Dr. Otis A. Singletary
University of Kentucky President

Now in his ninth year as president of the University of Kentucky, DR. OTIS A. SINGLETARY is a Mississippian whose route to the Bluegrass State curled through Louisiana, Texas, North Carolina and Washington, D. C.

He came to Lexington from a position as University of Texas vice-chancellor for academic affairs. Previously, in Washington, he had been director of the U. S. Job Corps in the early stages of its development before moving to the American Council on Education as vice-president. He had gone to the capital in 1964 after three years as chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

The UNC appointment terminated Dr. Singletary's first association with the University of Texas, this a seven-year stay that saw him, as a young historian, rise rapidly in rank from instructor to full professor and begin the shift to administrative work, first as associate dean and later as assistant to the president.

The Kentucky president, and his wife the former Gloria Walton, met when both were students at Millsaps College. He later earned master's and doctoral degrees at Louisiana State. The Singletarys have two daughters, Bonnie and Kendall, and a son, Scott.

Cliff Hagan Director of Athletics

"I've been preparing for this all my life," CLIFF HAGAN said before taking over as athletics director at the University of Kentucky in 1975. Hagan succeeded Harry Lancaster as director after serving as assistant director for three years.

Hagan's path to the athletics directorship began in Owensboro, Kentucky, where he established a then state high school tournament record of 41 points in leading Owensboro to victory over Lafayette in the championship game of the 1949 high school tournament.

At UK, he played on teams that won 86 of 91 games and an NCAA championship (1951). The 1954 team, undefeated in 25 games, elected not to participate in the national tournament.

Under his leadership, the UK athletics department continues to develop success in all areas of endeavor including a strong dedication to the academic well-being of the athletes.

JOE B. HALL

*Joe B. Hall
University of Kentucky Wildcats
Head Basketball Coach*

JOE B. HALL is beginning his seventh season as mentor of the Wildcats, coming off a year in which his senior dominated team captured the 1978 NCAA Championship. Since becoming head coach in 1972, succeeding the legendary Adolph F. Rupp, Hall has accumulated a record of 135 wins against 42 losses. His eleven year coaching record stands at 211-98. Broken down, it shows a 57-50 five year mark at Regis College, a 19-6 record at Central Missouri, and a 135-42 record at UK.

Hall became Rupp's top assistant in 1969 when Harry C. Lancaster was named athletics director. His record as freshmen coach was 60-15, including an undefeated (22-0) season (1971-72) which resulted in the Kittens being crowned National Freshmen Champions by Basketball News.

A popular personality on the clinic and convention circuits, Hall also has had much international exposure. In addition to the Globetrotters tour in 1951, and the "Down Under" tour in 1974, he has helped conduct basketball clinics for the U. S. Army in Anchorage and Fairbanks, Alaska (1968) and at Ramstein Air Base in Frankfurt, Germany and the RAF Base at Mildenhall, England in 1975. He also was Olympic Trials coach under Hank Iba at the Air Force Academy in July 1972 and was a member of the 1976 Olympic Basketball Committee. In 1978 he coached the U.S.A. team that hosted the first International Invitational Tournament.

LEONARD HAMILTON is beginning his fifth year at Kentucky after serving three years as assistant coach at Austin Peay. An outstanding recruiter with seemingly tireless energy, Hamilton has contributed heavily to maintaining a high level of young talent at UK. Specializing in coaching defense, Hamilton has had a positive impact on Wildcat defensive

JOE DEAN, JR., played against the Wildcats for three years at Mississippi State University, before serving as Bulldog assistant coach while earning a masters degree in physical education. An outstanding student, Dean was named to the 1976 Academic All-SEC second team. A native of Baton Rouge, philosophy. A native of Gastonia, N. C., he lettered three years in football and twice in basketball. An outstanding collegiate player, he starred at Gaston Community College in Dallas, N. C., and at University of Tennessee-Martin. He is married to the former Claudette Hale. They have a son, Lenny, 7.

La., he attended Baton Rouge High School where he earned letters in basketball and football. In addition to regular coaching duties with the Wildcats, Dean's primary responsibilities will be recruiting and scouting. He is married to the former Ellen Elizabeth Anger of Jackson, Miss.

DICK PARSONS

DICK PARSONS, in his seventh year as Joe B. Hall's No. 1 assistant, returned to the University as baseball coach in 1969. Before giving up his position to join the basketball staff on a full time basis, he molded a baseball team (1971) which established or tied 15 school records. He is a graduate of UK where he played guard under former Coach Adolph F. Rupp.

Parsons came to the University in 1958 after an outstanding career as a four-sports star at Harlan High School, where he had a three-year basketball scoring total of 1,276 points.

He was a two-time (1960-61) recipient of the coveted A. B. Chandler award, given annually for the player best exemplifying the qualities of leadership, scholarship, character and ability. Only four other Wildcats have twice been so honored since the award was originated in 1951.

He is married to the former Celia Cawood of Harlan. They have a daughter, Kathy, and a son, Ed.

FRANK HAM
Assistant Director of Athletics

FRANK HAM became Assistant Director of Athletics in July 1975 soon after Cliff Hagan succeeded Harry C. Lancaster as Director of Athletics.

A native of Scranton, Pa., Ham came to the University in 1969 as Administrative Assistant to football coach John Ray, and was reassigned to the Athletic Director's staff in 1972 when Ray resigned.

Ham graduated from high school at Niles, Michigan, and completed his undergraduate work at Olivet College. He did graduate work at Indiana University and coached high school football and track at John Adams High in South Bend in 1944-46 and then returned to Olivet as athletic director and head football and basketball coach.

In 1951, he became assistant to the president at Olivet, with responsibilities in public and alumni relations. He was in private business from 1954 until 1968.

University as a graduate student in 1970, was named assistant director of campus recreation in 1972 and director of women's athletics in 1974.

Feamster graduated from Franklin County High School where she was an outstanding tennis player and athlete. While in college she earned letters in tennis, field hockey, basketball and track from Indiana University and Kentucky State University, where she earned her B.S. degree and graduated with honors.

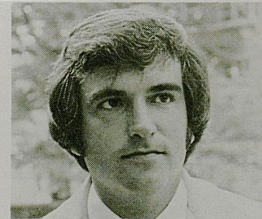

LARRY IVY

1978 NCAA CHAMPIONS

Will Denote Rupp, UK Basketball

Public Donations To Build Museum To House Memorabilia

Adjacent to the entrance to Rupp Arena in the Lexington Center will be located the Adolph F. Rupp-UK Basketball Museum.

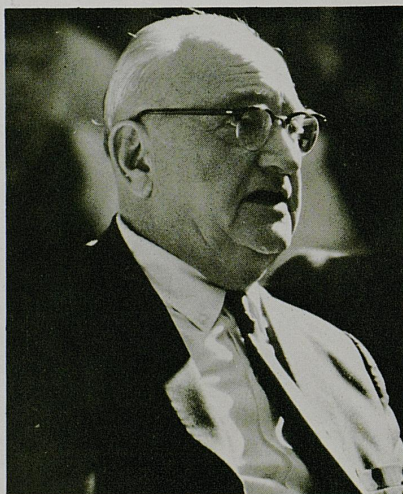

The purpose of the museum is to relive some of the past Wildcat teams' exploits and those of its great players. Included in the museum will be photographs, trophies, tape recordings, films and other memorabilia reflecting on past Kentucky teams.

"We have a unique opportunity to perpetuate the legend of the late Adolph Rupp and the rich basketball tradition that has been established by the University of Kentucky," commented DeWitt Hisle, chairman of the museum. "The museum will give basketball fans everywhere a fascinating insight into what this game has meant to followers of the UK Wildcats."

Rupp coached teams compiled an 880-190 record. He guided the Wildcats to four NCAA titles, an NIT championship and 27 SEC crowns.

The museum will cover Kentucky basketball teams from the first season in 1903, when the team recorded a 1-2 record, through the most recently completed season.

A small theatre area will be located in the museum and used to show films on the changing style of basketball over the past 75 years.

The material found in the museum is coming from the official archives of UK, Memorial Coliseum, the family of the late Adolph Rupp and from the public.

"Obviously one of the major advantages we have in establishing this museam is the fact that we can build it around a central figure, the late Adolph Rupp, whose 41 seasons as UK head coach resulted in some of the greatest accomplishments in the history of collegiate basketball," said Charles Atcher, archivist of the University of Kentucky.

Atcher says one of the guiding principles in planning for the Rupp-UK Basketball Museum is that the museum will show the continuing history of basketball at UK, which means the museum will be capable of expanding to display accomplishments of future teams.

The UK tradition is being continued by Joe B. Hall who replaced Rupp as head coach beginning with the 1972-73 season. In six years, Hall has led the Cats to four SEC championships, an NIT championship, the 1978 NCAA title and an overall 135-42 record.

Costing an approximate $200,000, the projects' funding will come from tax-deductible donations from the public. Operation of the museum will be funded by a small admission charge, "not to exceed $1," according to Hisle.

Donations to help establish the museum may be mailed to: Rupp-UK Museum, P. O. Box RUPP, Lexington, Ky. 40512.

His Name Is Tradition, His Friends Call Him Big Blue'

Gary Bennett, a Centre College sophomore, ambled through the corridor that led past the dressing rooms at Rupp Arena, circled the concourse area that connects to the basketball court, turned and headed back to the dressing rooms. There was an hour before the opening game of the UKIT and he needed to practice walking.

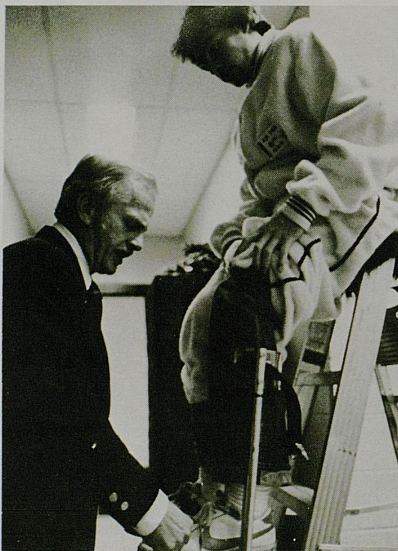

It had been nearly a year since he had stood 8'6" and he needed to condition his balance mechanisms to his recent growth which had amounted to 34 inches in a matter of minutes. In an hour he would be cavorting around the basketball court in a Kentucky uniform once worn by Bob Guyette who had stood more than 18 inches shorter. The difference in height caused Bennett's hairy legs to extend below the cuffs of the white warm-up suit but it seemed a small price to pay for the opportunity to carry Kentucky's basketball traditions into Rupp Arena.

The "Dr. Frankenstein" (Dr. Tom Cooper of Lexington) who had given Gary his phenomenal height stood in the dressing room watching the rehearsal. Looking up at his creation, Dr. Cooper said that the phrase used at UK when Bennett was introduced two years earlier to Wildcat fans was "His name is tradition . . . but his friends call him Big Blue."

Dr. Cooper, a close friend of UK head coach Joe B. Hall, had discussed the philosophical problem of moving the memories and traditions that had accumulated in UK's previous basketball houses, Alumni Gym and Memorial Coliseum, to the massive Rupp Arena. Fearful that the shining new arena would be void of tradition and would not have a homecourt atmosphere, Hall and Cooper determined to find a way to bring tradition and spirit to the new edifice.

Noticing a jogger trudging along in a runner's warm-up suit while driving home from UK, where he is assistant Dean of the Dental College, Dr. Cooper thought, "Now that's what a basketball player looks like." To that, he added a pair of drywall worker's stilts, a huge blue Wildcat's head, blue fur-covered paws and legs and the notable mascot was born.

An anti-figure was created which became Boo Blue, who represents the mascots of the visiting teams. The stage was set.

Dr. Tom Cooper, the creator of Big Blue, adjusts the stilts worn by Gary Bennett.

At first it was a family affair with Mrs. Cooper sewing the costumes for Boo Blue and Big Blue. Their son Tom teamed with Bennett and David Hardison, family friends, to be Big Blue. Bill Cooper, their youngest son became Boo Blue.

Boo Blue not only created an opposition figure to present the sense of competition but also served to accentuate Big Blue's tremendous height. For the 1978 UKIT, Dr. Cooper thought an additional attraction was needed and created Baby Blue, a childlike character with large cat teeth and the head of a baby Wildcat. Playing Baby Blue would be Chip Adams, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams of Murray, Ky.

Dr. Cooper said that he calculated early that he would need three people trained to play the role of Big Blue since the players were students and would not always be available.

"The first thing we had to do was to teach them to fall," he says. "So, we had them practice in the backyard on the soft grass."

According to Bennett, who substituted for David Hardison at the UKIT, the most serious hazards are barriers on the court such as the cheerleaders' mini-trampolines, the 4-inch high edge of the court, and children who like to tug and pull on Big Blue's legs, throwing him off balance.

There are two hazards organic to playing Big Blue. One, the paper-mache helmet-lined head presents a vision problem since it cuts off peripheral vision and the ability to look up or down without moving the head, and two, carbon dioxide builds up inside the poorly ventilated structure.

"You'll look around every few minutes and Big Blue will be gone," says Dr. Cooper. "He has to go behind the stands and remove the head to clear the air. If not, the person playing Big Blue gets giddy and can lose his balance."

During the first year in Rupp Arena, the creation of the costumes became an interesting problem during the SEC schedule. The Coopers were often designing and sewing two costumes per week. They only face that during pre-SEC play at present since the SEC mascots have been created and can be saved for use again—that is if Bill Cooper doesn't have a growing spurt.

The favorite costumes for the Coopers have been the birds such as the Kansas Jay Hawk and the South Carolina Gamecock. "They are the most colorful," said Dr. Cooper. "However, we also enjoy creating that ole Tennessee houn' dog."

Boo Blue wore a Santa Claus suit for this year's UKIT because the Cats' first round opponent, Texas A & M, stumped their creativity. "We called everyone we could think of, including A & M's sports information, and no one could tell us what an Aggie was," laughed Dr. Cooper. "So we just gave Santa a sign that read 'Santa Loves Big Blue and Aggies Too'."

The UKIT presents each year a need for quick thinking and sewing since the Coopers do not know who will be Kentucky's second round opponent until the conclusion of the first night. But, the costume is always ready by game time and UK fans in Rupp Arena continue to be entertained.

The official UK mascot, the Wildcat, is a creation of the Director of Athletics Cliff Hagan and his staff. The Wildcat is played by Terry Barney who often teams with Boo Blue and sometimes Big Blue to create humorous situations in addition to his cheerleading antics.

Bill Cooper, Boo Blue, dressed as Santa Claus for the UK vs. Texas A & M game since a description of an Aggie could not be found.

One such routine involved his luring the Kansas Jay Hawk into the large blue box used for Dr. Cooper's costumes. Once inside, Bill Cooper stepped behind a false back and when the Wildcat opened the box the Jay Hawk had become a plucked rubber chicken, which he then chased around the court.

Not only has Dr. Cooper succeeded in bringing UK traditions to Rupp Arena but has created additional ones. Big Blue and Boo Blue, who are now asked for autographs, have become favorite components of a Kentucky basketball game.

BOB WELTLICH
Head Coach

In two years at the University of Mississippi, Bob Weltlich has compiled a disappointing 21-33 record.

But Weltlich is in the process of rebuilding the Rebel program. The reconstruction has been slow but the evidence is there that the program is growing.

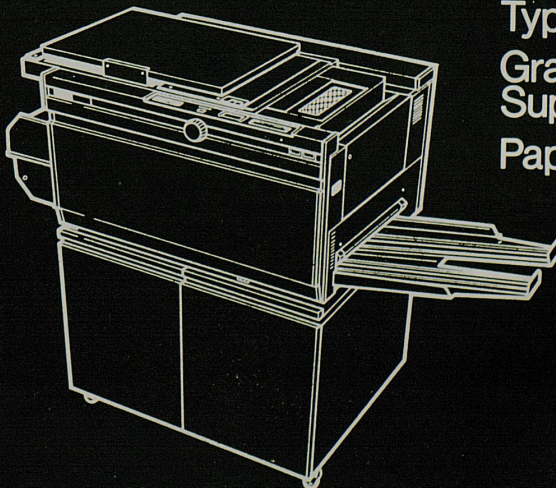

The 33-year-old mentor served as an assistant under Indiana head coach, Bobby Knight, beginning at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point and then five years at Indiana.

Following Indiana's 1976 NCAA Championship, Weltlich accepted the head coaching job at Mississippi, and set out to establish a winning team. Utilizing lots of hustle and a sticky man-to-man defense, he's joining just that.

Ole Miss Looking For Improved Season

The 1978-79 edition of Ole Miss basketball will be better than previous seasons due mainly to a couple of reasons—numbers and experience.

Nine players return off last year's 10-17 unit and all have gained a year of valuable experience so necessary to the Rebel's younger players. Among those nine lettermen are four returning starters which should provide a good basis from which to build.

Add five quality freshmen, a group Coach Bob Weltlich calls "the best" freshman class since we've been here, as well as a top walk-on candidate, and optimism reigns supreme in the Rebel camp.

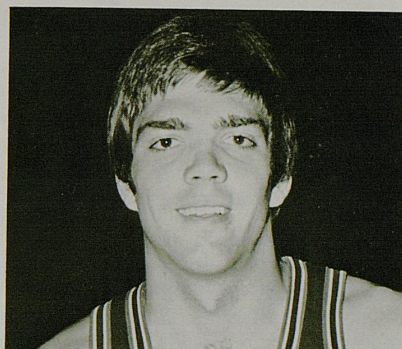

As for areas of concern, Weltlich lists two main ones. First, a replacement must be found for Joe Kyles, the team's second-leading scorer who graduated in 1978, not so much from the scoring standpoint as from the leadership area. The Rebels are a young club again this season and upper-class leadership is a necessity. Secondly, the newcomers have to get as much playing time as possible early in the season to insure a healthy depth situation.

As for a key to the season, Weltlich lists playing well in non-conference and in the first conference games as a must. Three of the team's first four SEC games are on the road against contenders and that stretch could determine how well the Rebels will finish this season. Ole Miss plays Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Kentucky and Mississippi State in its first four games.

Returning starters include sophomore Elston Turner and junior John Stroud and seniors Kim Benson (brother of former Indiana great Kent Benson), and Henry Jackson. Stroud was an All-SEC forward last season and Turner was named to the All-SEC freshman team.

Stroud and Turner have shown that the forward position is going to be the strongest in the Ole Miss attack with play that led the Rebels to wins in three of their first four contests this season and a 4-3 record mid-way following the Illinois State Tourney in which Ole Miss participated.

Stroud scored 23 points and Turner 18 as Mississippi went into overtime to defeat Alabama at Birmingham on Dec.

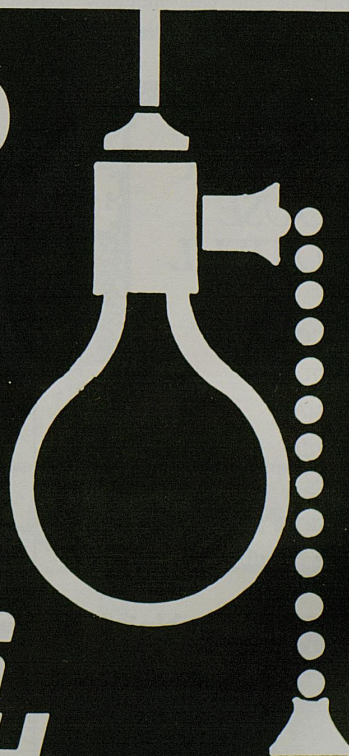

JOHN STROUD
6-7 Junior Forward

10, 82-77. On Dec. 17, Turner tallied 19 first-half points and Stroud added four clutch free throws in the closing three minutes to give Ole Miss a 70-67 win over tough Nebraska. Turner finished the evening with 20 points and Stroud had 19. On Dec. 23, Stroud blistered the nets for 32 points to lead Ole Miss past Loyola of Chicago 83-75. Ole Miss finished second in the Illinois State Tournament with a narrow 76-72 loss to the host team.

UK School Of Music To Sponsor 'The Bartered Bride'

"The Bartered Bride," the famous comic opera by Czech composer Bedrich Smetana, will be presented Jan. 26-28 at the Lexington Opera House.

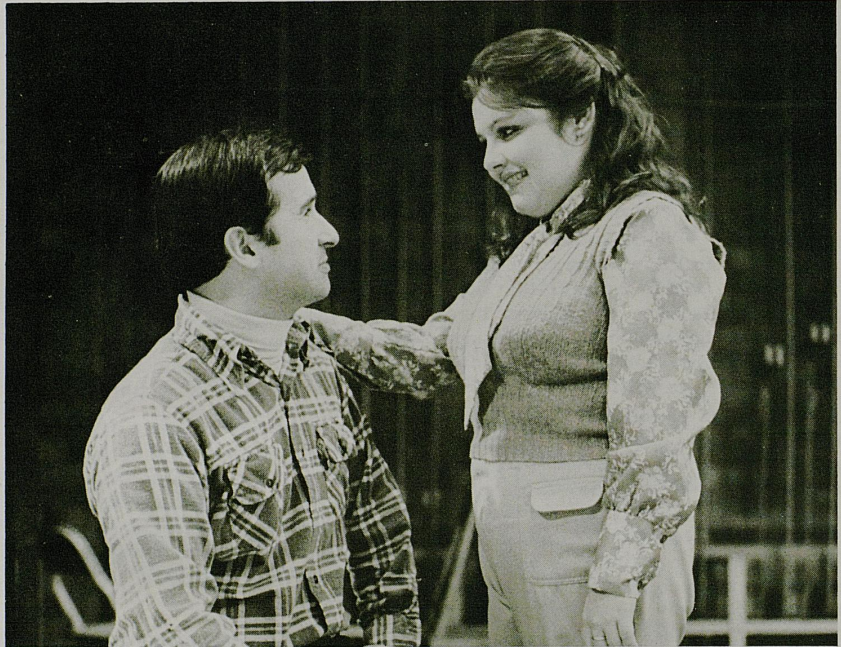

Sponsored by the University of Kentucky School of Music, the opera—to be sung in English—will be directed by Phyllis Jenness with Phillip Miller conducting the University orchestra.

"The opera is filled with optimism, good humor and warmth," Ms. Jenness said. "It captures the spirit of joy that abounds in the Czech people."

The opera, set in mid-19th century Bohemia, is a battle of wits between a handsome young man, Jenik, played by Hunter Hensley, music director at Central Baptist Church in Lexington, and a money-hungry marriage broker, portrayed by UK senior Howard Ray. The object of their attention is Maria, played by UK senior Sharon Kinnison.

To add to the plot, a traveling circus arrives in the village and a romance develops between Vasek, Jenik's half-brother played by UK junior Stephen Bobst, and Esmerelda, a circus performer played by UK senior Virginia Hamilton.

Other members of the cast include Gale Price, a UK doctoral student, and

THE LAST TIME

The last time Kentucky faced the Ole Miss Rebels, it was following an overtime loss to LSU late in the 1977-78 season. The Cats left Oxford, Miss. with a 64-52 win and were on their way out of a mid-season slump.

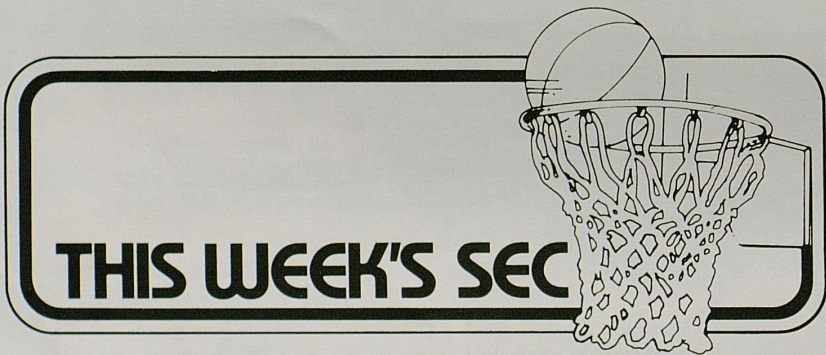

"It wasn't an artistic success," said Kentucky guard Kyle Macy of the Cats' triumph.

Kentucky led by a narrow 27-19 half-time margin. It was a ragged first half which saw Kentucky start a revised lineup and Coach Joe B. Hall make 17 substitutions.

John Stroud led the Rebel scoring with 15 points followed by Chris Barrett with 12 points.

Kentucky's scoring was led by Jack Givens' 18 and Rick Robey added 12. Macy and James Lee added 10 points apiece.

A Year At The Top

A Year
At The Top
Kentucky Wildcats '77-'78

by John McGill and Walt Johnson, photography by Walt Johnson

This book is not just about basketball nor just about Kentucky basketball. In 144 pages, including 45 color and 170 black and white photographs, you can follow the Kentucky Wildcats from the beginning of the 1977-78 season to the finals of the NCAA Basketball Championship in St. Louis. Many inside stories reveal the pressures associated with being the nation's #1 college team from the start of the season to the end. Only once in the weekly polls was Kentucky ranked below #1 and proved in March that they deserved this ranking by winning the National Championship. It was truly a great year for the players, coaches and fans. You can relive these exciting moments in "A Year at the Top." Also available, our new 33 1/3 LP album, "Wildcat Basketball '77-'78". The highlights of the '77-'78 basketball season are recalled with exciting play-by-play excerpts from Cawood Ledford's game broadcasts and comments by Coach Joe Hall.
