What About This 'Conflict' Between Suky And The Band?

Recent weeks have seen several letters in "The Students Speak" column complaining about the lack of cooperation between the band and Suky. This week an unusual thing happened: we received a letter proposing a solution to the problem.

The substance of the solution is this: Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity will set up a five member council. This council will consist of a band representative, a Suky representative, a campus problems and affairs committeeman, a cheerleader, and an Alpha Phi Omega member who will act as coordinator. The council will work to promote cooperation between the organization.

We see no reason why Suky and the band should not give the council a trial.

However, we believe that the whole problem has been distorted out of all proportion by students. We witnessed the Miami game from the non-student side of the field and were amazed at the coordination between the band and the card section. After reading letter writers' comments for several weeks we had expected the two groups to be vying for the attention of the audience. Actually they complemented each other very well most of the time.

The cooperation and organization could be improved, of course, and the council idea might be a great help in this respect, but students, who are unable to see the card section, should not feel that the two groups are feuding for the attention of the spectators.

Obviously many students have already gotten the idea that there is dissension and lack of cooperation between Suky and the band and it is mainly for this reason that we advocate the Alpha Phi Omega council proposal. Probably this manifestation of cooperation would help the public relations of both organizations.

University Is Failing In Respect To Number Of Beauty Queens

For years now we have noticed one thing that the University needs - more beauty queens. Without the remedying of this situation we do not feel that the University can ever really be a great University.

Take this week for instance, only four beauty queen contests have come to our attention. This can only lead to one thing: some UK coeds will be graduated without even one title to their names. How can these poor maidens take their rightful place in society with a stigma like this on their reputations? -The answer is obvious, they are scorned by graduates of more progressive institutions, and shunned by all self respecting, educated males.

The really disheartening aspect of this situation is that it could be remedied so easily. It has come to our attention that certain organizations do not select even a single queen a year. How they can be tolerated by the student body is more than we can see. Obviously they are not even aware of the basic function of University organizations. If SCA refuses to take action to have their charters renewed, we recommend that students take matters into their own hands and ostracize members of these non-cooperating groups. It is just such dead-time that prevents UK from taking its rightful place among the great institutions of higher learning.

Ideas for queen titles present no problem. Take, for example, the present title "Miss TB Seal." Working from this we can easily visualize "Miss Chrono Lumbago," "Miss Arstly Thrombosis" or perhaps a "Miss Astigmatic." That such obvious opportunities could be missed by wide-awake campus organizations is unthinkable.

The only answer is that they are not giving this serious problem the proper amount of thought. We appeal to UK students to act immediately before the administration is forced to take matters into its own hands.

The Students Speak: Suky-Band Dispute Draws Letters, Proposed Solution

Dear Editor:

A letter in last week's Kernel told how the band spends many hours practicing in all types of weather to work up their half-time show and this is true. Suky members also spend many hours daily working on the card section and cheers. Because of their recent disputes, however, these two organizations are failing to make the contribution to the school spirit which their efforts deserve. Their ever-growing rivalry stands in the way of the spirit we might have at UK.

The pledges and members of Alpha Phi Omega have discussed this situation and are proposing the following solution. Alpha Phi Omega will set up a council which will have five members and will be called the Blue and White Council. Its membership will consist of a representative from the band, a representative from Suky, a campus problems and affairs committee-man, a cheerleader, and a coordinator from Alpha Phi Omega.

The purpose of this council will be to promote understanding, goodwill, and cooperation between Suky, the band, and the student body.

As an immediate goal the Blue and White Council will try to promote cheers that all will sing in for the Tennessee game. It should be possible to work up yells in which the band and the cheering section work together in filling up the time outs.

Alpha Phi Omega's permanent program will continue with cooperation and new ideas for the basketball games. We feel that this is a practical opportunity to help achieve a school spirit of which every student will be proud.

seemed so pleased to have had the opportunity to go that the small compensation that was paid seemed to be insufficient. Don't leave yet Mr. W. Jr. I have my opinion to express now. Your last statement about the band being kept active after football season is a great idea, but I don't believe you'll find that Mr. W. Jr. ever considered a remote possibility of organizing. Secondly, I don't think it is up to the Band to sponsor pep-rallies and parades with cheerleaders and Suky cooperating. I think you'll find it much more convenient and appropriate if the cheerleaders continued to lead these pep rallies with Suky backing AND then the Band cooperating. This I have found out is the way it has been done in the past and this, despite your non-revealing article last week, is the way I'm sure it will stay.

So in the future Mr. W. Jr. please back your statements to the limit before submitting them to the publication.

tricks were along the same order as the band's formation and added to their performance.

I was also wondering, Sympathizer, if you had ever considered who collects the cards before and after the games in the same kind of card section? Do and have you ever realized that NO paid full time instructor is in charge of those students? It is my understanding that students run this entirely on their own! (Correct me if I'm wrong, Editor.) So may I congratulate you students in the card section and hope that this obviously jealous student's viewpoint won't dampen your spirits on future card section work.

Council States Stand On Budget Reduction

Dear Editor:

The recent publicity regarding the budget of the House Presidents' Council and the reduction thereof by SGA, makes it important that we, as an organization representing all resident women students, inform the student body of our position.

This year the House Presidents' Council asked SGA for an appropriation of $450, of which $300 would be for a Vocational Conference. This $300 was denied on the grounds that the Council had $200 left from the appropriation of the year before when the conference was not held. This conference was postponed purposely in order to put on a truly effective vocational program, whether in the form of a conference or a counseling service. Past years have shown that $200 is insufficient to conduct a conference of lasting value. Therefore, the hope was that by saving last year's money for the 1952 program, guidance of great value could be given to the students. That this counseling is needed was shown by freshmen girls who rated the choice of a career as one of their greatest problems.

We, as fellow members of the Student Government Association, realize that, due to the decreased enrollment, it was necessary to cut the appropriations to many major campus organizations. However, we feel that proper planning on the part of the Assembly would enable the House Presidents' Council and other organizations to set up their budgets a semester in advance with assurance that their plans could be carried out. We hope that the Assembly will understand this and act accordingly in the spring.

Sincerely,
The House Presidents' Council

Writes Concerning Early Kernel History

Dear Editor:

I have just read the article in this week's Kernel by Phil Blumenthal in which he gives some bits of information about the beginning of the first permanent college newspaper at the University.

"The Idea" was the first paper to be started, and its name was later changed to the "Kernel." This paper was started in 1908 as a private enterprise. The co-editors were W. G. Clugston, '10, Ben Stout, '09, and Perry Cassidy, '11, was business manager. My impression is that the paper was not too profitable as a private undertaking, so after publishing it for about a year it was turned over to the student body. I recall that as president of the senior class, presided at the call meeting of all students in the old chapel to adopt a plan for the control of the paper by the students. The faculty had nothing to do with it at that time.

Very sincerely,
Joseph Addison

Card Section Views Presented By Alum

Dear Editor:

I am not a student of the University, but I read your weekly newspaper regularly and I was wondering if it would be possible to have an outsider's viewpoint printed?

I realize that this is a student publication, but maybe they might be interested in an outsider's opinion from the other side of the football field. If at all possible, I would like to express, not only mine, but many others' opinions on the Band and Card Section. So, if it can be arranged, I would appreciate it much.

Thanks.

To all band members who practice long hours in the freezing cold, I wish to express my deepest sympathy. You see, Band, last week a sympathizer of yours wrote condemning the Card Section. This week, I would like to ask this misguided person to look at the other side of the picture.

I agree with you, Sympathizer, and I realize that you operate under adverse conditions, Band, and after reading the other side of the field and watched the card section? It's great, too! To you it may be a bank of colored cards and warm coats on, but to thousands of spectators on the other side of the field it may be well organized and carefully maneuvered operation on the part of the students and Suky.

This display of color during the half did not hinder my enjoying the band one bit, in fact, most of their

Verbose Epistle Enfilades Kernel

Dear Editor:

Being a person of peripatetic inclination I have traveled for many years over the face of the globe, remarking the multitudinous oddities and curiosities which present themselves to the intense observer.

I have especially noted journalistic efforts the world over. I have perused the world's smallest daily newspaper, printed in Pakistan on ungunned postage stamps; I have handled with horror the weekly communication of the savage Luo-Lo of Greece, which is engraved on human skin; I have skimmed, with admittedly lecherous enjoyment, ribald stories imprinted in France on the reverse side of aphrodisiac labels, but never in all my nomadic existence have I seen a newspaper which more deserves than the Kentucky Kernel the prerogative of being issued upon Great Northern Tissue Paper.

Very sincerely yours,

Answers Letter By Andrew Wallace

Dear Editor:

To Mr. Andrew Wallace Jr. who apparently isn't in the know, I dedicate this article.

To take first things firstly, Mr. W. Jr. you are either a band member or way out of step. My guess is that you are out of step. Why? Because I am not a member of the Band or Suky and after reading your small bit of propaganda, I felt that things just weren't that way. So I went around and inquired from various sources as to the validity of your article. Results? You're all wet!

The Band and Suky have had a discussion regarding the half time show at football games and have arrived at a satisfactory decision. As for Suky complaining about going to Florida, all the members I asked

THE MEETING'S UPSTAIRS

What happens to a high-flying enemy bomber when it meets the newest anti-aircraft guided missile—shouldn't happen to a low-flying duck. Radar "eyes" and electronic "brains" make sure the meeting takes place. They guide the pilotless missile to within lethal range of the plane, then explode it.

This teaming of intricate tracking and computing devices was made possible by teaming of another sort. The electronic control system was developed for Army Ordnance by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Western Electric Company, close-working research and manufacturing units of the Bell System.

It's just one of the many important military projects being entrusted to the Bell System.

Cats To Play Colonials Tomorrow—Look To Vols Nov. 24

Kansas Tilt Canceled Three 'B' Games Set

By Earl Cox
The long-awaited return meeting between All-Americans Bill Spivey and Kansas' Clyde Lovellette will not come off, because the game tentatively scheduled with Kansas Dec. 22 has been canceled.
What at Kentucky case fan will ever forget the sterling performance of Spivey last year against the big Jayhawk center? "Cris" was magnificent as he played rings around his rival, out rebounding and out scoring him. The Wildcats caught fire with Spivey and went on to defeat Coach Adolph Rupp's alma mater, 68-39.
Kansas supporters refused to admit Spivey's superiority and this season's contest was to have been a "let even" game.
A three-game "B" team schedule has been released for the Kittens. All three are to start at 8:30 p.m. and will be played as preliminaries to varsity tilt. The Kittens open the same date as the varsity, Dec. 8, when they meet Fort Knox. Hummer Yeast brings his Georgetown subs in Dec. 17, and Center's "B" team will furnish the opposition Dec. 20.
If they continue to look good the Cats may get a Thanksgiving vacation, but if they don't, they will eat their turkey right here in Lexington. "We'll give them one day of regard," said Assistant Coach Harry Lancaster.
Two Fayette County boys are trying out for berths on the freshman team. They are Lafayette's Brown Sharpe and Athens' Neale Cosby. Sharpe played on Lafayette's state champions year before.

Whether your knees while you may for time brings only sorrow. The girls who are so free today Are the chaperones tomorrow.

Georgia Tech's acceptance of a bid to participate in the Orange Bowl game may well prove to be a boon to Kentucky's bowl chances. When the Orange Bowl committee offered the chance to the Engineers at such an early date, it proved they were a little weary of waiting until the end of the season to select teams. They decided in order to get top flight teams they would have to line them up early. And Georgia Tech didn't accept just because Coach Bobby Dodd likes to fish off the Miami coast. Most forecasters believed Tech was slated for a Cotton Bowl bid. Tennessee, it seems likely, will appear in one of the post season classics. Maryland looks like a good bet for another spot. But with Tech already obligated to the Miami extravaganza, the Sugar bowl will have to look elsewhere for name teams with drawing power. No team in the nation has looked so impressive as Kentucky in the last four games. The Wildcats are held in high esteem in New Orleans. Teams couldn't understand how any team with the potentialities of Kentucky could lose a game. These factors weigh heavily when selection time comes.
Had the Orange Committee selected their first team from a conference other than the SEC, it would not seem likely they would pick the other team from that conference. The best overall record in the conference is held by Tech and Tennessee. Tech's acceptance, then, opens the door for a Kentucky bid. Had Tech been overlooked in favor of a team with a less impressive record, there would have been hurt feelings and arguments.
With Tech already in Kentucky with a mediocre non-lost record, but with a team which has steadily gained prestige since three straight losses in early season, is available.

Cats May Have Already Been 'Jinx'; Switchman Is Proud He Is Switchman; Tech's Acceptance May Help Kentucky

By Rowland Kraps
"The eyes of Texas are upon you" may well be the theme tomorrow on Stoll Field as Kentucky's Wildcats, rated ninth in the nation, entertain George Washington University before tangling with their traditional downfall, Tennessee, the 10th.
With berths yet to be filled in the Cotton Bowl, these contests may decide if the Cats will be taking a trip to Texas New Year's day or spend the holidays at home.
Reports drifting in from Dallas indicate that both Tennessee and Kentucky are being considered for the Cotton Bowl and that a win over the Volunteers may give the Cats the nod.
The Cats, who were breathing hot air Saturday in New Orleans when they trounced Tulane 37-0, will get their first shot at a single wing formation this season in preparation for Tennessee when they tackle George Washington.
"Do Rowland's outfit, which has had a rather poor season to date, will bring along a very good defensive line as well as one of the best backs in the Southern Conference. The back, Andy Davis, has racked up 984 yards rushing in three years of varsity ball and stopping him may give Kentucky valuable experience in stopping Tennessee's Hank Lauricella.
Davis is a very good break-a-way runner and plays defensive line backer when not carrying the ball for the Colonials.
George Washington won't lose 40 yards through the air well proves that the Volunteers have a powerful ground attack, possibly one of the best the Cats will face this year.
One happy note about the contest for Cat-seen-ers was the way the vaunted Tennessee pass defense was man-handled by Washington and Lee.
When Washington and Lee found last year when he snagged a 29-yard Lauricella pass to score Tennessee's game winning touchdown and hand Kentucky its lone defeat.

Tennessee got off to a slow start in the year in everything but the ratings when they managed only a 14-0 win over Mississippi State. The Cats slapped the Maroons all over Stoll Field a few weeks later in racking up a win that put them back on their feet after three straight losses. Since then, both Tennessee and Kentucky have been running up impressive wins in preparation for their traditional meet next week.
Neyland Prepping For UK
Coach Neyland has been prepping his boys for the coming tilt with Kentucky in hopes of knocking off these highly touted Cats of Coach Bryant. Knowing that there is more than one way of skinning a cat, he has been resorting to the old trick of instilling over confidence in Kentucky.
Although Tennessee has been rated the number one team in the nation four times this season, Neyland claims that his crew does not deserve such ratings and that Kentucky will beat Tennessee this year.
"To do this feat, Kentucky's defensive platoon will be called on to do one of its greatest jobs, one of the few remaining triple threat plays left in college ball. Lauricella can either beat you by running, or passing as Kentucky well knows.
In crumbing Washington and Lee 30-14 last week, the Volunteers racked up 24 first downs and gained 313 yards by rushing. Lauricella getting 114 of these. This in comparison to only 40 yards through the air well proves that the Volunteers have a powerful ground attack, possibly one of the best the Cats will face this year.
One happy note about the contest for Cat-seen-ers was the way the vaunted Tennessee pass defense was man-handled by Washington and Lee.
When Washington and Lee found the trip to Nashville with the freshman football team will not be forgotten by George Switchman, student manager. Leaving the bus station, where he had been on errand for Coach J. D. Landry, Switchman cut across an empty lot on his way back to the hotel. All at once police whistles began screaming and four policemen converged on him, pistols ready. Switchman said he almost touched stars getting his hands into the air.

The policemen, on the alert due to information received that the man who killed two policemen in Tennessee last week was returning to Nashville from Somerset, the place where he had last been seen, mistook Switchman for the wanted man. After a closer look the officers realized their mistake and apologized. Switchman, though, wanted to be sure there was no further suspicion and produced papers proving his identity.
When asked if he was scared, Switchman replied, "What would you have been if four policemen had you surrounded with guns in their hands?"
It's no wonder "Switch" has acquired a phobia concerning bus stations, vacant lots, or policemen—with guns.

earlier in the season scoring two touchdowns in a matter of minutes G. I. Bécetti began flipping and connected on six tosses for 97 yards, two going to Thomas for TD's.
The Volunteers will take a 17 game winning streak against Johnny Vaughn's Ole Miss team tomorrow in preparation for its meeting with Kentucky.
Ole Miss defeated Kentucky 21-17 in the nation.
Many of these same observers will point out, however, that Tennessee has more depth than any other major college team in the nation and that they are both dangerous in the air as well as on the ground.
Coach Neyland has long been an ardent follower of the single wing offense and his hard driving brand of football. Perhaps his favorite pass defense is his rushing of the passer.
With the "Babe" being one of the best performers under pressure, the Volunteers may find the "arm" too much for them. If Parilli can spot his receivers in the clear, Kentucky may be on its way to its first win over a Bob Neyland coached team.

Opponents Feature A Single Wing Attack Intended To Prepare UK For 'Big Game'

Three UK Players Blue-Gray Choices

Babe Parilli, Doug Moseley, and Jim Mackenzie have accepted invitations to play in the annual Blue-Gray football game. The game will be played Dec. 29 at Montgomery, Ala.
The three Kentucky players were the first to be named to either roster. The teams are composed of players whose schools are separated by the Mason-Dixon Line.
The participation of the Kentucky stars undoubtedly hinges on whether or not the Wildcats are selected for one of the bowl games to be played Jan. 1.

Coach Paul Dietzel's Activities Include Scouting Of Tennesse

Paul Dietzel, a former Miami University Ohio Little All-American performer, joined the University of Kentucky coaching staff in February of this year. He left the University of Cincinnati to take the position here at UK.

He is a native of Mansfield, Ohio where he played high school ball for Mansfield High School. He holds letters in football, basketball, and track and was chosen All-State in football and basketball in his senior year while attending that institution.

After graduation ceremonies in 1942 he entered Duke University and played on the freshman football team. The Army Air Force expansion program appealed to Coach Dietzel and he joined that outfit in 1943. After finishing his basic training, he went on to finishing school and received his wings as a B-29 pilot.

The South Pacific was a beehive of activity about this time and Paul was one of the members of a group that was shipped out to that theater. While in the Pacific he was present on twelve combat missions over enemy territory. After his twelfth mission he was picked as a member of a crew that returned to the United States as the lead crew before missions. The war ended before Dietzel was recalled to combat.

Co-Captain Moseley Is Player Of Week

By Don Armstrong

Before the present season began, the scribes were touting Doug Moseley as the most likely candidate for All-American honors from Kentucky, besides his co-captain captain.

Last week's game with Tulane, and the week before against Miami, Moseley certainly looked the part. Doug intercepted a pass against the Hurricanes that set up a Cat touchdown and hauled in a pair of enemy aerials against the Greenies, one of which he nearly converted into a score.

Moseley leads Kentucky in the interception department with four to his credit, a big factor in the success of any team. It had been expected that the Wildcats would be woefully weak in the pass-defense department. That fact became more evident when Tennessee Tech scored twice via the pass route and then the Cats bowed three straight times on successive Saturdays. "I told you so's" were echoing all over the place.

Largely due to such stalwarts as Moseley, the Cats tightened their defense in the air and began to pull back onto the road of victory. No matter how well Parilli can pass, it would have been hard for him to make the showing he has, had the Kentucky defensive team fallen down in curtailing opposing aerial attacks.

Moseley's strongest points lie in the fact that he is a tough customer at line-backing. Not only can he plug up holes in the defensive line, but he is also adept at crashing into the offensive backfield to stop a play before it has a chance to develop.

Moseley started out his varsity career with the Wildcats in 1949 when Bryant really began to use the two-plateau system. In that year, line coach at the University of Cincinnati. He remained there through 1949, then took his present job at the University of Kentucky.

Coach Dietzel has adjusted himself well in his present surroundings. This year he has been filling in as offensive line coach and doubles in scouting the opposition. Tennessee, one of the teams that Dietzel has scouted this year, will be the invader on Stoll Field one week from this Saturday. He may be a deciding factor in helping to lift the Neyland jinx that has bothered Kentucky teams for so many years in the past.

J. Paul Sheedy Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

WHENEVER SHEEDY gave a gal the glad she turned up her snoot. Poor Paul took pen and ink and wrote a letter home: "I'm sty-mied. All the gals think I'm a boar. To get a date is a pig's feet!" His mother wrote back: "Even a dullard like you should know enough to borrow his roommate's Wildroot Cream-Oil! It's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Removes loose, ugly handruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Makes your hair look neat and well-groomed." That was the pig-me-up Sheedy needed. Now he's important... boys and kisses all the girls. Better try Wildroot Cream-Oil yourself. Get it at your favorite drug or toilet goods counter—and ask for professional applications at your barber shop!
