SENIORS HOLD ANNUAL ARBOR DAY EXERCISES ON UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

Lamp and Cross and Mortar Board Honorary Societies, Pledge New Members

CLASS PROPHECY READ.

Juniors Accept Spade and Duties Left to Them By Outgoing Class

In accordance with a long-standing tradition, Arbor Day services were held on the University campus at 11 o'clock last Friday morning. The customary program was carried out, the planting of a tree by the senior class, accompanied by appropriate ceremonies, and the pledging of new members to the two senior honorary societies—Mortar Board, for women, and Lamp and Cross for men.

The setting was perfect, the most fastidious nature-worshiper could not have selected weather more fitting for Arbor Day. The sky was alternately shadow and sun-shine, while the campus was resplendent in the fresh garb of mid-spring.

William Finn, president of the senior class, began the ceremonies with a short speech in which he stated the purposes of the gathering—that of planting a tree as a memorial of the class of 1923. He spoke briefly upon the accomplishments of his class, mentioning also the things that were left undone and leaving these things

ALPHA DELTA SIGMA TO GIVE GRIDIRON DINNER

Second Annual Banquet Given By Organization; Interesting Program Arranged

Invitations will be issued this week for the second annual gridiron dinner inaugurated last year by the Alpha Delta Sigma fraternity of the University, which is to be held Monday night, June 11, at the Phoenix Hotel. The program is to be the original work of the members of the organization, and the banquet will be attended by over one hundred alumni members and guests besides the active members of the organization.

The gridiron dinner of Alpha Delta Sigma is fashioned after the famous Washington extravaganza. The evening's program will be conducted as a take off on the proceedings of a community chautauques, the different parts being numbered on the chautauques program. There will be several numbers of different types, one of which will be musical. The final and most important number will be a play written and acted by the members; this play is a scene from a newspaper office during a political campaign just before the paper goes to press. Different opinions held by the reporters concerning the candidates are stated freely as well as humorous and versions on numerous state issues and contemporary events.

The list of invited guests include a large number of prominent newspaper men, as well as well known professional and business men, who look forward with pleasant anticipation to this banquet remembering the clever farce on "Evolution," which was last year's entertainment.

PRESIDENT M'VEY VIEWS LAND GIVEN BY ROBINSON

Says Lack of Transportation is a Great Handicap to Development.

Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, Dean Thomas P. Cooper, of the College of Agriculture, and Judge R. C. Stoll returned Monday from Jackson, where they had gone to survey the property consisting of 15,000 acres of land in Breathitt, Perry and Knott counties, leased to the institution by the E. O. Robinson Mountain Fund.

Dr. McVey stated Monday that, while the project means a great step forward in the development of eastern Kentucky, the undertaking of experiments in reforestation, farming, horticulture and grafting, combined with the difficulty in establishing a real economic basis of living for the people of the mountain districts, is a tremendous one that requires long and diligent concentration.

"One of the greatest handicaps," Dr. McVey said, "is the lack of transportation. This in itself is an issue that will require long thought, and I feel safe in saying that it will be a very long time before any real developments will be decided upon by the board, which is composed of representatives of the university and the foundation."

The Kiwanis Club of Jackson, will give a banquet in honor of Mr. Robinson, June 15, and the members of the Robinson fund board are expected to be present at the time. It is believed that new developments that have been passed upon by representatives of the university and the foundation will be presented in addresses by the leaders in the enterprise at this meeting.

Judge E. C. O'Rear, of Frankfort; C. N. Manning, H. M. Morman, and E. O. Robinson, of Ft. Thomas, were also members of the inspection party.

CATHOLIC CLUB MEETING

There will be a special call meeting of the Catholic Club of the University at the assembly room on Barr street, Sunday morning, May 13, at 10 o'clock. This is a very important meeting and every member is asked to be present.

Ideas developed after careful consideration of the University's needs are expected by the Executive Committee in the $100 "Best Plan for Getting Results" contest. As stated before the winning idea may be a slogan, a series of advertisements or newspaper stories, a plan of organization or an inspired cartoon.

The ten alumni who have made this contest possible are J. Will Stoll, James W. Carnahan, J. I. Lyle, Charles R. Brock, Howard P. Ingels, Desha Breckinridge, Frank Daugherty, Jas. H. Gardner, Rodman Wiley and W. H. Grady.

Judges of the contest will be Prof. Enoch Grehan, S. L. Postheltwait and John Lansill. All contributions must be in the hands of the Secretary of the Alumni Association by May 25.

Watch the Press

Alumni must feel concerned in treatment given the University by the press. There has been a marked improvement in this respect in the last three or four years due to more accurate information about the University current among the citizens of the state.

This has resulted in large part from the greater activity of alumni who have circulated such information. The University of Kentucky is not standing alone. To discredit or handicap it is to retard progress of the whole public school system. There has been one impressive defection in this respect lately in the Kentucky press. A cure can be accomplished only by the eternal vigilance of alumni and a forceful response to injustice.

The alumni secretary regrets the necessity to call attention to such a situation. He believes the aid of alumni can be depended on in righting the wrong.

CHANGE COMMENCEMENT

Middle-West Colleges Select Earlier Date for Ceremonies.

Throughout the west and middle west a change in the date for holding college commencements was made last year. The date was made earlier so that the returning alumni and friends of the institution might come in contact with undergraduates and observe the functioning of the institution.

Undergraduates thus receive inspiration to do greater work while still in college. Alumni get a better idea of the workings of the institution which have changed greatly in the last decade. Such a proposal may be made by the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky this year.

Detroit Club Notes

The recent visit of Dean F. Paul Anderson to Detroit, where he addressed the Detroit Engineering Society was the occasion for quite a gathering of alumni in Detroit.

Dean Cooley of the University of Michigan Engineering School came dangerously near to causing an exodus southward by his description of his visit with Dean Anderson in Lexington. He said Lexington was the greatest little town in the country, and every one of us said "Amen."

Kentucky's system of training engineers as gentlemen first and as specialists never, was Dean Anderson's subject. Humility and a generous supply of gentlemanly characteristics are the greatest requisites for a successful engineer, he said.

There was quite a murmuring in the audience when the little dean told of the more than 200 calls that are already in his office for the 51 Kentucky men who will graduate this year. Dean Anderson had little time before his train left to do more than greet the alumni, but he did drop a few interesting news items about Alma Mater for us.—C. E. Planck, secretary.

CAMPUS CHATTER

A meeting of the Lodge of Jilted Brethren will be held Friday night at midnight and all of the brethren are urged to attend. For the use of all students of the University who may be of the opinion that they are eligibles, a box will be placed beside the student mail box in the basement of the Administration building and aspirants are to hand in their names, Lexington addresses and telephone numbers, written on yellow paper. It is important that the last phrase be completed with. After the committee receives the above information, application blanks will be sent to applicants within a week's time.

There will be a picnic Friday afternoon, May 11, given by the Ag. Society on the Experiment Station Farm. All of the Ag. students will assemble at the Ag. building at end of the eighth hour and proceed to the place selected. The Dean got all pepped up over the affair and took some of his good time and wrote every member of the College a letter urging a one hundred per cent attendance.

The social committee of the Ag. Society is "not puttin' out a thing" but is preparing to "knock 'em cold" with the program. Fellow, make a date and come on out.

SMART KID.

A rough-looking man entered the home of a gentleman in a Western city, and seeing no one around but a small boy named Willie, said to him, "If you don't tell me where your father keeps his money, I'll knock your block off, and then eat yer."

"Please don't" said Willie. "You'll find all the money we've got is in an old coat in the kitchen."

Two minutes later a bruised and battered wreck was pitched through the front door of Willie's home and sat in the gutter and blinked.

"That kid's too smart," said the man. "He never said a word about the old man bein' inside of the coat."

ONE COMFORT, ANYWAY

A man who was continually losing his collar button while dressing complained to his wife about it. With an ingenuity born of the use of hairpins, she told him to hold his collar button in his mouth. The next morning she was startled by an unusual commotion. "What's the matter," she asked anxiously. "I've swallowed the collar button," said the man. "Well," responded his wife, "there's one comfort; for once in your life you know where it is."

GRATIFYING ATTENDANCE REPORT

The Kernel is in receipt of a report recently issued by the registrar's office containing the attendance record of students for the first semester of 1922-1923. By careful comparison with that of last year it is found that the attendance record is much higher. Because of so marked improvement in increased attendance, one must take into consideration the fact that the system making possible the compiling of such a record has so greatly improved over last year, that comparison of the two is almost unjust.

The statement is compiled upon the number of absent reports due, percentage reports due, percentage reports received, and average recitations missed, arranged according to colleges. By this method the instructors are kept in close touch with the registrar's office and are held accountable for all daily attendance returns neglected, as shown in the report. Such reports must be turned in daily in order to make comparison throughout the previous semester just and accurate.

The Kernel desires here to commend this system in the hope that it will continue to improve and within a short time reach a stage of perfection as many individual instructors and colleges have already done. Some instructors, however, neglected to conform to this system and many absences were not reported.

The Kernel is very pleased over the fact that students are attending classes more regularly than in previous years. This may be one of the factors responsible for the increasingly higher scholarship which the students made during the last year. Regular attendance not only increases scholarship but it denotes interest in classes that heretofore must have been lacking in small measure. It is gratifying to note the changed improvement in the entire system and attitude of the students.

FORWARD LOOKING STEP

The Athletic Council of the University and the Executive heads of various alumni bodies upon invitation of Louis Lee Haggan met at his home last week for the purpose of discussing plans and means of erecting the new basketball building and clubhouse. After supper the eighteen men present representing various organizations gathered around the table and threshed out plans.

The problem of how to finance the enterprise while waiting for the various pledges to mature and be collected called for the more serious consideration. Hope was expressed at the close of the meeting that the basketball court which is most needed be started at such time as to make it possible to have work partly under way by commencement week and probably lay the cornerstone as one of the commencement functions. Whether it will be possible to do this under present congested building material market and labor conditions is conjectural, but to have work started by commencement should be a valuable object lesson to alumni and citizens interested in the "Greater University" program.

MOTHERS' DAY

Sunday, May 13, is the day set aside as "Mothers' Day" to commemorate undying love for mothers both living and dead. The prevalence of flowers upon this day and messages flashed home to mothers symbolize this universal custom.

Gloom and sadness enter the hearts of many upon this day. Many there are whose mothers God in His wisdom saw best to relieve of the burden of earthly duties. No consolation is sufficient to comfort these who have been deprived the companionship of mothers taken from them.

Let us pause upon this forthcoming Sabbath day and be comforted by memories of mothers gone, and appreciation by writing letters or sending cards or flowers to those whom God has been merciful enough to leave with us yet a little while.

SENIORS HOLD ANNUAL

as a charge to the succeeding classes. As a word of encouragement, he quoted the following oft-quoted adage: "The greatest glory consists not in never falling but in rising every time you fall."

The next speaker was Harry Brailsford, senior orator, who made a talk on Arbor Day, its meaning and its purpose. He concluded with the familiar stanzas of eulogy to the tree, ending, "Poems are made by fools like me, while only God can make a tree."

Following this address, the seniors lined up and with the officers leading the procession, marched to the tree, each throwing upon the roots a spadeful of dirt. The senior girls were dressed in white which added much to the beauty of the ceremony. It was with a feeling of sadness that the under-grads watched the seniors file by for they realized that in a few more weeks these familiar faces would no longer be seen upon the campus. It seemed that the very heart of the student body was passing in a last review. Then came the comforting thought that, though the tree that they were planting might not live, the love and loyalty for their Alma Mater, deeply rooted in the heart of each graduate, would carry contagion to every one with whom it came in contact. Thus the students, who have for four years so faithfully and so ardently borne on high the Blue and White standard will continue to serve their beloved University by spreading far and near the good old "Wildcat Spirit" which has never yet known defeat.

After this impressive ceremony, William Finn delivered the spade into the custody of the junior class. Sidney Neal, junior orator, who spoke in recognition of the token. He said, "A few moments ago we stood with heads bowed in submission but now we stand erect as masters of the student-body and faculty—and we be to that on who questions our authority. "He sketched briefly the things which the class of '24 expects to do next year and ended with a eulogy to the departing seniors.

The last thing on the speaking program was the reading of the class prophecy by Laura Hubbard. The prophecy was cleverly and humorously written.

After this the crowd moved to a more central part of the campus and formed a semi-circle to witness the pledging of the senior fraternities. The active chapter of Lamp and Cross composed of William Finn, Samuel Ridgeway, Birkett Pribble, John Albright, Otis Jones, Lawrence Burnham, Bowman Grant, John Burks, Charles Mahoney and James Shouse, pledged the following men: William Blanton, Ryan Ringo, Lowell Truitt, Edward Gans, Daniel Morse, Gardner Bayless, Givens Martin, Earl Maxwell Heavrin, Dell Ramsey and Marshall Barnes. Mortar Board pledging followed immediately. The active chapter composed of Laura Hubbard, Sara Blanding, Eleanor Morse, Mary Lyons and Sara Cequin pledged the following: Catherine Elliott, Laura Isabel Bennett, Lucy Wilson, Minnie Benton Peterson, Katherine Cleveland, Mary Marshall McMeekin, Elizabeth Ellis, Katherine Hanley, Elizabeth Snapp and Elizabeth Weller.

DRY RIDGE DEBATING TEAM VICTORS IN TOURNAMENT

Harry Giovannoli Presents Lexington Leader Cup

The Dry Ridge High School won the State Championship in Debate in the Tenth Annual Interscholastic Tournament when their team defeated Paris High School in the finals Friday night.

The Lexington Leader cup, offered annually to the victors of the debate, was presented by Harry Giovannoli, editor of the Leader. It must be won three times to be retained. The judges of the contest were C. H. Manning, Dr. A. D. Harmon and Professor C. H. Pendleton, of Peabody College, Nashville.

The winning team composed of Miss Adah Renaker, Miss Utha Blakburn and Charles Blaine, took the negative side of the question which was debated throughout the preliminaries: Resolved that adjusted compensation embodying the fourfold optional plan offered by the American Legion should be granted to our soldiers of the World War by next Congress.

The Dry Ridge team defeated Lewis County High School, Louisville Male High School, and Calhoun High School before reaching the finals.

WILDCAT NINE DEFEATS VOLS IN 2ND CONTEST AT KNOXVILLE 6 TO 1

CATS WIN OUT IN EIGHTH

Burnham And Ridgeway Cinch Victory by Pounding Out Homers.

The University of Kentucky Wildcats won their second game Tuesday from the University of Tennessee nine, 6 to 1.

The Volunteers scored the first run in the opening inning, but Kentucky evened the count in the fifth frame with a single and stolen base by Rouse, followed by Henry's single.

From this time on it was a pitchers' battle until the eighth, when Kentucky scored five runs on singles by Henry, Sauer, Miller and home runs by Burnham and Ridgeway. The battery of Gregg and Henry worked in good fashion. Outside of the eighth inning, Bishop pitched a good game for Tennessee.

CY BARGER

Blue and White diamond mentor who has piloted the Feline through a very successful season thus far, winning two out of three contests already played on the annual southern trip. Barger managed the Memphis Club of the Southern Association before coming here and formerly played with the Boston Red Sox.

SCRAPS

An interclass tennis tournament of ladies' and men's doubles will be held on the campus courts beginning the week of May 21. All desiring to enter the contest must give their names to Prof. Downing not later than Friday, May 18.

A horse-shoe pitching contest will also be conducted at an early date under the direction of Daddy Boles.

The following, in addition to Coach Barger and Manager McCormick comprise the Cat baseball squad that is now on its annual southern trip: outfielders, Miller, Ridgeway, Sauer and Boren; infielders, Kelly, Burnham, Rouse and Arnold; catchers, Pribble and Henry; pitchers, Van Arsdale, Stokes and True.

Kentucky's biggest contender for the state track title to be determined at Georgetown, Saturday, May 12, appears to be the Centre Colonels. The Danville crew handed Maryville a 81-49 trimming at Knoxville last Saturday. Berryman and Kimball starred for the Colonels.

The first annual Freshman state meet will be held in connection with the Varsity event at Georgetown May 12. Georgetown and Centre appear to be the Kittens' chief opponents with the "Reverend Lieutenants" looking best of the two.

At a recent meeting of the athletic council, tennis was made a minor sport. The council decided to award five letters for the varsity team and three to the freshman net squad. Prof. H. H. Downing, who has been coaching the team, will continue to do so. Harry B. Tilton was elected captain and manager of the varsity team at a recent election of the varsity squad.

KITTEN CINDER ARTISTS SWAMP GEORGIA TECH

Uncas Miller, Yearling Captain, is High Point Man for Blue and White.

The Kentucky Kitten track outfit swamped the Georgia Tech yearlings under an avalanche of records last Saturday in the second telegraph meet held between the two squads, taking the meet by the score of 81½ to 30½. Tech managed to get in four first places while the Kitten runners and field men took every other event. The Kitten track men were much more formidable than the field men as a rule, but "Turkey" Hughes left off his baseball togs long enough to set a new University record in the running broad jump. Two weeks ago Hughes broke Snyder's record by making 21 feet 8 inches. Saturday he cleared 21 feet 10 inches.

Uncas Miller, the newly elected Freshman track captain was star of the meet, taking first place in the 100-yard dash with the fast time of 10 seconds flat, first in the 220 yard dash and first in the 440. Raymond Hall again took both the distance events and his time far surpassed the work of the Georgia runners. Wilson also took a first place winning the 16 pound shot put. A surprise turned up when Kentucky took both hurdles by winning both first and second in each race. In the first meet with the Georgia trackmen, Kentucky was unable to present a pole vaulter, but during the two weeks before the second meet, two were developed so that Kentucky took second place in this event.

Georgia managed to capture the 880 yard run, the pole vault, discus throw and javelin throw. Kentucky took every other event with the exception of these. Another fact that is noticeable in the returns of the meet, is that Kentucky had two good men in every event. In the 100 yard dash, 220, both hurdles and both the high jump and the broad jump the Kittens took every point. In the events which Georgia took, a Kitten man always placed second. The fact that the Kentucky man had some one behind him pushing to win undoubtedly raised the Kitten records considerably.

Little nigger (eyeing him from the corners of his eyes)—"What'd he do?"

"Grandma," asked little Paul, six years old, "what makes Helen such a pretty little girl?"

"She is pretty," grandma replied, "because she is such a good little girl."

"But, Grandma," Paul protested, "you are awful good."

"Have you any references?" inquired the lady of the house.

"Yis, mum, lots of them," answered the prospective maid.

"Then why did you not bring some of them with you?"

"Well, mum, to tell the troot, they're just loike my photographs. None of them don't do me justice."

Going Fast.

"Are we passing a cemetery?"
"No, but the milestones are getting pretty close together. Perhaps we had better slow down."

Current Humor.

I like to read of the college wits; They sometimes gather up my bits. This practice I do not decry; If the year stand it, so can I.

Restaurant Humor

Victim—What did you say this meat was?
Waiter—Spring Lamb.

Victim—I believe you. I've been chewing on one of the springs for an hour.

Irate Customer—See here, waiter, I found a button in the salad.

Waiter—Well, sir, that's part of the dressing—Carnegie Tech. Puppet.

Time to Go.

He had held forth so long on the subject of his adventures that the entire smoking room was distinctly bored. Finally he reached India.

"It was there that I first saw a man-eating tiger," he announced, boastfully. "Pooh! that's nothing," said a mild-looking little man, edging towards the door. "I once saw a man eating rabbit."

And he sauntered gracefully out—London Blighly.

Rose—I went to a dance last night, and of those freshies tried to kiss me. He said that he had never kissed a girl before.

Doris—And what did you do?

Rose—I told him I was no experiment station.

Betty—Everytime Jim and I have a fuss I write it in a little note book.

Ruth—I see, sort of a little scrap book.

Teacher—Where was the Declaration of Independence signed?

Pupil—At the bottom, ma'm.

Joe—When the preacher said my wife and I are one he lied.

Tom—How so?

Joe—Well, if we are one, why did I have to buy two tickets when we go to the theatre?

An old colored man, after attending the movies for the first time, was asked if he enjoyed them?

"Oh, I like 'em fine, but the pianny made so much noise I couldn't hear what they were saying."

"What are you going to do when you grow up, Bob?"

"A film actor, Miss."

"Why?"

"Because my mother is always telling me that I should be seen and not heard."

In a lecture entitled "Our Country," a speaker in a public school explained: "One reason the United States keeps so far ahead of other nations is because we are getting up and going to work every morning while the people on the other side of the globe are just going to bed."

Surgeon—I understand your anxiety. Your case is puzzling. I shan't understand it myself until after the post mortem.

PRESENTATION OF COMEDY GREATLY AIDED BY CLOWNS

Character Parts in Shakespearean Play Admirably Chosen

The clowns which add much to the comedy of "Midsummer Night's Dream" which is to be presented on the campus May 18 will be played by Henry Taylor as Bottom, the Weaver, Quince, Charles Warrenner; Snout, Bob Creech; Snurg, L. B. Duncan; Flute, John Paul Bicknell; Starveling, Rny Theirman.

These clowns are rude mechanics, according to the play, and work in the Athenian stables. They are typical English characters, and were no doubt intended by Shakespeare to represent the amateurs of his day in dramatic production.

These clowns attempt to put on "The Most Lamentable Comedy and Cruel Death of Pyramus and Thisbe" for the Duke's wedding day celebration. They meet in the wood to rehearse their play so that the whole affair will be kept secret and will not be interrupted. The whole rehearsal and their sad attempts to mimic the professional customs of the day along with their stupidity in interpretation afforded much amusement.

While Bottom is off stage listening for a noise that is heard, Puck, the mischievous fairy, puts an ass's head on his shoulders, when he returns his companions are frightened out of their wits and flee in a mad scramble.

The following committees have been appointed for "Midsummer Night's Dream":

Stage manager, Henry Harrper; general business manager, J. N. Snyder; settings, Professor Sax and Art Department; publicity, Judith Yungblut and Journalism Department; costumes, Anna Bess Sargent and Edna Gordon; properties, Marion Parsons; seat sales, Troy Perkins; programs, Amanda Gordon; posters, Annette Kelley.

NOTICE!

All Seniors wishing to take part in "Take-Off" day exercises in chapel, meet in the Freshman Journalism room the 5th hour Monday.

Feminine Resourcefulness

A young lady took down the receiver and discovered that the telephone was in use.

"I just put on a pan of beans for dinner," she heard one woman complacently informing another.

She hung up her receiver and waited. Three times she waited, and then, exasperated, she broke into the conversation.

"Madam, I smell your beans burning," she announced crisply. A horrified scream greeted her and the young lady was able to put in her call.

EYE STRAIN

How many hours of your waking-time do you spend with your eyes "glued" to print or movie? How much of this is necessary, how much intelligently directed, and of what percent of this time do you profit thereby? This is no argument against studying—this is the use of the eyes; it is, however, merely a questionnaire as to abuse.

Do you have headaches, fatigue, loss of concentration and the temptation at times to "let things hang"? These are not by any means totally diagnostic of eye-strain, but they are suggestive. The signs on the road are pointing perhaps to your eyes. Conclusions must not be jumped at; rather must they be proved. It is a fact, however, that many students are causing or aggravating eye-strain by over-use of the eyes, such as by "cramming," abuse otherwise by defective lighting, faulty posture at study table, facing the light, using a flickering gas jet, lying down with head almost at right angles to chest; too little light for size of room, or for economic reasons refusing to be fitted for glasses when needed. Of this latter if a student says "I can't afford it," the answer might be, "you cannot afford not to do it."

Many people inherit eye defects but more acquire them. Important as the eyes are, especially in this age when they are more often "bread-winners" than the hands, periodical examinations by oculists are the indispensable conditions often of happiness and efficiency. These should be done whether the student is wearing glasses or not and in case of defects at more frequent intervals than in the absence of symptoms.

Eyestrain reflexes cause a legion of supposedly minor ailments and loss of optimism generally. Valuable working tools of the learning apprentice in the realm of knowledge, the eyes are worth thinking and doing something about. Let your mental cosmos digest this essential item.

A. T. O. FATHERS' DAY PROGRAM SCORES ANEW

Fraternity Holds Annual Meeting Entertaining Fathers and Sons.

Kentucky Mu Iota of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity held its second annual Fathers' Day Program at its home on Limestone last Saturday and Sunday. The affair was attended by the fathers of the boys of the chapter, and by alumni. The custom of holding the Fathers' Day was inaugurated by the fraternity last year and it proved so successful throughout all the chapters of the country that they decided to hold the affair annually.

Entertainment for the fathers began Saturday when they were taken about the city and the University in automobiles, the trip ending at the track meet on Stoll Field.

Saturday evening an informal dinner was held at the home of the fraternity. Among the speakers were President McVey, who spoke on the relationship between the fathers and sons; Harry Brailsford, who told the fathers the value and the need of fraternities in the University, and Dean Anderson of the College of Engineering, who talked of the advantages of the College of which he is dean.

held at dinner Sunday, when the fathers and sons had an additional chance to meet with each other and discuss University affairs.

This custom will no doubt prove of great value to the University as it is the most direct method of spreading propaganda throughout all parts of the state. Members of the faculty who were present at the dinner Saturday night, congratulated the hosts on sponsoring such an affair and expressed a desire that other fraternities hold similar meetings.

HARLAN PAPER PRAISES STROLLER PRODUCTION

Enthusiastic Audience Packs House to See "Lady Windermere's Fan."

The following commendatory review of the Stroller play of 1923, is taken from the Harlan Enterprise, the Strollers having appeared in Harlan last week:

The University of Kentucky Strolls won a place in the hearts of every person in Harlan who witnessed their superb performance of "Lady Windermere's Fan" at the New Harlan Theatre Tuesday night.

The house was packed to the rafters with an appreciative audience including a large number of out-of-town people.

The star and leading lady in the play was Miss Frances Smith, of Lexington. Miss Smith is young but played better than many veterans of the stage in her part as Lady Windermere. Her charming manner and her superb portrayal of this character brought showers of compliments for the youthful leading lady. James Darnell, as Lord Darlington, and Eleanor Morse, as Mrs. Erynne, were close in public favor for honors. Darnell's voice and acting brought him favorably into the limelight, and while Miss Morse had a very difficult role to play, she did it to perfection.

Miss Lucille Stillwell, as the Duchess of Berwick, and E. A. Heavrin, tied for the comedy honors, bringing the house down in gales of laughter time after time.

Dan Morse made an ideal Lord Windermere, a husband any lady would be proud to call her own.

Space will not permit us to go into detail, but the minor characters were unusually well played, including Miss Mary Lyons, Miss Virginia Shively, as the obedient daughter; Bill Finn, a typical English butler; Ed Gans as Lord Augustus Lorton, always susceptible; James Chapman, as Dumby, another role that accumulated laughs; Mary Peterson, as a chic little maid; Pauline Parks, as a sweet old lady; Jeanette Lampert, Ida Keny Risque and Mary Stofor as beautiful society ladies, a part for which they were naturally suited. Gardner Bayless and Gibby Smith as prominent men, another good selection.

The play as a whole showed the effect of long hours of tedious preparations, and was presented as well as any professional company could possibly have done.

Harlan appreciates the Strollers and sincerely hopes that they will make this visit an annual affair.
