

Whitmore And Lowe To Play Duo Pianos In Concert Tuesday

Program To Start At 8:15 In Coliseum

Whitmore and Lowe, duo-pianists, will present a varied program of light classics and popular selections at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Memorial Coliseum as part of the Community Concert and Lecture Series.

Arthur Whitmore and Jack Lowe, ranking as one of the top duo-piano teams in the country, have become national favorites through records, recordings, radio and television.

Whitmore appears to be the keynote of the pianists. In classical performances, they have appeared with many leading symphony orchestras, including Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, and the New York Philharmonic. Whitmore and Lowe also play the popular works of Cole Porter, George Gershwin, and Irving Berlin.

Selections to be included on the Tuesday night program are "Three Slave Dances" by Dvorak, "Rondeau" by Schubert, Brahms' "Rhapsody on a Theme of Haydn," and a special selection on "Music of Today." The popular works will feature music of the duo-piano's later recordings.

Whitmore and Lowe first met at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., and started as a team in a public concert at San Francisco, Calif.

Both pianists came from the West, with Whitmore from the Oklahoma town of Vermilion, S. D., where he began his musical studies and Lowe from Denver, Colo. Lowe started out as a violinist and later turned to the piano.

Next season they will introduce a new concerto for two pianos by Ernst Kravtchinsky, one of the many works commissioned by themselves. The featured commissioned selection last fall was a rhapsody by Morton Gould, which they introduced at Carnegie Hall with the New York Philharmonic Symphony.

Third Time In Carnegie This year marks their third engagement in Carnegie Hall with the New York Philharmonic. Regular dates on the duo-piano's calendar include four seasons with the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra, seasons with the Cleveland Orchestra, as well as regular appearances with the San Francisco Symphony, the Boston Symphony, and Chicago's Grand Park.

Television appearances have opened a new musical field for Whitmore and Lowe. They pioneered musically when they became one of the first concert artists to have their regular program on TV. Recitals, commentary programs, and classical music jockey shows were all included in their TV appearances.

Guignol Will Present Gay's 'Beggars Opera'

The Guignol Theater production "Beggars Opera" will be presented Feb. 25, 26, 27, and March 1. William Nave will play the part of Macheath, a polygamist and a crook, around whom the action revolves. Complications arise when Mr. Frachum, who is in the business of receiving stolen goods, resents the marriage of his daughter, Polly, to Macheath. Frachum is played by Harry Stanton.

It is not to Frachum's advantage, since Macheath could in any event sue him for bigamy and thereby succeed.

Janice Anderson has the part of Polly, and Nancy Don Freed will play Lucy. Other students in the cast include Jane Lambert, Mrs. Poschum, Page

SGA Decides To Change Meeting Time

Like the show, first start of spring in February, UK's Student Government Association began its second semester sessions Monday night.

After President Carter Glass resumed assembly members of their obligation to carry out party platforms, a motion to change SGA's meeting time from 6 to 8:30 p.m. every other Monday night was passed.

Jim Lyon, of the Law College made the motion on the basis that earlier beginnings for meetings would give the members more time to study after meetings.

A committee of three was named to find out if the University spends the $65 in fees paid by students every semester. The committee was formed as the result of a motion made by Capp Turner, United States.

Turner told SGA members that the University controller's office refused to give the information when a committee appointed by a Parliamentary Study class tried to get the information.

He explained that the refused information was wanted as part of a motion to change the class, taught in the English Department.

Glase expressed the opinion that the information was wanted on grounds that too many class projects of that nature might hamper the students.

As a conclusion to the meeting, four new members, chosen to fill vacant seats in the semester, were sworn in. They are: Judith Griffin and Bill Podkucki, Graduate School, representative-at-large.

William Macklin, Agriculture, low-achiever-at-large.

Lee Ann Lett, Home Ec. representative-at-large.

Each member will represent a representative-at-large.

Students wanting April Draft Test should apply now.

Dean Spivey Sets Examination Dates.

Foreign language reading examinations for graduate students have been announced by Dean Herman E. Spivey of the Graduate School.

The schedule is as follows: French, April 13; German, April 14 and Spanish, April 15. All examinations will be given at 2 p.m. in Room 302 of Miller Hall.

Summers To Be Rex Of Mardi Gras Dance

By DEBBIE SCHWARTZ
Hollis Summers, associate professor of English, will be crowned Rex of Mardi Gras at the annual dance Feb. 27 in the Student Union ballroom, following his election by the student body as the most popular person at UK.

A queen, who will be chosen by a group of judges from 14 contestants are Jane Cockroft, AGR; Sylvia Lawrence, Alpha Sigma Phi; Ann Gillis, Delta Tau Delta; Mary Louise Blakemore, Kappa Alpha; Mildred Terrell, Kappa Sigma; Jo Ann Shelton, Phi Delta Theta; Gayle Tackett, Phi Kappa Tau; Marjorie Burman, Phi Sigma Kappa; Marilyn Kluge, SAE; Margaret Priestley, Sigma Chi; Margy Campbell, Sigma Nu; Mary Tippett, Daniel, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Sophie Burgin, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Sophie Moberly, Triangles; Sarah Ann Stone, Zeta Beta Tau, and Joan Blevins, Phi Beta Kappa.

Forrest Dean and his Kentucky Colonels, with guest soloist, Ruth Foster, of Cincinnati, will play for the informal affair, which is sponsored every year at this time by the Newman Club.

Martha Bruce Morgan and Paul Skow, co-chairmen of the dance, have announced that costumes following the theme, "New Orleans 1907," may also be worn. A trophy with the winners' names engraved on it, will be presented to the man and woman with the best costume. The trophy may be kept by the organization they represent for one year, and will become the permanent property of the group winning it the greatest number of times in five years.

Last year, Martha Whalen, Alpha Xi Delta, and Ellis Easley, Kappa Sigma, were winners of the costume parade. Girls in residence halls and sorority houses have been granted tie permission by Dean Sarah E. Holmes. The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. and last until 12:30 a.m. Admission will be $3 a couple, $1.50 solo, at the door.

Other committee chairmen who have been appointed to work on the dance are: Contest, Jo Ann Barrett and Jerry Falt; Decoration, Dorothy Denker and John Wilkins; Tickets, Tom Knicker, Cokes, Bill Miller; Program, Evelyn Hartleb; Publicity, Marian Perry and Joe Foster; and Underwriting, Joe Kodes.

Debaters Enter DePauw Tourney
Four UK debaters leave today for DePauw University at Greensboro, N.C., where they will take part in the Tau Kappa Alpha debate tournament.

The affirmative debaters are Lester Wise and Wayne Carroll, and the negatives are George Shadon and William Douglas.

The debate topic for the year is: Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade.

Blazer Talk Is On Lincoln
"Abraham Lincoln had a dream, but in the significance of dreams, but his greatest dream was the American dream." This was the opinion expressed by Dr. Benjamin P. Thomas in the third Blazer Lecture of the 1953-54 series, presented Wednesday evening in the College of Education Auditorium.

Dr. Thomas is executive secretary of the Abraham Lincoln Association in Springfield, Ill., and the author of several books on the 16th President. He was introduced by Dr. William J. Williams Jr., associate professor of history at UK.

Dr. Thomas, speaking on "Lincoln's Democratic Faith," said that Lincoln's unwavering belief in the American democratic tradition found its greatest inspiration in the Declaration of Independence.

Students To Appear At Founders' Day In Coliseum Sunday

UK Marks Its 89th Birthday

UK celebrates a birthday this month—the 89th. It was on Feb. 22, 1865, that the first action was taken which resulted in the UK of today.

The General Assembly chartered the Agricultural and Mechanical College, and in an effort to unite sectarian and public education, in one institution, A. and M. College was combined with the older Kentucky University (now known as Transylvania College).

But this plan failed to achieve success, and in 1878 the A. and M. College was separated from Kentucky University and reestablished on a 32-acre fairground donated by the citizens of Lexington and Fayette County.

The name of the University was changed in 1926 to State University, coupled with additional financial support from the state legislature.

The educational institution finally emerged as the University of Kentucky in 1916—a far cry from those first days in 1865, from the first graduate in 1869 to more than 24,000 today, from 200 student staff, and faculty members in 1866 to nearly 15,000 today.

Other women competing for the honor are Jane Cockroft, AGR; Sylvia Lawrence, Alpha Sigma Phi; Ann Gillis, Delta Tau Delta; Mary Louise Blakemore, Kappa Alpha; Mildred Terrell, Kappa Sigma; Jo Ann Shelton, Phi Delta Theta; Gayle Tackett, Phi Kappa Tau; Marjorie Burman, Phi Sigma Kappa; Marilyn Kluge, SAE; Margaret Priestley, Sigma Chi; Margy Campbell, Sigma Nu; Mary Tippett, Daniel, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Sophie Burgin, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Sophie Moberly, Triangles; Sarah Ann Stone, Zeta Beta Tau, and Joan Blevins, Phi Beta Kappa.

The rules for the sing are the same as last year with the exception of the type of music. All of the music performed must be in the category of a Broadway musical, some pop tune, a sorority or fraternity song, a spiritual, or a novelty tune. This limitation of performance standard is made to encourage participation.

The women's preliminaries will be held on March 24, the men's preliminaries on March 25, and the finals will be held in Memorial Hall and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The winners will be named and the trophies presented at a dance held in the Student Union after the Friday night finale.

Committee members in charge of the rules are Barbara Westcott, chairman; Sally Hoffman, Phi Beta; Harry Carter, Phi Mu Alpha; Jim Perry, ODK; and Sharon Richardson, Mortar Board.

Ag Judging Team Wins Fifth Place

The University men's judging team took fifth place in an intercollegiate judging contest at the Southwestern Livestock Exposition and Fort Worth, Texas on Feb. 2.

Tom Herndon placed third in beef judging and fifth in lamb judging. Collas Simpson placed fifth in lamb grading. Other team members were Ronald Stull and Sidney White.

Skits, Musicians To Be On Program

By KEN LITCHFIELD
Traditional Founders' Day activity reaches a UK climax at 4 p.m., Sunday afternoon in Memorial Coliseum as UK students portray in a dramatic presentation the outstanding achievements of two great UK scientists of past years—Dr. Robert Peter and Dr. Thomas Hunt Morgan.

Leading events in the lives of the two scientists will be recalled, with sketches of historical material and verified copies of personal letters and data.

The three phases of pioneer educational work achieved by Dr. Peter center around three universities—UK, Transylvania and Louisville. In the dramatic skit Sunday afternoon, students will step into the roles of these universities and relate Dr. Peter's relationship with each educational institution.

Ben Ardrey will portray Mr. UK, Fred Scott Downing of Transylvania College as Mr. Transylvania, and Joe Ray Jr. in the role of Mr. University of Louisville.

First Taught At Transy
Dr. Peter first taught at Transylvania in 1832, serving as chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Other students participating in the Sunday afternoon program include Mow Yance as chairman, Lela Sherman as Mrs. Peter, Betty Deen Stull portrays Mrs. Bush, Jim Holloway stars as Dr. Morgan, and Jack Oldham is the reporter.

Musical selections will feature the University Chorus and University Symphony Orchestra. The complete program will include the Organ played by Charles Ward; "Ariele, God and Show They Might" (Haydn-Morgan) by the Chorus; Mildred Lewis' directing; "Edwin Stull Portraits" by the Chorus; Aino Kiviminen directing, and singing of the Alma Mater by the students.

In another phase of the Founders' Day program, a Kentucky Geological survey exhibit will be shown in the main foyer of the Coliseum. This marks the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the geology group. Miss Margaret McLaughlin, first president of the Fayette County Alumni Association, will speak at a alumni-placing memorial service in the Coliseum cemetery at 2:45 p.m. Sunday.

Past Officers To Be Honored
Past presidents officers to be honored at the service are Dr. Frank L. McVey, president from 1917-1949; Dr. J. H. Gault, president from 1878-1914; and Dr. John B. Bowman, president from 1866-1878. The service will be held at the grave of Dr. McVey.

Throughout the state at least three other graveside memorial services will be held Sunday afternoon. These include Harrodsburg, Ind., where John A. Williams, president from 1866-1868; Beasley Church, Ky., where Dr. J. H. Gault, president from 1868-1892; and Cave Hill cemetery, Louisville, where David Hill, president from 1866-1878, is buried.

Sponsored By Student Groups
This 10th annual Founders' Day celebration is sponsored by several student organizations in cooperation with a faculty-staff committee headed by Dean M. M. White. College of Arts and Sciences.

Student groups cooperating in the traditional event include the Student Government Association, Mortar Board, Omicron, Delta Kappa, Skyr Circle, Panhellenic Council, Interfraternity Council, and the Student Union Board.

Members of Oves, leadership program for sophomore women, will serve as ushers in the Coliseum foyer.

Biggest Group Yet Signs For Chorus
The largest group of men and women ever to enroll in the University Chorus has reported for this term. Mr. Aino Kiviminen, associate professor of music, said this week. Though it may be a little difficult to direct 250 chorists, it is encouraging to see so many students take an interest in this type of music, he said.

In the latter part of this semester the chorus group, accompanied by the University Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Edwin Stein, will perform the Mass' Department, head of the Music Department, head of the University Chorus, and members of the Oves, leadership program for sophomore women, will serve as ushers in the Coliseum foyer.

Prior to the Christmas holidays the chorus and orchestra, with Mr. Kiviminen conducting, presented excerpts from Handel's "Messiah."

MARDI GRAS CANDIDATES—One of the 34 girls shown above will be chosen to reign as Queen of the Mardi Gras Ball to be held next Friday night. Preliminary judging will be held Monday in Memorial Hall.

UK Students Should Attend New Founders' Day Program

UK will celebrate its 80th anniversary Sunday at the annual Founders Day program in Memorial Coliseum. UK students should be present at the program to acknowledge and pay tribute to those who have worked with untiring efforts for the good of the University.

In the past, the programs which have been planned for this event have not been very inviting to the students. They have consisted of speeches which too often were long and dull. A program of this kind could not be expected to draw a large or interested crowd. Needless to say, there were many vacant seats in the Coliseum.

Last year, the Founders Day Committee decided to try a new approach. The new approach was increased student participation on the program. The plan worked very well and those who attended expressed their approval of the new venture.

This year, the program will be a dramatic presentation portraying the leading events of the lives of Dr. Robert Peter and Dr. Thomas Hunt Morgan. The dramatization will be enacted by UK students with music by the University Symphony Orchestra and the University Chorus. Various student organizations are planning and sponsoring the program. It is important to note that the entire program and the work behind it is being performed by the student body itself.

Dr. Peter came to Lexington in 1832, serving as chairman of the Transylvania University Chemistry Department and later as dean of the Medicine College. When Kentucky University was transferred to Lexington, Dr. Peter was named as chairman of the Department of Chemistry and Experimental Philosophy. He remained as the head of the Department until 1857.

Dr. Morgan was awarded the Nobel Prize in Medicine in 1933 for clarifying the gene theory of heredity. He was a student under Dr. Peter and received his B.S. degree in 1886 and his M.S. in 1888 at UK. At the time of his death, in 1945, he was professor emeritus of biology at the California Institute of Technology.

The two men who will be honored Sunday are representative of many others who have worked, fought, and dreamed for a great university. Men like Dr. McVey, Dr. Bowman, and Dr. Patterson will never be forgotten at UK.

Dr. Donovan recently issued the following statement:

"Many great men and women have spent the best efforts of their lives trying to build a great UK. Today we enjoy what they achieved for this institution. We should show our gratitude for these founders by attending a very interesting program that will reveal what they did to build a university."

"May I urge every student and member of faculty and staff to be present for an hour next Sunday at 4 p.m. to show our appreciation for their memory."

Founder's Day should be more of a success this year than ever before. It has all the requisites except one—student support. We can supply that requisite easily by attending the program. Remember the worries, heartaches, and struggles it took to start an institution of higher learning in Kentucky. Be present Sunday to pay tribute to those who have gone before us.

Dr. Francis Massie Explains Why A UK Med School Is Needed

(Editor's note: Dr. Francis Massie, chairman of the Fayette County Medical Society's committee on medical education, has kindly consented to write a series of editorials on the UK med school situation for the Kernel. In future editorials, Dr. Massie will outline the cost of building and maintaining a medical school at UK and indicate possible sources of money for this purpose.)

To build and maintain a medical school at the University of Kentucky will cost enough in effort, time and money to make all of us ask and demand answers to the questions:

1. Is it needed?
2. Is any other way better?
3. What will it cost?
4. Where will we get the money?

The number of doctors in this state has been falling from more than 3500 in 1910 to 2300 in 1950 while the population during these years has increased from 2,900,000 to 3,000,000. The national

Ruby's Rabid Raving Increases UK Spirit

Coach Blanton Collier's reception by some 3,000 UK students here last week reminded a lot of people of a growing feeling of something known as school spirit. And, starting from there, a lot of students have begun to wonder just what is behind this renewed spirit. There was a time when nothing short of a football victory over Tennessee could rouse a yell. Now, a new, relatively unknown man comes in to take over as new head football coach—and is greeted with unparalleled enthusiasm.

Why? More than any other factor, the rabid ranting of a couple of men on the staff of the Louisville Courier-Journal have drawn the student's attention to UK's athletic program. Earl Ruby, for instance, has what approximates a morbid fascination in juggling the lights around until he can show UK sports up in a bad color.

Coach Adolph Rupp has already received more than his share in the way of some pretty lousy sports writing, deliberately slanted to make UK look like the great granddaddy breeder of poor sportsmanship. Any day that the almighty sports page of the C-J misses a chance to pour out some bitter bile against UK, usually via Ruby's column, is a rare day indeed. These rantings and ravings, however, have been like a shot of adrenalin to the spirit around here. In a fight, the situation is comparable to a prize fighter telling Jack Demsey, in the ring, that his restaurant is a mess. As might be expected, the reaction to such babbling rant is a desire to do even better next time.

Critic Commends 'Round Table,' Pans Godfrey's Latest Antics

By LESLIE MORRIS

After several false starts, CinemaScope has definitely arrived with M-G-M's lavish production-in-color, "Knights of the Round Table." After "The Robe" had been perpetrated, and a couple of mediocre follow-ups, it remained for the Culver City globe-trotters to borrow the medium of Strongman Zerkow-and-yes-men and use it as it was meant to be used.

The gang at Metro, past masters at splashing the screen with color and spectacle, kept the nucleus of their troupe in England after the filming of "Ivanhoe," and went right to work on the tales of King Arthur and Sir Lancelot, and the era of the Round Table immortalized by Sir Thomas Malory. Robert Taylor, the perennial knight-in-shin, plays Lancelot, and Mel Ferrer scores as a youngish King Arthur. Most of the scenes are filmed on hallowed ground, and the whole picture takes on a realism and splendor that would hardly have been possible on a California sound stage. But while we're patting Nature on the back, we should also say a few kind words for the mortals who designed the brilliant costumes. And a hearty bravo for the fearless director who decided to pull the plush carpets and tapestries out of the castle Camelot, and show a castle as it was really supposed to look back when—a trifle dingy and cold. The entire CinemaScope, in fact, exhibited remarkable restraint in the making of this epic, even though there are a few fantastic skirmishes. There's surely enough action and gore to satisfy any audience, and a minimum of the exposition that doomed "The Robe," even though the drama does drag its armor toward the end. Ava Gardner is surprisingly good as Guinevere, but just a bit robot for our mental picture of Arthur's demure queen. A cute trick by the name of Maureen Swanson plays the Lady Elaine in Jean

Simmons fashion, and we'd like to see more of her—figuratively speaking. The only false note is rung by Anne Crawford and Stanley Baker, as the villainous duke, Morgan and Modred—who overlap miserably, leering and sneering until they become comic archetypes. We also found the innocent-becomes-one-heart's-are-pure affair between Lancelot and Guinevere a little unbelievable and clumsy.

But all in all, "Knights of the Round Table," now playing at a local theatre, is a worthy adaptation of the Arthur legend and CinemaScope in the grand manner. And none too soon after the two pathetic attempts which preceded it: "King of the Khyber Rifles" and "The Command."

The former was ruined by miscast Terry Moore and half-caste Tyrone Power, and an overabundance of stilled dialogue and swirling sand. Guy "Buffalo Bill" Madison, second only to Miss Moore as a bun thespian, seemed lost without "Jingles" Devine in the latter cinema-massacre. This trek across the desert was so tedious and choked with trite philosophical utterings, that we were pulling for the Indians to scalp the whole train plus the Warner brothers. . . . Well, stunt-flyer Arthur "Howdy-howdy" Godfrey has done many foolish things in his meteoric life, but his latest project—pollution of the pure strain of the Weimarner—is his most execrable. The Weimarner is a German dog, and the Weimarner Club of America has accused Godfrey of breeding his Weimarner, Splash, with Draga, his lovely German shepherd, and the resultant puppy—their say—endangers the pure blood-line of this rare breed.

The vice-president of the Weimarner Club is now under protective guard, and branded a "murderer" by Godfrey fans, for accusing the Great One of breaking the faith and suggesting that he drown the pup in some convenient hole-in-the-ice. Godfrey says the cur was an accident—a likely story—but to impartial observers it appears to be but another Godfrey sally against the sanctity of our homes and dog-houses. For shame.

Our Readers Speak: On Budget Increase, McCarthy

Dear Editor: I too read Ronnie Butler's January 8th editorial on Senator McCarthy, and was far from being shocked, as Mr. O. Burke, Class of 1945, seems to have been. Quite aside from the fact that I think Mr. Butler, whom I personally do not know, had some very good points in his article, why should a college newspaper, which represents a group of people with perhaps the widest and most varied range of interests to be found, be itself limited in what it can print?

So long as it is of general interest to the student body, I believe most students have heard of Mr. McCarthy, (and I don't mean Charlie) it should not be omitted just because it doesn't concern the campus. I too am very interested in what Mr. McCarthy will have to say when he no longer has senatorial protection.

Sincerely, Luther Raine

Dear Editor: A few comments on your recent editorial citing the lack of funds here at the University and a need for a budgetary increase. I heartily concur with the efforts toward such an increase as do most of us who are at UK. However, recent news stories, your editorial included, stressed minor points which need clarifying, I believe. I refer to your sentence in the editorial of Jan. 15 which said "Korean veterans do not get their tuition paid by the government, so the total income derived from federal sources must come from the rent collected from Cooperstown and Shawneetown." Actually, Korean veterans do get their tuition paid by the government; what you mean is that this tuition, unlike the provisions of P.L. 16 and P.L. 346, is not paid directly to the school but rather a flat sum is paid the Korean vet and from this he must pay his tuition, books and board.

It was obviously the intent of congress that the tuition of the Korean vet be paid. The new method of payment was thought to be more satisfactory than the old in that it eliminated the possibility of collusion between students and certain fictitious "schools". The terms of the new bill do not seem quite as liberal as the old World War II terms were after the subsistence allowance was raised but they are certainly as liberal as the terms were when I first enrolled under P.L. 346 right after World War II. Mr. McCarthy's problem should be thought of as one in which we lack Korean vets in as large numbers as was first anticipated, not that "the government doesn't pay their tuition."

It is true we are out some money by virtue of the fact that the World War II vets all were charged out-of-state tuition fees, regardless of where they came from, with Uncle Sugar paying the difference. Kentucky Korean vets now pay only in-state fees. This does represent some loss. But we had several years to prepare for this and the people of the state should have realized that a greater state university wasn't going to be built on federal funds, local effort is needed now as it was needed before, 1945. The GI Bill merely served as a finger in the dike.

Regarding your second point, you must know that many if not most of the residents in Shawneetown and Cooperstown do not have their rent paid by the government. In other words many residents do not now receive federal benefits. They do not have to be on the G.I. Bill to live there, you merely have to be a veteran. Some rent comes from federal sources via the indirect means of subsistence allotments. Many others, including several faculty members, haven't had any GI benefits for years.

Lastly, to concentrate solely on the legislature in our appeals for increased funds for UK is short-sighted, even if it is only an editorial technique. We can appeal to the governor and the legislature, to be sure, but we first must appeal to those who elect these people. UK students must be missionaries in their home towns, talking up the financial needs of their university. When Kentuckians get ready to be taxed more for education and learn to expect more from their University than great athletic teams we will get the financial help that we here at UK are asking for.

This plea cannot be separated from other pleas seeking to improve the elementary and secondary schools in the state. You first have to educate the citizens before you can direct appeals for money to them in any intelligent fashion. This state, while not so wealthy as some, is far from poverty stricken. It can support a good school system of all levels when its citizens get ready to pay for it.

Sincerely yours, Gordon F. Lewis

Columnist Finds McCarthy Even Frightens Jinni

By RONNIE BUTLER

Know, then, that this is the tale of the eighth and last voyage of Sinbad the Sailor. Although I had resolved to never again leave my fair country to sail the seven seas in search of new lands and profits, certain developments came about which led me to leave my life of leisure.

It began on the night I found a drunken Jinni weeping in the garden in back of my house. Usually the Jinni are ugly creatures and unfriendly to men, but this one seemed different. His glaring, rolling white eyes spoke of tragedy, and the scant specks of stolen chicken blood on his tunic showed that he hadn't eaten in quite a few hours. I was overwhelmed at this sad spectacle, and approached him out of curiosity. "Oh, Jinni, what's the trouble, lad?" "Oh, mortal, I've had it—I think." "Really, what's wrong?" "Here, take a look at this paper I spirited away from the 20th century."

"Hm, the Milwaukee Journal. What's that got to do with us?" "Let me read you something from the editorial page of this paper, dated Feb. 13, 1954."

"OK, Jinni, read on."

"One of Senator McCarthy's current targets is an Army major, a dentist, who has just left the service. He was given an honorable discharge after a year of service. Among other things, our junior senator wants to know how the major got out."

"Many young men now in the Army now want to get out, but can't get permission to return to civilian life, says the senator. And he adds: 'They may wonder now if this is to be the pattern, all you've got to do is join the Communist conspiracy to get an honorable discharge.'"

"We recall another man who got out of the service early. It was not in peacetime, but in very critical days of World War II. He left the marines as they were fighting desperately in the Pacific. He got his discharge in January of 1945, months before the war ended and before there were any signs of its ending."

"Yet he has passed as a hero and spoken of shrapnel in his leg—a leg which was actually injured by stumbling over a pile in a bit of horseplay while a ship was crossing the equator."

"The man, of course, is Senator McCarthy. Many people still wonder how he got out of the service when the war was still on. Surely it wasn't true, as he says now, that 'all you've got to do is join the Communist conspiracy to get an honorable discharge.'"

"Jinni, old man, I'll admit this is bad, what does it have to do with . . ."

"Just a minute, there's more. Come, mortal, while we voyage to the 20th century for a while."

"I don't dig you, man, uh, Jinni."

"Watch, mortal, while I hypnotize a few students to get their honest opinions."

"Student, do you like McCarthy?" "Yes sir, he's a great guy, saving the land from Communism, keeping the subversive rats out of gov. . . ."

"Student, do you know that he has never found a man guilty, do you know that he doesn't care whom he accuses as long as he gets headlines, do you know that he probably couldn't find a Communist in the Kremlin. . . ."

"Yes sir, but, by golly, he keeps them dirty, stinkin' Reds on the go—gets them too scared to do much. He's a great man, that senator. I like him."

"You, student, do you like McCarthy?" "No sir, I'm afraid because I see he's following the pattern of all dictators—trying to get control of the press so he can get control of minds so he can get control of men so . . ."

Christians, Jews To Start Brotherhood Week Monday

Nation-wide observance of Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, starts Monday and continues through Friday with President Dwight D. Eisenhower as honorary chairman.

Accentuating the theme "Let's Get Together," community good through home gatherings that will encourage neighbors to know each other better will be stressed. Special events throughout the United States will mark the week-long observance.

Educational institutions as well as religious and civic organizations will participate. Programs during the week will extend the National Conference's year-round program of understanding.

Purpose Stated

The purpose of Brotherhood Week, Dr. Everett B. Clinchy, president of the National Conference, has stated, is to give people an opportunity to re-dedicate themselves as individuals to the ideals of respect for other people and for human rights. "We try to dramatize the practical things that people can do to promote an understanding and realization of those ideals," he said.

"Brotherhood Week is essentially a campaign against the prejudices and biases that distort and distort religion, business, social and political relations."

An "inventory of the nation's moral and spiritual resources for leadership" is being undertaken by the National Conference as one of its tasks during the year. Brotherhood Week groups will aid in the survey, the results of which will eventually be reported to President Eisenhower.

The ideal to be promoted during Brotherhood Week, according to Dr. Clinchy, will be to urge people to do more than give the principles of brotherhood mere lip service.

Baptists To Sponsor Spiritual Emphasis Week

"What Good Is Christianity?" will be the theme of the Baptist Student Union's Spiritual Emphasis Week, Feb. 22 to 27. Three services will be conducted each day at the center.

Audy Blane, BSU student secretary, will lead the morning prayer from 7:25 to 7:45 a.m., and the noonday devotions from 12:00 to 12:15 p.m. will be led by Walter Price, pastor of Davis's Fork Baptist Church.

Dr. Leo Edelman of the Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, will conduct the evening worship each night at 6:30 p.m. Ed Clark, music director of Immanuel Baptist Church, will lead the singing. Special music by the BSU choir will be presented under the direction of Jim Woodward, president of the BSU.

Westminster To Hear Johnson

Dr. Thomas Johnson, pastor of Maxwell Street Presbyterian Church will continue his discussion of "The Christian" at a supper to be given at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday at the Westminster Fellowship Student Center.

Art Gallery Has New Exhibition

Two exhibitions in the Fine Arts Gallery currently feature the works of Prof. Lester F. Pross of Berea College and Joseph Zirkler, instructor at UCLA.

Pross, who is co-chairman of the art department at Berea, had on display a group of drawings, oils and watercolor paintings. The Zirkler collection includes color woodcuts, aquatints, etchings, engravings and lithographs.

A native of New York, Pross did his undergraduate and graduate work at Oberlin College of Ohio. He also studied at Ohio University and at the Skowhegan School, Skowhegan, Maine. Besides regional shows, he has had one-man exhibits in Gloversville, New York and with the Art Center Association in Louisville.

Zirkler, 29, received his undergraduate degree in Fine Arts from the University of Denver and his Master of Fine Arts from the University of Southern California. He has also taught at USC and at the Hollywood Art Center.

The exhibitions will continue through February. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and until noon Saturday.

And then there's the one about the cross-eyed professor who had no control over his pupils.

Career Opportunities

Juniors, Seniors, Graduate Students

Representatives Of

THE PROCTOR & GAMBLE
DISTRIBUTING COMPANY

Will be at White Hall on Wednesday, February 24, to interview juniors, seniors, and graduate students who are interested in discussing the opportunities offered by a career in sales management.

For men who show promise of being able to assume the responsibilities of administration and leadership, the company offers opportunities for interesting and highly successful careers. Promotions are made from within the company and are based solely on initiative, ability, and performance.

Those selected will begin their association with the company as salesmen in one of the several sales departments. Intensive training in the fundamentals of selling and sales promotion is offered and qualification for promotion to managerial responsibility can be rapid.

We should like to talk to you now, irrespective of your status with regard to service in the armed forces. Men from any college on the campus interested in exploring the opportunities here presented should contact Dr. Carter's office in White Hall, where descriptive literature can be examined and interviews arranged.

English Rental Library Started On A Shoestring

By WOODROW HALL

The most extraordinary library on the campus is the result of a dollar borrowed in 1932 by members of the English Department to help students get the books they needed when they couldn't afford to buy them.

The English Department lending library was started by the selling of mimeographed copies of reading material to freshmen for five cents each.

Dr. George K. Brady, now head of the library, explained that "over a period of a few years an excess of about $100 was accumulated in this manner." That first $100 bought 30 copies each of four books.

Borrowers No Funds

The library receives no departmental funds or funds of any kind, but supports itself entirely with the small rental fee it charges. When the first books were bought the rental rate was three cents a day, but as more books were added and the financial status became more secure, the rate dropped to 15 cents a week.

"No profit of any kind is realized," said Dr. Brady. "We have to pay librarians, but outside of that all money received from the rental of books is put back into the library. The English Department faculty members even took their turns as librarians until it started consuming too much of our time. The library stays open three hours in the morning, Monday through Saturday and two hours in the afternoon, Monday through Friday."

The rental system requires a deposit of one dollar by the person borrowing a book. When the book is returned, the unspent portion of the dollar is returned to the borrower. For example, if a book is kept for two weeks, 20 cents of the dollar will be forfeited as rent, and the borrower will receive 70 cents upon surrendering the book.

"I wish to make clear," said Dr. Brady "that students are not required to rent books that they have been assigned in class from the library. They are free to get them wherever they like. The library is there for their convenience and it has enough copies of each book to allow a whole class to get books for an assignment. That is its purpose."

The library now contains about 3,000 books with about 100 titles. Their subject matter is varied and includes novels, dramas, essays, biographies and a few texts. Also on hand are a record player and records of ballads and poetry for use in the classroom.

The Aircraft Observer... eyes...ears...brains...of the Air Force Team!

IN THE still of the night—high above a sleeping American city—an unidentified aircraft is spotted. In a matter of seconds a lightning-like jet interceptor takes to the air. Unerringly, with an Aircraft Observer showing the way, the Air Force F-94 Night Fighter speeds to intercept the stranger. The Aircraft Observer is the man behind the pilot—the officer who keeps America's planes flying on course and on target. Without him the Air Force couldn't do its job.

He's a Bomber Officer... in full control of the plane over the target area... the Air Force Officer who "lowers the boom" on the enemy.

What the Aircraft Observer gets

He earns over $5,000 a year. His silver Aircraft Observer wings give him prestige and distinction, and he wears the bars of an Air Force Lieutenant. They mark him as the eyes, ears, and brains of America's Number One flying team.

What it takes to be an Aircraft Observer

The Aircraft Observer must be sound of limb, keen of mind, and above all, must have the determination to be the best.

To qualify as an Aircraft Observer you must be single, between 19 and 26½ years old, and a high school graduate. However, it will be better for you and the Air Force if you stay in college and graduate before you apply. Then you, too, can be one of the best... as an Aircraft Observer.

I-M Point Totals Released, SAE, Barristers Top Field

By GEORGE KOPEL
SAE and the Barristers lead their respective divisions in points at the midway mark in intramural competition. Point standings announced this week show the SAE's on top in the fraternity division with 153 points. The Barristers lead the independent group with 79 points. SAE has a 61-point bulge over the second-place Kappa Alpha fraternity. The Barristers have only a 17-point margin over Newman Club in the independent league. Both leaders gained their biggest share of points with victories in football. Division championships were worth 37 points to each. Jim Flynn, KA, is the individual leader with a total of 50 points. Jim Baxter, SAE, and Mill Miller, Newman Club, are next in line with 31 and 22 points, respectively. DePaul, Vanderbilt Next For Wildcats

By BILL BIRLESON
Kentucky's high-flying Wildcats will take on the upset-hungry DePaul charges of Coach Ray Meyer tomorrow night at Chicago. The Demos boast only a so-so record of nine wins and nine losses, but the losses have come from such good caliber ball clubs as UK, Notre Dame, St. Louis, and Illinois. The Cats have always experienced a great deal of difficulty when they have traveled to Chicago. In 1952 the Cats had to score in the last few seconds on a driving lay-up by Willie Rouse. Even the "Fabulous Five" was defeated by DePaul in 1947. A few new faces will be evident in the lineup fielded by the invading Kentuckians. Guard Linville, 5'3 foot, 6 inch, Puckett is expected to get the starting nod over towering Phil Gravemeyer. Another sophomore, 6-4 Hugh Coy, also may see extensive action against the Demos. The third new face may be Guard Willie Rouse, who has been out of action all season with a knee injury. Besides Puckett, the Cat's lineup will include Frank Ramsey at the other guard, Lou Tsioropoulos and Bill Evans at forward, and Cliff Hagan at center. DePaul is expected to stick to a starting group consisting of Dan Leoss and Frank Bluh, two 4-4 forwards, 6-4 Bernard Skul at center, and 5-9 James Lamkin and 6-3 Ron Sobieski at guards. The latter scored 18 and 14 points, respectively, in the Blue Demon 81-63 loss at Lexington. The Cats will be a little peeved at the statement of Ray Meyer that "Notre Dame is the best rebounding team we've met and it has four fine all-around players. Kentucky has three great ones, but they have to carry their other two teammates." The Cats will close out their home season Monday night when they will battle the Vanderbilt Commodores. Vandy has a 3-6 conference record and a 10-17 over-all record. The Cats took the Commodores at Vandy two weeks ago, and they were not too pressed to do it by a score of 85-53. The Commodores have two great scorers in the presence of Babe Taylor and Dan Finch. The leading scorer for the Wildcats was Hagan with 36 points on 14 field goals and 4 free points. Hagan collected six goals in the first half and five in the second. The big All-American was completely out of the situation on the boards, as he made up after tip. Following Hagan were Tsioropoulos and Ramsey with 17 and 19 points apiece. Although it was a game of wild passes and booted plays, the Cats were able to hold a very respectable shooting percentage, hitting 34 of 79 attempts for a 43 per cent mark. The first quarter set the pace for the rest of the game, as the Maroons started a slow offense, and the Cats obliged them by tossing the ball around as if it were hot. Kentucky collected 10 points in the first seven minutes. Their defense was sparkling in this period and through most of the game. They held the Maroons to only 12 points in the period. Kentucky scored first in the period and last with Hagan accounting for both baskets. As UK took the opening tip, Hagan scored under the basket with a minute and 10 seconds gone. He tossed in the final basket of the quarter, stealing the ball from Mississippi and driving the length of the court to sink it. Kentucky had four fouls in this period, Bill Evans having three of them. The Wildcats doubled Mississippi's points in the next period as they collected 18 and held the Maroons to only nine. They also more than doubled the fouls. Mississippi only picked up one personal foul, while the Cats distributed them freely among themselves. Ramsey got his things with the Cats three minutes gone in this quarter, and Evans collected his fourth. Late in the period Kentucky began to take life and got their fast break moving, leaving the Maroons lifeless. The half-time score was 38 to 21, one of the lowest this year.

"FLASH" BROWN'S TWO-HEADED BROTHER

A certain Sophomore named Brown acquired the appellation "Flash," not because he was lightning on the gridiron, but just because he was never without an answer. You'd pass him on the quadrangle and say "How's it goin', Flash?" He'd answer, "An' Express." Get the pitch? Brown often referred to his "two-headed brother" in conversations. One day a few men in his fraternity were needing him. "Your brother's two heads must present quite a few problems." "Not really. The only problem was his neatness," said Flash. "Neatness?" "Yes," answered Flash, "he worried about it. Said he couldn't find a shirt that didn't wrinkle around the collar. You see, he was often looking in two directions at once, or eating and talking on the telephone. Hard on a collar." "What did you do?" They knew he did something about it. "Simple. I got him the Van Hensen Century shirt with the exclusive soft collar that won't wrinkle ever! I got him different collar styles and colors. $2.95 for the white, $4.95 for the colors and superfine whites. You should have seen the grin on his faces when he saw how those collars stayed neat all day and night without starch or stays." "I guess he can really hold his heads up now," said one. "Yep. He figures he gets four times more wear from Century than from other shirts. Of course, he actually only gets twice the wear. He just figures in both heads."

Cats Whip State, 81-49

By DON HENRY
Kentucky's Wildcats looked like they had paper sacks on their "paws" Monday night as they trounced and muffed their way to a 81 to 49 victory over the Maroons from Mississippi State. The one outstanding highlight, in what was the most ragged game played by the Cats this year, was the last second shot of Linville Puckett, sophomore guard, in the third quarter. With less than three seconds to go in the period, Kentucky got the ball out under the Maroon basket. They passed into Puckett who started up court with it. One second remained on the clock, and the crowd was yelling for him to shoot. With three feet and 8 1/2 inches away from the basket, he did. The ball sailed in a high arc toward the Kentucky goal and passed through without touching the rim. This was the longest shot on record in the college. However, Cliff Barker holds the record, with a 63 foot shot made in Alumni Gym on Feb. 26, 1949. The leading scorer for the Wildcats was Hagan with 36 points on 14 field goals and 4 free points. Hagan collected six goals in the first half and five in the second. The big All-American was completely out of the situation on the boards, as he made up after tip. Following Hagan were Tsioropoulos and Ramsey with 17 and 19 points apiece. Although it was a game of wild passes and booted plays, the Cats were able to hold a very respectable shooting percentage, hitting 34 of 79 attempts for a 43 per cent mark. Frosh Cagers Marvyn Lear New Golfing Assistant

By BILL SURFACE
JERRY CALVERT — GUARD — MAYSVILLE.
One of the most versatile schoolboy cagers in the state, as he was elected to the All-State squad for two consecutive campaigns and started in the Kentucky-Indiana All-Star Game at Louisville last July, "R44" possesses one of the best set shots on the Kitten's squad and has an abundance of speed and aggressiveness, which makes him an excellent driver in the fast break style of basketball that Coach Rupp employs.
The 5'11" guard has the spirit and determination that has developed him into one of the most outstanding defensive men on the club. Calvert averaged 20 points per contest for Mayville last season and is currently hitting at a 9.7 rate in the four games in which the Kittens have emerged victorious this season. The former Mayville standout is also an excellent baseball prospect and turned down several pro offers to choose the cage sport.

Logan Gipe, a 6' 3" guard from Owensboro, paced both clubs in scoring with 25 points. Earl Adkins, playing before his hometown audience, contributed 23 to aid in the victory. Jerry Calvert and John Brewer each tallied 13 with center Ray Mills pitching in 12. Bill Call, 6' 7" center, was high for the losing Ashland crew with 18.

Baseball Drills Start; Nine Lettermen Back

Nine lettermen will make up the nucleus of Coach Harry Lancaster's UK baseball squad for the coming season. Forty men, including twenty-five freshmen, have already signed up for practice.

An informal meeting was held Monday, the lettermen meeting at 3 p.m. and new men at 4 p.m. Practice will be voluntary until after the basketball season is over, March 1.

Coach Lancaster is counting on several newcomers to plug the gaps left by the loss of such stalwarts as Frank Ramsey, Harry and Larry Jones, and Billy Evans. Ramsey, who was All-SEC for three years in 1950-51, has already completed his eligibility in baseball. Evans, regular shortstop last year, will probably be unable to play because of his required practice teaching.

The mound staff will be hurt least of all by losses, since all of last year's starters are returning. Phil Gravenmeyer, Hugh Coy, Jess Curry, Jim Day, and Herbie Hunt did most of the twirling the past season.

Miles Willard, who gave Ramsey a battle last season for the team hitting championship will be back at third base. Charley Anderson, John Shanahan, and Doug Lawhorn will also be back. Anderson is a catcher; Shanahan and Lawhorn are outfielders.

All home games will be played on the regular baseball field as before; practice, however, will probably be held at Legion Field. Practice will start every day at 3:15 p.m., if weather permits.

New additions to the team, that Coach Lancaster is counting on, include: Charles Pichtmaster, a pitcher from Lafayette; Bill Willard, an infielder from Vandergrift, Pa.; Jerry Calvert, shortstop from Marysville, and Paul Corum, second baseman from Midway.

The schedule for the coming season has not been completed as yet, two open dates are yet to be filled. Nineteen games are scheduled, nine at home and ten on the road. Fourteen of the games will be against SEC competition.

Lancaster said that anyone interested in playing is welcome to sign up at the athletic office in Memorial Coliseum.

SIDELINE SLANTZ!

by John K. Ryans

In Blanton Collier UK not only has a fine football coach, but also a fine gentleman with an excellent personality. Coach Collier proved this to the fans on two occasions last week. The first time that he had an opportunity to speak to UK fans was at the welcoming ceremony held in his honor on Friday evening. Then, on Saturday, he was introduced to the spectators at the UK-Mississippi basketball game by Coach Adolph Rupp. Many men would have been at a loss for words, following the thunderous standing ovation at the game, but Coach Collier in his quiet manner thanked the crowd, and said that he hoped that his football team could make as good a showing next season, as the cage team has been making. Coach Rupp is a close friend of Collier, and his introduction of him Saturday night should dispel any rumors of jealousy existing between the football and basketball departments. Coach Collier seems to be one of the few men that is liked by all who know him. There hasn't been one sports writer, who has not wished him luck and mentioned what a fine man he is. He is the type of man that is liked and respected by all. He has a hard schedule facing him next season and only a short time to prepare for it, but if any man can do it, he can.

One of the first problems facing Coach Collier will be finding a replacement for Dick Shatto, who has dropped out of school, because of scholarship deficiencies. Shatto showed quite a bit of promise last season at halfback and was being counted on for regular duty next season. Although it is virtually impossible for him to be eligible next season, he still has two seasons of eligibility left, and if he applies for admission later, he could return to football in 1955.

Coach Adolph Rupp's cagers face possibly their stiffest test of the season tomorrow night, when they meet the DePaul Demons in Chicago. Ray Meyer, the coach of DePaul, has made several choice cracks at the Wildcats, and indicates that the Demons will be out to beat the Cats any way that they can. This is definitely the biggest hurdle the Cats face in order to achieve an undefeated season.

Major college scoring hit a new high this week when Frank Selvy of Furman hit an even 100 points, as his team beat Newberry 149 to 95. The Corbin boy tossed in 41 field goals. Bevo Francis of Rio Grande was definitely overshadowed on the Sunday sport pages, as he only tallied 58 points. However, he and Selvy are the only players who have hit the century mark in college competition. The only way a player can hit such astronomical figures is to have the other players constantly feed him the ball. Also the team must let its defenses go, so that the other team will shoot, instead of holding on to the ball. Cliff Hagan, who tallied 51 points earlier this season against Temple, could probably hit high individual marks, if he was the only outstanding player on the team. When you have several good players and also have strong defenses, such as UK has, it is virtually impossible to set national records. Personally I will take a well-balanced team over a one-man team any time.

It is hard to figure out just what goes on in the minds of the so-called basketball experts. Last week UK was ranked first in the AP poll and third in the UP poll behind Indiana and Duquesne. Then on Saturday night the Hoosiers were upset by Big-Ten rival Northwestern 100 to 90. This would indicate that this week the Cats would be first in the AP poll and second in the UP poll. Somewhere along the line, however, the experts got their wires crossed, and the Cats ended up in second place in both polls. Duquesne, a team that was ranked second in both polls last week, now rides in first place in both polls. This marked the first time in many weeks that the Cats have not been ranked in first place in at least one of the two major polls. No one knows what supposed logic the various members of the poll use, but one thing is certain, they are definitely inconsistent.

Ralph Paolone, UK's great fullback of the past season, has been signed by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, along with the Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Association have acquired the draft right to Bobby Watson, former UK star carter, who is now in the Air Force.

Coach Blanton Collier is presently assembling a fine coaching staff for the UK grid team. The first two coaches he named were Ernal Allen and Clarence "Buckshot" Underwood, who were outstanding assistants under Bryant. Then this week he announced the addition of Matt Lair and Bill Arnsperger to his staff. Lair needs no introduction to Wildcat fans, as he is a former UK gridder himself. Arnsperger, an assistant at Ohio State last year under Woodie Hayes, played in college ball at Miami University of Oxford, Ohio. He is a fine scout and has been an assistant at Ohio State for the past three seasons. While at Ohio State, he served as the offensive line coach. Collier says that Arnsperger is one of the finest young line coaches in the country today. Lair, who played guard at UK under Bryant, was head coach last year at Selma, Alabama. Both Lair and Arnsperger are from Collier's home town, Paris, Ky. Two positions still remain to be filled on the coaching staff.

Fencers Win Twice On Southern Swing

By HANK MAYO

The University fencers posted two wins on a week-end tour in Tennessee, as they downed Lincoln Memorial, 17-10, and topped Vanderbilt, 6-3.

In the Lincoln Memorial match, Capt. Tom Prather led individual sabre scoring with three matches. Ed Schreiner won two and Lee Shine tallied one. John Whittenberg won three bouts in the foil with Dodson regaining one. Epee honors were shared by Clarke and Perrine with two matches each. Vitillo, Hartley and Dodson each tallied one.

The epee and sabre matches were won by Kentucky, 7-2, 6-3, respectively. The foil match was lost, 4-5. The match at Vanderbilt consisted of only nine bouts in foil instead of the usual 27 contests in three weapons.

John Whittenberg did a repeat performance as he took three bouts in foil to lead the Cats. Dodson was second with two bouts and Prather topped one.

The fencers now have an overall record of three wins against only one defeat, that being at the hands of Illinois prior to this road trip.

The next outing for the fencers will be Feb. 27 at Alumni gym, as they face both Cincinnati and Vanderbilt in a triangular meet.

Swimmers Place 5th At Atlanta

By QUENTIN ALLEN

Dash star Roger Messick and Paul Bollinger, a transfer from the University of Miami, posted three seconds in the final session of the Southern Intercollegiate Invitational swimming meet at Atlanta to help Kentucky edge Georgia Tech for fifth place.

North Carolina State and Florida, strongest swim team in the Southeastern Conference, tied for first in the meet, each scoring 73 points.

Florida State was third with 47 points, followed by Georgia, 32; Kentucky, 18; Georgia Tech, 17; Emory, eight, and Duke, three.

Red Patterson, a Pineville, Ky., youth who attends Georgia, conquered Messick in the freestyle. Patterson won the 50-yard race in 23 seconds flat and took the 100-yard test in 51.1, as the UK ace extended his team in each event.

Second of North Carolina State was the only tankman to finish ahead of Bollinger in the 150-yard individual medley, as Mattson won the event in 1:39.3.

Mississippi gave Kentucky a battle of it for a quarter, trailing by only four points—20-16—at the end of the first period. Brackeen kept the Reds close with 11 points.

Hagan, Ramsey, and Livville Puckett broke the game wide open in the second stanza as the Cats scored four quick baskets and the issue was never in doubt from that time on. Phil "Cookie" Gravenmeyer, benched in favor of Puckett, entered the game late in the quarter and started in a pair of buckets, a

Cats Trounce Ole Miss Five

By DAVE NARDIMEN

Led by a magnificent performance by All-American Cliff Hagan, Kentucky's Wildcats rolled closer to an undefeated season Saturday night, by downing the Mississippi Rebels, 88-62.

The Rebel zone defense kept the Wildcats from reaching the century-mark, but it failed to hamper Hagan. The Owensboro senior connected with deadly accuracy throughout the contest, hitting 17 out of 28 shots from the field. Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsiproukos scored 17 and 10 points respectively.

Denver Brackeen, who generally teams with Robert "Cob" Jarvis in giving the Reds a one-two scoring punch, was forced to go it alone since Jarvis was nursing a knee injury and did not play. Brackeen gave Kentucky trouble all evening with an accurate hook-shot, and wound up with 26 points.

After the game, Coach "Country" Grubbs of the Rebels said he would have to take Kentucky over I.S.U. in case the two engaged in a play-off for the SEC crown. Grubbs felt that Kentucky had too much speed and balance for I.S.U., a team that edged the Mississippi outfit, 33-32.

Play in the third quarter showed to a bulk as the Rebels kept up their Oklahoma Aggie style offense, working the ball around for over a minute at a time waiting for an open shot. This quarter shattered the spectators' dreams of a 100-point performance by the Cats, although Kentucky upped its margin to 64-38 at the end of the period.

Aided by three straight baskets by Tsiproukos, Kentucky got its largest margin of the game late in the last quarter at 86-34. The Rebels narrowed the gap against Kentucky reserves.

A cautious possession game by Mississippi allowed them only 48 shots in all, but they made the most of them by connecting on 22 for 45 per cent. Kentucky, controlling both boards, got 96 shots and hit on 27 for 41.1 per cent, one of their best shooting performances of the season. The Cats proved terrific in shooting criss however, missing several wide-open shots.
