Dean Matthews presented the following recommendation from the College of Law faculty which was approved by the University Faculty:

The College of Law faculty requests the University Faculty to authorize the admission of Mr. Larry S. Perkins, who has been dropped twice from the University.

Since he was dropped the second time as an undergraduate student at the University in 1960-61, he has earned an A.B. degree at Eastern Kentucky State College, has achieved better than a 3.0 average on the last two years of his prelaw work, has raised his cumulative average on all college work attempted from 0.95 at the time he left the University to 2.05 presently, and has scored well on the national Law School Admission Test (472). For these reasons he meets fully admission requirements to the College of Law.

He entered the University in September 1958 and completed two semesters. In the summer of 1959 he became ill with acute allergic rhinitis but reenrolled for the fall term. In late October he withdrew officially from the University, but 5 hours of E grades were entered on his record, apparently because of the lateness of his withdrawal. He reentered in the spring semester of 1959-60 and was dropped at the end of that term with a standing of 1.05. He remained out of the University for a semester, was readmitted for the second semester, 1960-61, and was dropped the second time in June 1961 for failure to achieve the necessary cumulative average.

He came to the Law School for admission advice in the summer of 1963 and upon an investigation of his situation was advised to continue with his prelaw studies until he had achieved a degree and had raised his cumulative grade record to a point where the Admissions Committee and the Law faculty could consider his case for admission. This has now occurred, and the Committee and the Law faculty have approved his admission except for the two-drop rule of this Faculty.

Dr. Rudd, secretary of the University Faculty Council, presented a recommendation that Baccalaureate and Commencement be moved from May 16th and 17th to May 9th and 10th, the Sunday and Monday immediately following the end of final examinations on Saturday, May 8th; that the date all grades are due in the Registrar's Office be moved from May 10th to 4:00 p.m., May 12th; and that the University Faculty set aside its rule governing circularization at least 10 days prior to a University Faculty meeting in order that the recommendation might be acted on at this meeting. The Faculty approved suspension of the 10-day rule and approved the recommendation as presented.

Dr. Rudd presented the following statement to the Faculty:

The University Faculty Council wishes to call the attention of the University Faculty to the system that is now being used for the consideration of courses and the effects of the present calendar and the 10-month basis of appointment on the system. Course descriptions are circulated to the entire faculty by the Colleges and the Graduate School. As soon as possible after a 10 day period to allow any member of the faculty to present comments to the curriculum committee, the committee acts upon the courses, provided that the necessary information has been furnished to the committee. The University Faculty Council receives the report from the curriculum committee, acts upon it and circulates the action to the faculty. The action of the Council is final unless it is reversed by motion at the next University Faculty meeting following a 10-day period after circulation. By this system action on courses normally becomes final in from 30 to 60 days after circularization to the faculty, depending upon the time of the month of circularization. Obviously programs frequently require more extensive consideration.

With the present calendar, the last regular Faculty meeting of the academic year will probably be in April, with a special meeting in May, after commencement, for the consideration of candidates for degrees. This means that it will be possible to give final consideration to courses that are to be offered in the Fall semester only if they are circulated to the faculty by March 15 with complete information being promptly available to the curriculum committee.

As the system depends upon all members of the faculty having an opportunity to comment on courses and programs before action by the curriculum committee, no courses or programs should be presented for approval between the end of the academic year and September 1 since many members of the faculty will not be present during this period.

President Oswald stated that the present thinking was that Baccalaureate would become a Sunday evening vesper service, without faculty procession, to be held on the west side of the basketball floor for the graduating seniors and their parents; that Commencement would be held at 10:00 a.m., Monday with full procession; but that he would welcome any suggestions or objections from the Faculty. The Faculty applauded the President's plan.

The Faculty adjourned at 9:35 p.m.
