BASE BALL OUTLOOK GOOD

ALL COLLEGES IN K. I. A. A.
WORKING HARD.—K. S. U.
HOPES TO WIN.

With the coming of Spring the question arises among the college men of Kentucky as to which University of the State will turn out the championship baseball team of 1910.

The question will of course, remain unanswered until the season is well on, and then it will be a surmise.

State University has had during the past few years some of the best horsehide artists that have graced the colleges of Kentucky, and the prospects are that again this spring the Blue and White team will make a strong showing in the Southern Championship race, with Central, Transylvania and Georgetown coming close.

Last year the Blue and White took a slump and was tied for second and third places by Transylvania and Georgetown, much to the surprise of the other colleges in the League.

The prospects are that all the teams in the Inter-collegiate will play much faster ball this year than formerly, and a real four-cornered race is anticipated between State, Transylvania, Central and Georgetown, with Berea and Ky. Wesleyan bringing up the rear.

The two latter teams have almost been unheard of in baseball up to last year, when they made better showings than ever before. Until they can get a good coach they will not be able to compete with the other colleges in the League.

Central University is probably the strongest rival in the League of State University, and as they won all of their games in the League last year, they will work hard this year to secure the pennant again.

State has been working under difficulties for the past year but this Spring will work harder than ever to win over the Cardinal and Blue and the other rivals in the State.

A heavy schedule is being prepared, and the Cadet will go in for Southern honors.

There will not be many of the old men to make the team next season, for the simple reason that there will be better material on hand.

Meadows will be in the box again for State, and will probably win himself a place again on the All-Kentucky.

Meadows' pitching last year held the Cadets up much better than they could have otherwise done. His batting is also better than the average college pitcher.

Central will have most of her old team back again next year, and will work out as a hard proposition for the team to solve.

Transylvania will make a bid for the championship again this season, and has several new recruits in to take up the stick for the Crimson team. Shaw, one of the best pitchers in the League, is back in school, and with the assistance of two other twirlers, will make a good showing against any battery that will be produced in the State. Captain Duguid has returned to school and will probably be behind the bat or on the first sack.

A good coach is being looked for, but as yet no announcements have been made.

Coach Hinton, of Georgetown, has been working out his material, and news brought from the Orange and Black camp is that they will be the dark horse in the championship race this coming season, but as they have been standing close to the bottom each year, the other colleges expect to beat them out again.

Berea still has the same bunch of men they have taken out on the diamond for several years past, and if they were properly coached would make a brilliant record for the brilliant mountaineers, who never know they're downed. If some of the other teams in the League would show this same spirit, there would be different scores in many of the games.

As it stands, two if not three of the teams stand about evenly match-

Wheu is a horse not a horse?
Why is a football banquet when?
How many jerseys does it take to make a "K"

ed, and it will be the work of the clever batter or heady pitcher that will bring out his team, and on this team the pennant of 1910 will perish.

This race is for (aged horses), 4 year old and up. Four heats. There is a penalty for every jockey who is found to have any dope about him and he will be immediately disqualified and forbidden to enter the remaining heats. Each fellow must ride under his own colors and there must be no exchanging of saddles, etc.

Clark stands favorite in the race with Shanklin a close second. The dope figures well for several of the competitors, but these are stake horses and having been in training under several competent men it is most generally believed that the race lies between these two.

Several of the men have been suspected of prowling around the stables of the other trainers, as there was some candle grease found on the apartment of one.

This trainer evidently has had experience in this line as he was on to the pranks and spirited away his little bottle of dope, and no one has been able to find it.

"VIVE LA COLLEGE SPIRIT!"

This is the proper time for all persons imbued with the right kind of College spirit to demonstrate it.

The forthcoming production of "Richelieu," Lord Lytton's greatest play, by the students of State University, is not intended FOR State University alone, but OF State University for the benefit of a dramatic education. The other colleges and high schools of Lexington, as well as the general public of the city and State at large, are intensely interested in the outcome of this deviation from the regular routine (monotonous, did you say?) of College life of the entire South.

The faculty and student body of the University respectfully ask her rival colleges to "bury the hatchet" and assist in the establishment of a lasting precedent for the sake of education, artistic development and the Grand Old State of Kentucky!

NOTICE, JUNIORS!

The time has come for the class dues to be collected. There has been much trouble experienced in past years in raising the amount of money absolutely necessary for The Annual, but we are proud of the fact that the Class of 1911 has always come loyally to the front in meeting their obligations.

Let this be the case now, and tomorrow morning leave one dollar ($1.00) ready to turn over to our Treasurer, Mr. James A. Boyd, and do not be satisfied until you are checked up "Paid." If he does not find you—find him. It is no little job for a student to see every member of our class; so do not be one of the very few who will say, "I'll see you later."

We are reliably informed that the Annual for this year will be the most beautiful publication ever put out by the students, and let us all co-operate to see that it is a success.

Respectfully,
Junior Class Pres.

A Transylvania student has contributed an article on baseball in this issue. Read it and see if he knows.

I HAVE NOT GOT TIME.

"Come out for the basket-ball team, Ponto! You are a nice, big, husky fellow. I believe you could make some one on the first team hustle."

Dear friend Ponto replies: "I have not got time!"

Yes, Ponto, that is a very neat excuse. You can pat yourself on the back and say that you are a student and cannot be enticed away from your all-important tasks.

"I have not got time!" What is time, Ponto? Stay a minute if you can spare it, and reason. There is really no such thing as time. Time is merely a division of your meager little life. So much time passed is so much of your life gone. That is all. The clock ticks on and on, but the universe is not affected by it. It does not make one particle of difference what you do with your very, very small life-time; but would it not be better for you if you carefully considered what time you have and put it to the best advantage? It is all right to study, of course. No one will say you nay. But are you sure you do not use that excuse for a shallow covering of your laziness and inertness? "I have not got time" is a sort of disease or habit with you. You have not got time to join the Glee Club; you have not got time to help any student activity. You are a student, and you do not have time to do anything but study.

Poor Ponto, so overworked! Poor old fellow! What a help you are to the college! What an inspiration to the others! Aren't you proud of yourself, Ponto?

A NEW NAME AND SOME DOUGH

What the University Needs.

State University is at last to have her long-cherished name of University of Kentucky, if the legislators do their part by us, and she is also to have a nice little appropriation along with it.

This latter thing is by far the most essential. We need the money and must have it if we are to keep apace with similar institutions. There has been some talk about the present legislature turning us down, and if they do,—well, it's a shame and a disgrace to the people of Kentucky. We must do our part, and the best way of doing it is by going after our legislators.

An appropriation of eight hundred thousand dollars would be fairly commensurate, but who dreams of asking for that much. We are inhabitants of a poor State. The treasury is empty and the Governor has the lid on all money appropriations.

Is there something rotten in Denmark, or will things come around all right, and the legislators gain the good-will of every one connected with the institution?

Frat. Houses Burn.

Grotesquely attired in bathrobes and pajamas, thirteen members of the Kappa Sigma fraternity at Missouri University were forced into the snow at 3:30 a. m., last Wednesday on account of fire. The fire started in the basement and the lower floors were in flames before the fire was discovered. One unfortunate student had $1,000 in bonds destroyed. Six watches and almost all the personal property of the members were lost. The house and furniture were only partially insured.

The Delta Upsilon house at Cornell was destroyed Dec. 24th, the fire originating from defective wiring. Only two men were sleeping in the house at the time and both escaped unharmed. All the furniture on the first two floors was saved, but the personal belongings on the third floor were completely destroyed. The members will occupy the house of a professor, who is in Europe, until their house is rebuilt. The property was valued at $20,000 and was covered by $17,000 insurance.

Fifty men were recently chosen in a competitive examination held in Peking, China, who will be distributed among various American Universities. The Chinese government will pay their expenses.

The University of Michigan regents will be asked at their next meeting to devote part of the trust funds held by them for fellowships to the building of residence halls or dormitories for girls. The plan is to build up an entire city block with girl dormitories.

The switchmen's strike at Seattle has been hampering the work of the University of Washington this week, by making it impossible for the institution to get enough coal to keep the heating and power plants going. The Washington Daily had to be set up by hand, and it was necessary to take the forms to adown-town office to be printed.

The Washington Daily says: Washington will meet the Vancouver Rowing Club in an eight-oared shell race on Lake Washington the second week in June. At the same time the Varsity four will row against a four from the James Bay Rowing Club of Victoria. Earlier in the year the Varsity crew will go to Vancouver to meet the Canadians on Vancouver waters. These races were arranged by graduate manager Victor Zednick, who made a trip to Vancouver and Victoria during the vacation period to confer with Coaches J. Pyfe-Smith and James O'Sullivan relative to the spring rowing activities.

William James Sidis, the eleven-year-old Harvard student, delivered a lecture Wednesday before the Harvard Mathematical Society. For an hour and a half he ably discussed the difficult and complex subject of "Fourth Dimensional Bodies", treating the subject in a masterful manner, which quite astounded the professors present. Young Sidis spent a year at Tufts Colleg, entering Harvard last fall with the intention of specializing in mathematics. He speaks five languages, and is an intellectual prodigy in all of the varied studies he has undertaken. At one time he passed the entrance examinations for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

THE ROCHESTER CONVENTION. STATE TO GIVE TWO PLAYS.

On Tuesday, Dec. 28, 1909, the Kentucky delegation to the Rochester Students' Conference met at the Grand Central Station, Cincinnati. The Kentucky delegation numbered ninety, and included representatives from all of the male and female colleges in the State.

Kentucky had one of the largest delegations of any of the States. By combining with the Tennessee delegation, numbering sixty-five, we were able to secure a special train thru from Cincinnati to Rochester.

We arrived at Rochester Wednesday noon, and proceeded immediately to the Convention Hall, where we were given the names and addresses of our hosts and hostesses. Rochester received and entertained us royally. The delegates were loud in their praise of the treatment shown us, and all pronounced Rochester an ideal convention city. If the treatment shown us be a sample of Rochester's hospitality, it compares most favorably with that for which Kentucky is so justly famous.

There were present at the Convention 3624 delegates, representing 722 Institutions, 49 States and provinces, and 29 countries. The watchword of this movement is, "The Evangelization of the World in This Generation," which explains its object. It is endeavoring to do this thru the students of the Colleges and Universities of the various countries in which it is at work.

These quadrennial conventions are held for the purpose of stimulating and promoting interest amongst the students in foreign mission work, and to get volunteers for carrying on the work. Over 4,000 students have been sent to the foreign field within the last quarter of a century as a result of the work of this movement. There were about 200 at Rochester waiting to be sent, about 125 of whom had been assigned places in the foreign field.

Of the public men who addressed us, the Hon. James Bryce, Ambassador from England, was the most prominent. We were addressed by ministers, missionaries and professors who are as conspicuous in their line of work as is Mr. Bryce in diplomatic circles.

The music was grand and imposing—that of the male quartette, composed of ministers, being especially fine.

Meetings were held simultaneously at three different places, the average attendance being estimated at between 8,000 and 10,000.

The Convention closed Sunday night, January 2nd. Monday morning we left for Niagara, the railroad running us over there without any extra charge. We spent a very enjoyable day at this famous resort, and left for Kentucky that night. We were unanimous in our opinion that this trip had been one of the greatest privileges and pleasures of our lives, and that the Convention and its work are greater than any one can conceive who has never attended one.

It never rains but it pours. For the last few years nothing has ever been heard at State about theatrical work. A few poor attempts have been made at plays, but up to this year no good plays have been attempted.

This spring, not one, but two plays are to be put on by the students of the University of Kentucky. The first one will appear early in February. It will be the well-known play, "Richelieu," which will be presented by the English department, assisted by Mr. Cunningham, a former student of the University, and now a well-known actor. The proceeds of the play will go to the English department.

The first rehearsal was held Tuesday in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, when Mr. Cunningham tried out the applicants for the play and read the first two scenes. The play will be carried thru as quickly as possible, and it will be given within three weeks if possible.

This is the first time in the history of the South that any Southern University has attempted to stage a classical play like Richelieu. No pains will be spared to make the play a success, and every student in the University is going to support it.

The second play to be given is to appear about the middle of April. Little is known about the play, and all that could be found out about it is given here. No one seems to know much about it, and the few that do only shake their heads and smile.

The play is written by a student of the University. It is backed and is to be supported by a small number of alumnae of the University. It is written especially for the students who are to take part in it. It is entirely different from any other college play ever written. The scenes are laid at the University of Kentucky. It is not a musical comedy or opera, but a play dealing with college life.

DR. COULTER.

Dr. Stanley Coulter, of Purdue University, Indiana, who is in Lexington for a few days' visit, and who delivered the principal address before the Monday Club at State University, is being mentioned by some for the presidency of State University. Many of the members of the State University faculty, who heard Dr. Coulter's address, and who are familiar with his splendid record as an educator, have expressed themselves as favoring his selection for the presidency, and a boom has been started for him for the important post.

Mr. Frank Baker, a Senior law student, has been elected to the office of Business Manager of the Annual of 1910—The Kentuckian. Frank has only been with us a year now, but he shows class and there is little or no doubt that he is the best qualified man in the class to replace Hall who so unexpectedly threw up the job. Baker is sincere and energetic, and the way he has started things going leaves no doubt that he will make a success of the annual. He has selected his staff, which stands as follows: Frank Baker, Business Manager; Joe Shelby and Halecomb Hudson, Advertising Managers; E. B. Webb, Subscription Manager, and Robert Atkins, Organizations Manager. With the hearty support of the under-classmen the annual for this year will be the biggest success ever.

The knell of parting joy the bugle calls,
The short vacation fades and dies away,
Once more we view our dear old college halls,
And up the pathway plod our weary way.

Now high above the tree-tops is the sun,
And all the air a joyful bustle holds,
Save where some flunk-out, still too sad for fun,
Looks at his grades and thinks of woes untold.

Let not Tau Beta mock his useless
His many days of study to be wise,
Nor Professors hear with a disdainful smile,
His New Year resolutions, and despise.

But let us all with study and with care,
Back to our minds recall the past term's store,
And look into the Future and see where
We gain our sheep-skins, and we toil no more.

BACK, BACK, TO DEAR OLD BOOKS!

Napoleon has the credit for having said: "He who rules within himself is more than a king; and above all things be your own master." We say, he who rules his fair damsel, and is the master of the art of getting a pass-mark without studying, has found the only genuine philosopher's stone, and is a benefit to the race of college students who go to school to have a good time and waste dad's money.

All Seniors report to Spengler's Art Gallery at once and have your pictures for The Annual made. This means YOU!

Hamilton Notes

(Miss Elizabeth Fisher.)
On Friday evening a party was given in the College dining hall to the girls of Hamilton. Each guest was dressed to represent some character of history or romance; and besides being a very unique affair, it was one of the most enjoyable parties we have ever had

Miss Carolyn Roseberry has returned from her home in Paris, Ky.
Miss Mabel Williams, of Springfield, Ky., returned to College Sunday.

Miss Aileen Akers, of Bluefield, W.
Va., is expected here this week to resume her College work.

Miss Anna Mae Graddy spent the week-end in Versailles.

Miss Mary Gayle has returned from the Convention at Rochester, where she represented the Hamilton

NEW PUMP.

During the past week a new pump has been installed in the dynamo room of the electrical laboratory. This pump is to be used for pumping up the stray flux and maxwells which leak out of the fields of the various machines, and which form pools of hysteresis that hunt in synchronous cycles about the floor. The intake of the pump is equipped with the latest type of an ohmsifter for extracting any lost volts or ampecks which might otherwise get into the cylinders and form impedances around the valves.

RATS TABOOED BY GOPHERS.

Minnesota Girls Will Endeavor to Be Sensible After This.

Men of the University of Minnesota who have noticed the unnaturally demure appearance of some of the girls recently without being able to account for it, are gradually being enlightened. It is the absence of rats.

Acting on a suggestion of Miss Comstock's given at the beginning of the year, and moved to activity by the health lecture given in Shevlin Monday, Dec. 6, the women have decided to abolish rats. The movement has been met with great enthusiasm and vigorously simple coiffures are a la mode at the University.

It is also rumored that the women are about to adopt sensible footwear. High heels are tabooed as injurious. With broad soles and expurgated hair the co-eds will assume a pyramide aspect.—Daily Nebraskan.

"Koanzaland," a comic opera presented last week at the University of Michigan enjoyed the longest run a Michigan opera has ever had.

POLLY-COLLEGE CHAT

Saw It in the Newspaper.

Slumber—"I see a young lady wot's got engaged ter be married had a bath yesterday."

Hotfoot—"Is dat a fact."

Slumber—"Yep. Dis newspaper says her friends gave her a shower."

Athletic Director C. P. Hutchins, of the University of Wisconsin, has resigned and will go into the real estate business.

The University of Chicago track team has begun official practice and has a promising number of candidates trying out.

The University of Wisconsin Varsity and Freshmen crews have begun practice and are working hard to develop a championship team.

A life-saving class has been started at Syracuse, and is open to all students.

Since 1899 the fraternities at Cornell have suffered from fire to the extent of $340,997.33.

Cornell has a toboggan slide. Close at hand are warming houses and places where hot drinks and sandwiches can be secured.

A loyal alumnus of Michigan has offered a prize of $100 for the "most effective method of arousing enthusiasm at the big games," preferably a new cheering song.

Chicago has, in Miss Shepard, a feminine basket ball player who promises to eclipse the famous John Schommers. The Daily Maroon tells of an incident that happened in a game between the Varsity and the alumnae the other day. The ball was teetering on the edge of the basket, and for a moment it might have rolled in or out. Miss Shepard reached up and pushed the ball back into the basket, not even standing on her toes to do it.

The University of Missouri is without a football coach for next year. The authorities have several Eastern men in view, but have not made a selection.

The contract has been let for the new $700,000 Harper Memorial Library at the University of Chicago. It is to be completed in the summer of 1911.

Overheard in the School Room.

Teacher (studying about fowls)—

"Mary, what is an egg?"

Mary—"An egg is a chicken not yet."

Plans have been prepared for an addition to the Princeton dormitories, chiefly for Freshmen. This is a part of a $250,000 donation from Mrs. Russell Sage.

Minnesota will add rowing to her collegiate sports.

The Juniors at Cornell won the Interclass Fencing championship.

Chicago had 25 candidates out for freshman basket ball.

Harvard has 17 alumni from the University of California.

Seniors at Indiana will soon appear in their newly selected class dress.

A course in agriculture is offered at Illinois University to Juniors and Seniors.

Andover has started a campaign to raise funds for a swimming pool 30 by 75 feet.

At the University of Washington the Sophomores are to unite with the Freshmen in having a joint booth at the annual ball.

The Freshmen at the University of Washington must wear green caps with pearl buttons on top.

The Waukesha News says:

Rehearsals have been steadily proceeding on "You Never Can Tell," the play to be given by the Masquers shortly before the second semester. Whether the play will be put on in the chapel or overtown is still uncertain, but the overtown theatre idea is favorably regarded. Mr. Holt, who is coaching the play, reports that the cast are doing remarkably well and that the play will beat the record made by the Wisconsin Dramatic Club which presented the same piece two years ago and received much favorable comment.

"Athletics and other things go together," said Dr. Lowell in a recent speech. "Athletic exercises never hindered the intellectual development of the Athenians. While, as President of Harvard University, I am desirous of bringing about more scholarships, I am equally desirous of bringing about an even stronger devotion to athletics. I believe that there is no more valuable thing that any man can acquire in life than the habit of victory, and I believe it is appropriate that Yale should habitually be beaten because it habitually takes defeat in such a manly way."

30 Eggs in 22 Minutes.

The Tech says: Thirty scrambled eggs in 22 minutes by the stop watch was the record in the Union last night set by George C. Kenney of Brookline.

Special arrangements had been made with Steward Colton of the Union for the supervising of the cooking of the eggs by a committee to see that the full count was represented. The Union was crowded with students who gathered around the table where Kenney sat, and cheered his efforts.

The first batch of eight eggs was disposed of in six minutes, the second went in 4½ minutes, the third in 5½ minutes, while the fourth, although containing only six instead of eight eggs, took longer, six full minutes elapsing before the last morsel disappeared.

Kenney followed his phenomenal performance with three glasses of water, coffee and dessert. According to the conditions, no fasting was allowed in preparation, a full meal being eaten five hours before the egg-eating. Several side bets were made unofficially on the outcome.

An honorary college journalistic fraternity has been established by students of Syracuse University. The name of Phi Delta Epsilon is taken. The object of the club is to stimulate interest in college journalism. The candidates will have to serve two years on a college daily or must have been an undergraduate editor-in-chief.

A course in economic entomology has been established at Wisconsin.
