Patterson Hall To Open Early

Rushes To Register At Memorial Hall Friday

Patterson Hall will be open to freshmen girls expecting to live there this fall on Thursday afternoon, September 21, and the halls for upper classmen, Jewell and Boyd, will open September 23, according to Miss Jane Haselden, assistant dean of women.

"It had not been planned to open the halls for the upperclassmen until September 25, but because of the Mississippi-Kentucky football game on the 23 the halls will be opened then to accommodate the girls who wish to attend the game," said Miss Haselden. "However no meals will be served in these two halls until Monday evening, Sept. 25, but meals for the freshmen girls will be served in their hall Thursday night.

Both Patt hall and Boyd hall have been closed to students since the spring of 1943, when ASTP soldiers were stationed there. During this period women students were housed in Jewell hall and various houses connected with the University.

The rooms in Patt hall and Boyd hall have been redecorated, and worn out equipment replaced, as far as war-time restrictions allowed.

All freshmen and other new students will report to Memorial hall for classification tests and physical examinations. The tests and examinations must be completed before students will be permitted to register.

Freshmen, transfers, and any other student who is interested in signing up for rush week should attend the meeting at Memorial hall at 5 o'clock, Friday, to pay rush fees and to receive general information and instructions. Rush week begins Saturday the 23 at 3 p.m. and continues until the following Saturday.

"Girls now on the campus, who are interested in rush, should come to the Dean of Women's office and sign a summer rush card, so their names may be placed on the list," Miss Haselden stated.

Jessie Tunstall Reported Prisoner Of Germans

Lieut. Jesse A. Tunstall, Paducah, formerly a student at the University, is a prisoner of the German government.

When his plane failed to return from his eleventh mission over Germany on June 9, Lieut. Tunstall was reported missing in action by the War Department. Through the efforts of the International Red Cross, his wife, Mrs. Ruby Hamilton Tunstall, learned that he is a prisoner of war.

Social Calendar...

YM-YWCA Meeting—6:15 p.m. Tuesday, balcony of the Union building. A "fun" program will be given.

BSU Meeting—6:15 p.m. Wednesday, balcony of the Union building.

Residence Halls Tea—4 to 6 p.m. Thursday, Jewell hall lounge.

Exam Schedule

Final examinations for the second term of the summer quarter will be held, for the most part, on the last day of classes, either Friday, August 25, or Saturday, August 26, Dean Leo M. Chamberlain has announced. The length and exact day of the exams will be left to the discretion of the instructor, he further stated.

The summer quarter will officially end on Saturday, August 26.

Book Of Rules Is Compiled To Be Named "Watchbird"

An informal rule book has been compiled for use in the women's dormitories and residence halls in the fall. It is the first publication of its type to have been written since 1942.

The title will be "The U. K. Watchbird," and the general contents follow the outline of Munro Leaf's cartoons "The Watchbirds" appearing in the Woman's Home Companion. Rules for overnight permissions, checking times in and out of dorms, care of rooms, house councils, lunch hours, study hours, lights out, and many others are included. Information may also be found in it about dorm officials, the infirmary, suitable campus clothes, articles, and in general, what every freshman should know.

The writers of the book are Carolyn Hill, editor of the Summer Kernel, and Adele Denman, Kernel reporter. Illustrations are by Betty Jane Brooker, former editor of "Milestones," Ward - Belmont year book.

Former Kernel Editor Killed In France

First Lieut. Harold E. Winn, 25, Marion, a University graduate, was killed in France July 13, the War Department announced this week.

Lieutenant Winn trained at Fort Benning Ga., Camp Wheeler, Ga., and Camp Atterbury, Ind. In the services for more than two years, he had been overseas since February.

While at the University Lieutenant Winn was editor of The Kernel and a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Coeds Fear GI's Marrying Foreign Women

By Mary Jane Dorsey

Coed topic of the week was brought about by the news report of the landing of some 300 Australian women in America, the brides of American soldiers and sailors.

One girl, after reading of the "invasion" of our country wailed, "This is something new to worry about. The boyfriend and the big brother are in the South Pacific. Until this report I thought they'd miss me more than ever. Now I see why the fellas are always hoping to be sent to Australia for rest after a stretch of fighting in New Guinea or some of the south Pacific islands.

The women who arrived last week were the largest contingent of American soldiers' and sailors' brides ever sent to the United States in a single group from the Pacific war area.

There were 300 in this group

Freshmen, New Students Will Register For Fall Quarter September 22-23

Freshmen Men To Live In Dorms New Requirement Passed Last Year

Bradley and Kincaid halls, dormitories for civilian men students, will open Friday, September 22, Dr. T. T. Jones dean of men, announced.

Freshmen will be required to reside in the dorms for one school year in accordance with a rule passed last year by the board of trustees, which was not enforced, because of the soldiers housed there. No new or special rules are contemplated, according to Dr. W. S. Ward, new director of the residence halls for men. Dr. Jones said, "the students will be expected to maintain a standard of good conduct."

The rooms are being redecorated and worn-out equipment replaced. A reception room for parents and out-of-town guests of students will be one of the improvements made in the men's dormitories.

"Because of the small number of fraternity men on the campus this fall there will be no fraternity houses open," Dr. Jones disclosed. "Freshmen will not be allowed to pledge until the end of their first quarter," he asserted. "This was already a regulation of the University. How this will affect the fraternity houses in normal times may become a live question."

Sarah B. Holmes At Deans' Conference

Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, dean of women at the University, has been in Washington for the past two weeks, where she did some research at the Headquarters of the National Association of Deans of Women.

The rest of her leave of absence will be spent in Arizona visiting her son, Capt. Kendall Holmes, who is stationed at Phoenix, Ariz.

Jewell Hall Tea

Tea will be served in Jewell hall lounge from 4 to 6 p.m. Thursday. All summer school students and faculty members are invited to attend.

UK 'Delights' Col. Chipman Veteran Of World War I Succeeds Col. Brewer

"I am delighted to be once again recalled to duty in my home state," Colonel Guy Chipman, new professor of Military Science and Tactics, and Commandant of the ASTP post at the University, told a Kernel reporter yesterday.

Colonel Chipman, who succeeded Col. B. E. Brewer, early this month, is a native of Falmouth, where he attended high school, later entering United States Military Academy at West Point.

A veteran of World War I, Colonel Chipman has also served in Hawaii, and the Philippines. Theoretically a cavalry officer, he has served with the mechanized forces at Fort Knox, and has attended the Infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., and the General Service School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. He is one of the few officers to attend both the Army and Navy war colleges.

The Colonel and his wife have taken an apartment at 238 McDowell road. Mrs. Chipman is a native of Alabama and attended Converse College at Spartansburg, S. C.

Their son, Guy W. Chipman, Jr., attended the University in 1936-37, his freshman year. A first lieutenant, he is now stationed at Camp Campbell, Ky., with the Armored Forces.

Colonel Chipman said that Col. Brewer who is now in Nicholas Hospital at Louisville, will soon return to the campus to advise him in his new duties.

Attention Seniors!

All members of the summer graduating class must report for an X-ray between 9 and 11 a.m., or 2 and 4 p.m., in the health department by Thursday, August 24.

Upper Classmen Will Classify Tuesday

On Friday, September 22, and Saturday, September 23, all freshmen and other new students at the University will report to Memorial hall for classification tests and physical examinations, according to Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, dean and registrar of the University.

Freshmen and all other new students, with the exception of those enrolling in the graduate school, must have the tests and examinations completed before they will be permitted to register. Students are allowed to report as early as possible after 8 a.m.

On Monday, September 25, freshman advisory conferences will be held in the morning, and in the afternoon freshmen will register according to an alphabetical schedule to be announced later. Tuesday forenoon freshmen will classify.

All upper classmen will register and classify according to the following alphabetical schedule:

Tuesday forenoon:
8 to 8:50—A through B
9 to 9:50—C through F
10 to 10:50—G through K
11 to 11:50—L through N
Tuesday afternoon:
1:30 to 2:20—O through S
2:30 to 3:20—T through Z
3:30 to 4:30—Miscellaneous; A through Z

On Wednesday class work will begin. Wednesday, October 4, is the last day a student may enter an organized class, and Monday, October 16, is the last date a student may drop a course without a grade.

To The Editor

Dear Mr. Anthony—er I mean Editor:
I have a problem. How can I too, tear down a building? Everyone seems to be doing it now-a-days. They tell me that you just find a step of some University building that you stomp your toe on and then proceed to appear the next morning with a sledge hammer, a bucket of cement, and a pleasant smile and begin to build a new building.
People are doing it all over the campus, and the health department is doing a thriving business with broken necks.
My main difficulty is, should I help build, or find some nice ones to tear down first, to be in style? Or should I, with no previous experience, start on a whole building, which is my one ambition?

The Fischer Bowl

By Billie Fischer

We knew it was going to happen. We saw it coming eleven months ago. No, not the invasion, but the morbid business of packing to go home. We have reached the terrifying conclusion that our belongings will definitely not fit into one measly trunk. We can picture our train-ride home—our arms blossoming with one electric stove, two suitcases, a typewriter, a "Keep off the Grass" sign, and twelve stuffed animals. On second thought, we can't picture it. While cleaning out our closet, we dug up some amazing objects, including a Tennessee license plate, four lumps of sugar, and a life-size cardboard skeleton. The skeleton—Sherman, by name—is a great aid in getting rid of unpleasant room-mates. We disposed of four of them by slipping "him" into their beds at night. But that was in our freshman year—our childhood. We must have been appallingly young then, for when we dragged out Sherman, we uncovered a set of paper dolls!

If you see any new volumes on the library shelves, you can thank Denman and yours truly. After receiving several rather dull post cards and a letter or two from the librarian, we hunted up the books we had taken out last June and paid the Library enough to keep them in best-sellers for a year. It's hard to understand why we got scolded. If it happens again, we'll take our business elsewhere.

While we were browsing through the "realms of gold," we yearned for a really juicy book. And we found a very interesting one. If no one is watching you, be sure to take it out. It is "Secondary Sex Characters of Chinese Frogs and Toads," by Ch'eng-chao Liu. Naturally, it's written in Chinese.

We re-read this last Fischer Bowl of the season before racing over to the Kernel office to beat the dead-line, and we realized that we forgot to say a lot of things that should be said. We should have mentioned that we've had a wonderful summer, and that everyone has enjoyed the presence of the newcomers on the campus and hopes to see them with us in the fall. We should have wished Dr. Dupre the best of luck, and apologized to Dr. Ward for being late to classes. And we most certainly should have begged forgiveness for the decrease

'Campus Is Great', ASTRP's

By Mary Louis Mitts

From the abundance of "you alls" that we've been hearing in a Yankee twang, we guess that everyone on the campus must know that most of the members of the ASTRP are from Ohio, Indiana, or thereabouts. If you can't tell the difference, you're no true Kentuckian!

There are only three men from Kentucky in the ASTRP here, unless they're keeping themselves concealed mighty well. One character insists that he is from Colorado, but, gullible as we are, the sight of twenty of his buddies knocking themselves out laughing at his statement rather made us doubt his veracity.

We're just a bit confused about their opinions concerning the courses they're taking, since there was a slight difference of opinion, with about half of the men insisting that they would be snaps and the other half griping that they would be pretty hard. After hearing that they were taking chemistry, physics, math, and various other profound and awe-inspiring subjects, we rather inclined toward the last answer (no personal prejudice, of course.)

Some of the men were rather evasive when we asked how they liked the coeds—guess our roommate was right when she said we should have combed our hair before coming over to the book store! A few of the bolder souls, however, soothed our wounded feelings by saying they liked the coeds, but would like more of them.

We'll have to say, though, that the men must be noted for their good taste, for they insisted to a man that they liked the University fine, although they hadn't been here long enough really to know.

Kentucky 'Cats Return To Gridiron

T Formation Used By 'Ab'

Men Three Deep Rival For Positions

September 23—a red letter day for gridiron fans of the University! After an absence of one year, the Wildcats under the direction of Coach Ab Kirwan will appear on the field in a bigger show than ever.

Featuring the famous T-formation, which requires a well-organized squad of fast, industrious athletes, the Wildcats will present an explosive attack capable of scoring frequently against any opponent.

Kirwan Optimistic

Coach Kirwan, who admits that he does not have reliable information regarding the strength of Kentucky's 1944 opponents, feels that the Wildcat team nevertheless will be capable of playing on even terms with any of the Southeastern civilian elevens.

Unlike other Wildcat years, there is a rivalry between at least three men for each starting position, which is something to be optimistic about in a wartime season.

Head Line-Coach Bernie Shively reports that the starting forward wall probably will average around 200 pounds per man, which is approximately as heavy as any Wildcat line. The backfield will average from 170 pounds upward.

With the opening of the football season several weeks away, Coach Kirwan has been using this combination on offense frequently:

Louis McDonald, center; John Sutak, and Gene Haas, guards; Henry Paul, and Hugh Shannon, tackles; Tony Rotunno and Jesse McCune, ends; Bill Chambers, quarterback; Normal Klein and Roger Yost, halfbacks; and Jim Parrott, fullback. Jimmie Howe, who is not in school this quarter but will return to the University soon, probably will move into the spot now occupied by Yost.

Another strong combination used by the coach has included Floyd Shorts, a center; Doc Ferrell and Bill Arnsparger, guards; Wash Serini and James Little, tackles; Wilbur Schu and Jack Schiffl, ends; Norman Wiener, quarterback; Paul Jackson and Hobart Thomas, halfbacks; and Kenton Campbell, fullback.

On the basis of early showings, Coach Kirwan has found little to choose between the two lineups, which have been altered from time to time by the insertion of Leo Arenstein and George Kent, guards; Nick Englis, tackle; George Caughey and Kenneth Davis, ends; Fred Ferris, center; and Richard Beal and Wilford McInturff, backfield men.

Three Backs Compete

Three excellent backs are competing for the all-important quarterback position. Among these is Bill Chambers, who won All-State mention as the quarterback member of the famous Huntington, W. Va. "pony-express" backfield. He attended the University of Cincinnati last year to play varsity basketball.

A climax runner and triple-threat back, Norman Klein hails from Louisville where he captained the Manual team. Klein promises to capitalize on openings made by a hard hitting line.

"Smiley" Wiener, the third quarterback prospect, will exhibit some great ball handling before being called into the Air Corps this fall. He comes to the University from Brooklyn and played with the Abraham Lincoln high school in New York City.

Thomas starred in the annual All-Star charity game of western Pennsylvania.

Jackson, a shifty halfback, won All-Ohio and All Central Ohio berths teaming with "Dutch" Campbell to win the Ohio State Championship last year.

Howe Set Record

Andy Howe, one of the best Kentucky high school backfield men last year, is a terrific threat at right half back. Howe set an individual scoring record for Highlands high and also horned in on Ohio grid honors as a member of the Greater Cincinnati team.

Yost, another threat at right halfback, is the youngest member on the squad. Roger played at Paseo high, Kansas City where he rated as first man on the All-Kansas eleven.

The third hopeful for this position is the all-round backfield man from Dixie Heights, Richard Beal.

After a year at Murray State College, Jim Parrott is making a place for himself in the fullback position. Parrott, a hard driver, is from Springfield.

Ran 103 Yards

William McInturff, another driving fullback, can run in the open field as well as rip through an opposing line. He was high scorer in the Cumberland Valley Conference playing with the Pineville eleven. Mac once ran 103 yards for a winning touchdown.

Big, shifty "Dutch" Campbell will be a hard man to beat at fullback. Playing with the undefeated eleven of Newark, Ohio, Campbell won an All-Central Ohio rating.

Paul, Serini, and Englis will offer each other frey competition in the fight for left tackle.

Paul Former Service Man

Henry Paul, a former service man, played at Tilghman high under Coach Rice Mountjoy. "Red" won "All-Southern" mention and second-team "All Kentucky."

Clearing the path for backfield men by just running over whoever is in the way, Washington Serini came from Tuckahoe, New York for a tryout with the eleven. He won rating as All-Westchester New York. "Wash" has been discharged from the Marines.

John Englis won "All-New York City" mention and gained a place on the "All-Public School Athletic League" team. He is a fast-charging tackle and stiff competition for left tackle.

Seen Previous Experience

A vicious fellow on the gridiron, Jim Little, right tackle, is a ministerial student from Portsmouth, Ohio. Prior to enrolling at the University, he played two years football with Rome Rankin at Eastern.

Ross Shannon, rough and tough right tackle, made the Big Seven Conference All-Star team of West Virginia. Shannon is a threat at intercepting passes and a great broken field runner.

Three men who have been working out at center have shown great promise. Floyd Shorts, a powerful, crashing center, promises to overpower most opposing centers by the punishing game he plays. He was graduated in 1943 from Sharon high school at Sharon, Pa., his home, where he was football-team captain in 1943 after winning All-Pennsylvania honors in 1941 and 1942.

Louis McDonald, a razor-sharp mainstay for the center of any football line, learned football fundamentals at Tilghman high school, Paducah, where he was captain of his high school team. Because of his ability as an alert and fast-charging lineman, he was named in 1942 to the West Kentucky All-Star team which competed for highest scholastic gridiron honors in Kentucky.

Ferris Captained H. S. Team

Third man playing center is Fred Ferris, a chunky but swift pivot man who won scholastic football laurels in Illinois, where he was picked on the All-Illinois team and the "Chicago Daily News All-State" eleven. Graduated from East Peoria high at Peoria this spring, he captained his high school team.

Left guard John Sutak captained his high school team at Warren Consolidated high school, Tiltonsville, Ohio, in 1943. A bruising type of player who can charge hard and tackle effectively, he played tackle in high school but has been converted, because of his speed and shiftness, to a guard post at Kentucky.

Spike Arnsparger is a line bulwark on defense and promises to gain polish as an offensive left guard as the season progresses. With his great speed and drive, he can make tackle audible to spectators in the stands when he gets a clear shot at an opposing back.

Arenstein Tough Lineman

Left guard Leo Arenstein is a vicious, hard-playing lineman. He won many gridiron honors in a tough high school league in Metropolitan New York and gained a place in the big city's hall of Football Fame for fine defensive play.

Doc Ferrell, a heavy right guard who runs fast despite his size and who thrives on hard knocks of the game, will be 18 on Nov. 7, but promises to do a lot of heavy blocking and defensive work for the Wildcats before he goes into the armed forces.

Right guard Leo Haas handles himself well and plays a driving game on offense and alert, and a protective game on defense. He was captain of the 1943 football team at Ironton, Ohio, where he was a star lineman and won all-Ohio mention for his position as tackle.

A good defensive right guard, Rochester Kent was graduated from Portsmouth East high school in Ohio this summer. His potentialities are great, and he shows excellent possibilities as a hard-hitting guard.

Schu Net Star

Wilbur Schu, left end, who is a veteran of the University basketball team, reported for collegiate football for the first time this year. He had a high scholastic gridiron record when he played for Versailles and captained his high school eleven.

A pass-catching backfield man converted to left end, Tony Rotunno came to the University from Canton McKinley high school, where he starred as co-captain and halfback.

George Caughey, third of the progressive left ends, is a native of Illinois. He played high school football at Paris, and distinguished himself by aggressiveness that paid off in touchdowns.

McCune Played For U. I.

Big Jesse McCune, who has had a year's experience at the University of Indiana as a first-string tackle, has been shoved over to right end on the Kentucky eleven. At duPont Manual Training high school in Louisville, he was captain of the team his last year.

An excellent defensive right end, Jack Schiffl played on one of the top football teams in Indiana at Washington, where he was co-captain last fall. Schiffl, who can pull down passes when the occasion demands, has shown steady improvement offensively.

Blimp Davis, who played tackle at Sharon high school last year, has been shifted to right end by Kirwan and his associates. He also served as co-captain of his high school eleven.

There we have the present Wildcat lineup.

Drills Suspended

Vacation from drills will begin next week and last until September 4, when the boys will have three weeks of hard practice before the first game with the University of Mississippi on Saturday night, September 23, on Stoll Field.

With the kickoff, Kentucky rooters will notice the absence of the "Best Band in Dixie." However, plans have been made to invite a high school band to each home game.

So this is another year—cheerleaders, enthusiastic rooters, silk football pants, and rivalry, just as bitter as ever will all be there.
