OUR K. N. E. A. DIAMOND JUBILEE

The success of our K. N. E. A. DIAMOND JUBILEE depends upon one important item . . . YOU.

Out of hard work, struggle, and discouragement comes progress. It comes slowly, and only to those who have patience.

Many who have not participated in the developmental process involved in the making of this progress stand ready to reap the benefits. Yet they are unwilling to see that past progress must be put to use for the future.

It is easy to say that the K. N. E. A. has made 75 years of noteworthy progress. It is fine to be able to say that we have cleared the way for equal educational opportunities for citizens of Kentucky.

Yes, we can boast of the things we have done. However, when a careful search is made through the history of our Association, one outstanding characteristic of its growth is seen—each advancement was moulded from a series of often seemingly unimportant events in the past.

With this characteristic phenomenon of growth in mind, it seems only fitting that we should stop long enough during our DIAMOND JUBILEE MEETING to boast of our many achievements.

Yet is retrospection alone enough? Isn't the essence of progress the use to which it is put? If the answer to the second question is in the affirmative, then the theme for the DIAMOND JUBILEE MEETING—75 Years of Progress: How Can We Put It to Use for Future Generations—is most appropriate.

Many of the gains that we have won will be empty ones if we do not prepare our children and ourselves to profit from them.

What good are equal salaries if we spend our money unwisely? What good are additional materials, improved teaching methods, or new and better teaching techniques if we do not know how to utilize them to their fullest extent? Of what use is educational equality, the removal of educational barriers, the breaking down of racial prejudice and segregation, if we cannot decide among ourselves whether or not we really want to sacrifice a few things in order to gain many. What good is the progress made by those who came before us if we cannot make up our minds that we are ready to be first-class citizens?

Progress is not made by those who feel insecure, nor is it made by those who doubt their ability to meet the rising tide of competition that equality brings. Progress is impeded by those who cannot see the forest for the trees, by those who cannot see that the future calls for preparedness.

In these grave days of uncertainty, of doubt, mistrust, and prejudice it is our duty, as the educational leaders of the citizens of Kentucky, to let nothing stand in the way of the progress of the K. N. E. A.

If we work together to make our 75 years of progress help us to build a stronger, a greater K. N. E. A., the end product will be a well-informed and able citizenry.

K. N. E. A. WORKSHOPS

For the first time the main work of all the departments and conferences will be done in workshops. A close look at past programs will show that this is not such a radical departure from recent programs. In fact, some departments and conferences have been operating on a workshop basis for several years.

In planning the program an attempt has been made to give each teacher the opportunity for a maximum amount of professional growth. Active participation on any program makes the results more meaningful to all persons involved.

The workshop idea offers in a short space of time ample opportunity for everyone to share in the work that is being done. It presents a logical method for solving the down to earth problems that face every teacher and administrator.

The success of the workshop in which you choose to participate will depend on the amount of interest that you show, and the amount of work that you do.

If you plan to take something back home with you to show for the time that you have spent, then you must come prepared to give something in return.

BANQUET ATTENDANCE A MUST!

The DIAMOND JUBILEE CELEBRATION will not be complete unless recognition is given to those living educators who are giving so unstintingly to further the advancement of education and to secure opportunities that rightfully belong to all the citizens of our Commonwealth and our country.

From among those who have gained the love and respect of the entire nation, we have asked Dr. Charles H. Wesley, a native son of Kentucky and an orator of great renown, to present the address at the DIAMOND JUBILEE RECOGNITION BANQUET.

Along with Dr. Wesley we have chosen a few to represent the many who are worthy of recognition.

It is your moral obligation and responsibility to show your respect to those chosen and to the many that they represent by attending the banquet.

In view of the efficient service that Professor Whiteside has given as a member of this Board, and also because of his experience on same, this letter comes to request that you place his name on the ballot for reelection on this Board at this coming session.

C. B. Nuckolls Seeks Reelection

Booker Washington High School
Ashland, Kentucky
February 17, 1951

Members of the Kentucky Negro Education Association, Co-workers and Friends:

It has been my pleasure to serve you as a member of the Board of Directors for the past six years. Throughout that time I have tried to serve you in the promotion and advancement of all our schools and teachers. I have never at any time failed to advocate the principles leading to the development of a sound and workable school philosophy for use as a basis or foundation in perfecting unity and harmony in the articulation of all school areas.

I have enjoyed working with the various administrators, and I have appreciated being associated with the fine type of men on the Board of Directors. These men have been your servants, and have done a fine job.

Our Association is doing a great work in making preparations and opportunities for the youth of Kentucky. We have opened closed doors for the advancement of secondary and higher education. At the same time we have increased beyond expression the program of reorganization of rural, elementary, and graded schools.

As I finish my third term as a member of the Board of Directors, I wish to thank each one of you for your loyal support and cooperation. If it had not been for the good and hard-working teachers of the entire state, the success of our work would have been wanting. I have done but little, and happy was I to do it.

I have been requested to announce for reelection. After much prayerful consideration I have decided to become a candidate. I will appreciate your support.

For thirty years I have been a member of the Kentucky Negro Education Association, and in those thirty years I have never missed a meeting. I have served as a member of the Board of Directors for six years without missing a meeting. I never stop talking for the program of better education for all of Kentucky. I have served you because I loved the work.

May God bless each of you. May you live long to carry on the great and noble work that you are doing for your race, community, state, and country.

Thankfully yours,
C. B. NUCKOLLS
Member of the Board of Directors

Enactment of Civil Rights Program Now*

by R. B. Atwood

Great social movements are now convulsing the globe. World War II, and the Cold War following it, are mere phases of this convulsion that is going on around the world. Taking place before our very eyes is a profound re-evaluation of man's relation to man, and man's relation to the economic and political society in which he lives.

One aspect of this question, which some of us consider important, is the nation-wide struggle now going on for human and civil rights. I say "some of us" advisedly because we know that there are those, perhaps the majority, who feel that the civil rights program has no place of such importance at this time. Even the usually liberal Courier-Journal, that does the thinking for thousands, believes that "defense of America in Western Europe and civil rights legislation have no logical connection." Indeed, it concedes that F. E. P. C. might "wreck our foreign policy."

Now, fundamentally, the civil rights program is one to bring the practices of American democracy in line with the professions of American democracy. To some of us the present appears the most appropriate time to enact the civil rights program. The defense of America in Western Europe or anywhere else is from the totalitarianism and undemocratic way of life which is Communism. How can we think logically and see no connection between the fight for freedom of the nation on a whole and freedom and equality of individual citizens within the nation?

The civil rights program has arisen in our country because of the growing demands of Negroes and their sympathetic friends throughout the country that the discriminations which they have suffered for generations be at long last done away with. This new determination on the part of these citizens was recognized recently by Professor Howard W. Odum of the University of North Carolina, who is one of the nation's foremost social scientists, when he said:

"For it is not only that the Negro has developed important upper and middle classes; it is not only that he has developed a magnificent leadership, and that thousands have taken advantage of higher educational opportunities; it is not only that Negro youth, sensing the epochal spiritual change in racial attitudes and led by Negro leadership of the North and South, is willing to experiment with every type of equal opportunity; it is all this and more. It is as if some universal message has reached the great mass of Negroes, urging them to dream new dreams and to protest against the old order."

My own observations in the last few years as I have travelled throughout the country—completely confirm his judgment—and this applies as Dr. Odum said, in both the North and the South.

This is significant because not many years ago it was very difficult to get any substantial body of citizens to say firmly and flatly that segregation in all forms must be ended and that they would work to that end. It was even more difficult to bring together a handful of whites, no matter how sympathetic they may have been privately, who were willing to take a stand in the face of the goliaths of public criticism or social ostracism.

Today it is different. Legions of white friends stand with us. Powerful organizations in the field of labor, in the church, and elsewhere are rallying to the cause—and the white supremacists and bigots stand more exposed, if not isolated, than at any previous time since the Civil War. There has been an intense searching of the national conscience, and in the country as a whole there is a growing opinion that segregation is wrong, that racial discrimination is an evil and the national self interest demands that some corrective action be taken. The report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights—which, in my judgment, should be read and re-read by every student here, is one of the foremost evidences of that fact. The work of that Committee and the practical recommendations which it made stand as a landmark in the social history of our people and the nation as a whole.

Propagandists have attempted to spread the idea that the Civil Rights program is designed to give some vague advantage to Negroes over whites, or to give us some special privilege in American Society. Considering our present economic and political status, the suggestion seems ironical, except for the effect that it has had.

We feel that our friends know that we are not asking for any special privilege, if anything, we want to do away with some of those special privileges so ungraciously accorded us. We do not want the special privilege of riding in the nearly always inferior separate cars of the South. We don't want the special privilege of being the last hired and the first fired. We gladly decline the special privilege of not having to exercise our solemn right and duty to vote on election day. We reject the special privilege of getting our education in unequal segregated schools and colleges. We hope we are not ungrateful, but we decline the special privilege of sitting on the back row of the gallery at the theatre. We commend the Supreme Court of the United States for taking the first step toward relieving us of the special privilege of living in ghettos by striking down the infamous restrictive covenant. We want to make it very clear that special privileges are not the aim of our struggle. Our purpose is only to remove the discriminations of race and to stand with our fellow Americans as equals—equals in responsibilities, equals in treatment. We ask no more; as American citizens we can accept no less.

Now, many of us believe that one of the most important ways of achieving these objectives is through the passage of national legislation by the Congress of the United States and through a positive program on the part of the Federal Government itself. Some of the opponents of the civil rights movement declare that we can't legislate prejudice out of the hearts of people and that education is the only solution. This is not only a narrow view, but, to a certain extent, a logical fallacy. We do not contend that the legislation we advocate will remove prejudice. Prejudice is a subjective emotional state. We do contend that sound and effectively administered legislation can remove the objective manifestations of prejudice which reveal themselves in acts of discrimination. In other words, under the fair employment practice law for which we are contending, without necessarily affecting the subjective prejudice of the employer, we can, under the law, stop him from overtly manifesting that prejudice by refusing to hire us for the job solely because we are Negroes and providing, of course, that we are otherwise qualified. The law cannot remove the prejudice from the heart of the owners of a railroad, but it will stop the owners from forcing Negro passengers to be confined to inferior accommodations. I was glad to see this general viewpoint confirmed by Dr. Charles S. Johnson on a panel on which he served at a conference at the University of Chicago. Furthermore, just as the laws of certain states cause discrimination, so will the anti-Jim Crow laws that we espouse remove discrimination.

Now, to deal further with the matter of education as a sole solution. If there ever was a concept that has been abused beyond recognition, it is education. When we advocate education, we should justify our meaning: education of whom, by whom, for what? The proponents of this theory have never answered those questions. Is anyone so naive to still believe that mere education such as we have in this country will cure the problem of racial discrimination? Look at Germany. There was a country where education was almost a fetish. Its universities and gymnasias were renowned the world over. Some of the world's greatest scholars in nearly every field were Germans. But in spite of its education, practically the whole population became infected with anti-semitism, to the extent that sadistic brutalities were inflicted on Jews that were the equal of our notorious blow-torch lynchings in the South. No, education by itself is not sufficient.

We do contend, however, that wise legislation in the civil rights field will, in itself, be a powerful educational influence as well as a deterrent for discriminatory acts. This, it is believed, is sufficiently obvious that it needs no further documentation here.

Whether we like it or not, or whether we realize just how it came about, our country is today the leader of the western world. In sheer self-defense we hold up democracy in the worldwide struggle against Communist expansion and aggression. It is evident that the self-interest of every American today rests in the strengthening of the democratic way of life in our own society at home and in the world at large. Any weakening of democracy, and practices which would cause a loss of faith in it at home or abroad, inevitably undermines our national security and stability. World leadership which our nation now enjoys is made vulnerable and morally indefensible by the harsh rattling of the race relations skeletons in our closet.

We cannot afford, the world cannot afford, to have this nation made ineffective by the taunt: "Your undemocratic deeds speak so loudly that your democratic professions cannot be heard."

I am an American, I like the American way of life. I like the fact that I can stand up here this morning and say what I have been saying without fear, that I can criticize publicly with impunity the imperfections of the society in which I live and those policies and practices which I consider wrong and unjust.

In short, I like the American way of life so well that I wish to see its practice fully squared with its profession.

May we all dedicate our hearts and souls to the accomplishment of this great task.
