

Green Room Used As Campus Rendezvous

Students Relax In Green Room

By BOB FRASER
A little known but exclusive campus rendezvous, one whose habitues share a mutual interest in the theater, is the Green Room of the Guignol Theatre in the Fine Arts Building.

Its frequenters consist mostly of English and drama students and others who like to talk about and work with the theater. The Green Room crowd is both inconspicuous and exclusive.

"The Green Room is a place to relax and talk to people who know something about the theater," John Pritchard, commerce senior, explained. "It is a place where you don't have to study, and where you can find someone to play bridge," he said.

Being an off-hour meeting place, however, is simply an extracurricular purpose served by Guignol's Green Room. It is in this room that the "On-stage" cue is awaited by tense, over-anxious students before making their first appearance in a play.

Most college theaters have a Green Room. Large theaters also have such a room, but it is often called by another name.

Before going any further let's explain first what the Green Room is and where it originated.

In about 1916 Walter Pierce Baker, a professor at Harvard had a drama workshop which stressed every aspect of the theater in its work.

The Green Room originated, here as a meeting place for friends of the actors before and after performances, and a place

SP Primary Election Will Be Held Friday

By MIKE WENNINGER
Kernel Staff Writer

The Students Party will hold a primary election Friday to determine its candidates for the general election of Student Congress representatives on Dec. 16.

"Primary elections will be held only in the College of Arts and Sciences and in the College of Education," said Bob Wainscott, chairman of the Students Party, "because only one person signed up to run in the primary elections in each of the other colleges."

Tom Cherry and John Fitzwater are seeking a primary victory in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Cherry has a 2.8 standing, is presently Lambda Chi Alpha's representative to SC, adviser to the Freshman YMCA, and a member of the YMCA Cabinet and the University Chorus.

Fitzwater, a junior journalism major, has a 2.7 standing, is a Kernel sportswriter, belongs to the Arnold Air Society, and is a Kappa Sigma pledge.

In the College of Education, four girls are running in the primary election. They are:

Judy Ballard, an elementary education major, who has a 3.0 standing, and is a member of the Student Union Board, the Philosophy Club, and Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Paula Judd, who has a 2.6 standing, and is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, Newman Club, FTA, Women's Athletic Association, and the Young Democrats Club.

Linda Coffman, personnel chairman of the Student Union Board, a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, and the National Students Education Association.

Ann Piper, who has a 3.2 standing, and is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, Cwens, and the University Chorus.

Students in the College of Education will vote in the Taylor Education Building. A table will be set up in front of the Journalism Building where students in the College of Arts and Sciences may vote.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Only students with ID cards will be allowed to vote.

Campus Party is not having a primary election this semester.

John Belfuss, chairman of the Campus Party, said "We feel there is not a real need for a primary election in our party; also, we feel

Work On Dental Wing Will Start In 60 Days

Construction for the dental wing of the Medical Center will begin in approximately 60 days.

Dr. Frank D. Peterson, vice president of business administration, announced today that Foster & Creighton Co., Nashville, was awarded the contract with a low bid of $2,254,000.

Orders for the materials for the wing will begin immediately. The new wing should take about 16 months to complete.

The bid is well within the expected cost of the building and will cause no financial difficulties to delay the building according to Richard D. Wittrop, administrator of the University Hospital.

A grant of $599,477, received by the state earlier this month from the office of the United States Surgeon General, will help pay for the dental wing.

The new dental school will have facilities for training dental hygienists and students in other phases of dentistry. It will also have facilities for practicing dentists doing postgraduate work, and space for research in dental science.

Hanging Of Greens Is Set For Dec. 9

The Hanging of the Greens, UK's annual Christmas pageant, will be presented this year with the addition of a new script and a church organ.

The program will be presented in the Great Hall of the SUB at 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., Dec. 9.

The Pageant has been a tradition at the University for over 20 years, and is co-sponsored by the student Union Board, the YMCA, the YWCA, and Student Congress. The committee in charge of the program is headed by Philip Cox and Henretta Johnson.

Music for the pageant will be provided by a group of carolers dressed in old English costumes and by the men and women's glee club directed by Arnold Kiviniemi, associate professor of music, and Miss Phyllis Jenness, instructor in music.

A harp prelude will be played by Miss Paula Choate. Cwens, sophomore women's leadership society, will serve as ushers.

The four sponsoring organizations will be represented by speeches given by student members of the organizations.

The Student Union Board will be represented by Judy Schrim, YMCA by Tom Cherry, YWCA by Henretta Johnson, and the Student Congress by Taylor Jones.

The hanging of the greens will follow the speeches and will be done by the following people: Gae Good, Fay Stephenson, Jane Petty, Garryl Sipple, Linda Coffman.

Jan Riley, Kathy Songster, Kay Evans, Myra Tobin, Cliff Zeff, Glenn Goebel, Melissa Brown, Bob Smith, Alice Ford, Lessley Decker, Diane Vittetow, and Jo Moyer Treadway.

Rehearsals for the Hanging of the Greens will be held in the Great Hall, at 4 p.m. Monday.

Med Library Staff Begins Move Today

Medical Library personnel are moving today into their new permanent quarters in the Medical Sciences Building at UK's Albert B. Chandler Medical Center.

"As of Thursday, we will be operating from the Medical Center," Alfred N. Brandon, head of the Medical Library, said Monday. "Our service to the public will not be interrupted during the move."

Today's move involves only personnel, equipment, and office supplies. Books and other materials will be moved starting Dec. 7. About 50 shelves of books and journals will be moved a day, Brandon estimates it will take eight weeks to move all the books.

They are now stored in the M & O Building, in Cooperstown, and in the basement of the Margaret I. King library, where the Medical Library has had its offices for the past two years.

Brandon and Jess A. Martin, assistant medical librarian, are supervising the move.

The library is the first service to move into the Medical Sciences Building, which is nearing completion. The library's offices are on the first floor of the building; its stacks are on the ground floor.

Equipment for the reading rooms has not been installed yet. Brandon expects the library to be completely equipped by the end of January.

A program to develop the library's book collection began in November, 1957. Brandon said it will continue to be developed for two and a half years, and by then he hopes to have 70,000 to 75,000 volumes in it.

The library is getting its books through purchases, gifts, exchanges with other libraries, and transfers from UK departmental libraries.

When asked how he thought the completed Medical Library will compare with other such libraries in America, Brandon said "I definitely feel that it will rate among the top third of the medical school libraries in the country."

Dispute Over Holiday Unwise, Survey Of Students Reveals

Both the UK Faculty and student body acted unwise in their respective actions taken concerning the state holiday declared by Gov. A. B. Chandler.

This was the opinion expressed by friends, neighbors, and parents of UK students enrolled in Economics 51-7.

Dr. L. H. Carter, professor of economics, requested that students in this class to ask two questions of people in their hometown in order to gain a cross section of public opinion.

The questions were "What was the opinion of the Thanksgiving holiday situation in your home community?" and "Do people in your community know the difference between the faculty of the University and the University Faculty?"

Thirty of the 44 who replied to the second question believed that the people of the community were unaware of the difference between the two groups. One person thought that every faculty member voted in the decision.

Dr. Carter said he told the students to hand in the replies without identification so they would feel free in recording what their friends said.

One student's family expressed the opinion that the students were right in wanting a holiday so the University could preserve her tradition. However, they did not approve of the methods the students used.

Another student said most of the people he talked to agreed that the student body should have gotten Wednesday off, if not because of tradition, because of the dangers involved on the highways in the holiday rush.

A third student stated that many of the people he talked with thought the students should have honored the Faculty's decision, but the Faculty should have supported the Governor's decision proclaiming Wednesday a holiday. One person said the students had the right and should complain.

The general opinion expressed by the people interviewed by students was that Governor Chandler, President Dickey and the University Faculty should have discussed the matter and reached an agreement before issuing a statement concerning the holiday.

UK Hampshire Swine Wins Championship

UK's entry in the Hampshire swine competition at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago was awarded the grand championship Tuesday.

UK Hampshire swine placed first and second in the middle-weight barrow class, third in the lightweight barrow class, and sixth and eighth in the heavyweight barrow class.

As of Tuesday, UK was leading all colleges in championships at the Exposition. UK had the champion pen of Berkshire barrows, champion Hampshire wether, and the reserve champion Shorthorn steer.

UK did not auction its champion steer because the animal will be exhibited in the National Western Show at Denver soon. The steer will be returned to the University farm Saturday.

A UK team, coached by Dr. James D. Kemp, UK meat specialist, took part in the intercollegiate meat judging contest Tuesday. They competed with 26 agricultural colleges and universities from throughout the nation.

The dairy cattle judging team placed second in the International Contest.

Roger Woeste was third highest individual in the contest. He was first in Holstein judging and second in Brown Swiss.

Carl Caudill ranked eighth in all breeds and third in judging Hampshires.

Glenn Goebel was ninth in judging all breeds. Stewart Berryman was the alternate.

The team is coached by Dr. Robert Walton, assistant professor of dairying.

Strache To Attend YMCA Meet

UK's YMCA secretary Fred Strache will leave to attend the December meeting of the Board of Directors of the Southern Area Council of YWCA's tonight.

The meeting will be held at the Atlantic YMCA in Atlanta, Ga.

Strache was elected president of the 57-member Southern Area Student Council of YMCA's last February, and by virtue of this office is a member of the board of directors.

He was also appointed to the Campus Work Committee.

Strache will return to UK sometime Saturday night.

Talk, Relaxation Offered In Guignol's Green Room

in which to wait for cues, or just have "bull sessions."

The Green Room is usually located to the extreme left or right under the stage area so that actors may listen for their cues.

The color of the Green Room seems to be of no particular significance, except that it was the color of the Harvard workshop where the room originated.

At UK the Green Room serves the same purposes as the Green Room of the Harvard workshop. It is painted in various shades of green and has comfortable chairs and even a bridge table.

As might have been the intended, the Guignol Green Room is the center of all theater activities. Off it are the dressing rooms, costume storage rooms, makeup rooms, and property storage rooms. From the Green Room one can get to the prompters box, and to the stage.

But during off hours the Green Room serves as a meeting place where one can almost always see a bridge game in session, homework being done, discussions on poetry, plays, art, sports, politics, and many other subjects.

You might find someone taking a nap or pacing the floor trying to memorize lines for a play. Not to be forgotten, the romantic aspects of college life may also be found here.

Basic Research Program Suggested For Business

A program of basic research at UK for business and industrial development was suggested Wednesday at a meeting of University and Kentucky Chamber of Commerce officials.

Dr. Merl Baker, director of University research and industrial relations, explained that the Kentucky Research Foundation, of which he is director, is a non-profit corporation operating as an agent of the University.

Dr. Baker said he believed UK staff members could do more to help Kentucky business and industry if they knew that research is needed.

"Surveys and other types of research are being adequately done by the Kentucky Department of Economic Development," he explained, but "the abilities of qualified men may be utilized in a program to further stimulate the economic growth of Kentucky." Research done by "competent University professors usually is accepted by all interested persons and agencies," he explained.

Dr. Baker pointed out the proposed program is intended "to supplement, not to compete with, the work of the State Department of Economic Development."

SP Primary Election Judge Voids ADPi Contestant Leads UK Bequest In Christmas Seal Contest

that a primary election is too costly."

The Campus Party held its nominating convention Wednesday afternoon in the SUB, and nominated the following candidates for representatives to Student Congress from their respective colleges:

Ken Martin, Farmhouse, Agriculture and Home Economics; Charlie English, Law; Monroe Hall, Kappa Alpha, Graduate; Debbie Daniels, Chi Omega, Education.

Joann Stewart, Zeta Tau Alpha, Arts and Sciences; and Henry Bennett, Triangle, and Ron Henderson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, both in the College of Engineering.

Two students were unopposed in the nominations for the Students Party primary election and thus were automatically made candidates for the general election.

They are Bill Gott, Engineering, and Bob Smith, Agriculture, both members of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Bob Wainscott, chairman of the Students Party, said there were no applicants from the Colleges of Commerce and Law to run in the primary election.

"Applications will be taken from interested persons in those colleges until next Wednesday, and then the central committee of the SP will select the candidates for the general election," said Wainscott.

Bequests of more than $100,000 to UK and the Louisville Board of Education were voided yesterday at Louisville by Circuit Judge Stuart E. Lempe.

Miss Lisette Hast of Louisville, who died Dec. 12, 1958, left $100,000 which was her interest in her grandfather's estate, to UK. Judge Lempe ruled Miss Hast did not have a vested interest in the estate, thus the will was voided.

UK intended to use the money for the protection of native trees and cultivation of soil in Kentucky.

Jackie Kleponis, Alpha Delta Pi entrant in the "Miss Christmas Seal" contest, is leading the other contestants by 68 votes.

The contest, sponsored by the Lexington-Fayette County Tuberculosis Association is in its third week.

In second place is Ethelee Davidson, Kappa Alpha Theta. Sue McCauley, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Linda Coffman, Alpha Gamma Delta, are tied for third place. Second and third place contestants are separated by one vote.

Other contestants, in their respective positions, are Ann Shaver, Delta Delta Delta; Debby Daniel, Chi Omega; Jean Lovern, Kappa Delta; Katherine Benton, Alpha Xi Delta; Pat Schultz, Zeta Tau Alpha; and Noel Rohyans, Delta Zeta.

A representative of the local TB association said response to the campaign has been very good, and that it is far too early to determine the outcome of the contest.

W. W. McLendon, executive director of the association, said "I would like to make it clear that any contestant can easily win the contest because so few votes separate them."

"The continued interest of students at UK gives them the opportunity to select their choice in the contest, and at the same time contribute to the fight against tuberculosis."

UK Students Placed Under Peace Bond

Six UK students were found guilty of breach of peace and placed under $100 surety bonds to keep the peace, Tuesday in Lexington Police Court.

The bonds were posted at 11 a.m. Wednesday by Leslie L. Martin, dean of men.

Dean Martin said the $18 in damages claimed by a city police officer would also be paid by the students. Detective Sgt. Joseph M. Brown testified at the trial that Dave F. Gause attacked him, causing him to lose his hat.

The charge against Gause was heard and filed away, but Dean Martin said the students would be required to settle the officer's claim.

Students convicted were: Grause, 18, Ft. Thomas; Larry W. Grause, 19, Ft. Thomas; Fred A. Schultz, 20, of 459 Huguelet Drive; James A. Collins, 18, Bowman Hall; Roy E. Potter, 18, of 419 Huguelet Drive; and William L. Marshall, 19, of 356 Cochran Drive.

New Stylus Issue To Be Sold Today

The fall issue of Stylus, campus literary magazine, goes on sale today, Parker Sams, editor, said yesterday.

The new issue features student poetry, fiction, an essay, and reproductions of student art. Commentary on the poetry by Dr. G. T. Wright, English Department, is also included.

A new feature with the next issue is a "news notes" page, giving information on former Stylus contributors who have had further literary success.

Copies are available at the Campus Book Store, the English Department office on the second floor of McVey Hall, or from any student editor.

Government OK Needed For UK Bomb Shelter

No word has been received from the federal government concerning UK's agreement to the construction of a bomb shelter at Maxwell Place, President Frank G. Dickey's home, according to Vice President Frank D. Peterson.

Peterson said that the federal government has proposed the building of a bomb shelter in each state with the object of stimulating interest of the people in the state in civil defense.

UK agreed to a proposal by state authorities of the Civil Defense Administration that a shelter be built at President Dickey's home.

The shelters generally cost about $1,500 and protect from 6 to 8 people against the fallout of an atomic attack, according to Peterson.

About Homecoming

Having been informed that the University's Homecoming traditions have been declining over the years, we were not too shocked when the announcement was made that Student Congress will lose at least $600 from the annual Homecoming dance. It might well have a deficit of possibly a hundred or so more.

The failure of the dance, however, merely emphasizes only one of the basic weaknesses in the University system. We simply have a horde of student organizations, and none of them is well organized enough to provide superior entertainment for the campus.

Ideally, Homecoming should be the most impressive weekend on campus for students, who have every right to expect a top-name band for the dance in a university the size of UK. This year, however, the combination of a lesser known band with students seeking better entertainment resulted in the financial setback.

A similar situation exists with other campus organizations. There is not enough unity among them so that better campus-wide social programs can be planned. The organizations themselves do not have the money nor time to devote to attracting top-notch entertainment.

Perhaps a committee, selected from all campus organizations by Student Congress, could be established to set up at least one or two campus-wide social events every year. A worthwhile dance or two would bring students in droves, and prevent embarrassing losses.

Needed: Stack Permits

One of the most disgusting situations at this institution of higher learning is the inaccessibility of the Margaret I. King Library.

If there is anything at a university which must be available to students at almost any time, it is the library.

Our lament is not that the library is not open enough, but that when it is open its full facilities cannot always be utilized.

Sunday nights when the stacks should be open to students who desire to enter them or check out books stored in the stacks they are, distressingly, locked up tight. Even worse, there are no provisions made to enable students to check out books on Sunday.

We realize there is ample time afforded during the rest of the week for students to do research and check out stacked books, but there is a quirk of human nature which causes people to put off until tomorrow what can be done today. For this reason many students find themselves having work on Monday assignments Sunday night.

Instead of expecting these students to readjust their habits to meet the library's schedule, it would be much more realistic to adjust the library's schedule to accommodate students who want to use it.

Too Wet To Plow

To The Editor:

It was indeed saddening to read of the decline of parades, May Day festivities, etc. at your school over the past decade or so.

Let us be truly thankful that the writer of this esteemed article did not research the material thoroughly. Let us rejoice in our heart of hearts that the origin of the May pole dance was not dwelt upon.

A pall of sadness must surely have overshadowed the entire campus had the author been inclined to reminisce upon the manner in which our Anglo-Saxon forebearers celebrated the arrival of spring. The University's entire 57 acres would indeed be too wet to plow.

HERBERT RADEMAN

More About Mobs

To The Editor:

Your condemnation of the mob act by the crowd that disgraced the University last week deserves the appreciation of decent-minded people.

We need more student leaders, community leaders, and editors (you are all three) who have the guts and foresight to take the stand you did and to let the world know about it. If such actions are not opposed, the selfish leaders of organized groups, hoodlums, and others who have no respect for authority, will destroy our freedom.

I am sorry for the appeasement that was made, but anyway, more power to you, and congratulations on a good editorial.

I noticed recently a letter concerning the rudeness of UK coeds in general. The other day, while I was joyfully holding my place in the Stu-Union cafeteria line, a couple of overly made-up coeds stepped in front of me as if they owned the line. How rude can you get?

Paris--Exotic And Gay

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This article was written by Don Mills, who attended the University of Edinburgh in Scotland last year and toured Russia and Europe.)

Paris is a unique city—varied in magnetic attractions from art and beauty to politics to a most alluring night life. One might say, "Paris has everything."

Lovely Paris with its dazzling views centered around the Champs-Elysees Avenue and the Seine River is most famous for the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe, the Louvre, and the beautiful Notre Dame Cathedral.

Originally a royal palace, the Louvre contains a priceless collection of art and paintings including the Venus de Milo and the Victoire de Samothrace—unequaled by any other museum in the world. Since painting is so common in Paris, painters lining the banks of the Seine go unnoticed by passersby.

The eight-lane avenue of the Champs-Elysees is one of 12 streets radiating from the Arc de Triomphe, a great monument to commemorate the victories of France. Under the Arc lies the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and in front, burns an "eternal flame" which has, however, been extinguished several times.

Walking away from the Arc down the Champs-Elysees one will see buildings lined on either side with numerous sidewalk cafes, movie houses, and smart shops with expensive price tags. The beautiful mile-long avenue, orderly lined with trees, is the center of the elegant, cosmopolitan society. At one movie hundreds waited in line almost completely blocking the wide walk to see Brigitte Bardot in action!

A normal American male can not help but notice the attractive French girls. What the ladies lack in beauty, they have the skill to overcome with several devices.

Exotic hair styles, nice clothes with contrasting colors, high heels, poise, and dignity are their chief weapons. The Parisian girls are very particular about the little details—the straightness of a stocking seam, a showing slip, or the fingernails.

Upon our arrival, it was most interesting to read in a newspaper that the Municipal Council of Paris devoted its meeting the preceding night discussing two of the city's major problems—the excess number of pigeons and young women in highheeled slippers loitering on the main streets. The report said both had left their "mark" on the French capital.

It was pointed out, however, that the pigeons are protected by kindhearted Parisians and the young women by French law which protects personal liberties and makes it impossible to arrest women for looking attractive while leaning against lamp posts.

Meanwhile, the cooing of pigeons and the clackety-click of high heels are still heard on the Champs-Elysees.

A trip to Paris wouldn't be complete without a look at the night life. Special guided tours of the clubs are conducted for tourists or one can go it alone. Which ever way, one can be assured that the night will be most expensive!

Most entertainment is found on the Champs-Elysees or in a section known as Pigalle. The Lido, which proudly boasts itself as the most famous night club in the world, and located only a few hundred yards from the Arch de Triomphe on the Champs-Elysees, has no admission charge for two hour show. But a dinner with champagne is $61.50! The Moulin Rouge in Pigalle has a cover charge of only $1 but a table and a bottle of champagne are $10.

At both cabarets it is necessary to order either a coffee, a beer, or a cocktail even if you prefer to stand and watch the show rather than sit at one of the expensive tables. This is the "best bargain," but a coffee costs $4 at the Lido and $1.75 at the Moulin Rouge and it gets pretty cold before the two-hour presentation is over.

UK Helped By Pacts With Small Islands

Musicale Series Schedules Karp Recital For Sunday

Islands less than one-fourth the size of the United States are of great importance to UK.

These islands, better known as Indonesia, have not only provided benefits for UK, but also for the United States, and for themselves.

Through the Indonesian Project sponsored by the Department of State, UK is rendering a national service. It has also gained for its professors a broader educational experience through the interchange.

The United States is helping a rapidly developing country help herself by assistance in higher education. This type of aid is readily approved by foreign countries as opposed to material giveaway programs.

UK has two contracts with Indonesia. The Bogor contract in agriculture will be extended for three more years, and the Bandung contract will be extended an additional four years.

Since July 1956, the Bandung contract has had an expenditure of $1,180,338 with a projected expenditure through 1961 of $2,665,063. The Bogor contract from July 1957 through June 1959 has spent $704,562, with an expected 1961 expenditure of $2,064,668.

Of the four schools that have contracts with Indonesia, UK's two contracts are the largest. The other schools in Indonesia are Indiana University, UCLA, and the University of California Medical School.

Four professors have returned to UK this year from Indonesia. They are Dr. Roger W. Barbour, zoology; Dr. E. M. Hammaker, chemistry; Mr. Boyd Wheeler, agriculture; and Mrs. Doris Wheeler, home economics.

Professors which have left the campus this fall for Indonesia are Mr. Frank Boxall, electrical engineering; Mr. Joseph Lintz, paleontology; Mr. Gilbert Church, zoology; and Mr. T. C. Schwan, chemistry.

UK Debate Team Attends Classic

The UK debate team will leave for Winston Salem, N. C. today to participate in the Dixie Classic at Wake Forest.

Sharon Chenault and Tex Fitzgerald will debate the affirmative for UK, and Gary Wright and Deno Curris will debate the negative.

The question is, "Resolved: That Congress should be given power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court."

UK won the meet last year.

The University Musicale Series will present pianist Howard Karp in a recital at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Hall.

Karp will be assisted by his wife, Frances Karp, in a duo piano composition, Sonata in F minor by Brahms.

Other selections on the program include Sonata in D major, OP. 53, by Schubert, Mozart's Adagio in B minor, Rondo in D major, and Gigue in G major.

Karp, assistant professor of music here, holds a bachelor or music degree from Oberlin College and did graduate work at the Julliard School in New York. He joined the UK faculty in 1954 and has presented concerts in this area every year.

Mrs. Karp received her Bachelor and Master of Music degrees at Oberlin, and the couple first played together in New York City in 1952. Since then they have played together in concerts in New York City, Washington and California before coming to Kentucky.

Applications Being Taken For Lances

Nominations for memberships in Lances, junior men's honorary and leadership fraternity, must be brought to Room 206 of the SUB by 7 p.m., Dec. 10.

The nominations must be in the form of letters of application.

Candidates for nominations must be classified as a second semester sophomore or a first semester junior, must have a cumulative standing of at least 2.5, and must have eight or more activity points as based on the Lances point system.

In the letter of application, points given for each activity as outlined in the Point System Booklet should be itemized and totaled.

Point books may be obtained from Bob Gray, Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Spence Says

By
Newton Spencer

Kentucky's football record was mediocre, but the season certainly wasn't dull.

Rehashing the season, this writer saw these events as the high and low points of the year for UK:

Most exciting game—Georgia Tech. Kentucky staged an exciting last half comeback, but fell short 14-12.

Best team performance—Tennessee game when UK could do no wrong and won with a brilliant display of slashing football.

Worst team performance—Auburn game.

Best UK lineman—Lloyd Hodge, brilliant in defeat and victory.

Best back—Calvin Bird, who managed to play good football, even though he was a marked man all year.

Biggest disappointment—Quarterbacks who, hampered by injuries, failed to come through.

Best individual performances—Bird's three touchdowns against Tennessee and Lowell Hughes's second-half play against Georgia Tech.

Most controversial play—UK's failure to attempt a field goal in the last minute of the Georgia Tech game.

Best sophomore—Irvin Goode.

The basketball issue of Sports Review Magazine has a story telling of the humorous side of Coach Adolph Rupp.

In it, Rupp tells a story about himself and Johnny Cox.

When Cox was a sophomore, he didn't look too good and the newspapers ran a story that the highest scoring freshman in history might not start in the season opener," Rupp said.

A few days later, Rupp got a letter from Cox's hometown saying, "If Cox doesn't start Saturday night, there will be a hanging in Lexington and it won't be in effigy either."

"Somehow he showed remarkable improvement the following day and started every game since, ending up as an All-American," the Baron concluded.

The sportswriters who pick the SEC All-Sophomore team call themselves the All-American Advisory Board.

They are the ones who could use a little advising.

The board snubbed UK center, Irv Goode, by picking four sophomore centers ahead of him.

It all boils down to this, a player may be the best, but unless his team has a good record, he won't receive recognition.

Glenn Shaw has had a profitable week.

Sunday, he received the WHAS award as the outstanding senior on the football team. Shaw won the award on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship, and general contributions to the football team.

Monday, he was picked by the Chicago Bears as a draft choice at the annual pro football meeting.

Shaw was the only member of this year's UK football team to be drafted.

Impressive Debut By Jim McDonald Brightens Foward Picture For UK

At 8 p.m. Tuesday, Coach Rupp was worried about the forward position vacated by All-American Johnny Cox.

Two hours later, his worries had ended because of the impressive debut of Jim McDonald.

Entering the game for Allen Feldhaus late in the second half, McDonald proceeded to rack up 14 points and snare eight rebounds before the game was over.

When he left the game, he received a great ovation from the crowd and a handshake from Coach Rupp. When Rupp shakes a player's hand after he leaves the game that player can rest assured that the Baron was happy with his play.

McDonald came to Kentucky from Louisville St. Xavier. He played on the 1958 state championship squad.

He was only the fourth leading scorer on a mediocre freshman team last year. However, he has rounded into shape this year and seems ready to take over the position vacated by Cox.

Herky Rupp played less than three minutes, but he was the favorite of the crowd.

They cheered his every move, especially when he hit the goal that put the Cats over the century mark.

Herky will never make All-American, but he had his moment Tuesday night.

Approximately 1,500 turned out to see the Kittens tangle with Lindsey Wilson. Most of these were students, the student section was almost full by the time the freshman game had ended.

Kentucky always seems to come up with great guards. Bernie Butts, a freshman, may be the next one. He was impressive in the Lindsey Wilson game, scoring 29 points and setting up many more with his sharp passing.

Freshmen Beat Lindsey Wilson

Bernie Butts, a displaced Floridan, was the whole show Tuesday night as UK's freshmen beat previously unbeaten Lindsey Wilson 71-62.

Butts scored 29 points, passed brilliantly, and snared 11 rebounds to pace the Cats.

The Kittens had to come from behind to win. They trailed 35-33 at halftime. However, they caught up at 43-43 on a jump shot by Dick Conley, freshman from Oil Springs, and breezed to the win.

Pat Doyle and Scotty Baesler followed Butts in the scoring with eight each. Jerry Hump had seven, George Atkins and Conley, six each.

Doug Pendergraft and Cowan led Lindsey Wilson with 15 and 14, respectively.

The Kittens outrebounded Lindsey Wilson 49-34. Butts and Bobbie Rice, with 11, led the freshman in the rebounding department.

The UK freshmen hit 29 of 69 field goal attempts for 42 percent shooting average while Lindsey Wilson hit 26 of 65 for 40 percent. Lindsey Wilson took a 5-0 record into Tuesday's contest.

The next game for the freshmen is Jan. 9 with the Lexington YMCA. It will be a preliminary to the varsity's game with LSU.

TIPS ON TOGS

TIME — To give a few fleeting thoughts to Christmas, and with Christmas, one must give some thought to gifts (remember "Tis better to give than receive"—They say!)

MEMBERS OF THE BAR — Are represented by some very clever characters, molded to portray the favorite beverages of various countries and locales. These decanters are very novel—fun to give — (and fun to receive).

ROOMMATE? — Try a neat, matched cardigan sweater and sport shirt combination — comes packaged, the colors and designs are blended—he'll like (and perhaps next semester will keep his mits off your sport duds—insurance!)

BROTHER? — Well, a couple of suggestions. Younger (cat man)—a matching foulard tie and belt set—personal opinion (for what it's worth.) Cool (Older)—a very compact grooming case, made of hand-some leather with gold initials engraved — deeply appreciated and showing your good taste.

DAD? — Does he love to watch TV in complete comfort? Then make his evening comfortable (while you use the car). Adorn his honor with a set of lounging pajamas and compatible robe ensemble (will soften his ire when you get home late).

DUCK BRUSH—A wonderful fill-in gift. Curiosity got Ya? I would welcome the pleasure of helping you with your "Christmas Madness"—ask for me on your next visit and the pleasure will be all mine. Now your pleasure — THE END.

So long for now,

Kentucky Defeats Colorado State 106-73 In Opener

Kentucky inaugurated Coach Rupp's 30th season here with a record-breaking 106-73 win over Colorado State Tuesday night.

Looking sharp, the Cats scored the highest number of points ever in an opener. The 106 points surpassed the previous record of 96 scored against Washington and Lee in 1951. Kentucky has not lost an opener since 1926.

A standing room only crowd of 12,000 watched as Kentucky turned the game into a rout after the first five minutes.

Leading the attack was Bennie Coffman with 18. Close behind him were Jim McDonald and Dickie Parsons with 14. Billy Lickert had 12.

Coffman and McDonald started in reserve roles. Coffman entered the game with 7:16 left in the first half and scored 10 points before intermission. McDonald replaced Allen Feldhaus with 6:10 in the half.

Leading the scoring for Colorado State were Frank Carbajal and Theo Holland with 18 each. Jim Hruska followed with 16.

Herky Rupp, playing in his first varsity game under his father, put Kentucky over the century mark with a tip in with less than three minutes remaining.

The game was close for only five minutes. The Cats jumped off to a quick lead on a jump shot from the corner by Parsons and trailed only once.

The score was tied four times, the last time at 8-8. Parson's short jump shot put the Cats ahead to stay at 10-8.

At this point, Rupp made his first substitution, replacing Ned Jennings with Don Mills. In the next seven minutes, Kentucky spurred to a 27-13 lead. Sid Cohen led the attack with seven points, four of them coming on two long set shots.

Coffman then entered the game for Cohen and took over. In the remaining seven minutes of the first half, he hit two jump shots and six free throws to enable the Cats to take a 45-21 halftime lead.

Kentucky blew the game wide open in the first five minutes of the second half by outscoring the visitors 17-6.

Lickert opened the half by scoring on a rebound. Coffman hit a jumper from the circle and Jennings got a tip to run the score to 51-31.

Leon Johnson hit a free throw for Colorado State and Hruska followed with two charity tosses.

McDonald hit two long one handers to make the score 55-25.

Lickert hit a free throw; Coffman, two jump shots; and Lickert came back with an easy layup to run the score to 61-27.

Midway in the second half, reserves took over and play became a little ragged at times.

With the crowd clamoring for a hundred, Carroll Burchett hit two free throws to make it 91-56.

After a push shot by Carbajal, Feldhaus scored on a layup to run the score to 93-56. Finally, a jump shot by Coffman with 2:58 remaining put Kentucky one away from the century mark at 99-60.

UK then called time and Rupp inserted an entire new team. One of these players was his son.

It took Herky only 26 seconds to score the first varsity points of his career and put the Cats over the hundred mark. He did it one a short jump shot after taking a rebound.

The crowd then began to file out. Kentucky hit a hot 47.1 per cent of their shots, making good on 41 out of 87. Colorado State hit 24 of 77 for a percentage of 31.2.

From the free throw line, the Cats hit 24 of 33 for 72.7 per cent while the Bears hit 25 of 30 for 83.3 per cent.

Kentucky outrebounded Colorado State 70-42. The leading rebounder was Mills with 18. Jennings was next with 11. McDonald and Feldhaus each had eight.

Bob Ruffin, reserve forward, led the visitors with nine rebounds. Bob Pratt and Holland were close behind. Pratt got eight and Holland six.

Every member of the Kentucky team saw action. Players not scoring were Al Robinson, Harry Hurd, and Roy Roberts.

Kentucky leaves Louisville today for Los Angeles. They play UCLA tomorrow and Southern California Saturday at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. The next home game will be against North Carolina in the opening round of the UKIT on Dec. 13.

Bryant's Rebuilding Job Takes Only Two Years

When Paul Bryant left Texas A&M to rebuild the Alabama football team, even the most optimistic fans gave him four years to produce.

However, it took him only two years to lead the Crimson Tide to a bowl.

Alabama, on the basis of a 7-1-2 record, will play Penn State in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 19 at Philadelphia.

In his first year at Alabama, Bryant's team had a 5-4-1 record and no one expected much from them this year.

Bryant fooled them. He overcame a weakness on offense with one of the best defensive teams in the nation.

This pass defense and a front line, led by Don Cochran, Bill Hamnah, and Wayne Sims, allowed opponents only seven touchdowns in 16 games.

Their first bowl appearance was in 1936 when they defeated Washington 20-19 in the Rose Bowl. Since then, they have played in Rose, Sugar, Orange and Cotton Bowls.

Bryant earlier in the week had said that Alabama would not play in a bowl this year. However, pressure from players and fans made him change his mind.

Who's Got It?

Allen Feldhaus, UK forward, goes for the ball in Tuesday night's game with Colorado State. Moving in to battle him are Bob Ruffing (23), Colorado State guard, and another unidentified Bear. Sid Cohen (22), UK guard, watches.

Four Cats Named To UPI Squad

Four UK footballers received honorable mention on this year's United Press All-America squad.

They are end Tom Rodgers, tackles George Boone and Bob Hunt, center Lloyd Hodge, and halfback Calvin Bird.

Billy Cannon, LSU star, led the balloting for the first team. He received a total of 3,048 points, on the basis of 300 first-team votes and 28 second-team votes.

This is the second highest total ever amassed in the history of UK All-America teams. Leon Hart, Notre Dame end, polled 3,369 votes in 1949.

HURRY UP...AND DIE!

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN
Assistant Managing Editor

Very few, if any college students have ever said, "Let's go out and die tonight." Yet a great many do die, along with others of all ages who hadn't planned anything special for the evening.

All too often in our mechanized age people hadn't planned for the most important night of their lives—the last one.

Statistics show that Americans in the 19-21 age group are the drivers in more fatal accidents per miles driven than any other age group, a fact that should be especially significant on the UK campus.

Composed almost in its entirety of the "dangerous age" drivers, a college campus is a place where careful thought should be given to driving and the consequences which can come from carelessness.

The pictures on this page try to tell a story about driving that most of us have been spared from—so far. But it doesn't take real effort to become a member of this grisly cast.

College students are almost traditionally in a hurry.

Hurry home for a short holiday. Hurry or be late to class. Hurry or the coed will be locked out of the dorms and perhaps be campused.

Just as other Americans have come to depend on the automobile for entertainment and transportation, so have college students. Night spots and other places frequented by college students have spread over a wide area, making a car more and more of a necessity.

So we have a group of the most dangerous drivers in this country hurrying in a two ton steel weapon, capable of speeds over 100 miles per hour in many cases. The coed who urges her date to "Hurry!" just may end up campused from life.

As of Tuesday, Kentucky's highway death toll for this year was 669, the lowest figure in the 10-year history for State police traffic records. Only 669.

Most of us will look at these pictures and say, "Oh, well, it won't happen to me." But it can happen and the chances are better than anyone realizes.

None of the people in the accidents shown here, or in Kentucky's fatality list for this year thought that it would happen to them. An accident is something you don't plan for, but plan against.

It's the simplest thing on earth to plan against accidents. Most of our roads have signs indicating zones where passing is dangerous. safe speeds for curves, speed limits, and where a full stop is necessary for maximum safety.

A little thoughtful driving, along with the laws, and other safe driving aids provided for us can eliminate the useless slaughter on our highways.

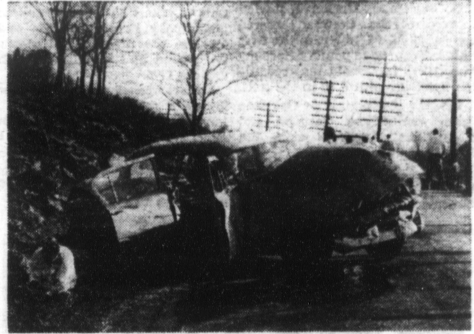

Words and pictures can do only so much. Too many people have to actually be involved in a serious automobile wreck to realize the dangers of driving.

Maybe it takes the screech of skidding tires and breaking glass or the moans of injured human beings to help us see the light.

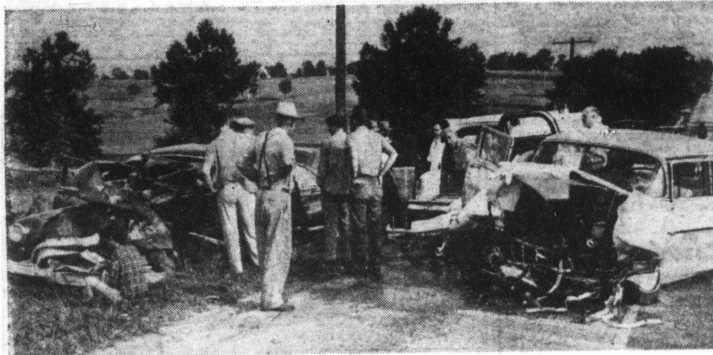

Then again, you might be one of the lucky ones and not have to hear all these noises—or anything else, ever again.

One for the road . . .

Pretty, huh?

YOU can end up like this . . .

or be one of the quiet ones.
