Inter-fraternity council, or cooperative government between various fraternities and faculty representatives, is proving an excellent substitute for the former Fan-Heilenic Council and its methods of controlling class elections, choices of beauty queen, prom leaders, and positions of similar station in campus society. In one phase, especially, the new group is showing its evident superiority over the old.
Each social organization is allowed to send representatives, chosen by itself, to the meetings, where ever held. This was previously controlled through the work of those in power in the former clas and not left to each fraternity to decide for itself.

itself. Equal representation, as now uphald by the Inter-fraternity body, will tend to direct the subsequent, results of discussion and decision toward less partial and individual ends. It will develop the desire for group government and policies among the fraternities rather than toster personal designs and decision toster personal designs and desires for political prominence, as was obvolusif the case previous to the reorganization of the fraternal gorerning body. Unbiased, uncontrolled, and well-regulated group legislation is expected from this paice of the former collusive type of control by a politically powerful few.
The time and place of each meeting is known to all, whether they are personally interested or not concerned in the least. The Interfraternal body is friendly with the publications of the campus and practically nothing that goes on within meetings is kept secret from the student body. Information is gladly and willingly given relative to topics for vole and discussion while the meetings are in progress.
The new fraternal congress has made definite effort to rid listelf of campus politics and to become a free and unhampered organization for the furthernae of good will and cooperation among the national so-

'HE WHO HESITATES'

The inertia of the Men's Student Council during the present school year has been at times most appailing. So dilatory has the Council been on almost every matter it has considered that the student body is rapidly becoming of opinion that its legislative body is futile and obsolete. In many instances the students are justified in their belief.

Almost a month ago the Council voted to draw up a new constitution and submit it for estudents are justified and submit it for students and the submit to the student body at general convection for ratification. In his making the bylaws legal. As it is, the constitution under which councilmen are working is illegitimate because it hever has been acted upon by the student body. The point is primar-ity a technical one and a matter of principle. It hardly seems fair that the Council has not kept faith with the group it is supposed to repre-tent.

The obvious indifference which is as been taken by the governing odd on fundamental and essential hings has been offset somewhat by its commendable work on the campus problems of drinking and parking. How much better it would be if the Men's Student Council would as a variety on other as a variety on an as justify on other as a variety on an as justify on other as variety and as justify on other as variety and as justify on the case of the council would be as variety on the council would be considered to the council would be con the series student counter would be as rapidly and as justly on other issues, especially the adoption of new constitution as was promist some weeks ago.

FREE ATHLETICS

In order that more women stu-dents will have an opportunity to become members of the Women's Athletic association, the constitu-tion of the organization has been revised. This revision is in keeping with policies to reduce expense during the present economic crisis with policies to reduce expenses during the present economic resist and has been effected without curtailing previous advantages. The primary revision of the constitution is the permitting of women to join the W. A. A. regardless of whether they pay dues. The primary revision of the commence of the properties of whether they pay dues the previous distinction of the constitution of the constitution of the constitution of the primary constitution o members to distinguish them from active members who pay dues and possess votes.

Another revision is the acceptance of athletic points received by women who have transferred from other universities or colleges. Thus, credit is given to transfer students for previous participation in sports. The act of the W. A. A. members in revising their constitution to include these considerations is a wise one. More interest, undoubtied, will be manifested in the activities of the association as many students denied membership here-tofore because of inability to pay dues will feel free to join as associate members. Under the new ruling dues will feel free to join as associate members. Under the new ruling the organization will have a greater campus appeal and should become more representative of the women student body.

just what it is, but somehow or other I've just got to slip out in the woods and sit down on a log. I always take the KENTUCKY old pipe along. Thinking somehow seems easier when you are smoking a pipe. I can fill up my pipe with Granger, and somehow just seem to see things clearer than at any other time.

"Don't know what it is about Granger, but it must be made for pipes-real pipe

"Somehow, there's a flavor and aroma about Granger I never found in any other tobacco. When I pack my old pipe tight and good with these big Granger flakes, it's about the coolest smoke I ever enjoyed. It makes me downright pipe hungry every time I look at the package."

Some years ago we made a painstaking, scientific study to find out, if we could, the kind of tobacco best suited for pipes.

Down in the Blue Grass regions of Kentucky, we found a tobacco called White Burley. There is a grade of this tobacco between the kind used for chewing and the varieties suitable for cigarettes that is best suited for pipes. This tobacco is used in Granger.

Wellman. It gives Granger a fragrance and mellowness that pipe smokers like, and makes it burn to a clean, dry ash. Granger never gums a pipe.

Granger has not been on sale very long, but it has come to be popular, and there is this much about it: We have yet to know of a man who started smoking it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.
