DEAN JONES TO HOLD UNCLAIMED CHECKS

Students Are Urged to Be More Prompt in Signing Payroll

University students working on CWA projects will receive for February work a total of $2,961.26, according to an announcement from the office of the Dean of Men.

Because of the delay of some of the workers in signing the payroll, Dean Jones has announced that the checks for the entire group will be held for several additional days.

Campus CWA employees were asked to go to the office of the Dean of Men Tuesday to sign the payroll, sent to that office by the Federal Administrator in Louisville.

The payroll must be signed each month, and Dean Jones urged that it be done promptly. He expressed also the desire that each student get his full quota of hours in.

THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY NEEDS A STUDENT UNION BUILDING

Such a building would provide a central meeting place for students, and particularly, would it make a campus home for those students who come every day to the University from a distance.

The only way in which such a building can be secured is by subscriptions, or by utilizing a loan from the Public Works Administration. The State could not be asked to furnish it.

The University could borrow enough money to erect the building from the federal government. Of the amount borrowed from the Public Works Administration, 30 per cent would be an outright gift, and the balance could be paid over a period of thirty years.

The problem then is how to finance the remaining 70 per cent. This could be done by setting aside the earnings of the building and the payment of students of a small club fee. This fee would amount to about $2.00 a semester.

It is suggested that the case be simple form, without propaganda, so the whole matter may be decided on its merits.

DR. MENG TALKS TO KAMPUS STUDENTS AT CONVOCATION

Chinese and American Concepts of Government Are Reviewed

PROGRAM SPONSORED BY PAN-POLITIKON

Friendly Relations Between Countries Urged by Speaker

America and China for over a century have enjoyed friendly relations because their ideals and attitudes toward life are similar.

Dr. Meng, associate director of the Chinese Institute in America, pointed out in an address at Convocation held at 10 a. m. yesterday in Patterson hall.

Dr. Meng was brought here by Pan-Politikon, an organization devoted to the study of foreign countries.

He stated that when he came to America for his first visit his friends requested that he watch China and the Chinese prohibition movement, the growth of communism, and the advance of women in politics.

He explained that these three movements were not his country and illustrated his point by citing examples of similar movements in China in the centuries before Christ.

In commenting on the friendly relations which exist between the United States and China, Dr. Meng contrasted the unfriendly feelings which prevail between the Japanese nation and the Chinese.

He explained that the entire country of China was not torn by civil wars but that the disturbances were confined to limited areas.

Dr. Meng stated that America could solve the problems which exist between the United States and China.

He explained that the two most important ideals which the two states have in common are belief in democracy was Doctor Meng's opinion.

George Vogel, chairman of Pan-Politikon, introduced the speaker. Seated on the platform with Dr. Meng were Prof. Frank L. McVey, George Vogel, Prof. E. W. Rannels, faculty adviser; Louise Ewing, secretary; Elizabeth Hardin, publicity chairman; and Arthur Mutt, sub-chairman. Members of the subcommittee served as ushers.

Members of the Pan-Politikon committee are Mrs. Frank L. McVey, faculty adviser; Gordon Burns, chairman of sub-committee; Edwin B. Patterson, James Bero, William Nichols, Ben Taylor, Harry Ch. Anderson, Ed Powell, John Carter, Webster Coose, Cameron Coffman, John St. John, Mary Carolyn Terrell, Virginia Murrell, Robert Mutt, Ernest Shoves, and Oscar Reuter.

Dr. Meng addressed the International Relations class at a dinner meeting held at 6 p. m. yesterday in the University Commons. His subject was "Introduction to the Study of Chinese Civilization."

with a team such as Butler, Ohio State, or one similar. The teams participating in the high school tournament would be here and it could truly be a fitting termination for the basketball season.

The above is offered only for the purpose of information and perhaps it would be worth the while of all concerned to consider these matters which are of vital importance to a sport which has given the University of Kentucky national recognition.

A CAMPUS NEED

In a letter to The KerneI, President McVey has pointed out the need of a Student Union building on the campus. Doctor McVey declares that the building would not only provide a meeting place, rest rooms, a place to eat, offices for student publications, locker space and other facilities but the most important, a place to go between classes where the student might study.

The President states, in his letter, that the only way in which a building of this sort can be secured is by subscriptions, or by utilizing a loan from the Public Works Administration. He says that the State could not be asked to furnish it. The University could borrow enough money from the Federal government to erect the building. Thirty per cent of this loan would be an outright gift and the balance could be paid over a period of thirty years.

In order to finance the remaining 70 per cent the President presents the excellent suggestion of charging the students a small club fee each semester. Doctor McVey states that if the students are willing to assume this burden, the board of trustees will apply for a loan covering the amount necessary to erect the building. The President closes his letter by declaring that the building would be located in a convenient place on the campus and would be a great addition to University life upon the campus.

That the Student Union building would prove of great service to the student body of the University is not to be denied. As it now appears, the only means of securing this valuable addition to the campus is to charge the students a small fee; then that plan should certainly be promoted by all students enrolled in the University. The fee to be charged each student has not been definitely set but it has been suggested by President McVey that the sum be placed at two dollars each semester.

The KerneI is of the opinion that the student body should rally, as a unit, to President McVey's suggestion and show their willingness to join in the movement to erect the Student Union building, a vital and necessary adjunct to student life upon the campus of the University.

DR. CHIH MENG

Dr. Chih Meng, associate director of the China Institute in America, addressed the student body of the University in convocation yesterday morning. Speaking on the subject, "Whether China; Democracy vs. Communism," Doctor Meng produced an authentic and interesting account of Chinese national problems.

Pan-Politikon, an organization on the campus which is devoted to the study of international affairs, sponsored yesterday's talk, and was responsible for bringing Doctor Meng to University. Each year this group concentrates on one nation, attempting to focus student attention on the many phases of life in that country.

In this manner international relations between the United States and other countries are discussed, and a better feeling toward our foreign neighbors is established. Climaxing the year's program, a national figure representing the country being studied addresses the University student body.

Doctor Meng is well qualified to discuss Chinese problems, because of the active part which he has taken in affairs of his native country. Besides being a director of the Chinese Institute in this country, he is also an author, one of his books bearing the title "China Speaks."

We feel sure that all who attended convocation yesterday now possess a better knowledge of conditions existing in China. Pan-Politikon is to be congratulated for procuring the services of one so capable, and it is hoped that the future students at the University will evince a greater interest in international affairs.

A BENEFICIAL JOBEST

In his talk to the student gathering last Tuesday at the Convocation hall Doctor Vandembosch brought forth a number of interesting points concerning the trend in the governments of the world, but we remember in particular a very apt simile which he used.

Mr. Vandembosch said that the government of some groups was like a well paved highway along which they rushed at break-neck speed without looking into the distance to see whether or not the pavement suddenly ended at the brink of a precipice. Others follow forms whereby they are so interested in looking at a point far ahead that they pay no attention to the type of road they are travelling.

We had present in the student forum a few who were quite definitely inclined toward Communism. Naturally they contended that at least their group has its eyes on the future. Since there were no supporters of Fascism present, it was generally agreed that this group was travelling a road that might reach the brink at any moment. Many contended strongly that even though our own government certainly could not be held up as a flawless model, those in charge were attempting to make the going smoother without forgetting to glance up the road now and then.

We often ridicule and even deride our democracy and our government officials, saying that perhaps democracy has served its purpose and should be junked, but when we look closely at the turmoil which a great many other nations are undergoing as a result of their governmental upsets, we begin to feel that maybe our democracy isn't so bad after all.

Whether you agree with this; whether you are inclined to be a Communist, Fascist, Socialist, or Democrat or Republican, the place to air your griefs or beliefs, and actually have someone listen to what you are trying to say is the student forum.

One of the best crowds ever to attend the forums was present last Tuesday and it is certain that everyone got something from the discussion. Especially interesting was the "bull session" immediately following adjournment of the regular session.

Next week, Dean Edward West will lead the discussion of the economic situation in the United States. We have heard a lot concerning the "new deal" during the past year, but many of us are still not sure just how this recovery program is working. It might be well to make it a point to be at "Pat" hall next Tuesday night to see how your own ideas "stack up" with those of other persons.

Jest Among Us

From the number of hard looks that we have been receiving lately, we are led to believe that a few persons, at least, still read our column.

It is reported that the woman sheriff in Indiana from whose custody a famous desperado just escaped is learning the words to "Hold Your Man."

We fellows with odd coats and pants are considerably heartened to hear that a dark and light suit ensemble will be stylish and popular this spring.

"PETEY MOORE"

"Petey" Moore is dead. The wiry, little man, who occupies such a friendly spot in the hearts of thousands of students and alumni of the University, has taken his last journey, a journey not brightened by the presence of "his boys."

Superintendent of athletic equipment at the University, in whose employ he has been for 40 years, "Petey" numbered among his host of friends men of national prominence in the sports world. Unassuming, devoted to Kentucky and her athletes, he was always the same delightful character.

Although in later years his trips with the football and basketball squads were limited, nevertheless he was well known by athletes and coaches of other southern teams. A conscientious worker, "Petey" was busy issuing and receiving equipment on the day of his death.

"Petey's" friends included a large group as practically everyone at the University knew and respected the veteran Wildcat supporter. At any time of the day one would quite likely find him surrounded by "his boys" as he liked to call them.

Affectionately as he was regarded in life, so will his memory remain with us, the memory of a true Kentuckian. If he were here, we would ask for no finer compliment. We're going to miss him, Alonzo D. Moore to some people, but to us — just "Petey."

BASKETBALL AT A GLANCE

With the Southeastern tournament over, and the state high school tournament the present topic of discussion, perhaps this would be an opportune time to think about the basketball situation at the University of Kentucky. Just what will be the future of basketball at the University?

Do students want a longer playing season, a schedule that will include nationally-known teams, or do we want to go on as in the past, with only three or four home games the second semester, with the season culminating in a tournament the latter part of February?

While thinking along this line there is also something else to be considered from the student's viewpoint. At the beginning of the current semester each student paid an athletic fee of $5. From the first semester until the end of the playing season there were only four home games played. This was at the rate of $1.25 per game for admittance via student ticket books. The same games could have been witnessed via the ticket booth for a total of $2.75, had the student been permitted to purchase individual tickets. Of course the ticket books admitted students to freshman games, and will admit them to track meets, but usually the track meets are open to the public and the freshman games cost only 25 cents.

This is not intended as a criticism of the authorities for charging for ticket books. It is a mere statement of facts with a view to finding out student attitude toward an existing condition. Why would it not be logical to dispense with all thoughts of the tournament and look toward a longer playing season and a schedule which would warrant a greater student and outside interest? However, as perhaps you already know, the 12 college presidents of the Southeastern conference have already voted to abolish the tournament at Atlanta. This, we think, is a step in the right direction and is to be highly commended.

So far, it has only been possible to arrange for two home games after the first of February next year, as it is necessary to play Alabama, Tennessee, and Vanderbilt away. It would be physically impossible for the team to play more than seven games in 14 days, the date fixed for the season to end. Why would it not be advisable to continue the season until at least the time set for the state high school tournament, with a possible closing game the night before the tournament begins

At first it was amusing but during productions things got mushy...You know they held hands...gazed moon-eyed at each other...and went into great big bear hugs behind the scenes. However, it is all a physical thing...magnetic attraction (you know...north pole is attracted to the south pole...Fritz being from the north) P. S.—Falth calls her little boy

Priz, "Passion Flower" or "Pash" for short.

It seems to us that SAE Langdon Hay has beaten our contemporary Delt Cameron Coffman's time with Kappa pledge Adelaide Eubanks... Maybe it was because of that crack you made in your column Cameron!

Zeta Louise Kuykendall was pinned Lambdachi for about two days. His name was Herman...she wouldn't disclose his last name to us!

What two "certain" Sigmachi's have their pins out?

Lambdachi J. B. Wells slipped in and put a dog biscuit on Niel Plummer's desk the other day before class...with a note that Niel was to give it to the person who it would do the most good...Niel is sure a good detective as he gave it to F. B. I.

ATO alumnus Jimmie May said that blondes, to his experience, looked a lot worse when they got up in the morning than brunettes did... We wonder how you know Jimmie?

To hear that a bunch of ATO pledges going through Hell week pushed a "certain" active in a tub of water...with all his clothes on...these little boys will fool around with these big freshmen!

We wonder what fraternity made their pledges scream the "ettee" in Patterson hall at 4 o'clock Sunday morning...maybe it's the same ones that are making their pledges turn heathen and get down on their knees in front of the Science building and "Praise Allah" a dozen times.

After the crack in Cameron's column about the ATO's being sissies we received a letter from a pal who did tell us that there could be no bigger sissies than the Delt chapter. We would gladly fight a duel over the problem! Now during Hell week the Fanny Deltas are turning into real "Tomboys."

Extra! Extra! Tridels walk home according to a certain Sigsop who picked up three of them walking home last Sunday afternoon and brought them back to town.

We did hear that Phitau Bill Franz and Wallace Briggs also talk in their sleep and like "certain" other actives that we have given publicity (Frank Briggs wasn't it) big bear hugs behind the scenes. Franz's roommate says he continually talks about Kappa Mary Danziger and Alphasam Lillian Holmes.

What Kappa pledge turned her pin in and said, "that as far as the Kappas were concerned that they should put a (?) light in the window...so she was quitting? Pow! Whatta blow for the Kappas!

Piecap Jack Greenwell is no longer a woman hater...he has a secret desire for the attention of Zeta Jeanette Sparks...This romance is without the knowledge of the lady involved!

We wonder if it is really true that James Hening is really known to the fairer sex as "Woman's Home Companion," if so, why?

We wonder where Kappas Bill Howe got his new "Race Hogs" suit...It's O. K. Bill...we hear that the new styles for men will be shades of pastel blue and all shades of vice green!

Very interesting romance has been overlooked...that of Pat Tremble and SAE Earl Bryant...Tis said they are courting steady.

We understand that Piecap Dan Ewing is a "Peeping Tom." Was it a good exhibition, Dan? How about that?...Perhaps Tom Cassidy, Windy Aldridge, or perhaps Evelyn or Seth could enlighten us???

Since acquiring a liking for several eds on the campus, Kappa Edith Reager has ordered a book on "Facts of Life."

What big, tall, dark ed was seen carrying a "certain" popular blonde senior up Harrison the other night?

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By DELMAR ADAMS

Hundreds of Wildcat athletes and former athletes will remember "Pete" Moore with the greatest respect and veneration. But no more will the diminutive custodian of athletic equipment give out towels and clothes through his little window. For "Pete" is gone. He died Wednesday night at his home, following a heart attack.

Although at times he was abrupt, he was beloved by all who knew him. A hard worker and thoroughly capable in anything he undertook, he will be hard to replace. For nearly 40 years he has been a valued employee of the University in various capacities. "Pete" was a staunch supporter of the Wildcats, whose progress he commented on at all times. On almost all the trips in recent years he was taken along to take care of the clothes and equipment. His economy and orderly methods have saved the athletic department a great amount of money during his nearly four years as sole custodian of equipment.

A colorful figure at all times because of his funny little ways and sayings, "Pete" will exist in the memories of all who knew him as long as they live. When Wildcat teams go forth to battle in the future, at their head and leading their forays will be the spirit of one of their staunchest supporters, "Pete" Moore. He will be missed by many, but in him the athletes of the University have lost an enthusiastic supporter and friend. Good work, too good and faithful servant.

Baseball has taken another rise here at the University. Pat Devereaux, former diamond mentor, has volunteered his services and will take charge of the squad as soon as the weather permits practice to start. Devereaux has had varied experiences as a manager, player and coach, having played professional baseball and having managed several minor-league teams. His Wildcat teams were well coached and played smart baseball. He developed such stars as Raymond and Robert Rhodes, Irvine Jeffries, Charlie Worthington.

With the plentiful supply of material available, the Cats should have a fine season if they can get their schedule filled out at this late date.

If the weather man permits it, Coach Bernie Shively's track aggregation will try to round into form in the next few days, so that they will be in shape for their initial meet, which is scheduled for the second week in April. Negotiations are under way for another meet to be held a week earlier, but this is not very likely at present unless the weather takes a sudden change for the better. All of the events are well cared for this year with the exception of the mile and half mile runs. In these events there are no likely looking prospects at present, but the coach is working on several candidates under the idea of converting them into entries for these events.

The men are having a tough time getting into shape on account of the sloppy condition of the track. Because of the bad weather, they have been forced to work under the stadium and the hard ground there has caused several of them to develop injuries which may handicap them at the start of the season.

Just another reason why there should be a field-house built here in the near future is it would put the Cats on a par with the other teams of the Southeastern conference, who are favored with balmy weather in the spring. At Auburn, Louisiana State and Tulane, the baseball, track, and football teams have been working out for the last three weeks and are assuming mid-season form. This is one of the big reasons why their teams are able to beat the northern teams at the top so consistently at the beginning of the season.

Next Wednesday afternoon at 5 p.m. the survivors of the regional basketball tourneys will assemble at the University basketball building to draw for positions in the state tournament. The tourney which is scheduled to begin Thursday morning and continue through Saturday night, will probably be the closest and hardest fought in history, as many of the teams are evenly matched.

Dr. McVey Approves New Council Code

Article IV.—Officers.
Section 1. The officers of the Men's Student Council shall consist of: a president, a vice-president, and a secretary-treasurer.

Section 2. Nominations and elections of these officers shall be held at the first regular meeting after the election of the president of the senior class. Voting shall be by secret ballot. The ballots shall be collected immediately by the Dean of Men and the votes shall be counted by the Dean and Assistant Dean of Men. The result shall be made known and the persons so elected shall take office immediately.

Section 3. It shall be the duty of the president to preside over all meetings of the Men's Student Council and to appoint all necessary committees. The president shall have the power to call a special meeting of the council and to order the secretary-treasurer to notify each member a reasonable time in advance of said meeting and shall have all such other and necessary powers as are usually incumbent upon such officer.

Section 4. It shall be the duty of the vice-president to perform the duties of the president in the absence of that officer. When not performing the duties of the president, the vice-president shall have the right to vote in the meetings of the council.

Section 5. It shall be the duty of the secretary-treasurer to keep permanent records of all meetings of the council; to notify, at the request of the president, all members of the council of special meetings thereof; to attend to all correspondence of the council; to keep charge of all funds of the council, and to keep a strict account of all receipts and expenditures.

Article V.—Meetings.
Section 1. The Men's Student Council shall meet bi-monthly in the office of the Dean of Men on dates decided upon by the council.

Section 2. A special meeting may be called at any time by the president or any four members of the council. The secretary-treasurer shall notify all members of a special meeting a reasonable time in advance of said meeting.

Section 3. A two-thirds (2/3) majority of the members shall constitute a quorum to do business.

Article VI.—Powers.
Section 1. Legislative. The legislative power shall be vested in the council as a whole to prescribe rules for student elections, and all other rules necessary and proper for the maintenance of the traditions of the University, provided that these rules shall not contravene nor infringe upon the administrative authority of the University and its officers.

Section 2. Judicial. The Men's Student Council shall have the power to try all cases arising from the infraction of any or all of the rules prescribed by the council and all other cases of student conduct which shall be referred to by the Dean of Men.

GOOD TASTE IS EVERYTHING

In cigarettes, too! So in making Lucky Strike cigarettes we use the finest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos—and only the center leaves—they are the mildest, the smoothest. And every Lucky is so round, so firm, so fully packed—no loose ends.

NOT the top leaves—they're underdeveloped—they are harsh!
The Cream of the Crop

NOT the bottom leaves—they're inferior in quality—course and always sandy!
