ABOUT THE LIBRARIES

Editor's Note

For the record and serial-minded individuals, the issues for February 10 and February 17 were misnumbered, No. 202 and 203. They should have been Nos. 212 and 213, respectively. The February 17 issue was also dated February 27. Clearly, they weren't our most carefully proofed issues.

What Say'd These Stones

Marguerite Carson, a native of Laurel County, Kentucky and a specialist in Appalachian studies, will present a slide/sound show and research lecture in conjunction with an exhibit of Appalachian gravestone rubbings to be exhibited in King Library South, March 2-9. The lecture will be sponsored by the University of Kentucky Libraries and the Dean of Undergraduate Studies, and will be given on Thursday, March 9, 7 PM, Room 110, Whitehall Classroom Building.

Library Staff Organization Reminder

The Library Staff Organization reminds all regular employees that your membership in the LSO is needed. Please see Joyce Turner in Acquisitions to join. Dues are $3.00 per year payable in total or at $1.50 per semester.

Although several interesting suggestions for programs have been received, the LSO still needs more ideas. If there is any sort of program or social event which you would like for the LSO to sponsor during this year, please forward your suggestion to Wanda Dole in the Architecture Library.

Personnel
