SENIORS WILL DESIGN STEAM LABORATORIES

To Work on Mech. Hall Improvements As Thesis Work

FOLLOW UNIQUE PLAN

Seniors in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering will design new shops, steam and electrical laboratories and laboratories for testing materials, as thesis work, according to an announcement by Dean F. Paul Anderson. This work will begin March 1st and continue until the end of the next semester.

A modern consulting engineer's office will be organized by the twenty-two members of the class, who will design the additions to Mechanical Hall with a view of expediting the work in the event the next Legislature appropriates sufficient money to carry out the plans.

The Newlands bill, now before Congress, providing for engineering laboratories in every State, is expected to accentuate the growth of the engineering schools of the University, and Dean Anderson is making preparations for the expected increase.

Numerous improvements are being planned. The boiler and electric power plants would be placed behind the present building. Plans and specifications will also be made for converting part of the old shops and laboratories into class rooms, drawing rooms and club rooms for the respective classes.

The Seniors will work on a seven-hour schedule, with a time clock and individual cards as in a modern consulting engineer's office. The work will be divided among the twenty-two men in the class.

Altho members of the graduating class in this college have undertaken practical thesis work for several years, this is the first attempt to solve a local problem.

Dean Anderson will supervise the work. Professor A. L. Wilhoite will have direct charge of the steam and power plant work; Professors L. K. Frankel and J. J. Curtis, architectural work; Professors W. E. Freeman and Ray Duncan, electrical designs and specifications. The plans will include complete equipment for instruction in the mechanical and electrical course, and will be arranged so it can be built and installed in sections or as a whole.

TWO CHANGES MADE IN KERNEL STAFF

Eugene Wilson, a Junior in the College of Arts and Science, was chosen business manager of the Kernel to succeed "Sap" Robinson, who has quit college, by the Kernel Board of Control, Monday.

Frederick M. Jackson has been selected a member of the reportorial staff of the Kernel to succeed Byron Bacon Black, who recently resigned.

TENTATIVE PARTS FOR PLAY ARE ANNOUNCED

"The Lion and the Mouse" To Be Produced at Opera House

COMPETITION IS KEEN

Assignment of parts for "The Lion and the Mouse," the play which the Strollers will produce at the Lexington Opera House this spring, was made by Stage Manager John Marsh early in the week, and rehearsals of the first act were held Monday and Tuesday nights at Patterson Hall. According to Mr. Marsh, the material this year is more plentiful and appears more promising than in previous years.

Among those who have had prominent parts in other Stroller plays and who are out this year again are Emery Frazier, Tate Bird, Franklin Corn, Preston Cherry and William Shinnick and Misses Eliza Spurrier, Mary Turner, Nancy Innes and Johnnie Cramer. The remainder of the candidates for parts have not had experience in college dramatics, but all are showing real stuff. The interest is especially keen in the race for Shirley Rossmore, the leading female role, with Mamie Miller Woods, Angela Morancy, Marie Becker and Mildred Taylor working hard.

Rehearsals will continue thru this week and after examinations work will begin in earnest. The manuscripts have arrived and can be had on application immediately to Mr. Marsh.

"The Lion and the Mouse" is a very dramatic play, and will require some real acting on the part of those who make the cast. The stage manager is still on the lookout for good material and urges all Strollers who have not reported for try-outs to do so at once.

The tentative cast as announced follows:

Eudoxia—Eliza Piggott, Emma Holton.

The Rev. Pontifex Deetle—J. M. Land, E. P. Hatter.

Jane Deetle—Vennie Duley, June Sale, Elizabeth Beckner.

Mrs. Rosemore—Eliza Spurrier, Freda Lemon.

Miss Nesbit—Margaret Wilkinson, Marie Collins, Katherine Weakley.

Judge Rosemore—Tate Bird, M. U. Condit, J. W. Lindsay.

Judge Scott—Frank Shinnick, F. O. Mayes, Floyd Swope.

Shirley (the mouse)—Mamie Miller Woods, Angela Morancy, Marie Becker, Mildred Taylor.

Jefferson Ryder—Addison Foster, William Shinnick, Franklin Corn.

Hon. Fitzroy Bagley—William Shinnick, Tilford Wilson, Mortimer Muller, Roy Barnhill, Richard Duncan.

Jenkins—Bart Peak, Charles Corn, Gordon Marsh.

Senator Roberts—Preston Cherry,

NO ISSUE NEXT WEEK

There will be no issue of The Kentucky Kernel next week, because the staff is contemplating deadly battle with a number of profs who have threatened "no quarter," and because the students who ruin their eyes reading the paper will be as busy as the staff is. We believe that the battle will be fought out on its merits, with a fair field and no favor, and it is earnestly to be hoped that when the dim January twilight falls like a curtain of grey velvet over the scene of turmoil the honors will all lie with the students.

DR. THOMAS TALKS TO STUDENTS IN CHAPEL

Speaks on "Kentucky Folklore" Under English Club Auspices

IS COLLECTING DATA

Dr. D. L. Thomas, head of the English Department at Centre College, and secretary of the Kentucky Folklore Society, delivered an address in chapel Friday morning, on "Some Aspects of Kentucky Folklore," with especial emphasis on signs and superstitions in Kentucky. His talk was under the auspices of the English Club.

"Signs and superstitions in Kentucky are gradually dying out," he said. "We, of the Kentucky Folklore Society, think it our duty to make a collection of these sayings as they are a part of the history of our commonwealth." Kentucky is rich in folklore, and, as a result, Dr. Thomas is the possessor of 2,600 separate superstitions. Dr. Thomas informed the students that he would be pleased to have them furnish him with any signs or superstitions with which they were familiar, as he intends publication of his collection.

He has listed his data under the ten following heads, quoting examples of each: Bad Luck Signs; Good Luck Signs; Signs of People Coming; Weather Signs; Superstitions Concerning the Moon; Superstitious Cures; Love and Marriage Signs; Fortune and Wishes; Witches and Hoodoos, and miscellaneous signs. He disproved the fact that superstitions and signs were looked upon as being unworthy of being that of by intelligent people by quoting from men of the highest attainment in prose and poetry.

Maid—Anne Molloy, Lois Powell, Virginia Grey.

Mrs. John Burkett Ryder—Johnnie Cramer, Martha Buckman.

ANNUAL PROMISES TO BE EXCELLENT BOOK

Street Refuses To Divulge Features and Contents of Kentuckian

PROOFS SHOW UP WELL

The 1917 Kentuckian is steadily developing into a full-fledged and authorized annual, which bids fair to be the best ever gotten out by the Senior class. The editor-in-chief, Frank Street, is collecting 'stuff' that he promises will appeal to everyone, but he will reveal nothing specific as to its contents.

When interviewed, however, he carelessly left some pictures on the table before the reporter. These pictures had just been returned from the engraver, and they were finely engraved, testifying of the ability of the engravers to turn out a splendid job. The pictures were football scenes. There was "Doc" Rodes in the act of punting with that famous toe, and Bart Peak and Crutcher taken together, both all dressed up in their football togs. They guaranteed that the football section would be excellent.

There is one thing necessary, however, for the completion of this book extraordinary, and that is all stories and pictures must be handed in to The Kentuckian staff as soon as possible. This is absolutely necessary for the contract with the printers states that on February 15 they are to have in their hands all material necessary for the publication of the 1917 Kentuckian.

This date is earlier than the one required last year for the publication, but the shortage of labor and the increased business of the engravers necessitates an early beginning for a satisfactory publication.

The staff respectfully requests that all snapshots, individual pictures and stories be handed in as soon as possible in order that the year-book may be out on time.

PREMEDICAL SOCIETY POSTPONES MEETING

The meeting of the Premedical Society, which was to be held last Monday evening, was postponed until after examination week on account of the inclemency of the weather. No definite date for the postponed meetings has yet been decided. S. L. Engle, L. T. Rector, L. F. Bush and Dr. J. W. Pryor will deliver brief addresses to the society at its next meeting.

LAFFERTY AND HUTCHCRAFT ATTEND CHICAGO MEETING.

Judge W. T. Lafferty and Professor Reuben Hutchcraft, of the College of Law, attended a meeting of the Associations of American Law Schools, held in Chicago during the Christmas holidays. Forty-five of the leading law schools of the United States were represented at the meeting.

COMMITTEE SUBMITS REPORT ON ATHLETICS

Recommends After Investigation That $2.50 Be Paid

FINDS ACCOUNTS O. K.

The Advisory Committee appointed by the student convention in chapel last Thursday morning has completed its work and turned over to The Kentucky Kernel the reports of its investigation. The report, which recommends that the students give the extra $2.50 asked by the Athletic Committee, is printed below in full. The Kernel does not care to comment on the report, except to say that it seems to be a full and fair discussion of the problem of athletics here at the present time.

The Report in Full.

We, the advisory committee on athletic matters appointed by the student body in mass assemblage Thursday, January 11, 1917, respectfully submit the following report:

We first investigated the books and records of the association to determine whether or not there had been dishonesty or misappropriation of funds. We found signed receipts or canceled checks covering every item listed as expenses in the financial statement issued by the treasurer of the Athletic Committee. This advisory committee further satisfied themselves thoroughly and unanimously that each and every one of these expenses is legitimate and reasonable.

We also traced the sources of income of the association and the amount of the same and are unable to discover any assets or receipts not acknowledged in the financial statement mentioned above.

Our investigation of the unpaid bills has proven that they are real and legitimate.

Furthermore, we were furnished by the treasurer a complete financial statement of the association for the year 1915-1916. We also had access to all of the records of the association since it has been under the guidance of the present faculty members of the Athletic Committee. Our persistent efforts in looking over these records have failed to disclose any trace of dishonesty or misappropriation of funds on the part of any member of the Athletic Committee.

The students having been notified by posted notices and announcements in the local papers, an open meeting was held Tuesday morning, January 16, 1917. Dr. Tigert, Professor Gillis and Earl Grabfelder appeared in behalf of the Athletic Committee. The three assistant football managers, Messrs. Watson, Riley and Granger, were called in and consulted as to the manner of selling and taking tickets at the gate. All of these witnesses were questioned by any member of the committee who desired to do so. All the evidence produced was recorded by a competent stenographer and is available for the inspection of any student who desires to inform himself on this matter. We especially recommend that those interested in the matter read Dr. Tigert's report to this committee. No one came before this committee to offer accusations of dishonesty or misappropriation of funds.

After a thoro investigation there was found, in the opinion of the committee, no mismanagement or extravagance on the part of the Athletic Committee, with the exception of the item of $130 as one-half payment for the services rendered at the Golden Jubilee and Vanderbilt game by Weber's Band. We are convinced, however, that the Athletic Committee in making this appropriation felt justified in that the Jubilee was rendering a great service to the Athletic Association by drawing a large number of people here at that time and that they overlooked the fact that the student band would have answered the purpose as well or better.

According to reasonable estimates on losses resulting from the respective sports, basketball, track, baseball and salaries, which the Athletic Association is obligated by contracts to pay, we find that there will be, at the end of the present year, a deficit of $3,500, which is about $300 less than it was at the beginning of the year. But so far this year there has been spent $1,015.67 in permanent improvements on the athletic field. This shows that under the present system of fees the Athletic Association will have made approximately $1,300 at the end of the present year. We also find that during the year '15-'16 the Athletic Association made $1,636.62, exclusive of the permanent improvements put on the field. This shows that the permanent improvements on the field for the past two years have exceeded the profits of the association by $764.29. We account for the estimated indebtedness of $2,500 as being the old debt of $2,735.71, which was the indebtedness carried at the beginning of the year 1915-'16, plus this excess of $741.04, referred to above.

We deplore the fact that the additional two dollars and one-half can not be taken from the eight dollars that go into the general fund and that the men who have formerly gone security for the needed funds no longer feel justified in renewing these securities, even tho according to their own statements the financial condition of athletics is better than ever before in the history of the University. Yet we feel justified in recommending the payment of the additional fee on account of the fact that the State's appropriation is inadequate for the support and maintenance of the institution.

In order that there can be no further suspicion of those handling the athletic funds we recommend that a representative committee, consisting of one member of each class, be chosen by the student body to count and check the tickets after each game and then to turn over the counted tickets to the seller.

We also recommend that the ticket-takers be furnished with sealed boxes in which to deposit tickets taken in at each game. Members of this representative committee to be the only ones to have access to these boxes.

We recommend that all the income of the Athletic Association be made into budgets for carrying on athletics, these budgets to be made out in the presence of the above representative committee.

In case any part of this budget is exceeded the coach or any member of the Athletic Committee who incurred the over-expense shall be held responsible for the excess unless in the eyes of this representative committee it was unavoidable.

HUTSON WINS APPLE CONTEST FOR JUNIORS

J. B. Hutson, T. L. Wilson and E. M. Johnson made the highest scores in the order named in the Junior Apple-Judging Contest, held last Saturday morning in the gymnasium, according to an announcement by Professor Olney of the Horticulture Department, who had charge of the contest.

J. B. Hutson won the contest with a score of 2113 1-3 out of a possible score of 2400. T. L. Wilson made second place with a score of 2040 and had perfect in identification. E. M. Johnson was third, his score being 1960.

Much interest was shown in the contest which was open only to Juniors in the College of Agriculture, eight competing in the contest for first place which carries with it a prize of $2.50 to the winner.

This contest is held each year during Farmers' Week to arouse interest in apple-judging work on the part of Junior Ags and to enable the instructors to get a line on material available for the apple-judging team next year.

HAROLD STACK AGAIN COMES INTO LIMELIGHT

Former Athletic Director Is "Making Good" at Ohio State

Harold Stack, physical director at the University last year, has entered Ohio State University, where he is distinguishing himself in athletics, but is ineligible to compete in contests because of his being a professional. A Columbus newspaper has the following to say about him:

"Great gobs of gloom! Registered at Ohio State university this year is a 22-year-old hurdler, hailing from Brooklyn, N. Y., who has equalled the world's record for the 70-yard low hurdles, and who has accomplished other feats that stamp him as one of the best hurdlers in the United States. And yet, when this is said and other stories of him have been told, a sort of obituary has been written, for he is if no benefit to Ohio State. He is a professional.

"This youngster is Harold Stack, brother of Eddie Stack, of the Chicago Nationals and former heaver for the Brooklyn Dodgers, and also the brother of two other Stacks of athletic prowess, almost the equal of himself. Stack is a member of the Irish-American A. C. of New York, and a former member of the New York A. C. He came to Ohio State this fall from the University of Kentucky, where he took two years' work preparatory to entering the college of homeopathic medicine at Ohio State.

"Stack has an enviable record, including five firsts, four seconds and one third. In August he equalled the world's record for the 70-yard low hurdles, by making the distance in 9 2-5 seconds, but as it was in an exhibition race, the mark did not stand.

"Stack is a graduate of the Erasmus Hall high school of Brooklyn, where he was a member of the relay team that won the high school championship of New York by running the mile in 3 minutes, 27 4-5 seconds. Another member of the same team was Tom Brush, Princeton halfback. From high school, Stack went to Colby and later entered the University of Kentucky. He was unable to take part in athletics at either place because of his record as a professional.

"Capital university has secured the services of Stack to coach track at that institution while he is in Columbus."

STUDENTS CARRYING PAPERS ARE PRAISED

Students of the University who carry The Lexington Leader and The Lexington Herald are the recipients of praise from J. E. Keller, of Lexington, who had the following letter published in the Herald:

"As a subscriber for the Daily Herald, I desire to say a word for the young students of Kentucky University who deliver the Herald and the Leader. They both are always on time. On Sunday morning promptly at 6 a. m., both papers were on our porch, notwithstanding they had to plough their way thru snow fifteen inches deep for a mile with the mercury four degrees below zero.

"Of such men as these will come our heroes should we get in the great world war."

AG. SOCIETY ELECTIONS SEMESTER OFFICERS

The Agricultural Society met Monday night in the Animal Husbandry Lecture Room of the Agriculture Building in regular session. A program was given and officers were elected for the next semester.

George Gumbert made an interesting talk on "Home School Garden Work in Lexington," in which work he and George Page were engaged last summer.

Earl Mayhew talked on "The Value of Research to the Increase of Agricultural Production," and J. E. McClure gave some "New Year's Resolutions" for the farmer. After the program a business session was called and it was finally and officially decided, for once and for all, that the time of meeting would remain at 7:30. S. J. Stokes, the treasurer, read his report and then the following officers were elected: Gordon B. Nance, president; Russell A. Hunt, vice president; Frances Louise Grant, secretary; C. W. Bennett, treasurer; C. R. Wilkey, corresponding secretary; Floyd W. Potts, sergeant at arms.

PROHIBITORY ORATORICAL CONTEST NEXT MONTH

It was decided to hold the Prohibition Oratorical Contest about the last of February this year in order to give the winner time to prepare for the State contest, which will be held at Georgetown April 13th, at the meeting of the Prohibition Club last Friday. A committee was appointed to fix the exact date of the contest.

There was much discussion at the meeting in regard to asking Dean Miller to add a class to his department which would deal with the social and economic aspects of the liquor question, and a petition to that effect is being circulated. Professor Noe has consented to take the class in case it is added.

The Wise Prof.

"Did your watch stop when it dropped on the floor?" asked a student.

"Certainly," answered the professor. "Did you think it would go through?"

CENTRE-KENTUCKY SCRAP LAST NIGHT

The opening basketball game of the 1917 season was played last night on the gymnasium floor, with Centre College and Kentucky as the opposing teams. Owing to the fact that the Kernel went to press before the game was finished, and in view of the fact that the sport scribe has lost his confidence in his prognosticating powers, we are not announcing the score.

Who set Wednesday night for a basketball game, anyhow? The editor of this well-known sheet says that he was not consulted, otherwise things would have been different.

Maybe Kentucky won and maybe not. The probable line-up was Schrader and Ireland, forwards; Longworth, center, and Rodes and Gumbert, guards. It was Dutch Gumbert's last game on a Kentucky team, as he has secured a pedagogical position in the Western part of the State and will leave immediately after exams.

"LOYALTY" SUBJECT OF CHAPEL DISCUSSION

Chamberlain and Shinnick
Speak at Tuesday
Convocation

PROF. NOE PRESIDES

Chapel exercises last Tuesday were in charge of the University Y. M. C. A., and the subject of the day was "University Loyalty." Professor J. T. C. Noe, head of the Department of Education, presided, and fifteen-minute talks were made by William Shinnick and J. D. V. Chamberlain.

Mr. Shinnick's remarks concerned cheating in examinations. He stated that the reason for cheating was the student's belief that he could not pass, and pointed out that professors do not "flirt out" more than 25 per cent of their classes. No man, he said, could justify cheating on even the grounds of expediency unless he was willing to admit to himself that he was inferior in mental capacity to three-fourths of his classmates. He characterized the cheater as a mental and moral weakling, and urged his hearers to keep out of the class that did these things.

Mr. Chamberlain spoke on "Loyalty." The trouble with conditions at the University, he declared, was due to a lack of respect of the students for the faculty, of the faculty for the students, and the students for each other. "Everybody here thinks somebody else is trying to put something over on him," he said, "and in order to get our college spirit to do things we must make it a co-operative spirit."

In concluding the program, Professor Noe told the students how he regarded cheaters in exams, and said that he had once refused to help a man get a position because he had caught him cheating and he knew that man was not to be trusted at anything.

CURT PARK CONFINED WITH CHICKEN POX

Curtis F. Park, Jr., two-time captain of the Varsity baseball team, giftorian of the Senior class and a young man of great popularity, is confined to his bed in the Phi Delta Theta house with an extremely irritating case of chicken pox. He became ill about the middle of last week but did not take to his bed until several days later. Saturday morning a minion of the law, otherwise a Health Department officer, put the entire Phi Delta membership under quarantine, refusing to allow them either to enter or leave the house. This regulation, however, was later modified.

All Curt's friends are hoping that he will recover immediately after examinations.

PROMOTIONS IN THE BATTALION ARE MADE

Captain John C. Fairfax, commandant of the battalion, has announced the following promotions of officers and non-commissioned officers to fill vacancies: J. G. Stewart, first lieutenant, Company B; L. T. Wheeler, second lieutenant, Company B; A. L. Cole, first sergeant, Company D; H. S. Shouse, first sergeant, Company A; Harvey Stedman, sergeant, Company C; Lyman Chalkley, sergeant, Company B; E. M. Johnson, corporal, Company B, and E. B. Fleming, corporal, Company A.

HIGHWAY ENGINEERING COURSE IS ARRANGED

Speakers of National Reputation To Be On the Program

Final arrangements for the short course in highway engineering have been practically completed and Professor D. V. Terrell, director of the course, is hoping for a record-breaking attendance.

A message from L. W. Page, director of the Public Roads Department of the United States Department of Agriculture, announcing which staff of men will come to the University to deliver lectures, has been received.

Some of the speakers will be the following: W. F. Brooks, "Construction of the Earth Road"; E. W. Jones, "Maintenance of Macadam Roads," and J. T. Voshell, "National Assistance in Road Building."

KENTUCKIAN PHOTOS DUE FEBRUARY 15

It is absolutely essential that all pictures that are to appear in the '17 Kentuckian should be in our hands by February 15 if you expect them to appear in this publication. Up to February 1st we will not be rushed in the Kentuckian office and can assure all organizations and individuals who get their pictures in our hands before that date a class of service that can not be expected by those who wait until the very last day to have their pictures made.

We are absolutely sincere in warning you that you should have your picture made today. So far as we can see there will be not a single day's extension of our time. We are making this notice one month before the book goes to press and if you do not see fit to comply with it we can only express our disappointment and possibly our surprise that the '17 Kentuckian is going to appear without your picture. Both Spengler and Humphrey are offering their usual student rates and are better prepared to serve you now than at any other time. The '17 Kentuckian is the publication of the Senior class and we are expecting that every Senior will have his picture taken. You owe the editors of the Kentuckian this much of your co-operation.

FRANK STREET, Editor.

SPEAKER TO EXPLAIN MAGAZINE METHODS

"Manufacturing and Circulating a Magazine" will be the subject of a lecture to be given this morning in the new Chemistry Building at 11 o'clock by Charles S. Crossman, under the direction of the Bureau of Commercial Economics. Mr. Crossman is sent out from the Washington bureau for extension and educational purposes and the lecture will be presented without admission charge.

The lecture will be illustrated by vivid motion pictures and is intended to acquaint all magazine readers with the workings of a large publication.

During the past year the lecturer has appeared before important educational, civic and business organizations thruout the East and Middle West, where he was received with marked enthusiasm. A graduate of Harvard and an extensive traveler, his lecture will no doubt be of interest to all who hear it.

The film and lecture explain the processes and methods used in the largest publishing plant in America.

SQUAD DRILL MUST BE MADE UP, SAYS CAPTAIN FAIRFAX

The Commandant has asked the Kernel to call attention to the fact that many cadets have failed to make up extra squad drill and said that doubling of the time had gone on to such an extent that it is now impossible for this time to be made up.

He stated that extraordinary means would probably be resorted to, such as taking a man out of class and having him walk off these hours under the personal supervision of the Commandant.

The Suspicious Man.

Behold the suspicious man. He arises early in the morning and goes forth for the day's work. He passes a comrade who gives him the high sign of the morning greeting. He immediately stiffens his vertebrae and curtly returns the word of friendship, for is not that comrade the same who last year voted the Exasperation ticket that kept the suspicious man's favorite candidate from the seat of honor on the P. D. Q. committee? Certainly; therefore he is one to be avoided as much as possible, but nevertheless watched as closely as the law allows. Everybody, even the best friend he has, is likely to "slip something over" if it is to his own advantage. He lives in perpetual hope that he will be able to discover his opponent's intentions and forestall them. The joy of life is not in him; eternal vigilance has driven it out.

The campus of the University of Kentucky is much too liberally sprinkled with men of that type. Suspicion crops out on every proposition; no man is regarded as above the tongue of slander or the imputation of bad motives. Therefore we are in a turmoil from one end of the year till the other. On no question can we get an amount of co-operation necessary to accomplish works commensurate with our real abilities.

The Kernel is not hitting at any one group or any particular propaganda. That is not its mission. It desires only to point out a glaring fault and urge that it be remedied. It can be remedied only by individual effort. The suspicious man suspects others of doing things he knows he would not do himself; if he saw himself in the other fellow's place he would know that he wouldn't do anything wrong. Credit others with a good intention sometime.

The suspicious man is pernicious, because he is destructive; he pulls back where he should push forward. We want constructive work and united effort.

The Kentucky Colonel Says:

It is hard to refrain from pessimism, suh, when a hole appears in one's shoe simultaneously with the falling of the snow, suh.

Now that delinquents have been excused from paying back class dues and the burden has been saddled on the fellows who "came across" at the proper time all that is needed to make University life ideal is a scheme whereby those so desiring may also escape room rent and table-board.

It has been suggested that in the future all lawyers be barred from student mass meetings in order that those who know parliamentary law may be able to conduct said meetings without the usual wrangling and delay.

Our Newest Novel.

Old King Fulobul started to sit down on the regal state chair of Bummerstein. For several days he had been aware that something was in the air, but he could not exactly place his finger on it. But now, strangely enough, he felt at ease, at peace with all the world.

How little we realize what Fate has in store for us. For had not little Prince Ivanitch placed a new electric battery with all the necessary connections in the great chair of state.

The king sat down slowly. He arose much more quickly. He was angry; his innermost sensibilities had been deeply shocked. He shook his old gray head sadly.

"It is true," he said; "there is a power behind the throne."

We wish to congratulate the city of Lexington upon the fact that last Saturday evening nothing was arrested in the village except traffic. Truly a record.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

How to Make a Dress Suit.

First, go to the ten-cent store and buy two Kentucky pennants. Pin these to the rear of any dark-colored coat, taking care to use black pins. Use safety pins if the occasion will require you to sit. An appropriate vest can be made by wearing, wrong side out, any vest with a white lining. Wear dark trousers to match the coat. A pair of cheap rubber overshoes makes an excellent imitation of patent, leather dress shoes when worn over shoes of a dark color.

Some little difficulty may be experienced in contriving an appropriate dress-shirt, collar and tie, but this may be obviated easily by borrowing the last-mentioned three from a friend.

GRADS IN DEMAND.

Six men of this year's class are wanted by the company was the message sent by W. W. Lowe, representative of the Henry L. Doherty Company, brokers, of New York, to Dean F. Paul Anderson. Mr. Lowe met the Seniors in the College of Mechanical Engineering yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and conferred with them regarding their employment by the company.

MAKERS OF HISTORY

J. NEWLAND WATERS.

The list of Senior celebrities would certainly not be complete without at least passing mention of John Newland Waters, formerly of Middletown, and now Beau Brummel extraordinary and baseball player par excellence at the University of Kentucky. Among his classmates he is known as a man who is conscientious in all that he does and who obeys the inner voice rather than the dictum of the world. In other words, he is an independent on every question, and the opinion prevails that if he were nominated by the Democratic party for President he would not hesitate to scratch the Vice Presidential nominee if he felt so inclined.

Waters came to the University in the fall of 1913, after graduating the previous spring as honor man from Manual Training High School, of Louisville. At the city school he was noted as a baseball player, and he has added to his reputation while here. He was a Varsity baseball man through his first three years and bids fair to be a strong cog in the inner works of the Wildcat machine this spring, provided, of course, that the students decide that they want to have athletics.

Our hero did not desert his studious propensities when he left the Falls City. He is one of the best men in Dean Anderson's department, and it is said that his knowledge of boilers and such-like things is almost uncanny. He was taken into Tau Beta Pi, the national engineering fraternity, in his Junior year, which means that his grades placed him in the upper one-fifth of all engineering students. He has been secretary of the Watt Engineering Society and is also a member of the A. I. E. E. and the A. S. M. E. Newland is one of the most indefatigable workers on the campus. Even during his vacations he labors toward the acquirement of engineering learning. Last summer he was assistant construction engineer at the Central Kentucky State Hospital, at Lakeland, and his work there was eminently satisfactory.

But the subject of this morning's little talk has not been too busy to accept a few social and political honors. Last year he was treasurer of the class of 1917 and performed his duties admirably. In addition he was chairman of the program committee for the Junior Prom and a large part of the credit for that successful affair is due to his efforts. Among the ladies he is a lion, not a real raging lion, but a gentle one with gentle intentions. Many a feminine heart, we are told, has beat faster as his graceful little figure, decorated with a cane and a red and green necktie, came blithely down the avenue. He is reported to have been even more attractive before he gave away that toothbrush that he had cultivated assiduously on his upper lip for at least six weeks.

The writer will not presume to say how popular Waters is with the '17 class, but he will say that he has friends in all factions and is one of the really solid men of the class.

MEET OF MUNICIPAL ENGINEERS AT UNIV.

Municipal engineers of Kentucky will meet at the College of Civil Engineering, February 5-10, was the announcement made this week by Dean Walter E. Rowe. The engineers' meeting will be held simultaneously with the short course in highway engineering and many of the lectures will be attended by both sections. The municipal engineers, however, will have several meetings which will be attended by them alone.

Dean Rowe plans to have prominent engineers deliver addresses at the meeting and expects more than 200 county engineers, members of fiscal courts and others interested in highway engineering to be present at the series of conferences. Plans are also being made to organize a State engineering society at the conclusion of the meeting.

HIGH SCHOOL MEN TO DEBATE HERE

All schools desiring to enter the contest may secure a bulletin of some sixty pages on this subject on application to Professor Weaver.

RE-UNION OF FARADAY CLUB IS ANNOUNCED

Members' Many Pranks During College Days Are Recalled

ALL ARE MECH. GRADS.

The Faraday Club, composed of members of the '14 graduating class from the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, will hold a reunion of its members in June, according to a recent announcement.

This club was famous thruout the career of its members as students of the University, for the social activities which the club instigated. The organization will always be remembered by the many pleasant and successful entertainments they gave while in college.

Plans are being made by the club members to have dances and smokers at their reunion, similar to those given by them in their college days. This class was remarkably talented and made an enviable record in their college career, and the members of the faculty of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering are looking forward with great hopes to this reunion.

In their Freshman days this class formed into a social club. They had a 'little organ in the Senior room at Mechanical Hall in their Senior year and the selections rendered by various members of the club on the helpless organ will long be remembered by those who happened to be in the vicinity at the time of the musical concerts.

Tyler Watts, a talented musician in the class with Burkley Hedges as his accompanist, and an obsolete anvil which had been smuggled into the room by a thoughtful member of the club, quite frequently rendered the historic "anvil chorus" on the organ and anvil to the agony of those within earshot.

Blaker, one of the stars of the class, vied with Robert Mantell as a dramatist. Blaker will be remembered, as will also a chap named Townsend, for their impersonation of the fair sex in an entertainment given by this club before the Chicago alumni at the annual banquet given by the latter for the graduating class of the M. & E. College.

The entertainment consisted of a parody on the Mechanical Department and the play proved to be a howling success. Another member of the class worthy of mention, altho we will exclude his name, will be remembered by the strong "anti-suffrage" speech he delivered on the college campus and afterwards the trouble this same speech brought to him.

RURAL COMEDY TO BE PRODUCED IN CHAPEL

Chapel exercises tomorrow morning will be in charge of The Strollers, and in order to make the event as interesting and entertaining as possible, the cast which produced the melodramatic comedy, "How the Ham Saved the Homestead," at The Stroller party last month will repeat the performance. This one-act playlet was written by William Shinnick and has its setting in the rural section of the Blue Grass, near Lexington. The cast includes Nancy Innes, Mary Turner, Emery Frazier, John Marsh, Herbert Graham and William Shinnick. Admission will be free to all, and every student is invited to be present.

PAN-HELLENIC DANCE IS BRILLIANT EVENT

The annual Pan-Hellenic dance, which was given in the ball room of the Phoenix Hotel Friday night, was one of the most brilliant events of the year. The ball room was attractively decorated and dancing was enjoyed until the early morning hours.

McClarty Harbison and Miss Frances Geisel led the grand march. At midnight an elaborate supper was served in the dining room. Hundreds of guests attended the dance, among them being many visitors.

Programs for the dance were little booklet souvenirs in blue and white edged with gold and on the cover were the Greek letters of the fraternities represented. They were tied with blue silk cords and pencils, and on the leaves were the dances, program of music, Pan-Hellenic council and chap-erones.

Receiving were the members of the council, Messrs. McClarty Harbison, Kappa Alpha; Curtis Park, Phi Delta Theta; J. H. Evans, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; H. C. Simpson, Sigma Chi; B. N. LIBRARY CLUB WILL ANSWER LIT. QUESTIONS

Box To Be Placed In Library As Receptacle For Them

A box has been placed in the Library by the Library Club, where all questions on literary subjects are to be placed. These questions will be answered by the club at its regular meetings. The questions and answers will then be published in The Kernel.

At the meeting of the Library Club last week, a Christmas program was observed. Misses Minnie Neville and Mary Ricketts gave interesting talks. The next meeting will be held January 31.

PHILOSOPHIAN MEETS

The Philosophian Literary Society held its regular meeting Wednesday January 10, at Patterson Hall. Professor E. F. Farquhar, who was to speak at the meeting, was unable to fill his engagement, so an impromptu program was arranged.

Last night, Judge Henry S. Barker addressed the society. After his talk election of officers for the second term was held.

STAFF AND CROWN

The Staff and Crown, the only honorary society in the University for women, was established in 1913, and has for its purpose the promotion of higher scholarship in particular and the recognition of college activity in general.

Members are selected after the first term of each year from the Junior class. No girl is considered who is not a Junior in good standing and who has had more than one condition.

It is hoped that from time to time a recollection of these standards will stimulate every woman in the University to do better work and to take a more active interest in all University affairs.

MORTON H. S. GRADS. FORM ALUMNI CLUB

Graduates of Morton High School, who are enrolled in the University, have organized a "High School Alumni Club," the purpose of which is to promote thru college the friendships and associations formed in high school. The annual election of officers held at the first meeting last week resulted as follows: Headley Shouse, president; Miss Nancy Innes, vice president; Miss Dorothy Middleton, secretary, and Harry Milward, treasurer.

At the first meeting, committees were appointed to make a constitution and draw up by-laws. Membership in the club is open to all students in the University who ever attended the high school in Lexington, and they are especially urged to become identified with the organization. The next meeting will be held in chapel this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The organization will have its picture in the Kentuckian, and also intends to give a dance before the end of the year.

DR. FORTUNE SPEAKER AT Y. W. C. A. MEETING

"In order to deepen life's channels one must have good friends, have great interest and friendship with the great souls of good books, one must love his fellowman and lastly, one must have that strong union with the Father which is essential to the finest life," said Dr. Fortune in his talk Sunday night to the Y. W. C. A. at Patterson Hall. After the address, the girls felt that the greatest thing in life was, perhaps, this deepening of the channels.

Special music was rendered by the choir, of which Miss Helen Burkholder is leader and added an extra touch to the otherwise splendid meeting.

Next Sunday night will be given over to a program on "Honor," and it is hoped that every girl will be present as it is thought that this will be a very appropriate subject at this time.

WOMAN'S CLUB ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. George Roberts and Mrs. E. L. Gillis were hostesses at the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Club of the University, which was held at the former's home in Transylvania Park, Friday afternoon. Mrs. F. Paul Anderson, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. M. L. Pence. The regular routine business was transacted, after which a social hour was enjoyed.

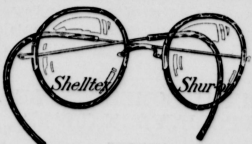

The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Roberts' daughters, Misses Helen Porter and Katherine Roberts. Those present were Mrs. W. T. Lafferty, Mrs. C. J. Norwood, Mrs. L. K. Frankel, Mrs. T. T. Jones, Mrs. L. A. Brown, Mrs. W. S. Webb, Mrs. J. J. Curtis, Mrs. Paul Anderson, Mrs. W. S. Anderson, Mrs. C. W. Mathews, Mrs. S. B. Averitt, Mrs. Edward Tutthill, Mrs. A. C. Zembrod, Mrs. E. F. The meeting for February will be with Mrs. F. E. Tuttle and Mrs. Clarence Mathews at the home of Mrs. Mathews.
