PLAY CHOSEN TRYOUTS SCHEDULED

ActOut has been very fortunate to land the rights to a very powerful, relatively new play, Elegies, Stories from the Quilt. This play celebrates the lives of those who have died from AIDS. The show encompasses humor and sorrow, harmony and discord, tragedy and hope.

Elegies was inspired by the AIDS Memorial Quilt and has a cast of 33 actors and four singers. Each character recounts his own story to the accompaniment of an original score of blues, jazz, and gospel. Elegies has been performed in New York, Los Angeles, London, and most recently St. Louis as part of the World AIDS Day celebration.

Auditions will be held Tuesday, May 5th and Wednesday, May 6th at the Pride Center starting at 6:00 each evening. With a need for 33 actors and actresses, we hope a lot of you will be interested in showcasing your thespian talents. Don't be afraid to try out. All the parts are small, so rehearsal commitments will be as minimal as possible.

In addition to actors, we will need volunteers to form a stage crew.

We plan to present Elegies near the end of our Pride celebration on Thursday, June 18th at the State Theater. Proceeds from play admission will benefit the Pride Center, so please consider getting involved with this production. If you would like more information, call Bill at 255-5469.

Coronation

Mark June 7, 1998 on your calendar. On that date the Royal Sovereign Imperial Court of All Kentucky will hold its 17th annual Coronation Ball in the Grand Ballroom of the Radisson Plaza Hotel in downtown Lexington. This event is always one of the most spectacular evenings in the Lexington gay community, as Monarchs and other dignitaries from across the continent descend onto the Bluegrass for a full week of festivities.

The theme of the Coronation Ball this year is On Their Majesties' Secret Service: An Evening of Intrigue at the Royal Masquerade Ball. So, don't forget your mask and spying abilities as you join Empress 16, Chanda Lier, and Emperor 16, Elvin Harkins, to celebrate their fund raising successes of the past year.

The Court, as it is called, was formed seventeen years ago by Greg Butler and Marlon Austin, who were seeking an innovative way to provide charitable assistance to the Lexington gay community. From the Coronation of Empress I, Julie Vaughn, the Court has been an active member of this community by donating thousands of dollars to local charities and providing social events for the community.

One of the most recognizable characteristics of the Court is its extensive use of royal titles, which are bestowed by the reigning Emperor and Empress upon members of the community who give their time to fund raising efforts and who comprise the male and female lines of descent. The controlling body of the organization is its Board of Directors, made up of high ranking past title-holders and past Monarchs. The day to day operations are overseen by the reigning Monarchs (the Emperor and Empress) and their Council.

The most important activity of the Coronation week takes place during the Coronation Ball, when the public elects new Monarchs and Council members. The results of the election are announced at the end of the evening, and the new Emperor and Empress are crowned. In order to vote, one must possess a valid Kentucky identification, a valid Coronation ticket and be at least 18 years old.

This year, three candidates are seeking the office of Empress (Leigh Angelique, LaToya BaCal, and Mika Milano), and one candidate (John Moses) is seeking the office of Emperor. Dig into your closets and pull out your beaded gowns, high heels and tuxedos and join Empress 16, Chanda Lier and Emperor 16, Elvin Harkins for a memorable and exciting conclusion to Reign 16!

MATURE PEOPLE

MAKE THE BEST PARTNERS

Fourth in a series by Kelly O'Ferrell

"I think mature people make the best partners. [Among other] attitudes...they make allowances for other's interests and hobbies." from Living with Sobriety

Tammy, my partner, and I made plans on a Wednesday to have a picnic lunch the following Sunday out at the farm where I work and ride. Afterwards, Tam was going to read and study while I rode for about an hour. We called our friends who live at the farm and left a message for them to join us for the picnic.

When we hadn't heard from them by Sunday morning, we decided to have breakfast at Denny's around 9:30. On the way home, we agreed to meander out to the farm around 1:00 or 2:00. But, when we returned home, there was a message on our machine that our friends would love to join us for a picnic lunch.

Two things happened after we heard that message: Tam went into "I'm not changing my plans now" mode and I went into "let's pack that picnic and stick to our original plans" mode. We met and butted heads at the kitchen table.

Tam had the audacity to say that I was doing what I always do, changing our plans because I was afraid someone would be mad at me. I told her that wasn't true, and we weren't really changing our plans; we could still meander out there, just an hour or two earlier. After a few minutes of total disagreement, I walked to the porch and shut the door between us.

I'd been reading Conversations with God, Book II earlier that morning. I slowed my breathing as I turned back to the page where I'd left off. I wondered if she'd come out to the porch to find me. She didn't. Then, I wondered if I'd read something the next few pages that would speak to me. I did.

These are the words I read: "When you re-act, what you do is assess the incoming data, search your memory bank for the same or nearly the same experience, and act the way you did before...Your soul would have you search its "memory" to see how you might create a truly genuine experience of You in the Now Moment. (p.13)

I had to admit, I had simply reacted-again! I wanted desperately, in that moment, to create a "truly genuine experience." So, I returned to the kitchen table, bent down, kissed Tam and asked if we could try again. She said she loved me, and we started over. I ended up back on the porch, the door shut between us. But we had tried.

A moment later, I heard the porch door opening and Tam was joining me. We tried again. This time, we came to a beautiful agreement. I shared with her what I had read in the book and confirmed her earlier analysis that my first reaction had been fear. She said that her first reaction had been inflexibility.

A little while later, our friends called and said they couldn't make the picnic after all. I noticed I did not feel any anger toward them. Tam and I looked at each other and laughed and appreciated the wonderful gift we'd received.

We took snacks to the farm that day; I rode while she lounged in the sun. I love having her with me, even though she's terrified of horses. We don't get to go to the farm together very often, so going without her was not something either of us wanted to do that day. She loves watching me ride.

Later that evening, we were sitting at the kitchen table again, but this time laughing as we tried to blow the insides out of eggs for an Easter wreath Tam wanted to make. She'd never blown eggs before and I hadn't in years, so this was a treat for both of us. I love watching her make wreaths!

Now, Tam's doing aerobics for the first time and I'm making LifeMap Packets for the first time. We love telling one another about our day and sharing in "each other's interests and hobbies."

Thank goodness maturity is about progress, not perfection.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Take Note: These first two articles concern early Pride Events.

Pride Prom

Ebony Male and the Court are initiating the pride season with the second annual Pride Prom Sunday, May 24th. It will be held at Faces (135 W. Main) which is the same location as last year, but the name has changed (to protect the guilty?).

The cost is $15 per person, which includes food and an open bar. The doors open at 8:00 pm, and we will be dancing until 1 am. This is Memorial Day weekend, honey, so dress yourself up, stay out late and have a great time. ☪

Interweave

The Unitarian Universalist Church is dedicating its new building the weekend of May 8, 9, 10. Please join us. There is a more detailed article on the insert.

On Sunday, May 31st, our annual gay pride church service will be Partners in Pride, a celebration of committed relationships. Our services start at 10:45am. Following this service, we will hold our monthly Interweave potluck. We will eat about 12:30 outside the Fellowship House. Please bring a dish to share. Call Davina at 271-6174 for more information. ☪

Ashley KruiZ Headlines Charity Show

On Wednesday, May 6, 1998 Ashley KruiZ, Miss Florida USA will headline a charity show entitled "On The Wings of a Diva". The Show is a Kick-Off for Latoya Bacall's campaign for Empress XVII of the Royal Sovereign Imperial Court of all Kentucky.

Other entertainers will include Your Hostess and Mr. Gay Kentucky, Lauren

Wells, Miss Ebony Male Rayna Starr, Tuesday De La Rouge, Davina Littrell, Cassie Carlisle, Rhonda K. Steele, Karen Kollett, Bobbie Lauren, and Sunday De La Rouge. The Show will begin at 10 pm at the Bar Complex, and the admission benefits the charities of the RSIC of all KY. ☪

SOLOMON HOUSE BENEFIT

Lexington's own "natural wonder" Ms Niagara Falls and her friends will present "An Evening with Ms Niagara & Friends" to benefit the Solomon House on May 27, 1998 at Club 141. The show will feature three sets. A Toast to Broadway will include numbers from popular musicals of yesterday and today. You'll find the performers singing from the heart in the Salute To Country set. Honky Tonk Angels, Ms. Niagara's tribute to Tammy Wynette, will be included in this set. The evening wraps up with the girls belting out drag favorites from the Divas We Love.

In addition to Ms. Niagara, benefit performers will include Ginger Grant, Maya Monroe, Mikka Malono, Davinna Littrell, Tonya Fox, Anita Bump, Jordan Taylor, Rachel Ra-Chel, Latoya Becall and will introduce Jasmine Grant. Also performing for your pleasure will be Jeffrey Butts.

The show will be hosted by Club 141 at 141 Vine Street and starts promptly at 8:00pm. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased at the door. ALL proceeds will benefit the Solomon House in Lexington.

Solomon House is a six-bedroom home for persons living with AIDS in the advanced stages, who are unable to remain in their own homes due to lack of resources.

GLSO Board Elections

On June 14th at the Pride Picnic, all members of GLSO will have the opportunity to vote for representatives to the Board.

Every year, five of the ten board positions are up for election. Anyone in the community is eligible to run for these positions. Some individuals now serving on the board will run again, and we are always looking for new people. Call Terry to express your interest or to ask for more details.

If you are not ready to commit to being a board member, we could use you as a volunteer on one of our committees. We need people to help with social events, with Act Out productions and with this newsletter. There are many opportunities to be involved. Look at the directory and give one of us a call. ☪

Rainbow Community Service Award

There are now two nominations for the Rainbow Community Service Award for 1998. This award was initiated last year and was given to GLSO for its over twenty years of service to the LGBT community. Nominations are still being taken for this year.

The Lexington Men's Chorus has been nominated for its success in exemplifying gay pride during the last eight years, and for being an emissary to the larger Lexington community. The Royal Imperial Sovereign Court of Kentucky has been nominated for its years of achievement in entertainment and successful fund raising. This June's coronation marks its 17th year.

Additional nominations for this and for the Wasson Award for the outstanding individual volunteer who has served the LBGt community should be sent to GLSo, P.O. Box 11471, Lex. 40575, or e-mail Terry at misterb@gte.net. Members of the pride committee vote for these awards that will be presented during the Pride Banquet on Sunday, June 21st.

Mr Gay Kentucky

On Wed April 8th the Imperial Court hosted the Mr Gay Kentucky pageant at Club 141. The contestants were judged on talent, creative swim wear, and responses to on-stage questions.

Congratulations go to the winner and new Mr. Gay Kentucky, John Moses. John is a member of the GLSO Board, Ebony Male, the Court and MCC. In addition to being an active community member, John is employed at Community Action Council as an HIV/AIDS prevention specialist.

John is also running for Emperor of the Imperial Court in early June. He will be hosting a fund raiser on June 3rd at Club Vertigo. See the insert for more information about this event. ☪

Partners in Pride

The next pride planning meeting is Tuesday, May 12th at 7 p.m. at the Pride Center (387 Waller Ave.) All interested individuals are welcome. We will have a final meeting near the beginning of June to vote on the Pride Awards.

Although the first pride advertising has been printed, there is still room on the schedule for a few more events. Please call Terry (255-5469) if you would like to get in the June issue of GLSO.

The annual Pride Picnic will be on Sunday, June 14th. If you are interested in setting up a booth for your group or business, call Kelly at 277-6168 ☪

Local Writers

Local writers are invited to read their work at the second annual Working Class Kitchen Pride Reading. This event will be held at Joseph Beth Cafe on Sunday, June 7th at 8:00 pm. Admission is five dollars which includes a desert bar and coffee. There will be an open cash bar available. Call Kelly at 277-6168 if you are interested in reading your work or for more information. ☪

DOJ Pride

The local Department of Justice Pride group will be meeting for dinner on Tuesday May 12th at 6pm at Buffalo and Wings in the Woodhill Shopping Center. This group is open to all Department of Justice employees and friends. ☪

Rape Crisis Center

The Lexington Rape Crisis Center will begin a training session on Friday, May 15th. Training continues on Sat., May 16 and for several weekday evening sessions. This training will enable you to give support, accurate information, and guidance to women who are in crisis.

After you complete the training you will be scheduled to answer the phone line in your home a few times a month. Volunteers also occasionally meet clients at the emergency room or accompany them to court. Call the Rape Crisis Center at 253-2615 for an application and to set up a preliminary interview.

John Moses Organizes RISC Benefit

Wednesday, June 3rd at 10:00pm Club Vertigo and local entertainers will celebrate the successful reign of Emperor 16 Elvin Harkins and Empress 16 Chandalier. Candidate for Emperor 17, John Moses (Mr Gay Kentucky 1998) will host an evening of Lexington's finest female impersonators and live vocalists as he rallies support to continue the tradition of raising funds to benefit our gay community.

John plans on moving the Court to the end of the 20th century as he adds the Friendship Closet to the list of charities already benefiting from the Court. John's involvement with the Court dates back to 1986 and his experience and dedication to Lexington's gay community includes Ebony Male, GLSO, and LMCC. Join us in support June 3rd at Club Vertigo. Admission 5$

MCC

Metropolitan Community Church is having a yard sale on Saturday, May 16 from 8am-4pm. It will be in the MCC parking lot at 387 Waller Ave. The Choir will be selling baked goods to support the music ministry. Come out and see what great stuff we have to sell!

MCC also continues to host Games Night at the Pride Center the last Friday night of each month.

Unitarian Church Dedication

The Unitarian Universalist Church is dedicating its new building the weekend of May 8, 9, 10. Interweave, the lesbian, gay, trans and straight friends group at the church, would like to invite all members of the LBGT community to come to one of the weekend events.

There will be a cabaret Friday evening, highlighting the artistic talents of our congregation. A drag number by a member of our youth group will be included. A Family Fun Fair is planned from 10am to 2pm on Saturday. If you are a gay parent, this is a supportive church where there are a number of gay families.

On Sunday, there will be a church service at the usual time, 10:45, and a Dedication Service on Sunday evening at 5:30 to be followed by a pot luck. Come on out and join the fun.

In Memorium Cindy Sue Clow

by Mary Crone

On Easter Sunday, April 12, Cindy Clow was killed in a car accident on Todds Road. Cindy attended the Unitarian Universalist Church, was a member of Interweave and of the Woman's Spirituality Group. She often helped with folding the GLSO Newsletter and was available to help sell t-shirts or whatever else was needed.

Cindy was a good friend to many of us at the Unitarian Church. Her sense of humor and sensitivity were greatly appreciated. She helped several of us recover our childhood sense of play.

After several years of no work at all on her dissertation, Cindy put her nose to the computer and finished her thesis last spring. Cindy's sister died of a fast spreading infection last summer just as Cindy was receiving her Ph.D. As part of the Acknowledgements in her dissertation, Cindy reflected on her love for her sister and closed with these words: "Go now and tell someone you love how important they are to you. Life is over in a heartbeat."

We will miss you, Cindy.

TEXASFAG

by Kelly O'Ferrell

About a year ago, mama asked me not to visit her for a while. She needed some time to think about how she really felt about my being gay. I met mama and my sister, Kim in Houston for a vacation recently. One of the tours we took was of the Texas Stadium. While we were waiting for the tour to begin, mama and Kim struck up conversations with two men from San Francisco. I was listening to Kim's conversation and heard her ask him if he liked San Francisco.

"If I were you, I wouldn't go to San Francisco," he began, and I thought to myself probably because of the weather. "There's nothing there but," he hesitates, "there's nothing but a bunch of fags out there! That's the only way I now how to put it. They're everywhere!"

They were talking but I wasn't hearing their words. The only thing I heard was a four-word prayer going up from my body: "Please be with him." If I had known what he was going to say, I would have been able to keep the words from getting inside so deep. I walked into the gift shop and fought back tears.

Kim joined me after a few moments. She commented on some souvenirs until we looked at one another and she saw the tears welling up in my eyes. "Kelly, don't let what he said bother you."

"It hurts, Kim."

"Well, don't let him ruin your day."

I wasn't willing to give him or his words that much power.

After we entered the stadium gates, I saw Kim talking with mama and knew, after 36 years of being her sister, what she was saying. Within seconds, mama was at my side with her arm around my shoulders, squeezing me and commenting on how huge the stadium was. I agreed and knew, after 36 years of being her daughter, what she was saying.

About halfway through the tour, mama and I were standing alone and she said that Kim had told her what had happened. "I want you to know that I went over to that man and I said, 'I don't appreciate what you said earlier about gays. My daughter's gay and your comment hurt her.' He said he was really sorry; that he didn't mean to offend me, and I told him that you were the one he needed to apologize to, not me."

For the last several months, mama has made her decision from a year ago clear to me - she sees Tammy and me as not only a couple, but one of the happiest couples she has in her life right now. And in that moment, I was reminded of all the other times my mama has stood here ground for me and I put my arms around her shoulders and squeezed her tight.

When I got in the car, mama told me that the man had apologized to her again while I was getting directions, and had said that his brother was gay. That didn't surprise me.

I called mama this morning to say "Thank you," out loud. She said, "I've decided that you have as much right to live your life the way you want to as I do mine, and no one should be able to take that away from you. A lot of our friends know that you're gay, and none of them has said anything negative to me about it. You know Kelly, if people can't accept you, then they can't accept me - you're my daughter. I just never realized, until that happened in Texas, how easily you could be hurt." And then she reminded me, "You know, that man was really nice to respond the way he did."

And again I say "Thank you, mama."

Festival Schedule

This is a partial list of the women's festivals planned for this spring and summer. Most of these festivals are lesbian owned and operated although many straight women also enjoy attending. The exceptions are From Gaia's Heart and Womongathering which are straight and gay mixed festivals with an emphasis on women's spirituality.

Going to the lesbian music festivals is a wonderful way to submerge yourself in lesbian culture. There is usually a variety of activities: workshops, dance lessons, sports, shopping, and wonderful music. Some festival have cabins available, others are tents only. The National Woman's Music Festival is the only totally indoor fest. It is at a new time and location this year and would be a perfect one for "festi virgins."

This list first appeared in Lesbian Connection, the free nationwide forum of news and ideas for lesbians. For more info or to get on LC's mailing list, lesbians should write LC c/o Ambitious Amazons,
