VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE TO BE PRESENTED TO THE WOMEN STUDENTS

Plans Being Made for All-Day Program Here March 22.

QUESTIONNAIRES SENT OUT

Teaching is Popular Vocation Among Girls at The University.

Plans are being made for a Vocational Guidance Day for the assistance of all women students, to be held on the campus March 22. Speakers will be heard on the various vocations, and conferences held with students on the fields of work in which they are interested.

Vocational guidance questionnaires distributed to all girls were used in the selection of speakers. These showed that by far the greatest number were considering teaching as a vocation. Literary and newspaper work came second, and home economics third. The vocations and the number choosing them follow:

Art, 60; Business, 37; Engineering, 1; Health, 23; Home Economics, 63; Laws and Government, 18; Library, 33; Literary and Newspaper, 78; Music, 35; Physical Education, 54; Psychology, 35; Research Laboratory, 3; Romance Language, 34; Social and Religious, 56; Teaching, 118; Agriculture, 2.

There will be six speakers, one on vocations in general, and one on each of the following subjects: Psychology, teaching, art, music, library. The subjects which were used in the vocational guidance program last year had to be omitted this year in order to leave time for other important lectures. Miss Helen Bennett, director of the Chicago Collegiate Bureau of Occupations, and vocational guidance specialist, is asked to speak on vocations in general. Students who heard her last year remember her as a speaker of value.

There will probably be a vocational guidance luncheon at Patterson Hall for all speakers and University girls, with talks and discussions.

There are still a few girls who have not filled out the questionnaires. They are asked to do so as soon as possible in order to make the records complete. Blank cards may be secured in Miss Jewell's office.

U. K. BAND GIVES RADIO CONCERT AT LOUISVILLE

Program Presented Tuesday Over WHAS Broadcasting Station.

The University of Kentucky band was the guest of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times Tuesday evening where they gave a program over the W.H.A.S. broadcasting station. Many telegrams were received during the concert requesting the repetition of certain numbers and also commending the band for its excellent playing.

The program consisted of several marches, followed by selections from famous operas, such as Faust. Wilson Danich gave two solos, one a cornet solo, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and the other a saxophone solo, "Sexena." Two vocal numbers

NOTICE!

All of the students that are working their way thru the University by selling magazines, or articles that requires a subscription for its sale are asked to call at my office and get a recognition card. This is absolutely necessary as a number of frauds have been detected.

FREDDY FEST

LITTLE THEATRE TO OPEN SEASON SOON

Prof. E. E. Fleischman's Class in Dramatic Production to Give Series of Plays This Year.

The Little Theater is for the purpose of testing plays not only for their constructive merits but also for their literary and producing values, according to a statement made by Prof. E. E. Fleischman regarding the program to be followed this year. With this purpose in view the Little Theatre will present in the next few months a series of plays by eminent playwrights and several which will be supplied from the English classes of the University.

Due to lack of funds and sufficient equipment, the Little Theatre is facing many problems at present. In order to solve some of the difficulties two benefit plays will be given this spring, the first of which will be presented the last of March, and the second an out-of-doors performance, probably "Mid Summer Night's Dream," will be given some time in May.

The students of the class in Dramatic Production will present to the public in about six weeks, the first of a number of matinee performances to be immediately followed by a tea served by the students. This is the same plan as followed last year with the exception that the matinees will be given every two weeks instead of weekly. Each play will be the product of one group directed by a student appointed by Prof. Fleischman. The purpose of this method is to give the students practical training in producing and interpreting the drama.

WILDCAT MATMEN LOSE TO MOUNTAINEERS 24-3

West Virginia Grapplers Win all But One Match—Enlow Stars.

University of West Virginia wrestlers defeated University of Kentucky matmen here Monday night in six out of seven matches easily winning the grappling meet.

The Kentuckians' only victory was in the heavy-weight class, when Enlow downed Pitzbenberger, after 15 minute wrestle.

In the bantam class, Richards, of West Virginia, defeated Graham of Kentucky.

Hough, of the mountaineers' team, pinned Blair, of Kentucky, in seven minutes.

Millener won from Stith, of Kentucky, in five and half minutes in the 135 pound class.

Brown, West Virginia welterweight downed Truit, of Kentucky.

Suber, Mountaineers, earned a decision not gaining a fall, and Pitzbenberger earned a decision over Robinson, of Kentucky, with no fall.

FREDDY FEST IS VICTIM OF DAN CUPID'S DART; MARRIES IN CINCINNATI

Hero of Many Football Battles Downed by Little God of Love.

WEDDING WAS SURPRISE.

Bride Was Childhood Sweetheart of Wildcat Center

It became known her Tuesday morning upon the return of the University of Kentucky basketball team from Cincinnati that Cupid had invaded the camp during the sojourn of the players in the Ohio city.

Freddy Fest, for three years star on the Wildcat football eleven and bidding fair to annex his first letter in basketball evaded the other members of the squad Monday morning and was married to Miss Mary Harris, of Martins Ferry, Ohio.

Fest kept the marriage a secret until after the game when he refused to return to Lexington with the team and when Coach Buehheit threatened to drop him from the team he announced that there were two for the mentor to consult. Although the basketballers had two more games to play during the week they dropped the cares of the athletic world for the time being and entertained the newlyweds until Coach Buehheit tucked the cagers to bed.

The marriage was the outcome of a childhood romance which began when Freddy and Miss Harris attended the Martins Ferry School. When Fest, who had spent his first year at college at Marietta informed his sweetheart that he was coming to Kentucky to school, she came with him and had been taking the nurse's training course at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Last fall before the football season opened when Fest was operated on for appendicitis, she nursed him through convalescence and it was largely due to her efforts that he was able to take part in the season's schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. Fest returned to Lexington Tuesday night and she will remain for several weeks before returning to Martins Ferry, where she will wait until Freddy is graduated this summer. Fest is a member of the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity and is a senior in the college of engineering.

SU-KY CIRCLE ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

At a meeting of the Su-Ky Circle held Wednesday afternoon the following officers were elected for the forthcoming year: Sneed Yeager, president; Dan Morse, vice president; Anne Hickman, secretary; Earl Reiferson, treasurer.

FRESHMEN!

Freshmen are reminded that attendance at chapel every week is compulsory. Failure to attend will henceforth be dealt with by the discipline committee. Seat numbers are found on the bulletin boards near the chapel door.

U. K. STUDENT MEETS TRAGIC DEATH FEB. 1

W. A. Bryant, Prominent Member of Alpha Gamma Rho Dies in Hospital.

Students of the University, and especially his comrades in Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity, of which he was an outstanding member, were shocked at the tragic death of W. A. Bryant, which came as a result of a collision between an automobile in which he was riding to Louisville Wednesday and a machine coming in the opposite direction. The accident occurred on Wednesday of last week, near St. Matthews, Ky. Mr. Bryant received a fractured skull and was taken to the Louisville City Hospital where an operation was unsuccessful.

Mr. Bryant was a junior in the College of Engineering and stood well in his studies and was popular throughout the campus. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bryant, of Hardyville.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity:

Whereas our brother, W. A. Bryant, met with a fatal accident as he was on his way to Louisville January 31 after treatment in the hospital on February 1, 1923.

Therefore be it resolved, that the Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity of which he was an honored member do hereby express our sorrow in his loss and each member feels a personal bereavement.

That we extend to his family in this hour of sorrow our deepest sympathy and bear record to them of his worth as a young man and as a student.

That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our fraternity and that each member display with his fraternity pin the symbol of mourning and that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to his family.

INTERPRETER OF ANCIENT DRAMA HERE NEXT WEEK

Miss Dorothea Spinney to Give Reading in Chapel; Tea Will Follow.

Miss Dorothea Spinney, well known interpreter of ancient drama, will be a guest at the University the latter part of next week, and will give one of her readings in chapel. All students are invited to the performance and to the tea which will follow in her honor in Doctor McVey's office. Her visit here is under the auspices of the Classical, English and Art Departments. Arrangements have not been completed, but it is probable that Electra will be the play chosen for presentation. Tickets must be secured by students without charge in the president's office. As the performance is especially for their benefit, an admission price will be charged from town people.

JOHN R. MOTT, HEAD OF INTERNATIONAL Y. M. C. A. TO SPEAK SATURDAY

Students to Have Privilege of Hearing Eminent Statesman and Clergyman.

PRAISED BY WILSON.

Mr. McCrady, of Faculty, Comments Upon Doctor Mott's Manner and Personality.

John R. Mott, LL. D., head of International Y. M. C. A. and leader in other world-wide religious enterprises, will address the students of the University in Chapel Saturday at the third hour. The meeting is being especially arranged by President McVey, in order to take advantage of Doctor Mott's presence in Lexington during the latter part of the week at a series of conferences with the Y. M. C. A. leaders of the state.

Seldom does the University of Kentucky have a speaker as eminent as Doctor Mott; who might be called one of the greatest statesmen in the Christian world today. Tho he is a layman—of the Presbyterian church—there are few ministers whose influence is comparable to his. Not alone through the vast organization of the Y. M. C. A. with its myriad branches in the Eastern and Western Hemispheres but through other religious movements such as the Student Volunteer Missionary movement, John R. Mott wields a tremendous force in the upbuilding of christianity and civilization. The effectiveness of his work in these various fields was recognized by Woodrow Wilson, who called him one of the most useful men of the present generation.

Mr. Wilson offered Dr. Mott the post of ambassador to China; yet, though such a position would have enabled the "Y" chieftain to do much to commend christianity to the world of the Far East, he felt his present work of more importance, and hence declined the offer.

Dr. Mott's manner and personality are thus described in a recent article in the Lexington Leader (January 28) by Mr. McCrady of the University faculty: "The writer has listened to

DEAN C. R. MELCHER HAS RETURNED TO FACULTY

Back at Desk After Six Months Leave at Columbia University.

Dean C. R. Melcher returned last week to resume his work at the University after a six months leave of absence. The early part of the summer, Dean Melcher went with his family to Princess Point, Maine, where he remained until the opening of Columbia. Here he took graduate work this past semester.

During Dean Melcher's stay at Columbia he met many University of Kentucky graduates in the school. Each week they met at a luncheon and watched the activities and progress of the University.

The students and faculty have missed Dean Melcher and all welcome him back.

"I'm glad to be back at the University, for here we have the finest students in the world," stated Dean Melcher.

JUST WAIT!

An announcement that will be of interest to all alumni is promised for the next issue of the Kernel. One of the features is a prize to be offered. It is less than some school teachers earn in a year but it is large enough that if it were invested on the same basis as Jim Couzens' first $2,000 it would amount to $1,000,000 in twenty years.

MEET IN CLEVELAND

Alumni of All Colleges Plan Celebration for April 12.

The national Association of Alumni Secretaries will meet in Cleveland April 12, 13 and 14. The University of Kentucky will send a representative.

One of the features of this convention is an All College Dinner to be held on the evening of April 12 when alumni of forty leading colleges and universities will celebrate. Western Reserve and Case, hosts for the convention, expect to lead all in attendance. Keen rivalry is expected for first place in enthusiasm and noise.

The Cleveland Alumni Club of the University of Kentucky is planning to make its corner at the festival a prominent place.

SPEAKERS IN DEMAND

Alumni Help Arrange Dates for Student Bureau.

The story of the University is being told to members of civic clubs and chambers of commerce in Central Kentucky by the recently organized Student Speakers' Bureau. In many instances alumni of the University are on committees arranging for one of the student speakers to appear before these clubs.

The plan is part of a scheme to create a better understanding of the University's purposes and work, intended to make more effective its service to the State and to provide facilities for its expansion and greater support to take care of the growing number of high school graduates. Expenses of the speakers are borne sometimes by the club and sometimes by the University.

Requests for appointments may be made through the secretary, John L. Hays, a senior in the College of Law, or through the Alumni Secretary. The alumni clubs have been urged in communications from the Alumni office to help arrange an extended itinerary for the student speakers.

GOING TO K. E. A.

University Dinner at Louisville Set for April 20.

School executives and teachers attending the K. E. A. in Louisville April 19, 20 and 21, are invited to attend the annual dinner of the University alumni on the evening of April 20, Friday. Arrangements of the Louisville committee will be announced later, including the name of the hotel where the dinner will be held. It will be at the Seelbach or the Watterson Hotel.

Alumni headquarters will be in the Watterson hotel, maintained in conjunction with the University headquarters. The Lexington office will be transferred in toto to Louisville for the convention.

URGE LIBERAL EDUCATION

Columbia Alumni News Echoes Dean Boyd's Declaration

A liberal education is the plea of Columbia Alumni News, echoing the thought expressed by Dean Paul P. Boyd of the University of Kentucky College of Arts and Sciences published in the Courier-Journal last summer.

"A generation ago a man went to college not because it fitted him for a commercial or any other kind of a career but because of the common belief that a college course was fundamental for a gentleman who cared to be considered cultured and educated," says the Columbia editor. He makes a plea also for courses pointing out the good things in American government, literature, art, business and society and especially a course in History that would teach a greater respect for the government of the United States.

ORGANIZE IN DETROIT

First Club in Michigan Opens With a Rush Says Planck.

The Detroit Alumni Club was organized at the Dixieland Inn, Saturday night, January 27. The officers elected are: T. E. Warnock, '02, 1392 Manistique Ave., president; E. H. Clark, '16, 1450 David Whitney Bldg., vice-president; C. E. Planck, '19, Detroit Free-Press, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Warnock was formerly president of the club that previously existed at Detroit and died out because of its members being called to other places.

Here is some news: Robert S. Arnold '19, is with us now, sales engineer with the American Blower Company, and living at 54 Smith street. C. R. Roberts '22, is the baby of the club. He also is with the American Blower Company and lives at 3535 National Avenue. We think our club will number twenty. We have a list of prospects and intend to find out. We are sending an invitation through the Michigan Daily to all Kentuckians attending the University of Michigan to meet with us. Later we intend to host to several Kentuckians, regardless of the affiliation with the University. Whatever enterprise the Association undertakes, give us our quota and we'll do our "dandiest" to fill it.—C. E. Plank, Secretary.

Mahoney-Orr

The marriage of Ben Mahoney-17, and Catherine Orr, of Dallas, Texas, was solemnized at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Dallas, January 26. Mr. Mahoney served as a captain in the World War and is now connected with the farm bureau of Texas.

Lack of space only prevents publishing an entertaining poem received from Dr. Keene R. Forston, who is practicing medicine in Washington, D. C., address 804 H. Street, N. W.

"I regard a strong organization of Alumni Clubs as a factor of great importance in the future welfare of the University of Kentucky. Such clubs can best foster that spirit of association which is the warp and woof of the fabric which forms the strength and power of institutions. Best wishes for all success in the work of the Alumni Association."—J. G. Scruggs, Governor, Carson City, Nevada.

"I hate to be one of those 'better late than never' guys, yet enclosed herewith is my check for dues, also history of past and present list of children. Let it be understood I did not marry a widow with children. Have followed the athletic prowess of Old State most eagerly, for I was 'one of 'em' back in 1904-07. My 1907 Kentuckian is still a source of joy to me and my kiddies who weekly cause me to stretch my imagination in referring to it. My life history is too long and varied to refer to it, but I have had my 'ups, downs, ins and outs' to say nothing of forward and backward. Was married to Della Mildred Highley, March 31, 1909. The future wearers of the Blu eand White are: Stanley T., Jr., and Edwin J., and one fair co-ed, Dorothy D. Trust the day is not far off when I can return to Lexington and renew old acquaintances. Best wishes to you, to Hilly, any any of the old bunch who remember 'Bone' Baer and his varied collection of postcards."—S. T. Baer, assistant manager, Big Wood Canal Co., Richfield, Ida.

Robert Lytton Maddox, who received his A. B. in '09 and LL. B. in '10, is practicing law at Middlesboro, Ky. He has been one of the leading backers of the Strollers' eastern Kentucky trips and other University enterprises.

R. T. Warren, who went with the R. I. & P. railroad, as assistant engineer, maintenance department, immediately after he graduated, is now district office engineer with that company, 501 United Bank Bldg., Des Moines, Ia. Mr. Warren's record as an active member of the Alumni Association is as steady as that with the C. R. I. & P. railroad. Mrs. Warren was formerly Lucy Thompson, of Lexington, and they have one son, Thomas Phillip, Jr. The family were holiday visitors in Lexington, and Mrs.

Warren and son, are spending the winter in Florida.

Wm. Ewing Hobson, who has been mining engineer with the Standard Island Creek Coal Company, was promoted to superintendent of mines, January 1. Mr. Hobson's wife was Martine Bennett. They have two little daughters, Ruth Bennett and Mary Eleanor, aged six and four, respectively. They are living at Taplin, W. Va.

1,000 PRESENT ON SECOND DAY OF FARM MEETING

Tobacco Growers, Livestock Men, Poultry Raisers and Fruit Interests Appealed To.

PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

Two State Associations Hold Annual Sessions in Connection With Conference.

Despite a heavy rain which fell throughout the day one thousand farmers and their wives Wednesday attended the second day of the eleventh annual farm and home convention being held at the college of agriculture. Authorities of the college are pleased with the success of the annual event up to the present time and point to the good attendances at the meetings as an indication that Kentucky farmers and their wives are becoming more interested in studying their business.

Discussions and demonstrations pertaining to the leading the crops and classes of livestock in the state's farming industry contributed toward making the program what should be one of the best in this year's meeting. Chickens, a leading source of profit for Kentucky farmers and their wives; hogs, another mainstay; tobacco, king of the state's crops; fruit, a coming crop, and the country church, one of the cornerstones in rural progress, drew the attention of those who attended the sessions.

Meetings were held at four places on the university campus, with good crowds at each place. Two state associations, the Kentucky State Horticultural Society and the Kentucky Poultry Association, held their annual meetings Wednesday in connection with the convention.

James C. Stone, president and general manager of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, furnished the main attraction of the day for Kentucky leaf growers attending the meeting. The chief executive of the organization spoke on "The Outlook," a discussion in which he stressed the value of co-operative marketing and the place that it is taking in helping farmers organize their business.

W. D. Valteau, plant pathologist of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, discussed tobacco diseases and their control, and E. J. Kinney, a member of the soils and crops department of the College of Agriculture, told the farmers and tobacco growers the place that this crop should have in the cropping system of the farm.

Livestock men turned their attention to another demonstration by J. P. Phillips, Birmingham packer and the world's speediest meat cutter, who used the packer's method of blocking hog carcasses to show farmers how they should cut up hogs so as to get the most out of them.

DeWitt C. Wing, managing editor of the Breeder's Gazette, who was unable to fill his place on the Wednesday program, due to the fact that he missed a train connection in Cincinnati, on Thursday talked on the relationship of the American farmer to the meat and livestock situation in Europe.

The hen, a sure profit yielder in almost every part of the state, came in for a full share of attention. J. R. Smyth, poultry extension specialist of the college, stressed the needs for better poultry practices on many farms by pointing out that the average hen in Kentucky lays only 56 eggs a year; H. R. Jackson, also a college poultry specialist, gave the farmers and their wives some pointers on judging good layers; A. G. Phillips, head of the poultry department at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., told how to breed flocks for more eggs; Berely Winton, also a college poultry expert, speaking on the feeding of chickens, and declared that the greatest handicap to a better paying poultry industry in the state was the idea prevalent that it is more economical to make chickens scratch for their living than it is to feed them. J. H. Martin, in charge of the college poultry work, discussed the results of chicken feeding tests put on by the experiment station.

Members of the Kentucky Poultry Association, in a business meeting Wednesday afternoon elected W. C. Thomason, of Georgetown, president of the organization for the coming year. Mrs. R. C. Coomer, of Speedwell, was named vice-president, and J. R. Smith, of the college, secretary-treasurer. Directors selected at the meeting included: H. M. Luttrell, of Paducah; George Gill, of Louisville; J. W. Huey, of Union, and Arthur Vaught, of Science Hill.

The association also adopted a resolution urging the board of trustees of the University of Kentucky to allow $10,000 in the budget of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station for 1924 above the annual allowance of $50,000 for the organization and development of an egg laying contest in the state. The resolution pointed out that chickens yield Kentucky farmers $26,210,759 a year and that the profit from the farm flock is directly proportional to the average production of each hen. An egg laying contest would serve to increase the average production of hens in the state, the resolution declared.

A. A. Rule general manager of the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers, inc., delivered one of the principal addresses of the day for the fruit men at the convention. W. W. Magill, orchard extension specialist of the college, told how orchard work as carried on in the state by the college is planned and developed; Frank T. Street, a commercial apple grower of Henderson, talked on the control of scale, scab and blotch; J. W. Freeman, Benton Harbor, Mich., stressed the need for high pressure in order to do effective spraying, and F. O. Clark, of Berea, told what he had been able to accomplish with an ordinary mountain orchard in eastern Kentucky. Dr. J. C. Blair, head of horticultural department of the University of Illinois, of Urbana, Ill., also spoke to the fruit men during the day.

Many suggestions that should lead to better country churches in Kentucky were brought out during the day in connection with the church part of the program in the University chapel. Miss Rose McCord, of Wotten, spoke on social problems of the country church; the Rev. Madison Hart, of Danville, outlined a country life program for the country church, and George A. Joplin, of Louisville, general secretary of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, told of the place and power of the Sunday school.

Miss Mary E. Sweeney, executive secretary of the American Home Economics Association, of Baltimore, Md., rounded out the program of the day for the church workers with a talk on "X-Raying The Home." She stressed the point that mothers and fathers must take more time to pass on to their children the love for good books and the score or more of other things that make life worth while.

The Great American Stomach

It is undeniable that the stomach is the most long-suffering organ of the body. The manner in which people abuse their most important organ and best friend is cleverly hit off in the skit entitled: "Diary of a Flapper's Stomach," in The American Journal of Public Health, Chicago. It is merely the experience of a single day and is not as much exaggerated as might be supposed. Here is the stomach's complaint:

"10 a. m.—Oh, dear! Another warm day. Wonder if I'll be abused as I was yesterday. If I am, I'm going to strike. Just disposed of a half-chew breakfast. We ran for the train, which meant, I was so joggled about and so tire that it took me twice as long to do my work. Hope she gives me an hour or two of complete rest before anything more comes my way.

"10:30 a. m.—Two glasses of ice water have just arrived. It will take all the energy I can pump up in the next hour just to warm me up to normal again.

"10:50 a. m.—Half-chewed breakfast did not satisfy her and she brought some peanuts and started again.

"12:00 a. m.—Peanuts have been drifting along steadily ever since. Think she has finished them too.

"12:30 p. m.—Decided she wasn't very hungry and instead of good solid dinner, sent me down a cold egg-nog with heavy chocolate.

"1:30 p. m.—More ice water.

"1:40 p. m.—Was mistaken about

Why is a used book unlike a used car? Because the more you use it, the more you can sell it for.

Books make brains, and the world pays high for brain power.

The bulging dome on the library is worth emulating. It marks the way to bulging pockets.

Don't take our word for it. Ask some of the old grads, the men who have gone out before you to sell their books.

Some have sold them for more than others. Why? Just ask.

But, you may say, books are not the only thing. You're right.

Still, they help.

MEMORIAL BUILDING

Local newspapers of the last ten days carried stories to the effect that a movement was on foot to finance the proposed athletic stadium out of funds collected and designated for the construction of a building upon the campus designed to memorialize Kentucky's soldiers who lost their lives in the service of their country in the World War, provided the committee that collected the Memorial funds would agree to this step and the donors thereof should not object to such use of these funds.

Up to the present time the Kernel is informed that about $100,000 in round numbers of the $300,000 necessary to erect a memorial building has been collected after virtually three years of effort, leaving $125,000 of the required amount still uncollected, the net result being that funds now in hand are lying idle, altho drawing interest, that a memorial building can not be erected for the sum in hand, and that the University stands at this late day without either the designed memorial building or the stadium which it perhaps much more needs. A memorial building for the University of Kentucky was one of the very fine visions of our president which seemed possible of realization, very much to the surprise of all, the people have not responded financially to the call as both he and the supporters of the movement had a right to expect.

When it is recalled that out of virtually $100,000 collected for this purpose that $100,000 was raised by citizens alone who underwrote a bond issue that was adopted for popular vote but declared invalid by the Court of Appeals, it can be seen how unsatisfactory the response outside Lexington and Louisville has been.

It is without question that the University of Kentucky is vastly in need of a stadium. In ten years it looses by not having space to entertain basketball crowds alone, more than would pay interest upon the entire amount of money necessary to build the stadium. The University suffers in prestige by comparison with sister universities that contest athletically with her and she is confronted with the danger of not being able to bring outstanding teams of her class and football contests here because we are not sufficiently prepared to seat profitably the crowds that they have been in the habit of playing to in their own home towns.

The Kernel believes that it would be difficult indeed to collect by any process to pay for a stadium upon our ground. The memorial fund is already collected in a sufficient sum to build a most imposing stadium where all outside athletic contests and activities might be housed and played profitably and properly.

The Kernel believes that upon first flush that any step looking toward the transferring of Memorial funds for this purpose should be taken with due caution and only after donors of those funds have agreed that they be so used; but if such agreement could be reached we cannot conceive of a loftier memorial to Kentucky's soldier dead than to erect upon this campus a memorial in the form of a stadium where physical manhood of our state could be built and made to enjoy the full benefits of such training.

Indeed we go far enough to say that we believe that promoters of and donors to the memorial fund if properly approached will agree that a memorial of this nature that can be erected upon funds already on hand; the better alternative than to defer the memorial until funds sufficient to carry the original project shall have been procured, indeed if they are ever collected.

We are quite aware that there may be some opposition to this step and we are assured that it is not the University's purpose to over-ride the wishes of a single donor to use these funds for a purpose to which such donors are opposed.

Frankly the Kernel would like to see frank and open discussion on this very vital point.

BEARCATS ARE VICTORS OVER KENTUCKY SQUAD

Riefken is Outstanding Star of Contests for the Cat Team.

The Wildcat five went down in defeat at the hands of the University of Cincinnati Bearcat five Monday night at Cincinnati by a 33-24 count. Riefken was the outstanding star of the contest, getting 14 of the Blue and White totals. His work was closely followed by that of Willie Poyntz, who made four fouls out of as many attempts besides making one field goal. Baildon at guard for the Bearcats was the luminary for his quintet. The score at the end of the first half was 12-10, with the Cincinnati crew on the heavy side.

While the work of the Cats was not of the best, this was more than offset by the work of Riefken at forward, A Cincinnati dispatch said of the Covington youth: "In the face of defeat Riefken was the outstanding player of the entire contest. He made seemingly impossible shots, shooting several fine goals from the most difficult territory.

The summary:
Kentucky 24 Cincinnati 33
Riefken 14 F. Hibarger 6
Poyntz 6 F. Hoy 4
Fest 4 C. Linneman 6
Rice G. Hachen 6
Burnham G. Baildon 9
Substitutions—Kentucky: Spillman for Poyntz; Cincinnati: Haynes for Hibarger, Jones 2 for Hoy.

CY BARGER CHOSEN AS DIAMOND MENTOR 1923

Former Transy Star to Coach Cats This Year—To Arrive Soon

The Athletic Council of the University announced at its recent meeting that it had secured the services of Cy Barger, former Transylvania star and now well up in baseball circles, to act as diamond mentor for the Cats next season. Barger succeeds Coach Jim Parks, who is devoting all his time to the Lexington Club of the Blue Grass League.

Barger was a member of the famous Barger and Barger battery at Transylvania years ago and gained quite a reputation at the school. Barger is now playing in the Southern Association and will continue to do so until after the collegiate year is ended, either as manager or player.

Coach Barger will arrive in Lexington some time in the near future to take up his work and will probably issue a call for pitchers and catchers immediately after his arrival. He will have quite a bit of work ready for him as the 1923 team will be made up almost entirely of new men.

Barger is a native Kentuckian claiming Columbia, Ky., as the place he hangs his hat.

ORATORICAL CONTEST TO BE HELD FEBRUARY 16

Annual Event Will be Given in Chapel of The University.

"The date is February 16. The place the chapel of the University of Kentucky. The occasion the annual Oratorical Contest of the University of Kentucky. The cause for excitement: An attempt on the part of the representatives of the A. & S. Engineer and Agriculture Colleges to break the monopoly of the Law College in the oratorical field."

This, in substance, is the statement issued to the writer by Prof. Earl Fleischman, of the Public Speaking Class, who has charge of this contest.

For many years the students of the Law College have been the chief contenders and easy victors in this event. Now comes for students of the various other schools, each with a goodly and healthy number of backers, and declare with much vehemence that "the curfew tolls the knell of parting day" upon the lawyers, and that henceforth and forever after "able contenders shall be sent from the ranks of their college to defend their respective schools for this honor.

Fired with zeal and urged on to greater endeavor by the members of their respective clan, a small army of contenders are working overtime in preparation for the coming event, while the members of each college are preparing to attend as representative bodies, to cheer their verbal gladiator on to victory.

The outcome cannot be predicted. Dope shows no favorites. Critics idle; judges asleep. The ball is in the air; the participants on their toes. Who will win? That's the question. Friday, February 16th, will tell.

SCRAPS

The freshman squad left Thursday night for a two-game invasion of southern Kentucky and Tennessee. Friday night the Kittens play a return game with Cumberland College five at Williamsburg, and Saturday evening the First Termers will endeavor to get revenge for the Varsity defeat suffered at the hands of the Tennessee Volunteers, by winning over the Cats at Knoxville.

Centre is the only team undefeated in the state race thus far, the Colonels emerging victors over the Wesleyan and Kentucky fives. Kentucky and Wesleyan are tied for second place with one win and one defeat marked up to their credit.

The Transy girls by virtue of their victory over the University of Louisville co-ed quintet took the lead in the feminine race. Louisville and Kentucky, each with two wins and one defeat are second.

The Kentucky Freshmen with four victories in as many games are leading the Frosh title race.

McMILLEN NOT PRESENT

Cats Lead 13-12 in First Half,
But Lose Out in Second Period.

Away off their form, the Wildcats were forced to bow in defeat to Coach Bo McMillen's Centenary five on the local court Wednesday evening by a 28-21 score. After leading at the end of the first period 13-12, the Cats came back in the second half to lose the lead and the game by a seven point margin. Townsend forward of the visitors, who played several minutes with a broken nose, until he was forced from the game via the personal foul rule, and Horton, back guard were the chief performers in the contest for McMillen's proteges, while Carl Riefken starred for the Blue and White.

The Cats jumped into a four point lead early in the scrap before the opposition got its bearings. When the Centenarians found themselves they wished the mesh for four consecutive baskets and went to the front. Riefken tied the score with two beautiful shots from mid-floor, and the Cats forged ahead on a shot by Smith. Centenary again tied the score a few minutes before the end of the period, but Riefken made a free throw awarded him and the Cats were leading by one point when the whistle blew.

The second half started off in a see-saw manner with the two teams alternating in the lead. About ten minutes after the half began Townsend, Centenary forward located the basket, and was soon followed by his running mate, Fletcher, sending visitors eight points in the lead. The Cats gained one point of this but were unable to overcome the Centenary lead.

Coach McMillan did not accompany his squad because of the illness of his wife.

The score:
Kentucky 21 Centenary 28
Riefken 11 Townsend 12
Smith 6 Fletcher 6
Fest 2 C. McGeath 6
Rice G. Pierson 4
Burnham G. Horton
Substitutions—Kentucky: Wilkin-

eminent statesmen, such as Wilson and Bryan, and to celebrated preachers such as Dr. George W. Truett, the Texas Baptist, and Dr. John Henry Jewett, the English Congregationalist; but he has never heard a political leader or a pulpit orator whose words equal Dr. Mott's in impressiveness.

The reason for this quality is patent. First, the "Y" chieftain has made so many trips to Europe or around the world that he possesses a knowledge of political and religious situations which is simply encyclopaedic. Audiences with kings or presidents, conferences with high officials of church and state, are matters of ordinary routine on these trips; and ad-resses (by means of interpreters) to throngs of students—Christian, Jewish, Mohammedan or others—everyday events. A vast fund of information gathered on these trips gives Dr. Mott's words the stamp of expert authority; and he marshals his facts only to establish his propositions.

The impressiveness of his manner arises furthermore from the magnitude and the significance of his enterprises. His addresses often deal with strategic movements in the world program of the church; and he portrays the immensity of her task and the future consequences of action or inaction with overwhelming power. A slogan which he proclaimed some years ago illustrates the scope of his outlook: "The Evangelization of the world in the present generation."

Dr. Mott's tone in discussing such momentous themes is exceedingly earnest and grave—the tone a statesman might use in describing a crisis in his nation's life. Again he suggests the figure of a military commander directing a titanic battle; whose every word is freighted with destiny, at whose every order comes a change. Like Napoleon he "speaks things." The nature of his subject makes the impressive tone of his delivery quite fitting.

Miss Riddle's Luncheon

Miss Marjorie Riddle entertained Saturday with a beautiful luncheon at her home on south Limestone street in pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Jane Gregory, whose marriage will be the principal social event of next week.

The wedding colors of green and white were carried out in the decorations, the centerpiece being a cluster of narcissi in a green pottery bowl, and the table was lighted with green candles in crystal holders. Southern smylax was used with lovely effect, and the mints of green bore the embossing of lilies of the valley. The place cards carried out the wedding motif. A pretty feature of the luncheon was the surprise handkerchief shower, the dainty gifts adorning a large Kewpie dressed in bridal garments, which was presented to the guest of honor.

The guests were: Misses Jane Gregory, Emily Gregory, Lillian Collins, Louise Duncan Brown, Mary Walton, Frances DeLong, Mary Snell Ruby, Elizabeth Millard, Mary D. Van Deren, Mesdames Lloyd Huey and Charles S. Millard, Jr.

Miss Smith's Hospitality.

Miss Frances Smith entertained Saturday afternoon with a beautiful bridge party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Judson Smith, on South Limestone street, in honor of Misses Jane Gregory and Mary D. Van Deren, two lovely brides-elect, and Misses Anne Bell, of Hopkinsville; Alice Gregory, of Louisville, and Sarah Simpson, of Alabama, who are the three members of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity who are graduates of the University of Kentucky this year.

The hospitality included only members of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity. There were guests for seven tables.

Miss Smith was assisted in entertaining by her mother and sister, Miss Elizabeth Smith.

Sigma Nu House Dance

The members of Sigma Nu fraternity of the University of Kentucky were the guests of honor for a pretty dance with which the pledges entertained Saturday night at the chapter house.

The chaperones were: Mr. and Mrs. Norwood King, Mesdames T. C. Fuller, R. M. Jarvis, Nannie G. Faulconer, Miss Margie McLaughlin and Mr. Carol Sax.

The guests were: Misses Ruth Gorman, Margaret Chenault, Katherine Fuller, Dorothy Lewis, Frances Halbur, Lucy Sharpe, Dorothy Blatz, Margaret Whitfield, Grace Davis, Frances Whitfield, Kitty Conroy, Margaret Lavin, Amy Turley, Janet McVey, Margaret Katherine Millett, Helen James, Frances Ripy, Julia Edna Forgey, Joelyn Webb, Edna Gordon, LaVerne Purcell, Louise Boden, Louise Connell, Ruby Putnam, Rosemary Kaufman, Louise Jones, Arta Webb, Mary Peterson, Louie Duncan Brown, Louise Stone, Mary Walton, Eloise Murphy.

The guests of honor, members of the active chapter, are: Messrs. John D. Taggart, Ted Creech, Homer Wilson, Clyde Watts, R. Dinwiddie, Jas. Atkinson, Stokes Hamilton, Sam Ridgeway, Bruce Fuller, Troy Perkins, Charles Graham, Thomas Fennell, Ray Rice, Turner Gregg, LeRoy Litsey, Graham McCormick, Ted Brewer, William Finn, Beverly Mann, William Colpitts, Madison Cawein, Reed Miller.

The alumni present were: Messrs. John G. Heber, Howard Asher, Tifford Wilson, Jamie Malloy, Whitney Kemper, Karl Kloecker, Mark A. Watkins, Ed Gregg, Lafayette Herron, Thomas Menaugh and Breck Bonner.

Miss Walton's Hospitality

Miss Mary Walton was host for a lovely afternoon bridge party Friday at Maradith tea room on the Versailles pike in honor of Miss Jane Gregory.

The affair was one of the prettiest of the many pre-nuptial courtesies for the popular bride-elect.

A color plan of yellow and white was carried out in the decoration and details of the party. Miss Walton's mother and aunt, Mrs. William P. Walton and Mrs. Richard Bush; Mrs. Charles Skillman Milward, Jr., and Miss Lillian Collins assisted in entertaining.

Mrs. Edward Bassett, Jr., won the prize for high score, a Venetian flower bowl; Miss Frances DeLong won the consolation gift, a pair of hand-painted book ends, and a guest prize, a pair of hose, was presented to Miss Gregory.

The guests were Mesdames Clarence LeBus, Jr., Albert Shouse, Carlton Thomas, Charles Kendall McDowell, Lloyd Huey, Edward Bassett, Sterling Coke and Brownell Berryman; Misses Edith Berryman, Kitty Brewitt, Marjorie Riddle, Mary Snell Ruby, Mary D. Van Deren, Marian Burt, Janet McVey, Emily Gregory, Mary Stoffer, Virginia Owsley, Louie Duncan Brown, Caroline Scott, Mildred Porter, Elizabeth Millard, Frances DeLong, Fanny Summers Tarlton and Katherine Goodsight, of Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Dan Bryan, Mrs. George Wilson and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse were guests for tea after the game.

Mr. Hincks at Womans Club.

Mr. Harvey Scott Hincks, of the faculty of the University of Kentucky, who gave such a pleasing series of art lectures last year at the Woman's Club, will be the speaker Saturday afternoon at the meeting of the department of art, of which George Starr is chairman.

Mr. Hincks, who has made a study of the wonderful old cathedrals of Europe, and whose broad travel and intensive study have made him an authority on architecture of various periods, will speak on "The Spirit of Gothic Architecture," and stereopticon slides will be used in exemplification of the lecture.

Personals.

Miss Mary E. James, who has been attending the University of Louisville has returned to the University of Kentucky to finish her course.

Mr. E. B. Moore spent the mid-semester at his home in Cincinnati.

Miss Margaret Parker spent the mid-term vacation at West Baden Springs.

Miss Margaret Chenault is spending the week-end at Richmond and has with her at the home of her parents, Miss Rachelle Shacklette, another student of the University.

Miss Frances Jewell's week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Humphrey in Louisville.

Misses Mary Catherine Jasper, Elizabeth Hume, Isabelle Bennett, Patsy McCord and Mabel Ruth Coates, students at the University, are spending the end of the semester vacation at their homes in Richmond.

Misses Elizabeth Lilliston and Alphonine Stewart, of the University, are guests of Miss Frances Stahel, in Versailles.

DENIS PAPIN'S

STEAM CYLINDER

They Weighed Air— and Charles II Laughed

SAMUEL PEPYS says in his diary that Charles II, for all his interest in the Royal Society, laughed uproariously at its members "for spending their time only in weighing of air and doing nothing else since they sat."

This helps to explain why Charles has come down to us as the "merry monarch."

The Royal Society was engaged in important research. It was trying to substitute facts for the meaningless phrase "nature abhors a vacuum," which had long served to explain why water rushes into a syringe—the commonest form of pump—when the piston is pulled out.

Denis Papin had as much to do as anyone with these laughable activities of the Royal Society. Papin turned up in London one day with a cylinder in which a piston could slide. He boiled water in the cylinder. The steam generated pushed the piston out. When the flame was removed, the steam condensed. A vacuum was formed and the weight of the outer air forced the unsuspecting piston in.

Out of these researches eventually came the steam engine.

London talked of the scandalous life that King Charles led, and paid scant attention to such physicists as Papin, whose work did so much to change the whole character of industry.

The study of air and air pumps has been continued in spite of Charles's laughter. In the General Electric Company's Research Laboratories, for instance, pumps have been developed which will exhaust all but the last ten-billionth of an atmosphere in a vessel.

This achievement marks the beginning of a new kind of chemistry—a chemistry that concerns itself with the effect of forces on matter in the absence of air, a chemistry that has already enriched the world with invaluable improvements in illumination, radio communication, and roentgenology.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Fred B. Smith, assistant to the president of the H. W. Mansville Company, of New York, will be at the University for three days, February 19, 20, 21, for a series of evangelistic meetings under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A.

In addition to being a prominent business man, Mr. Smith has an international reputation in connection with world-wide religious movements. Some years ago he led "The Men and Religion Forward Movement" in a national campaign and later, in company with Raymond Robins, made a tour of the world, speaking in the larger cities. He has been on repeated missions to Indian, Australia, South Africa and other parts of the world.

Mr. Smith has just recently returned from his fourth speaking trip around the world and it is said that he has probably spoken to more men than any other man in the world.

On his last trip as an official representative of the Church Federation of International Friendship, Mr. Smith made three hundred addresses. Among the countries which he visited were Hawaii, Japan, China, Korea, the Malayan Peninsula, India, Egypt, Palestine, Turkey, Greece, Bulgaria, Servia, Hungary, Australia, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Germany, France and England.

Mr. Smith is vitally interested in students. He said upon one occasion "I have spent eight months in speaking on "America and World War Prospects" around the world and at home with a tremendous feeling that the United States is pretty nearly the key to the problem of war or no war throughout the world and the students of one great United States are pretty nearly the key to what America will be."

The University is fortunate to obtain a man of such wide reputation and strong personality for this series of meetings and every student and every member of the faculty should hear him as many times as possible while he is here. The meetings will be held in the University chapel.

Y. W. C. A.

The World Fellowship Committee has worked out an interesting program for the weekly classes held at the dormitories, fraternities and the mid-week meeting on the campus. In stead of the usual mission study there will be a series of talks and discussions by interesting speakers on the following subjects: Health, social usages, training for leisure, thrift, citizenship, the University woman and her community, the University woman and her University. A few of the speakers will be Misses Adelaide Crane, Lullie Logan, Marietta Eichelberger, Doctor McVey, Mrs. Charles Judson Smith and Dean P. P. Boyd.

CAMPUS CHATTER

Mr. G. Keil arrived Tuesday at the University where he will assist Dean Melcher in teaching German. Mr. Keil did under-graduate work and received his masters at Columbia University. For the past year he was instructor in High School of Common, N. Y.

TRYOUTS ARE RESUMED FOR STROLLER CAST

Were Discontinued During Week of Examinations.

Tryouts for the Stroller play have begun again. Very good material has shown up in the previous try-outs and as yet no eliminations have been made. However, in two weeks the manager hopes to have the complete cast working on individual parts.

Already scenery and properties are being gathered and the spring schedule for representing the play in neighboring towns is being made. Invitations for its presentation have been received from Middleboro, Pineville and various other places where the Strollers have won much praise and support in past performances.

The notice that the staging of "Erminie" in Louisville has been called off will probably be of interest to members of the cast who intend to go out for Lady Windermer's Fan." This also gives the directors more time to devote to the production of the play. All notices for tryouts will be posted on the bulletin board in White Hall and every Stroller eligible will be held responsible for them.

DISPENSARY DOPE

the peanuts; she found another handful in the bottom of her vanity bag, and now I am getting them again.

"2:05 p. m.—More ice water.

"2:10 p. m.—She has been lifting some heavy books and, as usual, used my muscles instead of her arm muscles. You see she never had any proper physical education—soft, flabby, slouchy sort. Tired me almost as much as a six-course dinner.

"6:30 p. m.—We played a set of tennis before dinner and here I am all tired out and a lot of work to do.

"6:50 p. m.—We were invited by a sissy sport with a belt on his coat to have a soda before going home. Had a lemon phosphate and then had to run for a car.

"7 p. m.—Fried 'taters, cucumbers, veal cutlets, catsup, cookies and canned blueberries. What do you know about that?

"7:45 p. m.—We are strolling down to the corner with a knock-kneed guy in a sport shirt and white pants.

8:20 p. m.—Got home and found somebody had made some ice tea. She drank two glasses. I tried to keep the tea and the colleg ice separated, but they mixed in spite of me. I go on strike.

"8:30 p. m.—I have sent back the college ice and the iced tea.

"8:40 p. m.—Returned the blueberries and the peanuts.

"9 p. m.—The devil to pay—can't see the doctor.

9:17 p. m.—Doctor found at a weak stomach she inherited from her father. Knocked-kee suggests it's the beastly weather—the big boob.

"9:45 p. m.—Doctor says it is from a bilious temperament. Good night!"

If such abuse of our most important organ were limited to the flapper and her kin, the matter would be comparatively unimportant. But it does not require very close observation to discover that a very large proportion of people apply as little consideration to their stomachs as did the poor little girl of the "Diary."

The large number of men who break down in or before middle life should lead us to reflect upon the cause, especially as there is a tendency to overlook the true cause.

FRESHMAN TEAM DOWNS REVERENT LIEUTENANTS IN HARD FOUGHT SCRAP

Kittens Brilliant Offensive Responsible For Great Victory.

LAST HALF HARD FOUGHT

McFarland at Forward, Carey at Guard, Are Outstanding Stars.

The Kittens defeated the Centre Lieutenants Monday night at the University Gym in a close basketball game, by a 23 to 16 score.

Kentucky took the lead in the first few minutes of play and led the scoring throughout except for a few minutes at the very beginning of the game when the score was tied, two all. The game was not one of the kind that kept the onlookers on their toes every minute. The score at the end of the first half was 10 to 3 in favor of the Kittens.

The last half of the fray was a little more interesting than the first for the Reverent Lieutenants came back with a rush and scored 13 points during this half. The Kittens, though they were guarded a little closer during this half than in the first registered the same number of points as the Lieutenants. The final whistle blew with the Kitten out in front by a margin of seven points and a winner in their fourth consecutive game.

Little Jimmy McFarland, all American scholastic forward last year was high point man of the game, and leading trouble maker for the Lieutenants. Carey played his usual game at guard and kept the floor covered well and the Centre forwards worried all of the time. He was removed from the game in the last few minutes of play on account of personal fouls. Helm and Underwood played a steady game at their respective positions. Underwood scored four of the Kittens' points. Hughes is always good and again demonstrated his qualities as a floor man.

Summers was high point man for the Lieutenants with a total of nine points, most of these were made from free throws to be exact, seven out of nine.

The nine were made via the free throw route.

The game was largely a game of brilliant offensive of the Kittens against the weak defense of the Lieutenants.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS TUESDAY; FRESHMEN MEET SOPHS

Large Number of Candidates Has Turned Out For Team Practice.

CONTEST IS ANNOUNCED.

Foul Shooters of University to Compete for Royal Blue Sweater

Interclass basketball will be launched Tuesday night, February 13, in the University gymnasium when the Freshmen clash with the Seniors and

REIFKEN

Cat forward, who is leading his teammates in total points scored, and who is playing a brilliant game for the Blue and White court team.

The Juniors meet the Sophs. Practice was held Tuesday night, and the gym will be open again for practice tonight at 7 o'clock. The fraternities have decided to postpone the interfraternity tournament until after the regular basketball season.

The practices that have been held so far have not brought out a large number of players. It was intended that those men who did not make the class teams be divided into quizzets to form an intercollege meet, but unless more players come out this plan will have to be abandoned.

Athletic Director S. A. Boles, has announced that a foul shooting contest will be held some time in the near future. Every student in the University is eligible. Each contestant will shoot fifty times and the one scoring the highest number will receive a prize, a royal blue sweater. In case two or more contestants tie, a play will be held on another date.
