NEW FOOTBALL COACH SEEKS STUDENTS' HELP

Essential Features Are Adherence to Training and Discipline

Fred J. Murphy, newly elected coach of football at the University, spoke in chapel Tuesday morning and voiced the idea that in order to give State a winning football team the coming fall, the student body would have to stand by the team till the whistle of the final 1924 game had been blown and if this comes true Centre will return to Danville on the day of their red-letter game, defeated by State the first time in many years.

"Quite recently, it has been developed that athletics is a part of the educational plan of any University. I have always felt that the whole idea of athletics as being merely forms of recreation and exercise was misconstrued entirely," Coach Murphy said. "The

WELCOME OUR VISITORS

To Students at the University: The week beginning April 28 is High School Week at the University. Beginning Wednesday, April 30, and closing Saturday, May 3, we shall have at the University three or four hundred visitors from the various high schools over the state. These visitors will judge the University largely by the manner in which they are received. In the past, they have had audiences at their speaking contests. I trust that the students will make it a point to attend the public sessions on Tuesday evening and on Friday evening of that week, and show their interest in our visitors.

This is an opportunity for our students to show the University to best advantage, and I am asking the student body to show their customary courtesy and respect to our guests.

CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION OF MIDWEST AND SOUTH HAS SUCCESSFUL MEET

Twentieth Annual Session Attracts 225 Teachers of Latin and Greek

U. K. AND TRANSY HOSTS

University and Transylvania Cooperate to Entertain Delegates

Approximately 225 teachers of Latin and Greek attended the twentieth annual meeting of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South, which convened at the Phoenix Hotel at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, April 17. The University of Kentucky and Transylvania College were hosts for the three days' meeting.

The Association of the Middle West and South is the largest classical organization in the world. In its membership of 4,000, it includes states as far west as Nebraska, as far south as Texas and Florida, and as far east as Virginia. This was the second time in the twenty years of its existence that the Association has met in Kentucky, the first time having been in Louisville in 1912.

Delegates Entertained

The delegates were entertained by the University of Kentucky with a dinner at the Phoenix Hotel Thursday evening. The evening session followed immediately. President Frank L. McVey delivered the address of welcome and H. J. Barton, of the University of Illinois, the eleventh president of the Association, responded.

INSPECTION HELD

Inspection officers from Washington inspected the R. O. T. C. unit of the University Wednesday and Thursday in every phase of its work. The inspection will determine largely whether or not Kentucky will become a college of distinguished classification.

First Kentucky Man to Win Four Letters

C. T. "TURKEY" HUGHES

For the first time in its history the University of Kentucky boasts a four letter man. Charles T. Hughes holds this distinction. "Turkey" as he is more familiarly known to his college associates and hosts of admirers, is a Junior in the College of Arts and Science, and since his entrance in the University two years ago, has been one of the most prominent athletes on the Wildcat team.

"Turkey" recently accomplished the phenomenal feat of making two of his letters in one week, winning the first baseball game and the first track event in which he entered. In this event in which he entered. In this track meet, which was held at Vanderbilt, Hughes took two first places, one being the broad jump, in which he jumped twenty-two feet six inches, nearly a foot better than the S. I. C. record. This will not hold as a new record, however, as the official mark must be made in the S. I. C. meet.

Baseball Star

In baseball Hughes is the most dependable man on the team, being invaluable because of his reliable pitching and his ability as an outfielder.

He is above the average player in basketball, and in football he is among the best of the Kentucky halfbacks.

Hughes was also the first Freshman in the University to make four numerals, having fulfilled the stipulated requirements for football, basketball, baseball and track, in his freshman year.

Although Hughes is a Junior this year, he has only been a student in the University two years, since some of his credits were not recognized until he had passed one year's work. He is a member of S. A. E. fraternity and of Keys. His scholastic standing is as creditable as his athletic record; in fact "Turkey" is the most brilliant satellite on the Wildcat horizon.

TAKE SERUM TREATMENT

While a student who resides in Lexington during the college year is safe from typhoid, nevertheless, he may not be so fortunate in other communities. Physicians have called the cases which developed during the summer vacation typhoid. From May to October are regarded as typhoid months. It is advisable for those who are going outside of communities where the water supply is well protected to take the various serum treatments for protection against typhoid. These can be secured at the University clinic to those who wish it.

The importance of following this advice is evidenced by the fact that in an institution situated in Tennessee, there were eighty cases of typhoid in March and of these cases, eight died. It is possible to protect yourself against such a situation.

WILDCATS WIN SECOND GAME BY 13 TO 9 SCORE FROM MARYVILLE TEAM

Game Featured by Scoring Proclivities of Both Teams

RIFFE HURLS GOOD GAME

Visitors Collect Six Runs in First of Third Inning

The University of Kentucky baseball team won their fourth game of the season when they defeated the Maryville nine on Stoll Field Thursday afternoon by the score of 13 to 9 in a game featured by bases on balls and hit batters.

Maryville started the scoring in the first inning when they scored one run. Kentucky came back in the second half of the same inning and tallied three times. Gregg blanked Maryville in the second inning while the Wildcats shovled one more across the pan.

In the third inning the visitors got to Gregg's delivery for three runs which tied the score. Riffe then went to the mound for Kentucky and allowed three more runs to cross the pan making the score 7 to 4 in favor of the visitors. Kentucky got one of them back in the same inning.

The fourth inning found the Maryville team unable to score and the Cats took advantage of the lull in the visitors' scoring proclivities and procured one more run for Jesse Riffe. Maryville failed to touch Riffe's delivery in the fifth while the Cats collected three runs and gained a two run advantage with the score standing Kentucky 9, Maryville 7.

Kentucky failed to get a run in the sixth round while Maryville added one to their score. In the seventh the Cats got two more runs while the visitors were held scoreless. Maryville was again held scoreless in the eighth while the Wildcats added two more to their total giving them 13 for the game.

In the ninth and final round of the

NEW YORK CLUB'S DINNER-DANCE IS BIG SUCCESS

A letter just received from David L. Thornton, Jr., secretary of the New York Alumni Club gives an interesting account of the twenty-first annual dinner-dance of the club which was held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel Friday night, April 11. He writes:

"Promptly at 8 o'clock the members of the club and their guests, about 90 in all, sat down to a dinner which could have been prepared only under the direction of 'Oscar' and for which the Waldorf is famous.

"As the dinner drew to a close Reuben T. Taylor, president of the club, arose and gracefully introduced the speakers of the evening. President McVey was the first to speak and he told in an interesting manner the progress the University is making and of his ambitions for its future.

"Al Kirwan, president of the sophomore class, followed President McVey. Kirwan gave an excellent talk and let the club in on some of the inside of the University affairs. Professor Carol Sax and W. H. Grady, of Louisville, were introduced and Mr. Grady was persuaded to make a brief address.

"After the addresses a short business meeting was held and the officers for next year were elected as follows: J. T. Lowe, president; C. R. McClure, vice-president; Robert L. Acker, secretary-treasurer. J. I. Lyle, H. P. Ingels and R. T. Taylor were elected on the executive committee of the club.

"The party then turned into a dance and an old fashioned Kentucky 'brack' dance was held. The orchestra retired at 1 o'clock but no one was ready to go home so musical talent was found among the guests and the dance went on for another hour.

"Dr. McVey was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. McVey, who was given a cordial welcome by her many friends in the city. We were all so glad to have with us some of the senior engineers who came over from Buffalo after the annual inspection trip.

PHILLIE CLUB STILL ACTIVE

A letter received at the office early in the week gave the report of the last meeting of the Philadelphia club, held April 5, at the Engineer's Club, 1317 Spruce street.

The question of the Senior annual inspection trip was brought up at the meeting and the club voted to wire its good wishes to the Buffalo Club on the night it entertained the seniors and also to the New York Club on the night of the annual dinner-dance, at which the seniors were guests.

It was suggested that as many members of the club as possible attend either the meeting at Buffalo or at New York. Several announced their intention of going, according to the letter.

The secretary in the letter announced that a meeting would be called the first part of May for the purpose of distributing ballots for the election of officers of the association.

IMPORTANT LETTER

750 Frelinghuysen Ave.
 Newark, N. J., April 21, 1924.

The Kentucky Kernel, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky:

Gentlemen: I wish you would notify through your columns, all the alumni in regard to a fakir who represents himself as being Louis A. Seelbach, steward of the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville, Ky.

Some four or five years ago this man visited nearly all alumni located in New York and seemed to have a perfect knowledge of conditions in Kentucky in general, and the University in particular. I think he succeeded in getting money from 90 per cent of the alumni he called on in New York. I claim to be the one exception as I did not fall for his story but offered to wire the Seelbach and, if I found his story was true, I would gladly furnish him with funds, but he did not want the telegram sent.

I find that this same man is now operating in Chicago. I hope that some Chicago alumnus will be public spirited enough to have this fellow arrested when he applies for funds, as he, undoubtedly, will call on all those who have not been called on up to date.

Yours very truly,
 J. I. LYLE.

MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME

High school boys and girls, we welcome you. In the name of the University we wish to extend to you our most sincere thanks that you have come to visit us. We are glad and happy that you are here. Make yourselves at home. This is your University and we hope that you will take advantage of being here and see every department of your school. Visit the class rooms, see the new gymnasium, see Stoll Field, observe the campus, see the machine shops, the cafeteria, the library, the Experiment Station and all the other points of interest on and near the campus. If there is any particular line of work that you are interested in meet the instructor of that department and he will be glad to show and explain to you the workings of his department. We are always glad to see you here. You come to us recognized as the best in your high school. Get some lasting impressions of the University and take them home with you. Be able to talk with your class mates concerning this institution when you return.

We probably have not the best buildings, nor the most room of any institution in the South but we do contend that we have the most hospitable spirit. Try us while you are here and see.

K. E. A. IN SESSION

Many students and faculty of the University are attending the Kentucky Educational Association meet at Louisville this week. Thursday night the annual University Alumni Banquet was held at which many of the old students of State assembled to discuss plans for the future betterment of the educational institutions of the state and to rake up fond memories of the days that were at their old Alma Mater.

These sessions are growing in size and interest each year. Students here who were majoring or minoring in Education or who were interested in teaching were excused from all classes during the meet. A special train was chartered to run to Louisville Thursday to carry the students from the University. Early Wednesday morning 108 reservations had been made on the special. The University Glee Club went down by bus Thursday morning. All the instructors in the College of Education will attend the sessions.

We are always glad to promote and further these meetings in every way possible because they have at heart all that is best educationally in Kentucky. It is a source of deep gratification to note that the sessions are growing and creating more interest each year.

MAY DAY WILL BE MORE SPECTACULAR THAN EVER

invited to act as judges and the banner will be awarded as the cars re-enter the campus.

The second part of the program will be the annual Moving Day exercise at 2:30. All classes will unite in making this a happy event. At this time the freshmen will have a huge bonfire in which they will destroy all traces of their blue and white freshmen caps and each class will move up one notch in rank.

The third part of the program will be Arbor Day or Class Day exercises. The Senior class will plant a tree in honor of the class of '24, and all the class officers will take part in the ceremony. Sidney Neele will preside at the service.

At the conclusion of this phase of the program, Lamp and Cross, the Senior men's honorary fraternity, and Mortar Board, the Senior women's honorary fraternity will hold their annual pledging exercises.

Following the pledge service, the May Queen will be crowned. Here-tofore the queen has been selected from the sophomore gymnasium classes and the interest in the affair has not been very great, but this year she is to be chosen by the boys, from the University at large. A ballot box will be placed in front of the Administration Building Tuesday morning, April 29. Each man will be entitled to one vote. The girl receiving the highest number of votes will be crowned Queen of the May; the next in line will be her maid of honor; and the next five will be her attendants.

Due to the fact that the high school debating teams will be here at that time for their final debate, the program will be discontinued until 9 o'clock, when the Suky Circle has arranged a very fitting climax for the occasion. This will be in the form of a Gingham Dance, held in the new gymnasium. Tickets for this are now on sale at $1 each by any member of the Suky Circle.

The Philosphian Literary Society held their annual election of officers recently, for the next year. The following officers were elected: President, Louise Carson; Vice President, Louise Burkes; Secretary and Treasurer, Mary Elizabeth Depew; Critic, Judith Yungblut; Sergeant-at-Arms, Lucille Bush.

FRESHMEN, GET BUSY

It has been announced that there would probably be a State track meet for freshmen of the University of Kentucky, Centre and Georgetown Colleges at Danville at the same time that the inter-collegiate meet is held.

Freshmen are urged to start work for the events, especially in the pole vault, hurdles, discus and javelin throw. Numerals and sweaters will be awarded to those members of the squad who fulfill requirements, it was announced.

COURSE TO TRAIN LEADERS IN BIBLE STUDY GIVEN

Seventy delegates from eight representative Kentucky colleges were in Lexington during Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week to attend a course of lectures for Bible study, conducted by Dr. Bruce Curry, of the New York Theological Seminary.

The main theme of the series of six lectures, which was held at the Maxwell Street Presbyterian Church was "The Rediscovery of Christ" and the aim of the course was to train leaders for Bible study groups for the coming school year.

The following women, interested in the University were given the course, tuition free, that they might be fitted to lead groups here next year: Mrs. Paul P. Boyd, Miss Sarah Blanding, Mrs. George Roberts, Miss Margaret McLaughlin and Mrs. Frank McVey.

DR. GOODSPEED AT CHAPEL

Dr. Edward J. Goodspeed, of the University of Chicago, will lecture at the University chapel on Tuesday, April 29, at 11:30.

Dr. Goodspeed is an eminent Greek scholar who, among other notable achievements, has made a Greek translation of the New Testament. He is known throughout the country and the University is exceedingly fortunate in securing him for a lecture next Tuesday.

W. G. Manly, of the University of Missouri, first president of the Association, delivered "Reminiscences." A history of the Association was presented by Gordon J. Laring, of the University of Chicago.

The Friday sessions were held in the University of Kentucky chapel. The delegates were the guests of the University at a luncheon, prepared and served by the Department of Home Economics. President and Mrs. McVey were hosts at tea Friday afternoon at 4:30.

The Saturday sessions were held at Transylvania College and the delegates

IMMORTALITY

Across a vast and solitary place
The skies of Egypt mourn eternally
The dust of mighty kings, whose tyranny
Sleeps 'mid the ruins of a forgotten race.
There to the mind wan dreams come fitfully
As countless stars, like gems, begin to trace
The violet dome of Night—far vaulted space
Bestirs old thoughts from slumbering memory;
There on the sands dim phantoms
start to rise—
The dead of Egypt—In the stars'
pale gleam
They drift before the Sphinxes' fixed eyes
Which ponder on fair Egypt's old regime.

Thus we, O Love, shall live 'neath
other skies
When races yet unborn shall choose to dream.
—MADISON CAWEIN.

REVELATIONS

(Second Choice)

From out of the shadow of death
I came as the image of God.
I call the stream to hark its ceaseless flow
While moonbeams spread their shades o'er all the earth.

I'm scorned and cursed by multitudes
But yet I'm king from sky to earth.
My dormant power wears down the power of man
But still I love and lift him as my child.

—FRANK K. HOOVER.

were guests of the college at luncheon. The addresses of the meeting were largely technical.

The meeting closed with an automobile drive Saturday afternoon through the Blue Grass country Dr. W. W. Dimock of the Experiment Station arranged and published an itinerary of the drive, giving a brief history of the Kentucky stock farms which were visited and outlining the values and records of the fine horses and other livestock which were exhibited to the guests.

The local committee on arrangements was as follows: T. T. Jones, chairman, Juanita Bond, Mary W. Brown, Bessie Cohen, Ernest W. Delcamp, Effie Denny, Elizabeth Henry, Mary L. Hunt, Thomas B. McCartney, Carie McDaniel, Sister Robert Mary, Mabel H. Pollitt, George Ragland, Granville Tereh and Annie L. West.

Velvet tastes right because it's made from the best Kentucky Burley tobacco that money can buy—and because every bit of it is slowly and thoroughly aged in wood.

Three hundred visitors from the high schools of Kentucky will be in attendance at the University during the High School Week, the first week in May. The races are on in Lexington and hotel accommodations cannot be obtained. The student body and faculty are being urged to entertain visitors. The Su-Ky Circle has the rooming matter in charge. Every student that can entertain a visitor is urged to telephone Professor Boles' office, telling how many visitors can be entertained and for how many nights. No one student is likely to stay more than one night or two at the outside. Let as many students as can make room for a visitor come or telephone the information requested. The Su-Ky Circle and the University will greatly appreciate your assistance. Don't wait. Do it now for Kentucky.

KENTUCKY DEFEATS BEAR CATS BY 5 TO 3 SCORE

Hughes Pitches Excellent Game For Wildcat Baseball Nine

The Wildcats won their third game of the season and remained undefeated when they knocked out a 5 to 3 victory over the Bear Cats of the University of Cincinnati Saturday afternoon. The contest developed into a pitchers' battle with Hughes having 2 scores the better of the argument over Cornelius, his opponent. Bases on balls and errors contributed their share to the score; every time one of the two hurlers issued a pass to a batter he immediately found himself in trouble.

Excellent support on the part of the University of Kentucky infield aided Hughes greatly. The guardians of the inner gardens played better ball in this contest than at any time in the other games of the year. Incidentally it was the first victory the Wildcats had won from the Cincinnati nine in the last four years.

Kentucky Scores in 3 Innings
Kentucky scored its runs in the second, seventh and eighth innings. In the second Rouse stroled to first and Riffe poled out a three base hit that scored Riffe on a fielder's choice; Boren scored Riffe on a fielder's choice; Boren struck out; Miller secured a single and King went out shortstop to first base.

Cincinnati secured one run in the fifth inning. Cornelius collected a safety, went to second on Hayne's sacrifice fly to Vossmeier and scored on Glasgow's single. Allen was thrown out. Hughes to Miller, retiring the side.

In the first of the seventh Cincinnati went into the lead for the first time in the game when they forced two runs across the plate. Cornelius struck out. Hynes went second on a passed ball and came in when Riffe dropped Glasgow's fly. Allen knocked the ball to Croft who could not handle it and Hynes crossed the plate with the second run. Prather and Hoy, the next two up, went out. Rouse to Miller.

In the last half of the seventh Kentucky again gained the lead scoring two runs. Miller went to first on a base on balls, King did the same thing. Croft hit a roller down the third base line that went for a hit, Miller going to third and King to second. Hughes hit into a double play and Miller scored, tying the count. Croft and Hughes returning to the bench while King took third. Cornelius uncorked a wild pitch that permitted King to score and Kentucky regained a one point lead.

Kentucky got another run in the eighth when Henry got a hit and was then thrown out short to second base. Boren got on by an error, Miller, King and Croft walked in turn and Boren was forced across with the fifth run of the game for the Cats. Sollers went to the mound for the visitors and put out Hughes when he poled out a fly to right field.

Hughes held the Cincinnati delegation scoreless for the remainder of the contest, and got the first three men in the order final inning.

WILDCATS WIN SECOND GAME BY 13 TO 10 SCORE FROM MARYVILLE TEAM

hectic contest the Cats held their opponents to two runs and the game ended with Kentucky one more game on the right side of the ledger.

Maryville won the first game of the series by a three to nothing score the first time that the Wildcats had met defeat this season and the first time that they had been blanked. Maryville simply played better ball in this contest and deserved to win, though both nines played excellent ball in the field. Maryville made their hits count for runs at the most opportune times while the Cats with men on base could not solve R. Williams' delivery.

STROLLER PRODUCTION, SEVENTEEN, SCORES BIG AND IS PERFECT SUCCESS

Excellent Cast Upholds Good Name of Prominent Organization

MANY NEW STARS APPEAR

E. M. Heavrin and Annette Kelley Vie For High Honors

"Seventeen," the fifteenth offering of the Stroller Dramatic organization takes its rightful place among such celebrated predecessors as "Crichton," "The Thirteenth Chair," "The Lion and the Mouse," add "The Climbers." Many new names have been added to this year's roster along with those veterans in the past. Out-standing among the fledglings who have won their spurs are, Annette Kelly, Lillian Rasch, Margaret Yungblut, Mary Helburne, Frank Browning and Joe Hays. Of the "Old Guard," Earl Maxwell Heavrin, James Darnell and Ed Gans "carry on," with the same artistry that has been manifest in previous performances. Although "Seventeen," does not appear as difficult as other Stroller productions, the subtlety in line and situation of Tarkington's humor would be lost if it were not for the ability of the players to literally live their parts.

The story deals with the joys and sorrows of adolescent youth; the complacent egotism of middle age in the father; irritating naivety of childhood and the consummate understanding and tenderness of the mother. Willie Baxter, called William Sylvanus for short, has reached the painful age of seventeen and through graduation from high school feels he has earned the rights, privileges and immunities attributed to manhood. He is also beginning to be doubtful as to his selection of parents; but Jane, his 10 year old sister is a cross which he feels altogether unable to bear. Willie believes he could be perfectly happy if it were not for three things; his father's refusal to buy him a dress suit and equal determination for him to go to college and the persistence of the "gang," in calling him "Willie" or "Silly Bill." Along with other things Willie is an intense hero worshipper, Dickens' "Sidney Carton" being his latest adoption.

In order to exemplify his ideals he decides to give up girls. This plan he blatantly discloses to his crony Johnny Watson, who though skeptical is admiring. And then it happened.

The climax is reached the night of Lola Pratt's departure when "Silly Bill" fails to appear for dinner and all his clothes are found to be missing. Mr. Baxter immediately joins Mr. Parcher in the Anti-Pratt League and Mrs. Baxter for the first time becomes disturbed enough to sink a few barbs in Sylvanus senior as to his lack of sympathy and tolerance.

Every thing turns out for the best, however, when Willie finally arrives at the Parcher farewell party just in time to serve as an escort for Ethel Bloke, also a visitor, who is out for the heavyweight championship. Willie gets to tell Lola good-bye along with the rest of the crowd as she is hurried to the train by George Cooper and Mr. Parcher.

Love's young dream shattered, Willie stifles a few sobs and announces to his mother that he thinks he'll go to college after all.

Earl Maxwell Heavrin as Willie Baxter portrays the vicissitudes of the "in between age," with a vividness that keeps you winking back the tears even as you laugh.

Annette Kelley, as Jane Baxter, the inquisitive little sister, is as captivating as "Tweeny" of "Crichton." She portrays precociousness without sophistication with the loveableness of Temaline "Jackie Coogan." Miss Kelley creates a role that will be long remembered by those who have had the pleasure of seeing her.

Lola Pratt, played by Lillian Rasch, is well done. Miss Rasch lends beauty and charm to a difficult role and wins her audience as completely as she does Willie.

Frank Brown has the difficult task of adding humor to an already uproarious comedy. His character work as Genesis the negro handy-man is well-nigh perfect.

James Darnell and Ed Gans, who need no introduction to Stroller audiences, add to their laurels and with their characterizations of Mr. Baxter, the puzzled parent and Mr. Parcher the irascible host.

Outstanding in their work were Margaret Yungblut as Mrs. Baxter; Mary Helburne, as Mrs. Parcher; Joe Hays as Johnnie Watson and Al Weiman as Joe Bullitt; Tom Armstrong, playing George Cooper was particularly enjoyable as he appeared too well pleased with himself to be impressed by Lola. Richard Jones and Jeannette Metcalf making up the rest of the "gang" were excellent, with the able assistance of Alva Synder, who rounded out the crowd.

fundamental thing of all athletic training is to build up character."

"The team is going to be developed out of the whole student body. We will have to get down to the very basis of what constitutes the fundamentals in athletics—student's support.

"I know of men who came here to try to keep strict training but couldn't. If athletics must mean anything, men must adhere to training and discipline. These are the very factors that make athletics of so great importance in student life. Girl's can do a tremendous amount of good in the way of developing athletic teams. If they will just bear in mind that the men must not smoke, drink or keep late hours the sentiment that is behind that is going to enforce those regulations.

"I hope to have just as many men out as possible. There will be competition from within but it will be under one control and under the same rules of training. If we can accomplish this at the University we will have a type of men to produce the type of football team that we want to produce.

"If I can get you in the frame of mind that the team is "OURS" we can get some good out of it. If I can get the student body to act as a strong support to the men who are trying to live up to training rules, then we will have an aggregation which can not be beaten. The essence of football is to have the spirit of the men individually backed up with the spirit of the institution."
