MARYVILLE TEAM LIKE UNTO MONTH OF MARCH

Game Starts With a Bang,
But Weaker Teams Withers Before the Cats

WALKER IS GOOD

Maryville men might have little lambs, but the Wildcats took their goats. The job was done even to a Prussian's taste in a nineteen-to-nothing football massacre last Saturday on Stoll Field. A rare bit of the real stuff was put in the Wildcat display window in the first half and it was liked by the fans. The spectacular stars for Kentucky were Walker, Brittain, Gay, Hedges and Pegasus Pullen. Maryville, too, showed a cattish adaptability for football for a time, especially in the first quarter. But the Maryville team was like the month of March. In the closing quarter they dropped out so fast the game began to drag.

Reinforcements began to pour into Kentucky's first-line trenches in the second frame, the fresh men helping to rush the puffed-up pigskin between the posts for the first touchdown. Riddle, who had been sent in for Hedges, called a formation intended to mislead Maryville. The new quarterback was stopped before the last chalk line was crossed, but as he was going down he slapped the ball into the ready arms of Brit, who got it over safely. The two backs had indulged in some rapid thinking and quick action. John Alford then kicked goal.

The next series of plays which resulted in a touchdown, began when one of the big Downing brothers intercepted a forward pass. The ball was Kentucky's and about forty yards from where the cats thought it ought to be. Budget Walker, who had been running, plunging and butting like a demon all the while, was given his cut. He made ten yards and it was again State's first down. Gus Gay gained six yards on the next play and then Walker made four more. The two halves seemed to be working in alternation, for the boy with the title of Augustus was given the next play and when the ball was passed to him he began running for cover like a gun-shy bird-dog. This pretty open field spurt, which netted touchdown number two, was one of the features of the game.

Our Lilliputian quarterback was responsible for another feature. When the smallest man staged one of the largest plays of the game in the third quarter, co-ed hearts went pit-a-pat. If Jimmy had announced himself for president of the depot immediately after he had clutched an almost perfect pass from the freckled hand of Scrub Adair, he would have undoubtedly received the unanimous suffrage vote. Pullen, too, going in as a

PLENTY OF SPIRIT

Exactly three minutes after Dr. Tiggert, Master of Ceremonies, fired the shot that started off the annual tug-of-war between the under-classesmen—the Sophomore class, the entire ninety-one of them, followed the steel cable thru Clifton Pond, and the Freshmen, 135 of them, paraded down Rose Street like the conquering heroes they were.

The fun began before time. When the cable was loosened from its pole for a test both classes began to tug and easily the Freshmen pulled it thru, two Sophomores, Thompson and Sewell, following it into the pond.

This plunge into the icy depths of Clifton Pond, whose banks were lined with some eight hundred people, terminated the controversy between the classes, and with the emerging of the dripping sophomores, all remembrance of hair-cuttings, hazardous climbs up dizzy heights, surreptitious hidings behind dark corners and open fights on the campus were put away.

Each class, at 1:30, assembled at the Main Building, the freshmen around the cannon and the sophomores in chapel, for roll-call. The absentees were recorded and catalogued for further reference. Then they marched to the scene of battle.

By the flip of a coin, the sophomores obtained the level side, forcing the freshmen up over the hill, towards the East. It is rumored that the bald-headed class was placed opposite the setting sun so that their opponents would not be blinded by the reflected light.

Each tugger was adorned with his class colors, girls from both classes having been honored with the task of beribboning their heroes. The seniors, accompanied by mustaches and canes, acted as sponsors for the sophomores, while the freshmen were supported by the juniors, who had visions of a sousing at the hands of the sophomores who were present. The customary tar, dust and foot-holds, tabooed by the authorities, were in evidence on both sides.

LASLEY PRESIDENT OF SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomore class held its election of officers Thursday afternoon in chapel with the following result: Marion Lasley, of Lewisburg, president; Dorothy Middleton, of Lexington, vice president; Ed. Dabney, of Hopkinsville, secretary, and Virginia Helm Milner, of Union Star, treasurer.

Gus Gay, last year's president, presided at the meeting until the new president was installed.

ACTIVE ARMY OFFICER COMES AS COMMANDANT

Captain Royden From Fort
Oglethorpe Given the Office

ARRIVES THIS WEEK

With the arrival of Captain W. E. Royden, U. S. A., this week, the battalion of the University begins its new life under government control, and the fifty members of the Officers' Reserve Corp will hold places on the payroll of the United States Government.

Under these provisions of the Officers' Reserve Act for College Men the fifty men enrolled in the R. O. C. will receive as "pin" money, nine dollars a month and an initial fourteen dollars on the cost of the uniform. These uniforms are to be purchased in the open market but must conform to army regulations.

The junior and senior officers of the Reserve Corp, upon filling out the blanks now on hand in the office, will swear allegiance to their country and take a military oath before coming qualified as officers. These student officers will attend two summer training camps of four or six weeks' duration, during their college years. After the completion of the course in military science at the University, under the regulations of the Officers' Reserve Act, the graduates are eligible for appointments to commissions in the United States Army.

Captain Royden, recently stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., is expected this week, and upon his arrival the payroll for the officers will be made. In this Act, are specifications that the officers will be required to drill the battalion on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of each week and attend classes in military science on Monday and Thursday.

The battalion, the largest in the history of the University, is rapidly mastering the squad movements under the discipline of acting-commandant D. R. Ellis, who will present a well-drilled battalion to the new commandment.

Major Smoke, retired army officer who has been previously announced as the new commandant, did not accept the office.

MORTON MADE EDITOR OF 1918 KENTUCKIAN

Samuel Helm Morton, of Owensboro, senior in the College of Law, was chosen editor of the Kentuckian the first part of the week by a committee appointed by Virgil Chapman, president of the senior class.

Morton is especially gifted for work of this kind and the publication of the Kentuckian is a big job, there is no doubt that a man has been found who is fully capable of filling it. The editor will complete the selection of his staff as soon as possible.

UNIV. WAR CAMPAIGN PLANNED BY Y.M.C.A.

$2,500 in Two Days is Aim of the "Y" in New Campaign

$185.50 IS NOW PLEDGED

Twenty-five hundred dollars pledged in two days is the aim of the University Y. M. C. A. in connection with the National War Work of the Association.

The campaign was organized Monday night at a banquet in the Mess Hall. Each of the eighteen students present pledged himself to interview every man on the list handed him and secure his gift or the promise of a gift. At the same meeting $187.50 was pledged by the workers themselves.

After the banquet Acting President Boyd, Secretary Johnson and Captain Brittain spoke to the men. According to the plan presented, each student has until December 1 to pay his pledge. Southern colleges are asked for $100,000 and $2,500 is the University of Kentucky's share.

"This means an average pledge of $5.00 from each boy in the University," said Secretary Johnson. "There is no better way in which we can help if we are not in the training camps, than to contribute to this fund. Your friends are in the camps, and the 'Y' is administering to them all the physical, mental and spiritual help that is in its power. It will need your money."

DR. BUSH TO GIVE SERIES OF LECTURES

Beginning Tuesday evening, October 23, at 7 o'clock, the Rev. Benjamin J. Bush will deliver the first of a series of talks on Christian Fundamentals to the students and the faculty of the University. These talks will be given on Tuesday evening, from 7 to 8 o'clock, in the Association Rooms, in the Gymnasium Building. Both men and women are invited. Mr. Bush is one of the most popular speakers who come to the University and this series of talks will be helpful to every student.

The following is the program that will be offered:

Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN INAUGURATED TUESDAY

Secretary From Camp Taylor Tells of "Y" Work There

$2,500 NEEDED HERE

H. V. McChesney, educational secretary of the army Y. M. C. A. at Camp Zachary Taylor, spoke to the students in chapel Tuesday of the work being done among the 30,000 soldiers of Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois stationed at the Louisville cantonment. Following Mr. McChesney's talk, Mr. S. E. Johnson, secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., announced the opening here of the three-day campaign for $2,500, which is the University's share of the $1,000,000 to be raised by college students of the nation as part of the $35,000,000 asked for the army Y. M. C. A. work.

Mr. McChesney explained the organization of the work at the camp which is under the supervision of the National War Work Council, and carried on by a camp general secretary, the secretaries of the religious, educational, and physical departments, and near half a hundred helpers. Part of the money asked for the work is needed at Louisville for more buildings and equipment, although nine buildings, valued at $75,000, are now on the grounds. These include an administration building, which seats in its vast auditorium 5,000; seven service buildings, each having an auditorium seating 1,100, a complete moving picture outfit, a reading room supplied with books from the Louisville Public Library, and a writing room accommodating 250 soldiers at one time.

Mr. McChesney, as secretary of the educational department, has charge of all entertainment; under his supervision there is some kind of program in each of the seven buildings every night. Twice a week there is a picture show; at other times there are the best of chautauqua programs, as the National War Work Council has put the camp on a chautauqua circuit. Mr. McChesney and his co-workers have also drawn heavily on the talent of Louisville. The soldiers often get up entertainments themselves, with the aid of the camp musical director.

The Y. M. C. A. of an army camp, said Mr. McChesney, must meet all demands, so all indoor and outdoor sports known to the athletic world are open to the soldiers, and carloads of equipment for all kinds of games are provided by the National Council.

According to Mr. McChesney, it is not necessary to thrust religion down the throats of the men, as they turn to it for helpfulness, and the Sunday services in each of the auditoriums are always crowded, probably because the sermon, or talk, as the speakers

MRS. BARTLETT HERE.

Mrs. Morris Bartlett, of Lawrenceburg, former president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, has been appointed by the University as an agent for this district in the new emergency home demonstration work.

Mrs. Bartlett will have an office at the Experiment Station this winter, and is anxious to communicate with every organization in Lexington wishing for practical instruction.

LOST—Kappa Sigma fraternity pin. Reward if returned to Beard Doss.

AT THE ADA MEADE.

A well-balanced bill will complete the week at the Ada Meade. Jack Poff, a clever comedian, will open the bill. Little Miss Flirt Co. has a charming girl act that is bound to please. Hugh Emmet & Co. comes to the fore with a clever little playlet. The Wilhats romp into action with comedy, song and chatter predominating. The Nippon Duo have a blend of nonsense and harmony and will bring the bill to a fast close.

A snappy, sparkling tabloid, full of girls and music, is promised the patrons of the Ada Meade beginning next Monday afternoon.

Max Bloom and his Sunny Side of Broadway will be the attraction. Though Mr. Bloom has retained the old title the show will be entirely new. Beckey, the horse comedian, will again be seen with the company. During the summer months he has been taught some new tricks, among them the Charlie Chapman walk.

With Bloom will be seen Alice Sher, a girl who is both pretty and clever, and can wear stunning gowns. They will be supported by a company of twenty-two, mostly girls.

The "tab" abounds with catchy music, clever dancing and specialties. The management claims it to be by far the best show that Max Bloom has ever had.—(Adv.)

are often laymen, is limited to twenty minutes. Hundreds of the soldiers, busy as their life is, pursue the daily Bible reading course, and the Sunday School lesson is a resume of these. The Sunday afternoon volunteer song service and the mid-week prayer meeting are as well attended as the nightly entertainments, and the problem is not how to get the men to come to the Y. M. C. A., but what to do with the crowds that come.

The work at Camp Taylor is typical of that being done at other camps, and to broaden the scope of that work, money and more money is needed. A committee from the local Y. M. C. A. will solicit subscriptions from the college students. The amount allotted to the University is $2,500, which means $5.00 a man.

FIRST KENTUCKY MAN MEETS DEATH IN WAR

Stanley H. Smith on U. S. S. Wilkes Dies in Foreign Waters

ENLISTED IN MAY

Word informing friends at this University of the death of Stanley H. Smith in foreign waters was received here Monday. The letter which bore the sorrowful news was sent from Crawford, New Jersey, the former home of Mr. Smith, to Jimmy Hedges. The writer, an aunt of Mr. Smith, said that the family had received the message from the War Department on September 20, but that details of the fatality were not given.

Stanley Smith left the University of Kentucky last May at the instance of the first call for volunteers. He enlisted in the yeoman service of the navy and was assigned to the U. S. S. Wilkes, on which ship he was stationed at the time of his death.

All who knew Stanley Smith say that they never came in contact with or were associated with a finer young man, a youth who promised much. The deceased was formerly a student in the Law Department, a member of the Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity and of the Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity. While at the University Mr. Smith utilized his spare time by doing stenographic work in the main office.

The relatives and friends of Mr. Smith may cherish and keep holy the fact that he was not a slacker and that he has faithfully done his part in the defeat of autocracy. The University of Kentucky can also remember him as the first man, graduate or undergraduate, known to have met his death in the struggle with Germany.

HOME EC GRADUATES HOLD TO PROFESSION

No department in the University can boast of a higher percentage of graduates engaged in teaching the theory and practice of their chosen profession than the Home Economics Department. Only two of all the graduates of this department are not so employed.

All four of last year's graduates are instructors in various parts of Kentucky. Frances Geisel, one of the best "all round" girls at the University, has charge of the lunch room in the Maysville High School. Johnnie Cramer is instructor in Home Economics in the Lincoln and Maxwell schools of this city. Jessie Florence has filled the position formerly occupied by Jessie Acker, graduate of two years ago, in the Madisonville schools. Linda Purnell is back at the University instructing in foods and cookery.

UNIQUE PROGRAM AT UNION.

The Union Literary Society met Saturday night in the society room, with L. F. Bischof presiding in the absence of the president. Leon Wise entertained those present with a dramatic reading. The Darwinian theory of the survival of the fittest was the subject of a unique discourse by Robert Mitchell.

DISABLED TEAM MEETS MIAMI HERE SATURDAY

Kentucky Spirit Brings Hope to Wildcats in Spite of Odds

LAST FIGHT IN 1912

"We're going to have to play mighty hard to beat them," said Daddy Boles, Tuesday, in referring to the game with Miama Saturday.

"They have a heavy team. One man in the line weighs 230 pounds. Three of the backfield men played last year, when they were champions of the Ohio Conference. "Chief" Crawford is the only backfield man who did not return this year and his place is filled by his brother. We know we are to meet experienced men, because Miama never plays a Freshman.

"Our team is not in the best of condition today, and I cannot say whether they will be improved by Saturday or not. These men are on the cripple list: Shanklin, Oldham, Pullen, Adair, Gay, Hodges, Walker, Bastin, D. Downing, Brittain and Herndon. Of course they are not seriously hurt, but their injuries, sustained in the last two games and in practice, would prevent their playing their best."

Confidence is a great thing, and Daddy is confident his Wildcats will scare Miami to death even if he didn't say it. There are now possibilities cropping out every day on the field and new plays and tricks are being tried. Miami, even tho it was the champion of Ohio Conference last year, will find the Wildcats the hardest customers they have had this year. James Park, assistant coach, saw them defeat Ohio Northern 33 to 0 last Saturday and he still has faith in the old-time reputation of the Wildcats.

The last time Miami played U. of K., was in 1912. They won by a score of thirteen to eight. The year before, they drew the small end of the score at Oxford, Ohio. The Wildcats brought home twelve and left them nothing. Miami did not lose a game last year.

The probable line-up follows:

EXTENSIVE WORK DONE BY UNIV. Y.M.C.A.

Seven Months' Report Shows Broad Field of Activities

255 MEMBERS NOW

The following brief statement will give the student body some conception of the work that was accomplished by the Young Men's Christian Association in the University last year. The general exodus of students the first of April practically brought all activities to an end, so that only seven months were allowed for work.

Membership records for the previous year were not available and membership in the association was put on a new basis, that of service and Christian ideals. Two hundred and fifty-five members were enrolled.

The rooms were freshly kalsomined and made as attractive as the funds would permit. The Edison was provided with 48 records. The local papers and a dozen county papers, together with twenty-five leading magazines furnished reading matter. One hundred volumes of light fiction was donated by the First Methodist Church. Free stationery was provided. Chess and checkers helped to while away some vacant hours. The larger room was used by both glee clubs, The Strollers, for class meetings and in other ways.

Nearly $2,000 in work was provided for students.

Three socials were conducted during the year. The reception to new students was attended by nearly four hundred. The Freshman stag was the occasion for a pleasant evening for sixty freshmen. One hundred and twenty-five pounds of candy was served to more than four hundred in March. Only a lack of funds prevented other events.

Ministers, business men, Y. M. C. A. secretaries, representatives of the church boards spoke to the students on Sunday evenings. The average attendance was forty-five.

Ten professors and twenty students attended the State Student Conference at Georgetown in December. Two students and the secretary were at the Student Volunteer Conference at Berea and the secretary and one student were at the Blue Ridge Conference in June.

A number of students have engaged in this service at the reformatory on Sunday afternoon, in teaching first aid in the public schools, in teaching Sunday School classes on Sunday afternoon at the Odd Fellows and Pythian Homes for Orphans, and in Boy Scout work.

During December and June, the secretary visited Kentucky Wesleyan, Berea, Centre and Georgetown colleges and the Eastern Kentucky Normal School in the interest of the State Committee of Y. M. C. A.

Last spring when the troops were brought to Camp Stanley, about two weeks' time was given to getting the association work under way for the soldiers. Volunteer service was given by the president of our association for a week.

The following financial statement appears in another part of the paper.

Y. M. C. A.

The Kernel hopes and believes that the Y. M. C. A. is, by its own many, straightforward efforts, placing itself in the light in which it should appear to every thinking college man.

The Y. M. C. A., on foreign battlefields and in the camps of our soldiers at home, has done more than any other one thing to reverse the moral conditions that have hitherto permeated camp life. Who can tell but that we ourselves may be cared for by them, somewhere thousands of miles from home, before the world is made safe for democracy?

At present, the Y. M. C. A. is doing more for us than we, at first thought, realize. One of the chief factors determining the respect with which a degree is regarded by the world is the morale of the institution from which it comes. It is the Y. M. C. A. that holds up the standards for clean life and largely determines what the opinion of the world toward an institution will be.

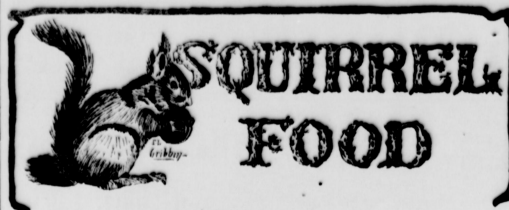

The campaign to raise our part of what is necessary for the existence of the Y. M. C. A. in its great humane undertaking for the following year ends tomorrow night. Some have it within their power to give more financial aid than others. These men can, in no better way, show their patriotism or loyalty to their University than by putting their shoulders to the wheel at this time. Last year some men gave twenty-five dollars; many gave ten. We believe that there are men still on the campus who will stand as staunchly by Y. M. C. A. standards as any that have gone.

Our First Big Game.

The battle that will be fought on the football field Saturday will not be in the class of anything that has been seen on Kentucky's gridiron this season.

Miami is an old foe with a fighting reputation. Last year her team won the State championship and the last time we played them we were defeated. The boys from the Buckeye State are coming to Kentucky with the expectation of carrying the trophies of victory home with them. Games with Miami have always been hard fought and "blood" will very likely be the price of victory tomorrow. But a Wildcat's "blood" flows freely when it takes that to win. It was in a battle against overwhelming odds that they gained their name. Their fighting was so ferocious that the name sprang up from the side lines from lack of any other term that would fittingly describe them.

No men were ever more worthy of the name Wildcats than those who will wear the Blue and White into the fray when the blast of the whistle sounds the opening of Saturday's struggle. With men like fleet and wiry Gus in the open field and sturdy, plunging Brittain in the line, the Kernel believes that not even Miami can prevent our snake dance and night-shirt parade that have usually celebrated Wildcat victories in the grand old days gone by.

Lykelle Poem.

A couple strolled 'neath the arboretum
The Dean's class they were cutting.
In her ear he whispered "Sweet-um,"
O'er their heads were branches putting.
Couple then froze in fear,
Dean of Women did appear.
But she said: "Enjoy the air,
For my wrath have not a care."

The Eternal Question.

Please don't think me stupid,
But my brain is in a quirk,
Does I. W. W.
Mean "I will work or I won't work?"

DR. FORTUNE SPEAKS AT Y. W. C. A. SUNDAY

Dr. A. W. Fortune, of Transylvania, addressed the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening amid very different surroundings from those existing when he addressed the same organization last year. He spoke of the contrast between the large well-lighted Recreation Hall and the basement room then occupied, and congratulated the association upon its good fortune.

Miss Virginia Shanklin conducted the meeting and introduced Dr. Fortune. "The Abiding Qualities of Faith" was the subject of his talk and he emphasized that the strength given to Paul and Silas in prison was proportionate to their faith. "It is easy to be brave," said Dr. Fortune, "when there are no temptations to face, it is easy to be happy when there are no sorrows, but when the testing time comes what then? What do we need?"

The qualities of faith as recognized by the speaker are, the fearlessness of faith that makes one hopeful, the power of faith that makes one victorious and the certainty of faith that holds.

"Columbus," Miller's poem, so typical of faith in giving to the world the watchword "On," concluded the address.

NOTICE, FACULTY!

Ten years ago Monday, the faculty of State University accepted a challenge of the senior class to a game of football. In the words of the prophet, "Them was the good old days." Can they be revived?

Our friends, The Lexington Herald, headlines an article, "Man Thot Drowned Charged With Fraud." Apparently you can't even die without being censored now-a-days.

We Always Wondered Too.

A little girl was going down town one day and passed a large building with "Smith Manufacturing Co." emblazoned across the front.
"Now I know where all the Smith's come from," she said.

The Tables Turned.

We hear that the jury was hung in a case at Georgetown. Pretty soon, even the lawyers won't be safe.

Excited Knitter: "Help! Someone come here, quick."

Gallant Hero: "Are you hurt?"

Excited Knitter: "No, I dropped a stitch."

Not on the Map.

Harry and Ted were matching stories. "My pa has been everywhere," said Harry.

"No he ain't," said Ted after some thought. "He ain't been to Heaven."

"Aw, I mean places of over five hundred population," answered Harry crushingly.

They sat thru part of the travel pictures in bored silence, but when at last the little train reached the height of the Peruvian railroad, he said: "Come on, this is where we get off."

STUDENTS' FORUM

OUR PART IN THE WAR.

Editor of Kentucky Kernel:

The merciless Moloch of war has covered the Eastern Hemisphere with innocent tears and reddened the fields of Europe with innocent blood. Thousands of souls are daily flung into eternity by the power of the most ruthless tyrant the world has ever seen. Sixty-five per cent of the world's people have been engulfed in the maelstrom of carnage. Sixty-five per cent of the earth's surface is aflame and the red sparks of destruction, borne on the wings of war, are falling to day on our own American shores.

The American nation remained aloof from war until the power of Kaiserism hung menacingly over our free institutions and threatened with destruction the most vital principles of our government. We are at war over a principle; as our President says, "to make the world safe for Democracy." We are fighting that the temple of American liberty may not be profaned; that the Declaration of Independence may not be gainsaid; that the Constitution may not become, like a German treaty, a mere "scrap of paper"; that the Stars and Stripes may never be truthfully called "a flaunting lie"; we are fighting that He who uttered the Sermon on the Mount may not be reviled.

Now that we are in this war we must fight it to a finish. We must "bear it that our oppressor may be aware of us." The last vestige of militarism must be blotted from the earth.

II.

It was a beautiful "land of the sky," at Blue Ridge, North Carolina. The representatives of all the colleges and universities of the Southland were assembled. The place was Robert E. Lee Hall. The very name is the apotheosis of duty, love and patriotism. The delegates were representative of the best families of the South—grandsons of the greatest soldiers the world ever saw.

A quiet, unobtrusive fellow, known to every delegate present, made a motion. A South Carolinian by birth, a Kentuckian by adoption, J. E. Johnson, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Kentucky, moved that the colleges of the South give $100,000 to the Y. M. C. A. War Work. Every college man in that assemblage arose and pledged himself to do his best. There was not a dissenter, not an obstructionist. Every man remembered that his patron saint had written to his son: "duty is the sublimest word in the English language."

Tennessee and Virginia have pledged their college boys to give $16,000 each; North Carolina will give $14,200; South Carolina $11,300; Kentucky and Mississippi stand pledged to give $9,000 each.

III.

The University of Kentucky, the leading educational institution of Kentucky, will do its part. Our boys have already gone. Some of them are in the training camps of the country; some are quartered in cantonments. Some of them are already on the battlefields of France. Some of them will plant the American flag on the towers of the palace of the Hohenzollerns. Some of them will come back marching with victorious tread, and some will be brought back wrapped in Old Glory's folds, and all because they fought your battles and my battles while we stayed at home. Many of you, like the writer, were rejected. Some of you have never offered your services to the Government. Not a man in "State" will falter. Our country expects every man to do his duty!

Let the pride of Kentuckians assert itself. Let service be our watchword, duty our shibboleth, and when the returns come in from all the colleges of the South, and then Kentucky speaks thru her University, men everywhere will be reminded of the poet's lines about New Orleans:

"There stood John Bull in Martial pomp,
But there stood Old Kentucky."

DELEGATE TO BLUE RIDGE.

WOODS PATTERSON PRESIDENT.

Estill Woods, of Nicholasville, was elected president of the Patterson Literary Society at a meeting held Saturday night. Mr. Woods, who is a senior in the College of Arts and Science, is also editor of the Kernel, and is prominent in university theatricals, being a member of the Strollers.

Other officers elected were the following: Brady Stewart, of Keevil, vice president; W. C. Piper, of Lexington, secretary; Harold McGregor, of Lexington, treasurer; Richard Henry, of Morton's Gap, marshal, and Lee McClain, of Bardstown, critic. W. C. Piper, Harold McGregor and Bernard Moosnick were appointed on the program committee.

CAMPAIGN ON CAMPUS FOR "Y" ARMY CAMPS

Plans Made to Raise $2,500 at Banquet Monday Night

BEREA PLEDGES $3,000

The campaign to raise $2,500 from the students of the University of Kentucky for the war work of the Young Men's Christian Association was launched last Monday evening at a dinner at the Cafeteria. Speeches were made by Acting President Boyd, Captain Brittain, of the football team, and J. E. Johnson.

This fund is a part of the $100,000 to be raised from the college men of the South. Kentucky's share is $9,000. It is proposed to raise $1,000,000 from the students of American colleges. One hundred and eight-six dollars and fifty cents was pledged by the twenty men present or an average of $9.32 per man. It is necessary that an average of $5.00 for every man in the University be raised if Kentucky does its full part.

Berea is planning to raise $3,000. The University of Tennessee reported $500 for the first one hundred men canvassed. Cumberland University averaged over $5.00 per student. Castle Heights Prep School gave $1,000 with two hundred students.

The following men are soliciting from the students: Arts and Sciences, Pritchett, Jackson, Pullen; Ags, Lindsay, Morgan, Steinhauser, Lancaster, Duncan, Lasley, Tapp; Engineering, Brittain, Milward, Henry, Puckett, Melton, Baulch, Zerfoss, McWhorter, Heber, Thompson; Law, Chapman.

SOCIETIES PLAN DEBATE.

Committees were appointed by the Fatterson and Union societies at their last meetings to make arrangements for the annual inter-society debate. The committees were instructed to discuss plans with the University Debating Council, and recommend a subject at an early date. The Debating Council's rules were read at both societies, and members evinced great interest in the prospect of a hard-fought contest.

"CAP AND GOWN"
SERIES AT LIBRARY

The "Cap and Gown" collection of books in the University library is a small group of books selected from all the different classes in the library and shelved separately. They are books which have a special appeal to students for general reading.

There are included among them books on college life, religion, the drama, outdoor books, and a few works of fiction, chiefly those of Southern writers. Some of the more interesting titles are, Mental Efficiency, by Arnold Bennett; The Freshman and His College, by Lockwood; The American Girl, by Anne Morgan, and The College Student and His Problems, by Canfield. This collection is located in the general reading room of the library, in the first alcove to the left of the entrance.

University of Kentucky students will find most fascinating reading in "A Student in Arms," by Donald Hankey. It consists of a series of short papers by a young soldier, which deals not so much with the actual happenings at the front as with the soldier's Hark ye to the stuff that is in the make-up of the Wildcat! In some manner, sleight of hand, sleight of foot or both, he regained his feet, went ten yards further, was tackled again and then began to act like a human plow, going still another yard before he was brought to a complete stop.

Maryville had two excellent chances to score. One of their men got loose with a clear field in his fore in the first quarter. Walker, however, came in from behind like greased lightning and that chance was gone. In the fourth, Maryville had a chance that was equally good, but their man had trouble in picking them up and putting them down and that chance was gone.

The summary and line-up follows:

It is planned to have meetings once a month, at which prohibition subjects will be discussed by outside speakers. The club discussed the advisability of introducing a course in prohibition in the University. All students interested in this phase of work are requested to become members of the club.

Milam is president; Miss Irma Wentzell, vice president, and Miss Elizabeth McGowan, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Meetings are held every Thursday at 7:15 p. m. in Professor Noe's class room in the Education Building.
