How amiable our by dwellings
How lovely their mansions
How sweet the air that
How soft the light that
How calm the breeze that
How pure the water that
How green the fields that
How blue the sky that
How bright the sun that
How warm the earth that
How sweet the life that
How good the love that
How true the faith that
How strong the hope that
How high the heaven that
How deep the hell that
How wide the world that
How long the time that
How short the life that
How great the God that
How small the man that
How low the dust that
How high the throne that
How low the cross that
How high the heaven that
How deep the hell that
How wide the world that
How long the time that
How short the life that
How great the God that
How small the man that
How low the dust that
How high the throne that
How low the cross that
