the Scotch game, but hopes that many more will take part in the events.

Following these sports there will be a track meet and a cross-country event. In the winter, such diversions as basketball, volleyball, boxing, and wrestling contests will be staged. Among the spring sports will be track, diamond ball, tennis and golf, and last of all, the roller skating derby, an occasion of much mirth and upsets last year. Announcement of these events will be made later, but at the present golf and tennis are of major importance, so center your efforts and actions on these events and enroll at once.

Play Georgetown Cubs In First Tilt October 28; Frosh Are After Title

What was purported to be the making of a championship freshman eleven at the University of Kentucky this fall, has divided into only a mediocre squad and the real worth of the Kittens will not be known until after the team is seen in action.

Couch Fred Major and his assistants, Birkett Pribble and M. E. Potter, have worked hard since the first call was sent out for Green and White material and those who have remained on the squad are rapidly rounding in to condition for opening game with the Georgetown Cubs on October 26.

On the first day of practice nearly a hundred athletes reported to Coach Major, but since the squad has lessened to the meager number of 38. With the men dropping out at that rate the coaches have not been able to sort out the material into anything that would represent a first team.

Three weeks remain until the Kittens will attempt to capture the state championship from the Cubs and whether the yearling mentors will be able to do this remains to be seen. Everyone is anxious for the Kittens to make a good showing but the outlook for the season is foggy.

Couch Gamage has had the Kittens working against his varsity every afternoon and this has toughened the first termers considerably. The Green line is very weak and nothing much can be said of the backs.

The Kittens have a very hard schedule this year and it will take considerable hard work to pull through the season with fair results. West Virginia, Vanderbilt and Tennessee all have heavy, fast aggregations and too much cannot be said of Centre and Georgetown. The Cubs have no outstanding men but is said that they have an eleven almost as good as last year's which won the state title.

row is a matter of doubt but the choice lies between Covington and Lyons.

Numerous injuries were prevalent in the Blue and White camp following the tussle with Indiana last week and it may be some time before the regular first team is intact again. Jenkins rehurt his ankle but is rapidly rounding into condition. Len Miller has not been in uniform all week and it may be three weeks before he returns.

Barring further injuries Coach Gamage should be able to take a fair representation to Jacksonville next week where the Blue and White officially open their Southern Conference campaign with the University of Florida Gators.

Kentucky's line-up for tomorrow's game will probably be:

New Art Course May Be Given at U. of K.

An application has been made by the art department of the university for a course relating to the study and history of furniture.

The course, if added to the university curriculum will be taught by James Coger, graduate student, and will deal with the history of furniture from early American-Colonial period to furniture of the present day.

Special attention will be given to antiques and the details of design and structure will also be given attention. Lantern slides will be used in the teaching of the course.

Though the course will be held at night and is designed especially for teachers, any student of the university qualified to take the course may do so.

SMITH RETURNS TO AID KERNEL WORKERS

Grods says he don't know whether he'd rather see Dave's copy or mine it's just because he's good-natured on the book, but anyway, he says that that we've lived as long as we have.

Anyway, the public is again to be exposed to my literary indignities after the sheet has bloomed for a year in peace and quiet. I was over to school and enlisted in everything but W. A. A. and the Boy Scouts. Everybody seemed to have recruited officers all over the place—the soldiers, fraternities, sororities, Bernar McFadden's boys down at the gymnasium—everybody but the Salvation Army and a lot of us got railroaded. The dean says it would be all right for me to stick around if public sentiment didn't run too high about it, and the folks over at the business office says it would be all right if I had thirty bucks, and the registrar says he didn't have no choice in the matter it I'd got by the other two, and the English department says it was an outrage.

Ted McDowell and me has set up light and fancy housekeeping down on Limestone and gettin' along as well as anybody could be expected to get along with Teddy. He wears a sixteen shirt and I can't wear a sixteen and I don't like any of his neckties. He's been grouchy here lately on account of acquirin' a sore throat and he won't take any medicine because it figures his throat got sore by itself and ought to get well by itself and that's about how reasonable he is.

Well, if somethin' happens next week, I'll write a story about it and if Johnny throws this in the waste basket, I'll write a story next week whether anything happens or not, like I did this week.

Law College Prepares Room for Attorneys

Facilities for Research Work in Library Will Be of Great Aid

Lexington lawyers and members of the bar are this year to have the benefit of the university law library, and a room has been outfitted in the north wing of the law building for this purpose.

The library consists of 9,029 volumes for research work.

Heretofore lawyers who came to the law library to work have been handicapped in that they could not give dictation to their stenographers because of the quiet rule in the library. This difficulty has been removed by the new room.

A desk has been placed in the room together with chairs and tables so that work may be carried on with the convenience of the average office.

The room is especially suited for research, being close to the library proper, while many books line its walls in shelves which reach almost to the ceiling. The lighting facilities are excellent, a large skylight opening to the north, occupying a portion of the ceiling of the room.

In addition to the law library, the attorneys may also have access to the main library of 75,000 volumes which is located only a short distance from the Law College.

One of the oldest traditions on the University of California campus has disappeared for good. There will be no having of freshmen by sophomores this year as has always in the past marked the opening of every semester.

University Societies Make Plans for Year's Program

The Henry Clay Law society and the Patterson Literary Society are perfecting a program for the year. The former held its first meeting last night and the latter will meet next Thursday.

The Henry Clay Law Society meets in the Law building and the Patterson Literary Society assembles in the Little Theater in White Hall.

The former society is primarily for law students but both give considerable opportunity to these interested in forensic work. The societies will meet alternately every Thursday night throughout the year, beginning in the above order. All those interested are urged to be present at these first meetings.

College Brevities

University of Illinois, Urbana.—Were the 150,000 boys and girls entering America's 600 colleges and universities for the first time this month to be called on to analyze their first taste of campus life, they would undoubtedly pronounce it a blend of English, breakfast tea, fancy sandwiches and salted nuts.

Upperclassmen and women see to it that the unaltered appetite for learning which the average greening packs with him to college is generally flourished with lemon slices and cream dreams at fraternity stages and sorority "cozies."

More than one freshman has picked his future college mates by the tea and sandwiches they served at the fraternity or sorority party.
