NAMING OF UNIVERSITY BUILDING

Recommendation: that the Board of Trustees approve the name the THOMAS D. CLARK BUILDING for the building located at 663 South Limestone Street which houses the University of Kentucky Press.

Background: Dr. Thomas D. Clark joined the University of Kentucky in 1931 and later served for 23 years as the head of the Department of History, which he developed into one of the strongest in the South. He published a large number of books, served as President of both the Southern Historical Association and the Organization of American Historians, and served for two years on the Board of Trustees of the University. He also made major contributions to the Margaret I. King Library and to the State Library and Archives. Dr. Clark retired in 1968 after 37 years of service.

Dr. Clark has demonstrated a deep commitment and has worked vigorously and persistently to raise the level of academic excellence in the University and to improve the quality of education throughout the Commonwealth. It is, however, Dr. Clark's vital contributions to the University of Kentucky Press that make it particularly fitting that this building be named in his honor. He was instrumental in the founding of the University of Kentucky Press in 1943, and he served as chairman of its board for a number of years. Of equal importance is his role in the development of the University Press of Kentucky. He helped to organize the cooperative arrangement among the state's universities and colleges that has led to the highly successful University Press of Kentucky. He now chairs the endowment committee of the Press.

In accordance with University Policy, the Committee for Naming University Buildings has made its recommendation to the Chancellor of the Lexington Campus who recommends to the President and the Board of Trustees that the the building at 663 South Limestone Street be named the THOMAS D. CLARK BUILDING.

Members, Board of Trustees:

NAMING OF UNIVERSITY BUILDING

Recommendation: that the Board of Trustees approve the name the BRUCE FOUNDTONE REGULATORY SERVICES BUILDING for the new Regulatory Services Building under construction.

Background: Mr. Bruce Foundstone was appointed Assistant in Farm Management in the Department of Farm Economics at the University of Kentucky in 1929 while completing a Master of Science degree which he received in 1931. He later served as head of the Department of Feed and Fertilizer and became Director of Regulatory Services in 1967. He retired in 1971 after almost 42 years of continuous service.

During the 25 years Mr. Foundstone served as administrator of the Regulatory Services program, he built the department into one of the most respected in the nation. He, more than any other single person, developed agricultural regulatory work into a science and a profession. In 1967 he was elected President of the Association of Official Analytical Chemists, only one of two University of Kentucky staff members to be so honored. Today, Kentucky farmers have one of the nation's finest agricultural regulatory programs. The University is beginning construction of a new 3.5 million dollar state-of-the-art laboratory building to house Regulatory Services. This building will either directly, or indirectly, benefit all citizens of the Commonwealth. It is, therefore, fitting that we honor Mr. Foundstone by naming the new Regulatory Services Building, the BRUCE FOUNDTONE REGULATORY SERVICES BUILDING.

In accordance with University Policy, the Committee for Naming University Buildings has made its recommendation to the Chancellor of the Lexington Campus who recommends to the President and the Board of Trustees that the Regulatory Services Building be named the BRUCE FOUNDTONE REGULATORY SERVICES BUILDING.

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY DEGREE PROGRAM IN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Recommendation: that the Board approve for submission to the Council on Higher Education a new Doctor of Philosophy degree program in Public Administration.

Background: The University of Kentucky is the principal graduate degree granting university in the statewide system, and as such emphasizes the development of graduate, research, and service programs. It is also the stated aim of the University to maintain adequate support for its Centers of Excellence. The James W. Martin School of Public Administration has been designated by the University as a Center of Excellence in a collaborative effort with the Council of State Governments. This institutional arrangement provides a strong base for significant regional and national research and service activities. The capacity to engage in such efforts will be significantly improved by the addition of faculty and doctoral students interested in public policy issues. The proposed Ph.D. program in Public Administration is consistent with these specific aims of the University and with its broader commitment to promote doctoral education and to enhance its research capability. The Ph.D. program in Public Administration will be consistent with the University's doctoral training, research, and service missions.

The need for doctoral level public administration education emerges principally from changes occurring in government at federal, state, and local levels, and associated private, not-for-profit institutions. Increased demands for more public services in a period of constrained resources will require more sophisticated management of public organizations by well-trained public administrators. At the present time there are no Ph.D. programs in public administration in Kentucky, West Virginia, or Tennessee. With the recent advent of accreditation of master's degree programs, there will be an increasing demand for trained faculty in public administration. Moreover, state governments are attempting to improve the quality of their senior executives and policy analysts. Thus, both academic and governmental institutions will be seeking individuals trained in Public Administration at the Ph.D. level.

The proposed Ph.D. program in Public Administration will prepare students for a variety of academic and professional positions in a national market.

Members, Board of Trustees:

BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE PROGRAM IN ARTS ADMINISTRATION

Recommendation: that the Board approve for submission to the Council on Higher Education a new Bachelor of Arts degree program in Arts Administration.

Background: The University of Kentucky has made a long-range commitment to instruction in the Arts through the programs and faculty of the College of Fine Arts, and maintains the same sort of commitment to instruction in business and economics through its College of Business and Economics. The institution of a bachelor's degree program in Arts Administration is a logical outgrowth of the University's current instructional commitments and its success in meeting these commitments. No Kentucky university offers a program in arts administration at this time. With the increase in the number of performing and visual arts facilities in the region and the nation, and the number of local, regional, and state arts councils, there is a growing need for individuals with both artistic sensibilities and business acumen to work in these areas.

The College of Fine Arts is uniquely qualified to offer a program in arts administration. The College has strong programs in music, visual arts, and theatre that will complement the program in arts administration. Each of these areas is actively engaged in making and presenting art to the University and local and regional communities, in such facilities as the Singletary Center for the Arts, the Guignol Theatre, the Wallace N. Briggs Theatre, and the Center for Contemporary Art. These facilities, as well as others in the surrounding area, offer ideal opportunities for students to gain first-hand experience in the operation of arts facilities.

The proposed program is designed for those individuals who wish to pursue a career in the field immediately following the bachelor's degree, particularly those who have a pronounced interest in or commitment to one or more of the fine arts, but who do not wish to pursue careers based on performance or creative activity, and who do not wish to pursue teaching careers in the arts. The program also prepares students who wish to pursue master of arts, master of fine arts, and master of business administration degree programs in arts administration.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE HEALTH SCIENCES
STUDENT PROFESSIONAL BEHAVIOR CODE

Recommendation: that the Board of Trustees approve the following amendments to the Health Sciences Student Professional Behavior Code (AR II-7.0-6)

(Note: Proposed deletions are bracketed; proposed additions are underlined.)

Amendment #1 - Change Section B.6 to read:

B.6. Behavior or action [intended to deceive, defraud, or harm] which deceives, defrauds, or harms the public and/or profession;

Amendment #2 - Add the following as Section B.13:

B.13. Commission of any act which has the effect of bringing the student, the University, or the student's intended profession into disrepute, including, but not limited to, any departure from or failure to conform to the standards of acceptable and prevailing professional practice with the state and any departure from or failure to conform to the principles or code of ethics recognized by the licensing, certifying, or professional association or agency of the student's intended profession.

Background for Amendments: The Health Sciences Student Professional Behavior Code was initially approved by the Board of Trustees on June 19, 1984, and subsequently was included in the University of Kentucky Administrative Regulations as AR II-7.0-6. The amendments under consideration, which are recommended to alleviate concerns in implementing the present standards, are the first to be proposed since the approval of the Code in 1984.

During the 1987 spring semester, the Medical Center Student Affairs Committee, which is composed of a representative from the Student Services Office of each college in the Medical Center and two faculty members, reviewed the present standards of the Health Sciences Student Professional Behavior Code and made recommendations for revisions. The Medical Center Cabinet has reviewed and discussed the proposed revisions and supports the amendments recommended. Ms. Gay Elste, Associate Counsel, worked with the Committee on the wording of the amendments and also has reviewed the proposed amendments following review and support of the Medical Center Cabinet. The Health Sciences Student Professional Behavior Code is applicable at any site which is relevant to professional practice when such conduct occurs at any site which is the subject of a clinical affiliation agreement, or at any site where the student is engaged in a course or other learning experience for credit toward graduation, or upon University property. According to Section J of the Health Sciences Student Professional Behavior Code, all amendments to the Code shall be recommended by the Chancellor for the Medical Center, after consultation with Medical Center deans and other administrators, to the President with final approval of such amendments to be made by the Board of Trustees.

Designation of Depository Bank

Recommendation: that the Board of Trustees designate First National Bank of Pikeville, Pikeville, Kentucky, to serve as a depository bank for the University of Kentucky and/or its affiliated corporations.

Background: To comply with House Bill 622 by the 1982 General Assembly, the Board of Trustees must designate depository banks serving the University of Kentucky and its affiliated corporations.

With the increased growth of the off-campus and continuing education programs offered at Pikeville by the Prestonsburg Community College, a need has arisen for depository services within Pikeville. The University of Kentucky Division of Purchasing Services invited bids for depository banking services from three banks located in Pikeville, however, no responses were received. The First National Bank of Pikeville was selected by administrative officials at Prestonsburg Community College.

Members, Board of Trustees:

AUTHORIZED RETIREMENT PLAN VEHICLES

Recommendation: That the Board of Trustees approve the following recommendations for incorporation in the University of Kentucky Retirement Plan:

1. Authorize Fidelity Investments and Twentieth Century to be utilized as retirement plan vehicles in addition to TIAA/CREF.
2. Authorize all new retirement contributions from the employer and employee, if the employee so desires, to be available for investment in any of the authorized vehicles.
3. Authorize accumulated funds in Fidelity Investments and Twentieth Century to be distributed at retirement in accordance with the employee's directions utilizing whatever options these companies offer, including rollovers.
4. Retain unaltered the policy that retirement distributions of funds invested in TIAA/CREF will continue to be governed by the rules of that company.
5. Eliminate Value Line as an authorized company for voluntary tax-sheltered contributions.

Background: Following Board of Trustees approval on June 23, 1987, of the Ad Hoc Retirement Review Committee recommendations, the President appointed a committee to develop the appropriate specifications for alternative retirement vehicles.

The principles approved by the Board of Trustees at its June 23, 1987 meeting stipulated that accumulated funds in non-TIAA/CREF vehicles available for lump-sum distribution at retirement be limited to 50%. At the same time, the Board also directed that accumulated funds in these non-TIAA/CREF vehicles did not have to be annuitized. In reviewing the University's proposed lump-sum withdrawal limit, however, the various companies indicated that this would only be possible to control if the University maintained detailed records and accounts on all employees. Certainly this is not a feasible or practical option and would entail considerable additional expense.

The committee was advised by TIAA/CREF representatives that non-annuitized retirement options, including the use of a number of additional investment vehicles, was under serious consideration by TIAA/CREF and would no doubt be made available to the various institutions in future years. Making non-annuitized retirement options available, including lump-sum withdrawals, is considered essential for appropriate retirement planning.

Approval of these recommendations will mean that the University has authorized three different companies (TIAA/CREF, Fidelity Investments, and Twentieth Century) to be utilized for retirement plan contributions as well as for voluntary contributions.

The committee noted that only eight employees currently utilize Value Line as a voluntary investment vehicle. With so little interest in Value Line, and considering administrative costs, this voluntary vehicle should no longer be offered. Value Line did not respond to the committee's request for proposals for additional retirement plan vehicles.

The implementation of this alternative retirement program will require approval by the Board of Trustees when the appropriate staff work on the proposed revision of the University of Kentucky Retirement Plan (AR II-1.6-1) has been completed.

Ownership of Coldstream Farm

Recommendation: that the Board of Trustees declares no portion of Coldstream Farm shall be offered for sale now or in the foreseeable future, but shall be retained in perpetuity by the University.

Background: Coldstream Farm was acquired in 1956, 1957, and 1958 by the state government during the administration of Governor A. B. Chandler, who assigned the property to the University for use by the Cooperative Research Station in the College of Agriculture. It has long been recognized as a valuable asset of the University, and as Lexington and Fayette County grow, the value of the farm will continue to increase.

The future of Coldstream has been an issue for more than two years. The Finance Committee of the Board has spent many hours considering the future of the farm. In order to maximize the economic return from this asset, it is the feeling of the Committee that it is in the best interest of the University to retain ownership and control of the farm for the foreseeable future. A primary objective relative to future use of Coldstream Farm should be that it enhance the role and mission of the institution.

This recommendation is in conformity with the policy statement on land use and land disposition adopted by the Board on September 17, 1985.

Employment of Consultant for Coldstream Farm

Recommendation: that the Board of Trustees directs the Vice Chancellor for Administration of the Lexington Campus to proceed to contract on behalf of the University with the firm of MPC, Inc., of Washington, D.C. to study the potential use of Coldstream Farm so as to maximize its economic return to the University, and contribute to the economic development of the Commonwealth in an optimal way while serving the mission of the University. It shall further be the responsibility of MPC to advise the Administration and Trustees on appropriate alternatives for meeting the needs and enhancing the programs of the College of Agriculture currently conducted on the farm.

Background: The Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees established a subcommittee of its members on June 23, 1987, for the purpose of selecting a real estate development consulting firm to assist the trustees and the University Administration as they considered the alternatives involved in the future use of Coldstream Farm. The University prepared a "Request for Proposal" that was sent to many firms that had experience and expertise in real estate development. The RFP also was advertised in national and local newspapers. Eleven firms responded to the RFP. Four finalists emerged from the list of respondents. Each of the finalists was interviewed at length in Lexington on Saturday, October 31, 1987, by the members of the subcommittee. The MPC Company was invited back for a second interview on Wednesday, November 18, 1987, and this company was the unanimous choice of the subcommittee as the University's advisor on matters pertaining to the future of Coldstream. As a part of its contract, MPC will meet with various members of the faculty, students, staff, and trustees of the University to ascertain their feelings and ideas on the future use of Coldstream Farm in furtherance of the University's mission. Similarly, MPC will meet with business and agricultural leaders and appropriate government officials to ascertain the various opinions on the future use of the farm. MPC also will collect relevant demographic and market data with respect to the development of Coldstream that do not involve the sale of the property. MPC will report periodically to the Board of Trustees and the Administration on its findings.
