

Grant, Hawpe, Hawksworth To Head Kernel

William Grant, Winchester, has been named editor-in-chief of the Kentucky Kernel for the 1964-65 school year.

David Hawpe, Louisville, and Gary Hawksworth, Brandenburg, have been named to the Kernel's second and third positions.

Grant, a junior journalism major, is presently serving as a daily news editor. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, the Student Centennial Committee, Student Forum, and the Patterson Literary Society.

Hawpe will serve as executive editor. In this position he will supervise the Kernel's editorial content and layout.

He is a junior journalism major and is presently managing editor of the Kernel. Hawpe is treasurer and president-elect of Sigma Delta Chi and served as publicity chairman for Men's Awards Night. He was the winner of a $100 Hearst Foundation award for editorial writing.

Hawksworth will serve as managing editor. He is a junior journalism major and is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the Arnold Air Society, and the Student Forum.

Previously, the top three positions on the Kernel included the editor, managing editor, and campus editor. This year, however, staff titles have been changed in an attempt to make the title reflect the duties of the individual holding the position.

The new staff will work with the Board of Student Publications to be set up in September. The creation of the board will

LKD Weekend Activities Set; Highlight To Be Faculty Race

By BLITHE RUNSDORF
Assistant Campus Editor

The long awaited moment is finally here! "America's most spectacular college weekend, Little Kentucky Derby," is upon us.

The weekend, while being mainly for fun, has a two-fold purpose; it provides entertainment for participants and spectators while providing money for the LKD scholarship fund.

Activities begin tonight with the Debutante Stakes and queen contest. Last year, the Debutante Stakes, tricycle relay races between teams from women's residence units, was won by Delta Zeta sorority.

Twenty finalists have been selected to participate in the final phase of the queen contest. Each candidate represents one of the combined bike-trike teams and will be presented tonight at the Coliseum during the Debutante Stakes races.

The final elimination judge-

ROTC Department To Initiate Courses In Summer School

This year for the first time the Army ROTC department will offer basic courses in summer school.

Courses to be offered during the summer session include the second semester of freshman ROTC and the first semester of sophomore ROTC. These two courses are not found in the University summer schedule bulletin since the decision to offer them was not made until after the bulletin went to press.

The purpose of offering these two courses is to permit students that have not previously enrolled in Military Science to enter during summer school and then get in the proper cycle by the end of next year. In addition it will enable students who have dropped from the ROTC program to re-enter.

Only one section of each course will be offered this summer. Each section will consist mainly of classroom work with some drill activity.

Captain Arnold is scheduled to instruct the freshman section while Sargeant Jones will instruct the sophomores.

ings will be done between tricycle race heats. Before the announcement of the queen, the winners of the talent phase of the contest will perform.

The queen is selected on the basis of beauty, talent, and poise. Last year's winner was Susan Rhodes, Louisville, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

The evening will end with an all-campus dance sponsored by the men's residence units. The Piastas will provide the music for the dance, held in the Student Center Ballroom from 9:30-1:30.

Associated Women Students is sponsoring penny-a-minute night tonight for all women students. Any woman wishing to use the privilege must pay a penny for each minute she stays out between 1 and 2 a.m.

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity will be defending its two year winning streak in the bicycle races tomorrow afternoon at 1 p.m. in the Sports Center.

The Pikes have a chance of winning the race for the third consecutive year, thereby allowing them to keep the trophy permanently. A rotating trophy is given to each year's winner.

Eleven Win Posts On Y Cabinet

Eleven women have been named to the YWCA Cabinet, the policy making body of the University YWCA.

New cabinet members are: Linda Mitchell, public relations; Martha Varney, membership; Heidi Hanger, freshman programs, and Judy Price, twin sisters.

Dottie Smith, town girls' coordinator; Karen Pugh, international affairs; Diane Ruley, Interfaith Council; and Ardis Hoven, community service.

A number of sub-committees have been established to work with cabinet members.

The four YWCA officers also serve as cabinet members.

There will be six heats run tomorrow with the teams lining up in order of the times they made in the time trials.

First heat: Pi Kappa Alpha (3:11.3); Ibiid (3:38.9); Triangle (3:46.8); Northern Center; Phi Sigma Kappa; and Donovan 4-Front.

Second heat: Sigma Chi (3:25.1); Alpha Tau Omega (3:42.2); Phi Kappa Tau (3:53.7); Northwest Center; Donovan 1-Rear, and Kappa Sigma.

Third heat: Sigma Alpha Epsilon (3:26.2); Haggin C-2 (3:43.5); Donovan 2-Front (3:55.6); Southeast Center; and Sigma Nu.

Fourth heat: Kinked Terrors (3:35.5); Alpha Gamma Rho (3:45.1); FarmHouse (3:57.7); Zeta Beta Tau; and Haggin B-1.

Fifth heat: Phi Gamma Delta (3:36.5); Lambda Chi Alpha (3:45.2); Pershing Rifles (3:58.7); Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Haggin A-1.

Sixth heat: Phi Alpha (3:37.4); Delta Tau Delta (3:45.7); Tau Kappa Epsilon (4:02.7); Kappa Alpha; and Haggin C-4.

Added to this year's list of activities is a faculty race immediately after the bike heats and before the final race.

Sporting faculty members will take one lap around the track with competition on an individual rather than a team basis. Participants will be competing for a costume prize as well as a racing award.

The climax of the weekend will be a two-hour folksinging concert by Peter, Paul, and Mary at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Coliseum.

For the first time the University community colleges will be participating in the weekend activities. Northern, Southeastern, and Northwestern community colleges will be participating in the weekend activities. Northern, Southeastern, and Northwestern community colleges have all sent participants to the two day endurance test.

ID Pictures

ID pictures of students who will be enrolled in the University next year are being taken today in the Lower Lounge of the Student Center.

Today is the last day to have the picture made. If it is not taken at this time it will have to be taken next semester.

AWS Plans Extension Of Women's Hours

The trial plan for the extension of women's hours for the use of study facilities has again been approved by the AWS Senate and House of Representatives.

The experimental program will go into effect for the period immediately before, and during final examination week.

It will begin on Sunday, April 19, and end Thursday, May 7.

For the period, the hours will be extended until 12 midnight from Sunday until Thursday, Friday and Saturday evening hours will remain the same.

At the end of the extended hours period, hours will revert back to what they normally are.

Proposal

Introduction—So that women students may have access to study facilities until library closing hours, the following plan is proposed on an experimental basis:

1. Extended hours until 12 midnight Sunday through Thursday, shall begin the night of Sunday, April 19 and terminate on May 7.

2. The privilege shall be extended to all University women from Sunday through Thursday nights.

3. Each housing unit shall determine its own policy for desk procedure after 10:30 p.m.

4. For reasons of safety it is recommended that each coed have a companion when returning to her residence unit.

5. The housing units will continue to close at 10:30 p.m. on week nights and 11:30 p.m. on Sunday nights.

6. Women residents are not to leave their housing units or enter a housing unit other than their own after regular closing hours.

7. It is to be a trial period. An evaluation of the period will be made at the beginning of the fall semester.

8. Women's hours at the beginning of the fall semester will revert to regular closing hours.

After the evaluation is made, the Senate and House of Representatives will vote on whether or not to continue to extend hours for the period before and during final examination week.

A&S College Abolishes Preregistration For Fall

The College of Arts and Sciences will not have a preregistration program in preparation for the fall semester, the Dean's Office has announced.

Students in the college are urged to consult their advisers before planning their schedules, but the brown program cards will not be needed at fall registration.

A pre-advising program is already under way in the College of Engineering, where it will be completed by May 1, and in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, where it will be completed by April 24.

Pre-advising in the College of Education is scheduled for April 27 through May 1.

Dr. Cecil Carpenter, dean of the College of Commerce, said that no decision had been made about pre-advising in the college. He added that they would decide Friday after consulting the faculty.

Dr. Charles Elton, Dean of Admissions and Registrar, said that the lack of a formal pre-registration program should not hurt the fall registration machinery.

He added it could hurt some individual students, because it would make program planning more an individual responsibility in some cases.

Dr. Elton said that no formal decision had been made as to the method to be used for fall registration.

"We've been making a study comparing the grade point standings under the system used at the last registration, and those under the alphabetical restriction," he said.

"But so far, we haven't seen the results," Dr. Elton said. "But whatever decision we make, instructions will be printed on the student's grade report."

"That means we have to decide pretty soon, so we can program our computers before the end of the semester," he added.

He also said he thought the seniors would be permitted to register this summer with the beginning freshmen, but no definite decision has been made yet.

Sigma Xi Banquet

The Kentucky chapter of the Society of the Sigma Xi will hold its forty-third annual banquet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the large ballroom of the Student Center. Wyatt M. Insko Jr., president of the society, will hold the initiation. A response from new members will be given by Jackie Batson.

The address at the banquet will be "Meeting the Food Needs of the Present and Future World Populations," by Dr. Ralph W. Phillips, director of the International Organization Staff U.S.D.A.

UK Student Writes, Produces Two Plays At Ashland Center

By CAROL TENNESON
Kernel Staff Writer

Scott Nunley, a junior at the University, has written two plays that have been produced at the Ashland Center.

"The City, The Mountain," Nunley's first production, premiered last spring at the Center while he was a student there.

The second play, "Philip Augustus," was produced at the Center this year after Nunley's enrollment at the Lexington campus.

"The City, The Mountain" is a two-act play concerning a small city-state in modern times that has been overrun by the enemy. The play takes place entirely on the mountain, with the people of the country carrying their dead boy-king to his burial on the mountain.

This play received the Grand Prix Award from the "Centerpiece," the Ashland Center's literary magazine.

"Philip Augustus" is the first part of a trilogy of medieval plays showing how France and Germany became enemies and how they attained their positions in Europe today.

This play was produced in four scenes in arenas or theater-in-the-round staging. The production used no scenery, and lighting effects were used in place of props.

Nunley is still working on the two other plays of the trilogy. The second play will concern St. Louis of France, and the third is about Frederick of Germany.

The Appalachia Art Festival will produce "Philip Augustus" again at the Center. Both plays were produced before at the Center by a group of interested students who had no specific dramatic affiliation.

Social Sidelights

By NANCY LOUGHRIDGE

It's here, it starts today, it's spectacular, it's fabulous, it's— Well you know what it is, America's most fabulous college weekend. They call it the Little Kentucky Derby but the only thing this weekend has in common with the renowned Kentucky Derby is a race.

This celebrated event is ballyhooed all year with glittering adjectives and barrels of publicity. What it comes down to is a beauty contest, coeds peddling around the Coliseum on tricycles, a dance, an afternoon of bicycle races featuring college men and a special event for the faculty, all being climaxed with a concert.

According to the posters everyone is mad to go to it all. This is probably true but the best reason to support it is that the money raised goes for scholarships and this is the worthy side of the weekend. One big result of Friday night's fun is that the coeds get lates. This means that the usual witching hour of 1 a.m.

Canterbury

This Sunday night the Rev. Addison Hosea, rector of St. John's Church, Versailles, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Canterbury Association. He will speak on the subject of "Holy Matrimony."

Supper at a cost of 50 cents each will be served at 5:30 p.m.

Everyone is welcome to attend both the supper and lecture, to be held at the Canterbury House on Rose Street.

Correction

The Presidential Review of Army and Air Force ROTC units will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday. In a previous edition it was incorrectly announced as being scheduled for April 11.

is extended till 2 a.m., provided the coed pays a penny for every minute she's out between 1 and 2 a.m.

Word has it that the LKD committee is very pleased over the ticket sales for the concert and this should guarantee pots of money for scholarships.

Tonight there will be the traditional beauty contest which will produce UK's representative in the Miss Kentucky pageant. The selection will be made between tricycle heats and all this will produce a teary eye or two among the seniors who will be remembering the good old days of their first Derby.

Following the Coliseum functions there will be a concert by the Fiestas and a dance in the Ballroom of the Student Center. A really big night don't you think?

Tomorrow is the long awaited event at ole UK: Peter, Paul and Mary. This should be the best concert of the current folk singer series, and a just end to the year of folk music.

Since the weekend will obviously be filled with LKD until it is running out of our ears there are only a few brave souls who will be partying in addition to the regularly scheduled activities.

This afternoon the Sigma Chi's and the KD's will be having a jam session at the Sig house. This should be an enjoyable afternoon since the Sig house has loads of room and a great patio of dancing.

The ZBT's are swinging out tonight at their house but we don't have word as to the type of party it will be.

The TKE's will be having a party at the house after the concert tomorrow.

The Lambda Chi's will be having a record party following the concert. This will probably be a bozy gathering with lots of laughs and fun.

The ZBT's will again be partying after the concert. They seem to have a busy weekend planned.

The KA's will be returning from the Peter, Paul, and Mary winding for a little partying at the house.

Last but certainly not least, to those around the Kernel anyway, will be their big week of activities which started with a banquet for the professional women journalists on Wednesday night, followed by a banquet last night at the Campbell House for the staff and the Journalism School Faculty. The week will be climaxed with a staff picnic tonight in honor of the new staff which is announced in today's Kernel.

Dr. Oswald Explains Publications Board

The need for changes in the organizational structure for student publications at the University has been generally recognized by students and interested faculty alike. The faculty of the School of Journalism has requested that it be relieved of the responsibility for the Kernel and Kentuckian, and the Student Personnel Advisory Committee, at my request, has made a study culminating in a series of recommendations for organizational change in student publications. It has been my observation that the achievement of a free and responsible student press which can be truly representative of the entire campus can best be brought into being by providing a basis for University-wide guidance within which free and responsible editorial action can take place. I believe that the organizational changes for student publications which have been recommended and which the Board of Trustees has recently sanctioned will provide such a basis of guidance.

1. Responsibility for Student Publications:

The responsibility for the campus-wide publications edited by students at the University of Kentucky, specifically the Kernel and the Kentuckian, shall be vested in a Student Publications Board directly responsible to the President. This Board shall have discretionary jurisdiction over all student publications on the University of Kentucky campus. The creation of this Board relieves the faculty of the School of Journalism of all responsibilities for student publications as of the effective date of this change.

2. Composition of the Student Publications Board:

The Student Publications Board will consist of 12 voting members.

- Six (6) student members of the Board will be appointed by the President from a panel of 12 recommended by a committee composed of the president of the Student Congress, the president of the Associated Women Students, the editor-in-chief of the Kernel, the editor of the Kentuckian, the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women. Students interested in serving will make applications and recommendations will be based on qualification for service and interest as judged by the Committee. Application blanks are available in the offices of the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women. Student members of the Board will serve for one year, subject to reappointment.
- Three (3) faculty members of the Board shall be appointed from a panel recommended by the Faculty Council to serve for two-year terms, except for the initial appointments which will be given staggered terms to provide continuity of membership.
- Three (3) members-at-large of the Board shall be appointed by the President for two-year terms. Such members may be drawn from the faculty, administration, alumni, or professional journalists.
- The editor-in-chief of the Kernel and the editor of the Kentuckian shall be ex-officio non-voting members of the Student Publications Board during their tenure in these offices.

- Following initial appointment of the Board, student member vacancies occurring prior to completion of terms will be filled by Presidential appointment from the remaining names on the panel. Applications will be taken annually to fill student members vacancies upon completion of terms, following the same procedures as for initial appointment. The filling of faculty and member-at-large vacancies will follow the same procedures as for initial appointments of such members.
 - The Board officers shall consist of a chairman, and a secretary who shall be elected from the Board membership with terms in office of one year, subject to reelection at the pleasure of the membership of the Board.
- ### 3. The Role of the Student Publications Board:
- Consistent with the general philosophy of providing a free and responsible press on the University of Kentucky campus, the Student Publications Board will be responsible for the development and promulgation of a statement of policy for the guidance of the editorial staffs of the Kernel and the Kentuckian. This statement will deal with both editorial and financial policy of student publications.
 - The Student Publications Board will appoint the editors, advisors, and staffs of the Kernel and the Kentuckian. In appointing the staffs, the student editors shall be consulted.
 - Responsibility for the operation of student publications in conformity with the editorial and financial policies provided by the Board shall rest with the student editorial staffs.
 - The role of the advisor to a publication will be to provide technical assistance and guidance and journalistic counsel.
 - In the enforcement of editorial policy, the Student Publications Board will advise and consult with the student editors, possibly through a special committee of the Board. Its role shall be one of policy formulation and not one of censorship.
 - The chairman of the Student Publications Board will be responsible for the preparation of the separate budgets of the student publications consistent with such administrative directions as may be provided by the Office of the President and shall obtain Board approval of budgets submitted.
 - The Student Publications Board will be responsible to the President of the University and the Board of Trustees and shall report annually to the President or at such shorter intervals as events may require.

Measures Needed To Curb Vandalism

In the supposedly mature, academic atmosphere of a university, a recent upsurge of vandalism seems somehow out of place.

Within the last month and a half, on at least two occasions several persons have been apprehended on Sorority Row parking lots, engaged in that somewhat adolescent pastime of stealing hubcaps!

It would seem that the late-night energy expended in the endeavor could certainly be put to more constructive use, whether the persons involved were University students, or people not connected with the school.

But whatever the identities of the guilty parties, the fact that such things are occurring suggests that campus police protection of the parking areas might be more intensive.

In both instances the police were called by observers. The thefts were not discovered during routine checks of the area. On the last occasion, one intruder drew a gun on the arriving officers. It is not known whether the weapon was loaded, but it certainly created alarm among those who observed the proceedings. If the thefts are to include flourishing a firearm, surely they must be regarded as more than mere pranks, and police protection should be provided accordingly.

All sorority parking areas are fully flood-lighted all night. Cruising police officers with flashlights to use in any shadowy areas could easily discover vandals in the process of car-stripping.

We suggest that an increase in the number of routine checks made of the area each night.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LKD Tickets

To The Editor:

In response to the editorial of April 15, entitled, "Alumni Weekend?" we would like to inform the writer that seats in the entire Coliseum go on sale on a mail-order basis before every concert.

The mail-order request advantage is announced well in advance and everyone, students as well as faculty and alumni, have an equal opportunity to purchase tickets in this manner. This information is included in every advertisement for all concerts sponsored by the Little Kentucky Derby Committee.

As is usual, the best seats go first . . . but only on a first come, first serve basis. It is not the committee's responsibility to make sure that requests from students are handled with any priority over faculty and alumni. In fact, as in past years, the fraternities have requested and received priority in the form of block seats. No such requests have come from any organized alumni or faculty groups.

The last line "the students provide the majority of the entertainment for the weekend, and the one night that they could relax they must accept inferior seats!" is definitely unacceptable! No seats are inferior, and the lack of floor seats is due to lack of space . . . not to discrimination or favoritism.

The few complimentary tickets that are given go to Peter, Paul, and Mary for their personal following, to the Steering Committee, and to radio and television personnel. All other tickets, be they floor seats, or balcony, are sold . . . on a first come, first serve basis!

Circuit Rough For Golfer Devlin

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

A year ago Australian master plumber Bruce Devlin, on his second visit to America for some golf gold, almost went back to Canberra to resume his father's trade. Talk about hungry golfers, Devlin was at top of the list.

Devlin had run out of money after finishing among the also rans at Wilmington, N. C., Greensboro, N. C., Houston and San Antonio. Then came the Waco Turner Open at Burneyville, Okla.

In that event were some of the less fortunate pros while winners were competing in the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions. Devlin tied for the final round lead with fellow Aussies Ted Ball and Bill Dunk, but he shot a 74 and tied for eighth, winning $825, plus $280 in bonuses.

"I went home broke if I had not won $1,105 in Waco Turner's tournament," the handsome 26-year-old Devlin was saying rather forlornly while his pretty wife Gloria, a mother of two tots, was depositing a $3,330 check in her purse. It was first place money for the St. Petersburg Open. Devlin couldn't have picked a better time for his first American victory.

Devlin had won the French Open last summer, which qualified him for the 1964 Masters, and now his wife and young son had spent the better part of a day flying from Australia to California to Florida.

"When I flew in I didn't know where he was staying," Gloria smiled, "but when I got to the Tampa airport Bruce was there to meet us. All I knew was that he shot two good rounds (69-64) and now this."

She had both hands wrapped around her purse which contained proof of a six-stroke victory over a field that included Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros, Dave Ragan, Johnny Pott, Dave Marr and others.

Devlin paid tribute to Nicklaus "for spending an hour on the practice fairway with me." Devlin feels he might still be seeking his first American win but for Nicklaus. Bruce's iron shots were straying from the fairways.

But the real story of Devlin began 11 years ago when he was 15. "Because my father lost his right arm in an auto accident I got the incentive to play golf," says Devlin. "He was a plumber.

"He loved golf so much that he talked more about having to give up golf after the accident than he did about how it would affect his trade.

"I made up my mind I would learn to play so that I could play with him. He couldn't play worth a darn even with two arms—had a 24 handicap. But it meant so much to him.

"When he was able to play left-handed his handicap fell to 14." Devlin worked seven years as a master plumber just to save enough money to come to America and try his golf luck.

The 158-pound, 6-foot-1 Devlin turned pro in 1961 after winning the 1960 Australian Open as an amateur. He made his American debut in the 1962 Masters but with little success, and in several tournaments won a total of only $3,151.

Last year he did much better, starting with the Turner event. He won $5,337, with $1,450 of it coming on a sixth place tie in the St. Paul Open last August.

But now Devlin is at the top of his game. His $3,300 St. Petersburg check raised his 1964 tour earnings for three months to $9,900.

"I don't want to have to go back to plumbing," he told this writer. It also looks like his father has lost a good playing partner.

Two Members Added To Broadcasting Staff

By RICK BAILEY
Kernel Staff Writer

Within the past academic year, the University Department of Radio, Television, and Films has added two new members to its staff. They are Allen MacLeod and Aubrey Malfers.

Mr. MacLeod is the new film supervisor in the department. He received a B.S. and M.A. from Bob Jones University in Greenville, S.C.

While in college, MacLeod served as production manager on several full-length films and television productions. He was previously film director in Toronto, Canada.

MacLeod believes motion pictures are one of the most powerful medias. He added that films can meet more people than professors, and can also be distributed most anywhere, including foreign countries.

The new film supervisor hopes that within two years or so, UK will have a complete motion picture department and will be able to produce feature-length films. He also hopes that the films will be made and produced by UK students and personnel.

Since MacLeod arrived in December, he has added a new editing room and a new console and booth for narrating films.

The department will cover President John W. Oswald's inauguration and plans to produce a University Report. During the centennial celebration next year, MacLeod hopes to premier a color or promotional film on the University.

Another new staff member is Aubrey Malfers, cameraman and laboratory technician, who is working in cinematography. He is also an animation artist and does work for the various departments at UK.

Before coming to UK, Malfers held a position with Commercial

Film Laboratory and Producers in Florida. He was engaged in industrial movie producing and television commercials, as well as animation.

With 27 years of experience in his field, Malfers has also contributed to the American Cinematographer and various other technical and trade journals.

CLOTHES FOR THE COLLEGE MAN

'CHANGING TIMES'

Now is the time for all young men to come to the aid of their summer suit wardrobe. Can you think of a better time than now to take stock and see just where YOU stand? Especially now when all the stores have a bigger and better selection to choose from.

You are bound to notice the many changes that have conspired since last summer; for one thing suits have taken on the much needed and sought after "natural" look. These suits are not lvy by any means, but are naturally shaped. Once a garment made a man look like a big square block or worse, but with the "natural" shape of today, he looks much younger, more suave, and better dressed.

It is true that not every man has or wants the Harvard-Yale-Princeton look, but then he also doesn't want the potato sack look. We may and probably will see many changes take place through the years in men's suits, but to me it hardly seems worthwhile to go beyond the natural shape of today or back to the ridiculous square block of a few seasons ago. I feel we may see the pleated trousers come back, but they definitely will not be baggy! They will have a neat pleat to give them a more natural shape and still make a man look like a man.

At any rate, much has been accomplished and most of it due to the blending of several synthetic fibers. They help a suit retain its shape, remain lighter in weight, and best of all, wear much longer. The colors are brighter and that's a long awaited change for man. A man can now choose the suit that fits HIS personality rather than make him look like everyone else.

The time has also come for the male to wear lighter tones in the evening, rather than the dark drab colors that he was led to believe he should wear from long ago.

The male, like the world is a changing thing and Fashion has to be there to take its place along side today's most aggressive and successful young leaders. And that makes for a happy future—I hope!
