Interest Has Increased Each Year; Lexington Has Won Four Times, Louisville Manual Three

GIRLS ENTERED IN 1922

The evening of March 10 found Lexington host to many high school basketball teams and their various fans from all over the state for, following the annual custom of eight years, the winners of the various sectional basketball tournaments meet here to contest for the title of state basketball championship. This tourney is under the auspices of the University of Kentucky and the visiting teams are entertained each year at the various fraternity and sorority houses of the university during their stay in Lexington.

First Tourney in 1918

The first contest was held on March 15 and 16, 1918, with only a few teams entered, Lexington Senior High school carrying off the title and silver loving cup of this first tilt by overcoming the strong Somerset team. The following year, 1919, Senior High again took the laurels from Somerset in the finals after a hard battle, the score being 21-17 in favor of the Blue Devils.

By 1920, the tournament had become of greater interest and that year on March 13, saw 15 teams entered in the tournament.

Blue Devils Take Three Straight It seemed almost incredible to Lexington fans but Lexington retained the honors of the two previous years by defeating Ashland 56-13. The final game, the evening of March 12, 1921, found Louisville Manual High school

"6. The University of Kentucky shall be entitled to receive the proceeds of the sale of the bonds hereby authorized, in five (5) installments of one million dollars ($1,000,000.00) each to be paid in the last six months of each of the years nineteen hundred and twenty-seven, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight, nineteen hundred and twenty-nine, nineteen hundred and thirty and nineteen hundred and thirty-one. Said proceeds shall be used by said University for the acquisition of new property and equipment and for the improvement by the original construction, reconstruction and repair of any of its properties now owned.

"7. The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund may invest any amounts received by them until disbursed as herein directed, in interest-bearing obligations of the United States or in the purchase of the bonds authorized by this act, or they may deposit said amounts in any state or national bank or trust company of Kentucky, but not more in any one bank or trust company than the amount of its unimpaired paid in capital and surplus. Each such publication shall bear the title "Notice of Election" and shall be so made that the last publication shall be at least ninety (90) days preceding the day of the election aforesaid. This act shall be submitted to the voters in the same manner provided by section one thousand four hundred and fifty-nine of the Kentucky Statutes, edition of John D. Carroll of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, and the following is the form of the question to be placed upon the ballots: ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF THE ACT OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY ENTITLED: 'An Act to provide for the execution and sale of five million dollars of bonds of the Commonwealth of Kentucky for the benefit of the University of Kentucky?' It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State, not less than forty days before the November election, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, to certify to the county clerk of each county the question herein directed to be submitted, and it shall be the duty of the county clerk to take the said question, as certified by the Secretary of State, indicated on the ballot as herein provided. The votes cast for and against this act shall be counted, canvassed and certified to the State Board of Election Commissioners in the same manner as the vote cast for any officer elective by the voters of the whole state. In all particulars, the election shall be conducted in the same manner as other general elections are conducted. If it shall be found that a majority of the votes cast on the question are in favor of this act, then all the provisions of this act, other than those contained in this section, shall become operative on and including the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven. The result of the election, as soon as certified, shall be proclaimed by the Secretary of State by publication in two daily newspapers of general circulation in this Commonwealth. The expense incurred by the Secretary of State in the publications herein provided for shall be by him certified to the Auditor and paid out of the general expenditure fund.

U. OF K. BANQUET

The University of Kentucky Banquet will be held in Louisville this year at the same time the Kentucky Educational Association is in session. Because of the fact that so many out of town alumni will be in Louisville, it is expected that this will be one of the best U. of K. banquets ever held. This will be a fine opportunity for all alumni in and near Louisville to renew acquaintances and greet friends, who at other times would be scattered all over the State.

THE STATE HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT

As this paper goes to press, 18 boy's and 17 girl's basketball teams are participating in dual contests severally in the men's and women's gymnasiums of the university, each struggling for that coveted honor, the elimination of rival contestants in order to be pronounced champion high school team of the state.

Annually, at this time, for the past seven years, this tournament has been held at the University of Kentucky under auspices of its athletic association and is an event which is looked forward to annually with interest and pleasure in a part of both, students and faculty of the university and various high schools throughout the state.

The purpose of this tournament is to promote clean, sportsmanlike athletics in high schools and to give those high school teams that are fortunate enough to emerge victorious from their respective sectional meets, opportunity to visit this university as its guests in the hope that they may be so favorably impressed that they will return as students to this institution upon graduation from high school.

These teams are required to pay only their own expenses to and from Lexington as the university houses and boards these young athletes during their stay in this city. The interest which the students of the university take in this tournament is clearly manifested by the fact that the majority of these teams are given lodging in various fraternity and sorority houses on the city and on the campus, causing some members of each of these organizations the inconvenience of living elsewhere until the tournament is over. To keep three hundred or more healthy boys and girls for a period of one, two or three days incurs no small expense and the university and its students sincerely hope that these visiting athletes will find their visit here pleasant and helpful.

There has been some talk, in the past year or so, of a movement to have this tournament transferred to some other university or college in the state. The Kernel desires to take this opportunity to remind the public that this tournament was organized and inaugurated at this university eight years ago, and that each succeeding meeting has seen an improvement in playing facilities, in hospitality, and in general public interest. We undoubtedly have the best basketball floor and building available in the state and, to the writer's knowledge, every team is given comfortable quarters during its stay here. Is there another institution in the state that can offer more than the University of Kentucky is now offering?

We are now in the midst of the most successful of all of these tournaments. In another day this one will have become history and all teams will have returned to their respective schools. The Kernel sincerely hopes that each of these teams, whether they be state champions or first to meet in defeat, will have enjoyed their visit here and, upon graduation, each one will return here as a student of this institution and enter into the spirit of "On, On U. of K."

OUR HYGIENE AND PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Among the various departments of the university, one which should be commended for its fine work in furthering the interests of the university during the present year is the department of Hygiene and Public Health, of which Dr. J. E. Rush is the head. The work in this department within the last three years, has increased to such extent that the university has been forced to enlarge its quarters from two rooms to almost the entire lower floor of Neville hall.

One of the outstanding enterprises recently undertaken by this department in the interest of public health in the university, is the one just inaugurated this semester, of requiring all freshmen to undergo a physical examination before registering as students at the university. Blue prints, showing the physical defects in all the students who were examined this year have been made after an enormous amount of statistical work and according to Doctor Rush, this is the first time that this method has been employed in any institution to call the attention of students to their physical condition.

This department is not only informing the students of their physical defects but is going to the extra trouble of notifying their parents of abnormal conditions discovered in order that steps may be taken to correct those that are curable or that can be remedied.

The Kernel heartily endorses the work of the department of Hygiene and Public Health and would like to offer, through its small medium, any aid that it might find within its power to give in helping to continue its great work.

ALWAYS GOOD ALWAYS THE SAME

Some day YOU future engineers will be the men to be praised or blamed

ONE of the greatest nuisances in city and country life today is the incessant blocking of streets and highways for repairs and repaving. You hate detours just as much as the next man—and it won't be long before you can do a big job toward minimizing them.

In the meantime, whenever you are confronted by a "Road Closed" sign, make a mental note of why it is there. You'll soon be decidedly amazed to discover how rarely a brick-paved road requires a detour.

When the choice of pavements falls to you, keep that fact in mind—do your part to give us detourless roads.

DOES THIS REMIND YOU OF ANYTHING

Now that Akkie and I are full fledged I Tappa Kegs, we very proudly went to our first fraternity meeting. I'll tell the world it was worth going to! It seems we are (or should I say were) rushing girls, and we was to decide whether we would give them the honor of being I Tappa Kegs. The president began: "The first rushie is Maudie Klappenburg. What does the chapter think of her?" "She's right nice, but her hair is a mess." "She rushes us too much." "Well, you can't blame her for wanting a good thing when she sees it," puts in the president.

"I don't like her bob either, and she's so dumb she thinks coffee grounds is a place where they play baseball." "She's from a lovely family." "I don't care. I blackball her. I couldn't stand to see an I Tappa Keg with such old fashioned 'hank of hair'. Imagine, it isn't even shingled." "Check off Klappenburg. Now the next is Erma Rothbone. Any discussion?" "She's sure pretty." "If that's your idea of beauty, 'Maggie' must be your Gibson girl." "The Omega Phi's are giving her a terrible rush." "That's no reason we should." "That outfit she had on yesterday was a cry for help. She isn't a bit artistic or chic." "I'm not so wild over her." "She has absolutely vamped my Tommy, and she told the meekest fib about me. I double black-ball her." "The last name is Mardelle Polk. Please try to be less personal in the discussion," says the president. "That Polk woman is no knockout." "You said it; she'd never set the world on fire." "They say her father is very rich." "I don't care if her father is a Rockefeller, if she's not up to our standard, we won't take her." "Well, she has a new Chrysler roadster." Chorus: "Well then, let's take her. We need another car in the chapter." After we adjourned, I looked at Akkie and Akkie looked at me, and we both says at the same time, "How in the Sam Hill did we get in?" U. K. agreed to join in the observance of the week. Windows of the downtown stores will be curtained Monday until the formal opening at 7 o'clock in the evening when all stores will be thrown open to receive visitors. No goods will be sold, but visitors will be privileged to see the displays of all varieties of spring merchandise. The stores will remain open until 9 o'clock. During the week style shows will be given at the Kentucky, Ben Ali, and Strand theatres at night with living models displaying the latest creations in men's and women's clothing. The number of shows and the time at which they will be given will be announced later, according to Herbert Chase, chairman of the style show committee. Thursday night the automobile dealers will display the latest models in both open and closed cars in a parade. The secretary of the Board of Commerce has been authorized to make arrangements for a band to head the parade. A South African diamond buyer has come into possession of a diamond weighing 416 1-4 carats which was found by a poor digger near Byrnsport. It is of the brown variety and is estimated at $150,000 easily.

BEFORE you even look for the jack or tire-tools, tuck a neat wad of Prince Albert into the muzzle of your jimmy-pipe. Light up . . . and get yourself in the frame of mind where a flat tire is "all in the day's work." Talk about a gloom-chaser!
P. A. simply knocks troubles for a row of plished-steel mudguards. Its cool, soothing smoke percolates into your system, the sun crashes through the clouds, and everything is hoty-toty. Yes indeed, Fellows, Prince Albert is great tobacco.
And paste this in the fly-leaf of your thesaurus: P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, no matter how hard you hit it up. The Prince Albert process flunked Bite and Parch on their first examination. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. now and see.

Knabler Shows Home Fans He is of Varsity Calibre by Caging 13 of Frosh's Points; Ashland's First Loss

LAST SCHEDULED GAME

Playing their last scheduled game of the season, the University of Kentucky Kittens emerged victorious over the Ashland Tomcats Tuesday night by a score of 22 to 21 at the university gymnasium.

The outstanding luminary for the Kittens was Knabler who scored 13 out of 22 points. He not only displayed an aptitude for hitting the basket in both long and crisp shots, but showed exceptionally well in floor work. Wolfe and Lyons were, perhaps, the outstanding men for the visitors.

The Ashland boys have played some of the strongest teams in West Virginia and surrounding states as well as in Kentucky. The game Tuesday night was the last scheduled game for both teams.

The summary:
 Kentucky (22) Ashland (21)
 Knabler (13) F. Rhodemyer (2)
 McGinnis (4) C. Ellis (7)
 Heiser (2) C. Lyons (1)
 Marshall (2) G. Lee (2)
 Dees (1) G. Wolfe (2)

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX By HOOPER

SILENT and inscrutable he stood; heeding not what took place about him, oblivious of everything save his own small world, his frame erect, his eyes straight ahead. The whiteness of his bones and the hollowness of his sunken frame almost forbade familiar approach.

The subject of many lectures, the occasion for many a stray glance, this human-skeleton. But he does not mind. Never has he offered a word of advice, voiced a word of protest, or given a shred of information.

He reposes in the lecture room of the A. and P. department in the Science building. He is mounted on the wall and enclosed in a glass case to protect him from inquisitive students. If it is dark in there he looks spooky and supernatural and seems to say, "Stay away my friend, stay away."

The grimness of his attitude, the erectness of his posture, and his bleached white bones so redolent of age, are mute evidences of many a story he had to tell if he would only loosen his tongue. In his younger days he may have been the favorite of some beautiful mistress who fed him sugar jumps from her hand. He may have had some cruel master who beat him half to death or maybe a lot of other things. Would he break his death-like silence?

Speak, my friend. Do not seem so sad. Tell me of the days of yore when you were a babe. Your name, if you please, perchance you are the maker of some great article of food or the writer of the deacon's famous "One-Hoss Shay."

He did not answer. Silent and immobile and ever he stood. Tell me then were you a fleet-footed follower of horses, or a basketball player or what were you? Maybe Jim Thorpe or another "Red" Grange. Who can tell?

Again he did not answer. Just stood head erect and eyes ahead. Ah, then, perhaps you were a gay young chap who rushed all the girls in town or bold knight who fought duels with armored champions.

More silence, no reply. Were you a farmer on some pleasant plantation? Were you a pal of some sweet little girl and don't care to tell? He moved nor spoke not.

One more question my silent friend. "When was the war of 1812?" Not a word did he utter.

Is a man's life such a dog's life that you refuse to talk? And then, perhaps it was only a shadow of uncertain light, perhaps the sound was nothing more than a distant echo, but his fearful frame seemed to move ever so slightly and in a dull voice of woe from the cavern of his heart seemed to say, "Bother me not thou of the world. Quit horsing around and hoof it."

And I, the questioner of the skeleton in glass armor, hastened away. P. S. Was talking to Doctor Pryor about the subject of the story above and he told me that the skeleton was that of an Irishman (although you might call him a Hebrew as well).

"And he pushed a wheelbarrow for his avocation," Doctor Pryor continued, "because he's got a curved spinal column and dents in his teeth which were made while he held his pipe in his mouth and shoved away on the barrow at the same time."

All of which went in one year and knocked a brick wall down on the other side.

QUOTETH THE QUOTE IN QUOTES

The following telegram was received by the managing editor (of The Herald) last week:

 All of which reminds us too much of "The Raven" and it disgusts us more with Ed Poe and Bob Browning.

It is reported that Bob Weaver, president of the Southern California division of the A.A.U., is training a Zani Indian to defeat Paavo Nurmi at the Olympic games in 1928. If the Flying Finn two years hence is anything like he was last year, Weaver better put that Indian in a flying machine or motor cycle when the race starts.

Coach Ray Eklund asks that all track men get into uniforms as soon as the weather permits, as the first meet, on April 7, is not very far off. With all eligible men out and in condition, old U. of K. should be able to put a far better team in the field this year than she did last.

Transylvania College, in Lexington, Ky., claims to be the first American college to play football. As early as 1879 they formed a team and played a series of games with Centre College. By the next season several other colleges had organized teams.

Track Men Await Coming Of Spring With Eagerness

Spring is fast approaching, despite the abundant evidence of the weather man to the contrary, and in a few more days dozens of thinly clad blue and white jerseyed athletes will be seen covorting up and down the cinder path which encircles the gridiron out on Stoll Field, limbering up for the annual inter-class track and field meet which will be held in April. The purpose of this meet, primarily, is to get a line on the varsity candidates and to uncover any promising material that might be lurking within our midst.

A summary of Kentucky's eligibles for this season's team is anything but discouraging. Only three letter men, G. R. (Red) Wolf, Tommy Dewhurst, and Turner Gregg, were lost through graduation last June. However, Turkey Hughes, one of the best track men that ever donned a Kentucky jersey, and Gordon Davis, sprinter de-luxe, have both quit school. These vacancies, of course, will be hard to fill, but there's enough sophomore material to create a first class track team all their own.

Root, holder of the state high school record in the high hurdles, and second high point man in the big R.O.T.C. infantry-artillery track meet at Camp Knox last summer, is an ideal athlete to step into Dewhurst's shoes. With Gess, winner over Ray Hall in the half last year, Kirkendall, and J. Y. Brown to hold down the 440 and 880 yard races, and Brame, Dowden and Cochran in the mile and two mile Kentucky should be able to give a good account of herself in these events. She also looks good to duplicate last year's feat of taking practically all the dashes, for Mohny, Brady and Tracy is a trio of streaks that can step off the 100 and 220-yard events in ripping fashion.

In Captain-elect Jim (Skipper) Brady, the University of Kentucky possesses a track and field man who in versatility and point scoring ability is second to none in the South. He can do about everything from hurdling to broad-jumping, and he does them all well. In the S. I. C. track tournament last year, he vaulted and jumped his way to two Southern records, clearing the bar at 12 feet 3 and 3-4 inches, and leaping through the air 21 feet 11 and 1-2 inches, for the broad jump.

Kentucky will engage in four dual meets, besides participating in the state intercollegiate and S. I. C. tournaments. Sewanee and Indiana are scheduled to meet the 'Cats on Stoll Field, while they will engage Vanderbilt and the University of Tennessee on foreign soil.

(By MARTHA REED)

The sophomores, by securing a total of 220 points, emerged victorious in the class basketball series. The juniors were second with a total of 143. Frances Osborn, center forward on the sophomore team was "high-point man" of the season. Time after time she coaxed the ball through the elusive hoop, gaining in six games the total of 87 points for her squad. Mable Hill, of the juniors, with 77, was second in number of goals, while Corrinth Taylor followed her a close third with 68. Georgia Alexander, with 60 points, deserves mention.

The greatest single score made by any girl during the season was gained by Mary Whitehead, freshman, who in the last game of the series amassed 23 points. In the position of guard the following girls deserve special praise: Robinson, Hincks and Egges, sophomores; Dyer, freshman; Moreland, senior; Boughton and Kieffer, juniors.

The various games of the series were referred and umpired by girls who passed the special officials' course given this year by Miss Skinner of the physical education department.

The inter-sorority and dormitory tournament will take place next week and the week following. The first match of the series will be played on the night of Thursday, March 18. Next week's Kernel will carry a complete schedule of the tournament. Watch bulletin boards for definite announcements. Girls who wish credit in the W.A.A. for work done on sorority or dormitory teams must report for practice at least six times. Those who played on class teams may also play with their sorority groups but they will receive only one set of points. There will be a special town team for non-organized girls who do not live in dormitories.

Practice will be held daily in the women's gymnasium at 4 o'clock. For the arranging of extra or special practice hours any sorority group may consult with Anna Mae Stamper.

the same fate. That's the sad feature of every athletic contest.

Dark Horses Threaten
Dark horses have loomed up on the horizon, threatened for a while, then dropped back into the obscurity of defeat. Others have been more fortunate. Favorites face the same possibility. Anything within the law may happen in a tournament.

Pre-tournament predictions favored the Lexington Blue Devils. Louisville's St. Xavier and Ashland's Tomcats, Pikeville High school is one of the "dark horses"—almost a jet black.

Winner Goes to Chicago
The winner in the boys' division of the tournament will be invited to attend the annual national interschool high school basketball tournament held under the auspices of the University of Chicago, March 30 to April 3. In 1922, the Lexington Blue Devils after winning the Kentucky championship won the national title in the tournament. Last year Manual, winner of the Kentucky championship, created a sensation in the tournament and was eliminated only after a hard fight near the close of the tourney.

The plan for the games is as follows: Thursday, nine games, beginning at 9 o'clock; Friday, four games, beginning at 10 o'clock; and on Saturday the final games, the girls championship team being decided at 2:30 o'clock with the boy finalists meeting at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Handsome trophies will be awarded both boy and girl winners after the final Saturday night. These include individual and team prizes.

Officials of the tournament are Johnny Head, of Louisville; "Red" Harrington, of Cincinnati, who are officiating the boys' games, and Bill Hassen, of Lexington, and Lew Ulrich, of Louisville, who are officiating the girls' games.

PHI BETA KAPPA TO BE INSTALLED AT U. K. TODAY

It is given below. Phi Beta Kappa will each year select a small group of seniors at mid-year. The society has chosen for this mid-year group six seniors from the class of '26: Frances Lee, Catharine Kincheloe, Eugenia O'Hara Jones, Joe Lee Davis, John Dabney, and Woodson Scott. Another group of seniors will be elected at the close of the year.

Founded in 1776
Phi Beta Kappa was founded in 1776 at William and Mary's College at Williamsburg, Va. It is thus the oldest college fraternity although it is no longer a secret society. Its purpose as quoted from the local by-laws is:

"Phi Beta Kappa stands primarily for excellence in scholarship and for the promotion of a feeling of fellowship and fraternity among those who possess scholarly attainments. It encourages that kind of scholarship which involves notable mastery of some one field of learning together with a more than creditable achievement and broad, sympathetic interest in many."

The meeting place of this first chapter was the Apollo room of the Raleigh tavern in Williamsburg. The membership of the fraternity will be elected from the best 15 per cent of the senior class, but not more than 10 per cent of the entire class may be finally chosen. The emblems of the original chapter still live today. The letters S. P. for the Latin "Societas Philosophiae" being engraved on one side of the gold key, and on the other side the Greek letters Phi, Beta, Kappa, the initials of the words meaning "Philosophy, the Guide of Life."

It is Kentucky's pleasure and honor to enter the society in its sesqui-centennial year. It is planned to commemorate this date in the history of Phi Beta Kappa with a memorial building at William and Mary's College where the national headquarters will be located. It is also planned to have in this building a reproduction of the Apollo room in the Raleigh Tavern.

Elaborate Program Planned
The program for the installation of the chapter will open with a business session at the home of President and Mrs. Frank L. McVey at 3 o'clock. This will be followed by an informal reception to the members. The presentation of the chapter will be made by the Rev. Dr. Oscar M. Voorhes, secretary of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa. The constitution and by-laws will be formally adopted and the members will be presented and initiated after they have been formally elected. The final portion of the business meeting will be given over to the Central Kentucky Phi Beta Kappa Association, of which Bishop Lewis W. Burton is president. Questions of policy and election of officers will be taken up.

The installation banquet will be held in the ballroom of the Lafayette hotel at 6:30 o'clock. Prof. Glanville Terrell, president of the faculty group, will preside while President McVey will act as toastmaster. The address of the evening will be given by Dr. Edwin Mims, head of the department of English at Vanderbilt University, a speaker of national note. The Rev. Oscar M. Voorhes, of New York, secretary of national Phi Beta Kappa, will make the formal presentation of the charter in behalf of President Thwing, who is now in Europe.

Charter Members
The charter members of the Kentucky Alpha chapter are: President Frank L. McVey, Ohio Wesleyan University, 1893; Dean Charles J. Turek, Tulane, 1911; Jesse Earl Adams, Indiana University, 1922; William R. Allen, Indiana University, 1914; George K. Brady, University of Illinois, 1915; William Francis Gallaway, Davidson, 1924; Walter W. Jennings, University of Illinois, 1915; Simon E. Leland, DePaul University, 1918; Lynn B. McMullen, DePaul, 1897; James Burt Miner, University of Minnesota, 1897; Wendell Holmes Stephenson, Indiana University, 1923; and Glanville Terrell, LeLand Stanford, Jr., 1894.

The present chapter officers are: Prof. Glanville Terrell, president; Prof. James B. Miner, vice-president; Prof. W. R. Allen, secretary; Prof. Lynn B. McMullen, treasurer.

naries already played, interest is higher this year than ever before. Because of this interest and because of the number of visitors, it is expected that this dance will be one of the peopliest and most enjoyable of the year.

to initiate the visitors into the mystic and unusual routine of college life. Every frat house from the Chinese Chess club house to the Ku Klux Klan

Ma Jong Parlors was commandeered and inoculated with prospective basketball champs. The freshmen pledges is getting the worst end of the deal as they have to feed and water the guests' horses and some of the boys rushed off from home in such a hurry that they forgot to bring along a suit of red flannels in case it was cold so the post office is swamped with packages.

The strangers were perfectly willing to go after the bundles but they kept getting in the court house and the post office mixed up and the county judge put a notice in the paper that he didn't have no red underwear in his office and he wore athletic underwear himself and would people quit coming in to his office after his underwear.

Some Mix-up
So the pledges got another job. A lad from Podunk was looking up at the Fayette Bank building wondering how it would look on top and thought about it so hard that he got dizzy and keeled over. Next day the Podunk Bugle came out with headlines about how he got hurt while making a touchdown. Of course, this is the first year that Podunk has had a basketball team and then, newspapers is always makin' mistakes anyway.

This boy had a lot of bad luck, though. He was stayin' with the A.T.O.'s and he lost a collar button so they told him to go across the street and borrow one, expectin' him to draw on the S.A.E.'s. No such luck. He wanders smack into the Chi Omega parlor and tells a girl with a boyish bob to beat it upstairs and get him a collar button. One of the A.T.O.'s came over and unwrapped him from around the fire plug a little later. Well, it's a fine tournament at tournaments go and it looks like somebody will probably win it.

and Union College Academy, of Barbourville, Ky., in the fray with the result of a 32-12 score in favor of Manual. The Union Academy team, as runners up of the tournament received a silver cup.

"The last game of the 1922 tournament found what appeared to be speed demons whirling their way to victory by a 35-7 score. These proved to be only the Blue Devils of Lexington, victorious for the fourth time. More than they accomplished even more than previously, for a few weeks after receiving the honors of the state they returned from Chicago with similar honors of the nation, holding the title of national champs.

Girls Enter in 1922
The year 1922 also marks the first year that girls teams participated in the tournaments and the Ashland Kittens came out victorious over the Sardis team by the score 39-7.

March 10, 1923, found Louisville Manual High school winners for the second time by defeating the Blue Devils, of Lexington, while the Crescent Spring girls snatched the honors from the Kittens, much to the surprise and astonishment of the fans.

Senior High, in 1924, won their right to the title for the fifth time after a hard and closely contested game with Ft. Thomas, winning 15-10. This year the Ashland Kittens reestablished themselves as state champs by defeating the Georgetown Buffaloes by the small lead of two points, 13 to 11.

Last year saw Winchester go down in defeat before the onslaught of the Louisville Manual team. This marked the third victory for the Bull Dogs. The Buffaloes received their revenge for their defeat of the previous year by trimming the Memorial girls, 40 to 0.

Loomis never dreamed he'd make a salesman

E. W. Loomis started life as a farmer boy—a real "dirt" farmer—as did his parents and grandparents before him.

Across the corn furrows, however, he would catch sight on the road of the only kind of engineer a farmer boy of that day saw—a civil engineer—and a day engineer Loomis determined he would be.

At Delaware University, however, he got a job in the electrical laboratory—he also waited table, played football, wrestled, was commissary of the Commons, ran the battalion and did a number of other things, besides studying electrical engineering. One day a kindly professor said to him—"You understand men even better than you do electricity and engineering, why not go in for the sale of electrical apparatus?" Loomis liked the idea—came to Westinghouse—took the student course—then off to the New York Office as a "cub" salesman.

He worked—he always had—both on the farm and in college. In three years he was head of a section of the industrial sales department. By 1922 he was
