STETSON HATS

On the gridiron, when the ball is snapped into action with one minute to play, every ounce of skill and strength flash into split-second action. In a smashing off-tackle play, as in a Stetson Hat, there is no place for the second rate. With skilled hand-blocking, you'll find the smart Fall Stetsons rugged champions of quality . . . a dependable team mate in the toughest scrimmage. $5.00 up.

FRANK LEROND McVEY
PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

"To labor constantly for the world with no thought of self, to find indifference and opposition where you ought to have active assistance, to meet criticism with patience and the open attacks of ignorance without resentment, to plead with others for their own good, to follow sleepless nights with days of incessant toil, to strive continuously without ever attaining—this it is to be a college president. But this is only half the truth. To be associated with ambitious youth and high-minded men, to live in an atmosphere charged with thoughts of the world's greatest thinkers, to dream of a golden age not in the past but in the future, to have the exalted privilege of striving to make that dream a reality, to build up great kingdoms of material conquest and make daily life richer and fuller, to spiritualize wealth and convert it into weal, to enrich personal character and elevate all human relationships, to leave the impress of one's life on a great and immortal institution—this, too, it is to be a college president."—J. H. KIRKLAND, Chancellor Vanderbilt University.

AND NOW WE HAVE THE PLAINSMEN

When Oliver Goldsmith, in his "Deserted Village," penned the immortal lines, "Sweet Auburn, loveliest village of the plain," he had no thought of furnishing a name for the football team representing Alabama Polytechnic Institute, one of the South's leading universities. But furnish a name he did and now the men of Auburn are known throughout the country as the "Plainsmen."

Whether the town of Auburn is a lovely village or not it makes no difference; neither does it matter if Auburn is not situated on the plains. What really counts today is that Alabama Polytechnic Institute, which is located at Auburn, Alabama, has an excellent football team.

This is the first meeting between football teams representing Auburn and the University of Kentucky but the Wildcats and Plainsmen feel that they already know each other through the medium of Chester Allen "The Chetter" Wynne, who took over the helm at Kentucky this year after coaching a Auburn for four years.

Wynne was idolized at Auburn, and justly so. When the former Notre Dame fullback went to Auburn in 1930 he found a demoralized football squad which had not won a conference game in years. Auburn was a door mat for the leading Southern football teams. Wynne soon changed the complexion of affairs at Auburn. He lost his first game but the Plainsmen were accustomed to losing. Before that first season was over, however, The Chetter had his Plainsmen believing in themselves and they began to win football games.

In his second year, Wynne's team at Auburn really began to assert itself, winning games from some of the most powerful elevens in the South. Chet then was hailed as a "Miracle Man" for what he was accomplishing at Auburn. His third year at Auburn, Wynne developed a team which won the co-championship of the Southeastern Conference, defeating, among others, Tulane, Georgia, and Georgia Tech. His 1932 team did not lose a single game although it was tied by South Carolina in the final game when half of the Plainsmen were suffering from illness.

Auburn continued its winning streak last year, which was Wynne's final season with the Plainsmen, and The Chetter was becoming an institution.

At this point in his career, Coach Wynne heard the call of the Blue Grass. Being somewhat of a restless disposition, The Chetter decided to pull up stakes at Auburn and cast his lot with Kentucky, where his presence certainly was needed.

Auburn has not done so well this year in the matter of victories won, but the Plainsmen, now coached by Jack Meagher, have proven a dangerous foe to all opponents this year. Mighty Tulane found them hard to crack, and Huey Long's Louisiana Staters were forced to the limit to nose them out. Auburn's outstanding accomplishment of the season, so far, was the stand the Plainsmen made last Saturday against the powerful Vanderbilt Commodores. Auburn led Vandy by 6 to 0 until the last minute of the game when the Commodores became very lucky indeed and scored a touchdown and converted the extra point to down Auburn by 7 to 6.

Coach Wynne already has worked wonders at Kentucky. Just give him time, gentle public, and he will produce at Kentucky like he did at Auburn and like he did a Creighton, before he went to Auburn.

Wynne's Wildcats so far have won three games and lost two. They walked through Maryville easily in the opener, then lost to Washington and Lee by a single touchdown scored in a rainstorm. The 'Cats then asserted their offense in a 27 to 0 win over Cincinnati, and followed with a 7 to 0 victory over a hard fighting Clemson eleven. They lost a heart-breaker last Saturday to North Carolina by 6 to 0. It was an undeserved Carolina victory as Kentucky outplayed the Tar Heels for three of the four quarters and made ten first downs to five for Carolina.

It was no disgrace for Kentucky to lose to Washington and Lee, a team which held Princeton to a 14 to 12 victory last Saturday. Neither was it a disgrace to lose to Carolina, which had defeated Georgia by 14 to 0 the week before in Georgia's own back yard. On the other hand the Plainsmen were not a bit disgraced by the games they lost this year.

This is Kentucky's first Southeastern Conference game of the year. The Wildcats are most eager to win. So are the Plainsmen. They want to make Wynne regret his decision to leave Auburn. The 'Cats want to show their boss that he made a wise move. The Wildcats to a man are for Wynne. So is the State of Kentucky.

Kentucky welcomes you, most admirable Plainsmen, but Kentucky is going to turn loose all of the Wynne-generated Wildcat power to send you back, not to "Sweet Auburn, loveliest village of the plain," but to Edgar Allen Poe's "Down by the dank tarn of Auburn, in the mystic mid-regions of Weir."

CHESTER A. WYNNE
HEAD COACH AND ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

A gentleman and a scholar, former member of the Nebraska State Legislature, one-time star full-back at Notre Dame University, lawyer by profession and football coach by choice—that is Chester Allen Wynne, "The Chetter."

A Kansan by birth, Chet Wynne received his higher education at Notre Dame, where he was a star pupil of the immortal Knute Rockne, absorbing not only a profound knowledge of the game and how to play it, but also a deep seated ability to pass on to others the knowledge which he has gained.

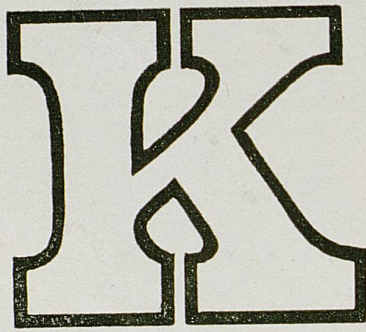

Coach Wynne was called to the University of Kentucky last spring to take supreme command of athletics after a disastrous football season had all but destroyed interest in the gridiron game here. He was selected by the Athletic Council after his record as a player and as a coach had been studied carefully, and after a series of personal interviews had convinced the Council that if anyone could place Kentucky on a high football plane, that man was Chet Wynne.

The Council decided that Kentucky needed an experienced football coach who had already won success at other institutions. Chet Wynne met that requirement. He already had led Creighton to a Missouri Valley Conference championship, and then he took a down-trodden Auburn team which had not won a conference game in several years, piloting the Plainsmen to a championship of the newly-formed Southeastern Conference.

Now Chet Wynne is at Kentucky. He is that quiet mannered gentleman on the bench in civilian clothes. He has a big job on his hands here. Kentucky never has won a conference championship in football. Victories over high class football teams have been few, despite the fact that a gradual improvement has been made in recent years.

It is up to Wynne to build up Kentucky still more, but in order to make a success, he must have the cooperation of students, players, alumni and those lovers of the game who are eager for Kentucky to win. Let's everybody pull together for Wynne and the Wildcats.

Ladies and gentlemen, we give you Chet Wynne.

Greetings
to a
Fighting Team

GOVERNOR RUBY LAFFOON

The Governor of the great Commonwealth of Kentucky has demonstrated his friendship for the University of Kentucky time after time during the stirring period that he has been the State's chief executive.

Not only has he fought for the University and its right to exist as the foremost educational institution of Kentucky, but he also has been one of the University's most loyal supporters in athletics. Hardly a football or basketball game has been played during his administration that he has not honored the Wildcats with his presence to cheer them on to victory.

Governor Laffoon hails from the western part of the state and claims Madisonville as his home town. Before becoming Governor of Kentucky he served for many years as a lawyer and as Circuit Judge of his judicial district.

The University is proud to welcome Governor Laffoon to the football games this season. We hope and believe that his presence will serve to inspire the Wildcats to battle as he has been forced to battle. The world loves a fighter and all Kentucky knows that Governor Laffoon knows how to fight.

RULE CHANGES FOR 1934

The rule changes for 1934 are minor in nature in so far as the spectators are concerned. The principal changes are in the dimensions of the ball, in the forward pass regulations covering an incomplete pass on, above or behind the opponents' goal lines, and some changes in definitions and penalties.

1. The circumference of the ball, short axis, is changed to "not less than 21 1-4 inches." This is a smaller ball than formerly used.

2. "The first forward pass in any series of downs (except on fourth down) which becomes incomplete by striking the ground, a second originally eligible player of the passer's team or any obstruction on, above or behind the opponents' goal line shall be penalized as though it became incomplete in the field of play. Any other forward pass which becomes incomplete in any of these ways on, or above or behind the opponents' goal line, is a touchback."

"Any forward pass which becomes incomplete by striking an ineligible player inside the opponents' 10-yard line may be a touchback if the opponents so elect."

Formerly a forward pass into end zone became a touchback on any down.

This year there is no penalty for an incomplete forward pass, except the loss of a down.

S. A. "DADDY" BOLES
GRADUATE MANAGER

What follower of the Wildcats doesn't know Daddy Boles?

He has been connected with the University of Kentucky as football coach, basketball coach, graduate manager of athletics, gymnasium teacher, programme manager or general major domo for so many years that many believe he is one of the founders of the institution.

No football programme would be complete without him and here he is.

In the ante-bellum days, Daddy Boles wore a moustache and a high-necked sweater. The sweater finally went to pieces. The hirsute facial adornment went out of style. But Daddy goes marching on in his easy-going way, making friends and keeping them.

RIX & CORBIN

Kentucky's Coaching Crew

And now we present the gentlemen of the ensemble.

The man on the left is Head Coach Chet Wynne; in the deep South they call him "The Chetter." He is the boss and there is no dispute about that.

Next we see a big Irishman by the name of Timothy Aloysius Twomey, Ted to you, who has the job of developing the Wildcat linemen. He was a big success as a tackle at Notre Dame only a few years ago, and he displayed his ability to coach linemen at the University of Georgia, where he coached before coming up to Kentucky with Wynne.

The handsome young man next in line is Porter Grant, whose job is to coach the Wildcat ends. He was one of The Chetter's star pupils at Auburn and after his graduation from that Alabama institution he remained to assist Wynne in coaching the Plainsmen.

Next Birkett Lee Pribble, a former Wildcat captain who is head freshman coach. Pribble has two little daughters born on days on which Kentucky's freshmen played Tennessee's freshmen in Lexington. Those were two games Pribble did not see.

The little fellow is Frank Moseley, star quarterback on Alabama teams for the past three seasons. He was poison to the Wildcats at the Capstone and now he is teaching that same poison to the Kitten backfield men.

Ever hear of Bernie Shively? If you haven't then you haven't been in Lexington long. He has been with the Wildcats for eight years and has won a host of friends. Shive was an All-American guard at Illinois and came to Kentucky as assistant 'varsity coach. Chet Wynne retained him on the coaching staff. He helps with the 'varsity and is the freshman line coach.

NAVY DAY

Navy Day was sponsored in the first instance by the Navy League of the United States in 1922. The Navy League is located at 1749 E street, northwest, Washington, D. C.

October 27 was selected because it is the anniversary of the birth of President Theodore Roosevelt, so much of whose life was devoted to establishing a sound naval policy for the United States of America. It will be remembered that President Roosevelt first achieved a national reputation by writing a naval history of the War of 1812, a work of such merit that it was incorporated into Clowe's Royal Navy, a monumental history of the British sea service. Later, as assistant secretary of the navy and finally as President, Roosevelt bent his tremendous energies to impress upon the American people the necessity for an adequate Navy and endeavored through his leadership to realize this ideal.

October is also the month in which the American Navy was founded in 1775 by the Continental Congress.

In addition to paying a deserved tribute to the sea heroes of the nation and recalling the splendid part the Navy has played in making and keeping us a nation, the Navy Day observance has proved a valuable means of fostering a better understanding of the Navy and its work. Such information, in a country where government is by public opinion, is essential to the formation of correct judgments affecting naval policy, and in this work of information the Navy Day observance has played a considerable part.

GOODWIN BROTHERS

Kentucky's Basketball Squad

Kentucky can well afford to be proud of the Wildcats in basketball, especially since genial Adolph Rupp, the carefree Kansan, came to the Blue Grass as commander of the Wildcat basketeers.

Since Coach Rupp came to Kentucky his basketball teams have won 67 games and lost but nine, probably the greatest record held by any university in the country. Most of the games lost were by one or two points.

Kentucky now is recognized as the leader in southern basketball. For three consecutive years the Wildcats have ended the regular playing season at the top of the Southeastern Conference, while for the past two years they have been undefeated in the conference during the regular season, although losing their initial game in the post-season tournament last spring.

Kentucky holds the world's record for consecutive basketball games won by a major university, having won 24 games in a row, beginning in the latter part of the 1932-33 season and ending with the tournament of 1934. The Wildcats won 17 straight games last year and ended the season undefeated, but there had to be an end to the chain and so they lost to Florida in the first game of last spring's tourney. There was no reason for losing but they lost and no Kentucky supporter voiced any disappointment. Most Kentuckians considered the Wildcats as conference champions at the end of the regular season and saw no reason why they should be called on to risk their title in a tournament which finally was won by Alabama, a team which Kentucky whipped twice during the season.

Kentucky won the tournament in 1933.

Out of 20 all-conference players selected in the past four years, 11 of them have been Wildcats, while the All-American teams of 1932 and of 1933 each contained a Kentuckian. Forest "Aggie" Sale, Kentucky's great center, was selected as forward on the All-American team twice, an honor never before conferred on a Kentuckian.

The Wildcats who have been selected on all-conference teams in the past four years were Sale, twice; DeMoisey, twice; Johnson, twice; Yates, Spicer, "Little" McGinnis, Bronston and Davis. Of these great stars only one, Bill Davis, still is a Wildcat.

Now a word about Coach Rupp. A star basketeer at the University of Kansas, Adolph lives and breathes basketball, and he is recognized throughout the country as an authority on the game. He never had coached a college team before coming to Lexington, but had won success coaching the high school team at Freeport, Ill. He not only knows basketball but he also knows boys and how to handle them. The Wildcat basketball players fight for Rupp as they do for Kentucky.
