CATS "COME BACK" IN LAST GAME OF SEASON

Florida Alligators Suffer at Hands of Wildcat Warriors

TEAM IN GOOD SHAPE

The Cats came back!

Playing in top form, full of pep and good cheer and feeling their oats as never before this season, the Kentucky Wildcats overcame the Florida Alligators in Turkey Day by a score of 52 to 0.

Thursday's game was the first of the season into which the Wildcats entered with the whole team in good physical condition. Every man was feeling so well that spectators all agreed that any game the Wildcats have lost in the present year, would have been won by them if they had played as they did Thursday. Wilhelm and Hedges were in the game free from the bondage of measles, and each of them showed up better than was expected after their recent illness.

The long rest and favorable practice enjoyed by Kentucky since the Alabama game was apparent in its effect on the playing. The old fighting spirit was there with all its interesting results. Jimmie Hedges was the star of the comedy exhibitions of the game, receiving the frequent penalties caused by some of his playing with impish grins to the delight of the spectators. Jimmie played his last K. U. game in a creditable manner.

One of the amusing incidents with which the game was freely sprinkled, was the line buck by "Cupid" Dempsey which netted a touchdown. It was probably caused by the desire of the other Wildcats to see their comrade who is soon to leave them, make a score for the team in which he has played an All-Kentucky center position so well. There was an insistent request that "Cupid" be allowed to attempt an end run, but he declined the honor.

Kentucky's interference was at its best Thursday. Through the season there has been some excuse for criticism of the lack of a more effective (Continued on Page Five.)

TIGERT'S CHOICE FOR ALL-KENTUCKY TEAM

In making a summary of the 1917 football season, Doctor Tigert, former coach of the Wildcats selected four men from the Wildcat team of this year to occupy berths on the mythical All-Kentucky team. His selections, which are those of the Kernel also, follow:

Ends, Taylor, Georgetown and Heber; Tackles, Murphree and Moss, Georgetown; Guards, Tate, Centre, and Brittain; Centre, Weaver, Centre, and Moss, Georgetown; Quarterback, McMillan, Centre; Halfbacks, Riddle, and Diddle, Centre; Fullback, Mathias, Centre.

STATE "Y" CONFERENCE MEETS AT TRANSYLVANIA

Corps of Able Speakers to Address Large Delegation

TO BEGIN TOMORROW

The annual Kentucky State Students' Y. M. C. A. Conference will be held at Transylvania College Friday, Saturday and Sunday, of this week. One of the primary purposes of this conference is to extend welcome on behalf of the State Y. M. C. A. to Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of this University.

This conference with its corps of very able speakers is heralded as the best ever held in Kentucky and the largest attendance in the history of the student organization of the State is expected. Transylvania college will act as host to the accredited delegates and all the students are earnestly asked to attend the meetings loyally.

The central theme of the conference is "Christian Patriotism." Kentucky colleges have shown their patriotism in the number of men they have contributed to the army, navy and army Y. M. C. A. In addition the colleges have responded liberally to the Army War Work Fund.

Following is a list of the prominent speakers of the conference:

A. J. Elliott, commonly known as "Dad" Elliott. "Dad" played end for Northwestern four years and was named "All Western End" in 1901. Has been International Student Secretary of Central Department Y. M. C. A. for past ten years.

Dr. W. D. Weatherford, International Student Secretary, South Eastern Department, Nashville, Tenn.

Arthur N. Cotton, International High School Secretary, New York City.

CLASS CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY SOPHOMORES

Inter-class championship was practically decided in favor of the Sophomore class when the Freshman team was defeated Saturday, November 24, by a score of 7 to 0.

Both teams played the game hard and many of the plays appeared as the work of veterans. Vicious tackling and fast running of the backs of both teams featured the game. Neither team seemed superior in straight football, and the Freshmen completed two long, "beautiful," forward passes, one of which almost amounted to a touchdown.

For the sophomores, Zerfoss and Propps were stars, while Gregg and Easch played the best games for the first-year men. At present there are no teams representing the Junior or Senior classes, and the Sophomores hold the championship honors.

LIEUTENANT GRAHAM RECEIVES PROMOTION

Herbert Graham, formerly Fellow in the Department of Journalism, and prominent student in that department prior to the period of his fellowship, but now First Lieutenant in the National Army, has been appointed Regimental Intelligence Officer for his regiment, now stationed at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville. It is rated as the highest appointment in the regiment for a lieutenant. Graham's training in Journalism, according to Colonel Davis, who made the appointment, was the dominant factor in the selection.

"Little Pete" Leibovitch, of the class of 1915 in the University, is in the Medical Corps of the regiment of which Lieutenant Graham is a member.

MCVEY TAKES PLACE IN STATE UNIV. AFFAIRS

Dr. and Mrs. McVey Entered Extensively Last Week

HERE UNTIL DEC. 11

With his election Saturday as President of the Association of Kentucky Colleges for the ensuing year, Dr. Frank L. McVey has literally begun his work with the colleges of Kentucky in promoting co-operation necessary for success.

Following the routine business meeting of the Association of Kentucky Colleges, the election of officers and appointments of committees, representatives of the leading colleges and schools of Kentucky assembled in the ball room of the Phoenix Hotel as hosts to the new president of the University of Kentucky. Dr. McVey, the principal speaker of the day, responded brilliantly to the good wishes offered him by the college presidents and trustees of Kentucky.

Dr. McVey was one of the two principal speakers, university presidents, to address the Kentucky Educational Association which convened in Lexington last Friday for a two-day meeting. His address on Friday evening to the teachers of Kentucky was powerful.

Mrs. McVey, who accompanied the President to Kentucky this time, has been the honored guest at many social functions.

The Alumni Club of the University entertained the President and Mrs. McVey with a luncheon at the Phoenix Hotel on Friday at which many old students of the University gathered to meet the President and Mrs. McVey. The Home Economics Ex- (Continued on Page Five)

MCVEY TELLS STUDENTS NEEDS OF UNIVERSITY

"Coordination and Money First Requirements," Says McVey

PATRIOTISM PRAISED

"There are two things that this University needs above all others, and those things are co-ordination and money," said President McVey in his talk to the student body Tuesday morning in chapel.

"The problem of co-ordination is not so serious as that of the need for money. We need a first class heating system for the University. We need money for the repairing of roofs of the various buildings, for the fuller equipment of laboratories and then later for new buildings, such as an auditorium and woman's building. There is no course in music to be had here and no business college, and we are in sad need of these. The staff is inadequate in many departments and this should be remedied."

Dr. McVey did not go into detail, but in a general way, made known to the students the many things that are needed to make the University of Kentucky one of the leading universities in this country. As the President said, students will be asked many questions during the holidays and it is best for them to know just what the needs are.

"This University leads the others of the South in the number of men enlisted in the army and navy. It has given as many men for service in this war as any university in the country," said Dr. McVey.

He emphasized the fact, however, that more well-trained men will be needed a few years hence than are needed now. In accord with the statements of Secretary Baker and Major General Woods, Dr. McVey urged the (Continued on Page Two.)

BASKETBALL CAPTAIN TO BE ELECTED YET

"Who is to lead this year's basketball team?" This is the important question facing the squad which begins practice tomorrow.

Only one regular of last year is on the floor now, Pat Campbell, and since only basketball "K" men are allowed to vote for captain, it looks as if Pat will be forced to act mean and vote for himself, thus carrying the election unanimously. After a few days practice the squad may be picked and allowed to have a say in the election, or the matter may be laid aside until a team is selected.

The schedule, which is as yet incomplete, follows:

January 9.—Kentucky Wesleyan, at Lexington.

January 12.—Miami College at Oxford.

SIGNAL CORPS COURSE TO REZIN IN JANUARY

Twenty Weeks' Training Class Gives Opportunity For Advance

BROAD INSTRUCTION

Authorized by Dr. McVey, president of the University, Captain H. N. Royden, commandant, has instituted a twenty-weeks' training class at the University to begin January 2, 1918, for the scientific study of the Signal Corps service for all drafted men. The University was recently requested by the War Department to consider the matter of training a quota of the enrolled draft of the State for service in the Signal Corps of the National Army and many students have shown interest in the proposed course.

Lieut. Colonel L. D. Wildman, Department Signal Officer, writes as follows, about the proposed course: "This will be of wonderful advantage to the men of your state who receive the course, as it will place them in line for earlier promotion, besides being of assistance to the army by preparing the men to such a high degree."

Any college work is an advantage to a progressive young man. The work in radio electric engineering is not only very interesting, but very instructive, including elements of electrical engineering, telegraphy, alternating current generators, telephony, and radio instruments and apparatus.

Class-room work in Military French will be offered and every effort will be made to maintain a high standard of instruction. Apt students will not be held back by the inability of others. Enrollment will not affect the regular operation of the draft. Certificates of proficiency insure placement in the Signal Corps.

The foregoing announcement was received by the Kernel from Captain Royden. For any further information regarding the signal corp service, write or call Captain H. N. Royden, commandant, who has the direction of the class.

TRAGEDY NARROWLY AVERTED BY GILLIS

What almost amounted to a canine tragedy was averted by Professor Gillis when he opened the vault in the registrar's office Tuesday morning. Lying on the floor in a very disconsolate and helpless condition was a shaggy little white dog. He looked up appealingly as the door opened and tried to stagger out. When he found his strength had been weakened by howling or the close atmosphere to such an extent that he was unable to walk, he lay down again and trusted the rest to his deliverer. After ministrations he was restored to his relatives and friends in perfect health and spirits.

NEW PLAN FOR UNIV. CONTROL IS ANNOUNCED

Recommendations Provide Three Governing Bodies

BOARD MEETS NOV. 10

Administrative affairs of the University will be controlled by three separate bodies with separate functions, if regulations approved by the faculty of the University last week are adopted by the Board of Trustees.

The Board of Trustees will consider the constitution, new government charter of the University, at its next meeting, November 10. There is little doubt held that the recommendations will be put into force.

Under the constitutional measures recommended by the faculty, government will be under the following heads:

An administrative body, composed of officers of the University and two members elected by the faculty, will have charge of discipline, routine matters of study and the school calendar.
A senate composed of all professors, will be the legislative body. It will pass on all courses of study, schedules and classes, recommendations for graduation and like matters.

An assembly, made up of all teachers, instructors and others holding positions in the university, will have charge of defining the work of officers, the tenure of staff service, granting of leave of absence to staff members and such matters.

The leave of absence phase of the new regulations is a new thing at the University. Under the recommendations, four years members of the faculty may be granted leave of absence for one-half semester on half pay. Faculty members of seven years may be granted leave on half pay for a complete session.

The investigation committee, in its report last summer, recommended that a new constitution be adopted by the University and a committee composed of Dean George Roberts, Professor C. R. Melcher, Professor W. E. Freeman and Professor J. T. C. Noe, with Professor P. P. Boyd, acting president, named as ex-officio chairman, was named to draw up the constitution. Members of the faculty were given mimeographed copies for study and the recommendations grew out of these preliminaries.

President F. L. McVey presided at the faculty meeting. The Executive Committee has already approved the constitution which will be submitted to the Board of Trustees in regular meeting, December 10.

STUDENT APPRECIATES U. K. XMAS GREETING

Dr. Frank L. McVey received this week from William R. Lindsay, student of the University in 1914-15, a letter thanking the president, faculty and students of the University for their remembrance of Kentucky's Sons who are in service. The following letter of interest to the students was enclosed:

In Camp
The Day Before Thanksgiving.....
To My K. U. Friends:—

When a former student of Kentucky State receives the messages of cheer and good will from the president faculty and students, many of whom are old and dear friends, it certainly makes his heart swell with gratitude to them and makes his love for his Alma Mater stronger. And when a "K" fan, who has fought and won under The Blue and The White as he will fight and win under the Red, White and Blue, gets such messages, his heart is filled to overflowing. I know, for my most cherished possession is a blue sweater with a white "K" and along with that "K" will be placed the 1917 Christmas Greetings from K. S. U. to "Her Sons in the Service."

We, still on the border, are only tarking time 'till we can catch step to march against the Kaiser. We are tensely waiting for the ball to be snapped and can hit the Hun line hard and hit it low.

When across and the order comes, "Over the Top," the sons of Dear Old State will hear the cheers of K. S. U. ringing in their ears, giving them the strength to breast the tape for America and the world.

Yours in Service,
WILLIAM R. LANDSAY.

GRADUATE WORK GOOD

A signal recognition of the post graduate work of the University is the appointment of Ruth B. Branham as instructor in history in the Central High School, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Branham has been studying political science and history for the past ten years. She took the Washington city examinations with high honors and was called to one of the best positions in the country at an advance of more than a thousand dollars over her previous salary. Her degree will be awarded either at the December or the May meeting of the University Trustees.

men to complete their college work, that they may be better fitted for the task ahead.

"There are two sides to the question," the President said, "One is the romance of this war, the adventure of it, and the other is the call for the greater service which can be accomplished only by those trained for the work."

This is the last time Dr. McVey will appear before the student body until after the holidays. In closing the President wished the students a very merry Christmas.

A number of alumni visited Mechanical Hall during the Thanksgiving holidays. Among these, were H. P. Ingels and Matt M. Clay, who were the guests of E. S. Ingels on Woodland avenue. Mr. Ingels graduated from the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, class of 1905, and is at present connected with the War Industries Board of the Council of National Defense at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Ingels addressed the senior mechanical and electrical engineers at eleven o'clock Wednesday morning, November 28, on some of the problems pertaining to his present work. Mr. Clay, who is a member of the class of 1902, College of Civil Engineering, is in the railroad work of the Division of Valuation, Interstate Commerce Commission, Chattanooga, Tennessee. DO YOU KNOW HOW TO STUDY

There are many ways in which you can increase your efficiency as a student if you want to do it. For instance, the apparently simple process of note-taking can be improved and rendered much more helpful if we profit by the advice and experience of others. There are half a dozen books in the library on these subjects that every student ought to know and use. Among them are:

- Adams, "Making the Most of One's Mind."
 - Dearborn, "How to Learn Easily."
 - Kitson, "How to Use Your Mind."
 - Sandwick, "How to Study and What to Study."
- Some other small volumes that should be of interest to college men and women:

- Conwell, "What You Can Do With Your Will Power."
- Foster, "Should Students Study?"
- Schwab, "Succeeding With What You Have."
- Smith, "What Can Literature Do For Me?"

LUNCHEON FOR MRS. McVEY.

The alumnae entertained Friday at the Phoenix Hotel with a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Frank L. McVey.

The table was arranged in the private dining room of the hotel and had three sections, a long table with small circular tables at each end all holding crystal vases of white chrysanthemums tied with the university ribbons, blue and white.

The place cards were autumn leaves, Miss Mary Clarke, the chairman of the Alumnae Club, presided and there were interesting impromptu speeches.

Mrs. Charles Judson Smith, president of the club, made a charming speech of greeting to Mrs. McVey to welcome her here.

Mrs. McVey made a graceful response and by request told something of her work as a member of the Collegiate League of North Dakota.

Miss Adelaide Crane, the new superintendent of Patterson Hall, was asked to speak on the subject of "A Home For University Girls."

BOLES AND FREEMAN AWAY

Professor Freeman and Coach Boles will represent the University of Kentucky at the S. I. A. A. convention to be held at the University of Georgia, in Athens, Ga., December 7 and 8. At this meeting many of the games of next year will be arranged. Much detectable picking for the 1918 Wildcats will be on display and Daddy Boles says he will speak for the best.

His exact location upon graduation has not, as yet, been arranged.

STUDENTS URGED TO LEARN K. U. YELLS

In view of the fact that the new students in the University are not familiar with the yells and songs used at the games and rallies, Yell Leader Planck has requested that the following be printed in the Kernel. He urges that all students familiarize themselves with the various songs and yells before chapel Friday.

Kentucky Song No. 1.
(Tune: "Are You From Dixie?")
All hail Kentucky, dear old Kentucky,
Where the Wildcats fight with all of their might.

When they begin it, they're sure to win it,

For the dear old Blue and the White.
When U. K. men break thru the line
And then they make a dash,

Their opponents' well-laid plans will go to smash,

We'll cheer Kentucky, good old Kentucky,

For she is always right.

Kentucky Song No. 2.

All hail Kentucky, dear old Kentucky.
Cheer her, cheer her every loyal man.
Always fight for the Blue and White,
For Old Kentucky is always right.

All hail Kentucky, Wildcats are plucky,

We're going to win this fight,
For it's Hail, Hail, the gang's all here,"

NEW SPIRIT OF THANKSGIVING.

The last game of the football season has been played. The old gridiron, lately the scene of so many grim and determined struggles, of music, song, and the snake dance of the fair co-eds, of victory and defeat, has been deserted and may soon be wrapped in the blanket of December snows.

We have not won as many games as we should have liked to win, but our gratitude to the boys who, true to the name of Wild Cats and the traditions of Kentuckians, fought to the finish despite misfortune and hardships, is not one whit less than if we had crushed every opponent. Handicapped by measles, scarlet fever, the army draft and injuries of various kinds, the team fought dauntlessly on. The loss of Gay before the middle of the season was a shock to the backfield, from which it was not able to recover. Many men whose loss was irreparable either were out of the game or played when their condition was more suited to a bed in the hospital than a place on a football team.

Most of the material was new at the beginning of the season and it was not until the last game that the team as a whole found itself. But the conduct on Thanksgiving Day, as did many others showed promising material among the freshmen. We do not hesitate to prophesy that these men have a football future before them, and believe that in the 1918 season they will show more than one opposing team that the Cats can come back, whatever their misfortune may have been.

This is the time to begin looking forward to the building of next year's team. The physical condition in which the men keep themselves between now and the opening of practice next fall, will mean almost as much to them as the training which they will undergo during the football season.

One means of building a team which has been sadly neglected in the past, is the encouraging of promising high school material to attend the University. There are men in the high schools that would be invaluable to our team next year. If the proper interest is shown in these men by the University and by the students who are acquainted with them, many who are undecided where they will enter upon their college careers will be led to our University, which with a new era and the most promising future it has ever known before it, will supply all that aspiring youth can hope to obtain.

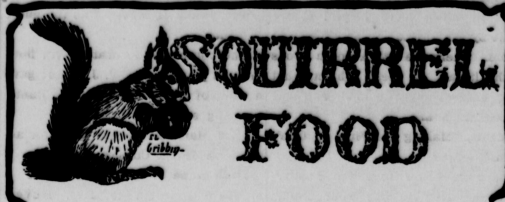

THE TEAM

How different was the tone of thanks which was offered this year to what it has been in the past. This was most notable in the papers of the country, and especially so in the college publications, which came to our exchange table.

The thots of the American people have been removed from those things which are material and lead only to the comforts of the present, to ideals and principles that will determine the destiny of the human race for ages to come.

Prayers of thanks that were once offered only for blessings of the immediate community have not only become prayers for the good of our nation, but for the good of every nation of the earth. The barriers of nationality have been cast aside and the misfortunes of the people of Belgium, France and Russia are as near to us as our own. America is even ready to sacrifice its most precious lives to save the masses of the German people from themselves.

The Kentucky Colonel says, if the old adage "the course of true love never runs smooth," holds true, there are a number of campus cases progressing beautifully, suh.

MAKERS OF HISTORY

JOHN ALFRED BRITAIN

Big of body, of mind, and of heart, John Alfred Britain, universally known as "Brit," has lived up to the highest standard of a college student and has gained honor not only in his own college of Engineering, but has won recognition in the field of athletics as one of the greatest all-round players in the South.

John Alfred, as he was called back in those happy days of his youth as he, barefooted, with apple in hand trudged to school, is not a Kentuckian by birth, but is truly one by adoption. Colorado claims the honor of being the state, and Balsait, the city in which "Brit" on the 16th of February, 1895, was born. When about ten years old, John Alfred's parents, J. A.

In spite of the high percentage of fatalities in the epidemic of marriages that is sweeping the country, no one is trying to discover an anti-toxin for it.

AN AID TO HOOVER

Those of us who did not get to go home for the holidays at least have the satisfaction of knowing that we saved a lot of food for the soldiers.

Lance Corporal Smith of Company C, writes to Squirrel Food to ask why the Red Cross co-eds do not knit some sweaters for the cadets who are protecting the campus so bravely in these troublous times.

And speaking of knitting, the girl who can make her first pair of socks come out makes deserves a Distinguished Conduct medal and a lot of praise on the side.

and Eva Britain left Balsait and journeyed to Missoula, Montana, where their young son received his graded and high school instruction with some assistance from the towns, Leadville, Great Falls and Butte, Montana. During the summer of 1914, while visiting relatives in Kentucky, the seed of love for the University of Kentucky was first planted in "Brit's" heart. The following month he started to matriculate in the University of Illinois, but Good Fortune intervened and brought him here to us.

From the very moment of his matriculation, "Brit" became active, and has never ceased doing things for the University. Not eligible for his "K" in his Freshman year, nevertheless he diligently worked out with the "Varsity" in the fall of 1914, and thereon gained muscle and mind "to put over the stuff" that has gained for him his "K" for three successive years, and has also gained for him the undying devotion of the students and alumni of the University of Kentucky.

Britain is heralded thru the South as Kentucky's wildest cat—dependable, steady, level-headed and alert, he has been the head that has brought the Wildcats of 1917 to recognition and renown. Kentucky's 1917 Blue and White have battled manfully and well, hampered by a new team with only four old men back. This is, to a large extent, due to "Brit," captain and guard, against whom each opposing team's coach warns his men with the two significant words, "Watch Britain." Never was there shown by anyone, even the brave Spartan boy of old, who, unflinchingly, without a cry of anguish, held under his coat the gnawing fox, never has there been shown greater courage, determination and grit than Britain displayed at the Centre game, when suffering un-speakably from a wrenched knee, he manfully stuck to his post and fought with his eleven a great fight. "Brit" went into this game against the wishes of his coaches, who plead, argued and entreated him for his own sake to stay out, but their entreaties were of no avail. He would go in, the each play was wrought with severe pain, and crippled him for the year.

"Brit" is the soul of the team. One player tersely said, "Brit" plays football well, not because he has superior weight, but because he has nerve. He plays for the school, not for any renown or honor to himself. He returned to the University this year because he knew he was needed by the team."

Dr. John J. Tigert, the football coach who built up the famous fighting machine of Wildcats in 1916, said of Britain, "Britain is the greatest defensive football player for his weight. I have ever seen. He does more to break up plays than any other team's members. His defensive seems to be superhuman." Dr. Tigert cited one concrete instance, where "Brit" alone, held the enemy for four downs. In the Sewanee game last year, Sewanee had the ball one yard from the goal line. Four times, line plunges were attempted, and four times, "Brit," with superhuman strength, broke up the plays, each time carrying the ball farther back from the danger line.

From the time he entered the University, "Brit" has worked, fought and suffered for the team. As many know, he has made serious sacrifices, sacrifices that in no way can be deemed. These he has made for University's team, and has made them gladly. While playing as fullback, on the Invincible Freshman Eleven of 1914, "Brit" received injuries that affected his hearing. Not greatly concerned, he casually mentioned this to a physician. This physician told him that he must stop playing football at once, and if he did not stop he would lose his hearing entirely. Not heeding this warning, "Brit" continued his remarkable playing on the "Varsity," and for his college and has suffered irreparable injuries to the delicate organs of the ear.

Football, however, altho his first and dearest love, is not "Brit's" only athletic achievement—he has won his letter in both hurdles and pole-vaulting, modestly declaring, however, that no records were broken.

This inadequate eulogy of the "fight-inest" Wildcat, Captain of the team of 1917., who has displayed the remarkable ability to both manage and play well at the same time, will not be complete unless one mentions his unquenchable good nature. Never will the writer forget, the first time he, as a Freshman, timid yet wary, saw Britain, who with a happy smile and Interference for the runner, but no one has thus far spoken badly of that shown Thursday. The team worked like a well oiled machine. Forward passing was in order with the balance of luck coming to the Blues. Few of the attempts by Riddle fell short and many of the Florida passes found lodging in welcoming blue-covered arms.

Florida was a scrapping, clean-playing team, but they met more than their match. They were unable to break up the interference and get the Wildcat runner before he had made his required distance, and were moved back many times to the referee's "First Down." Though they outweighed their opponents they showed a lack of skill in being unable to hold them. They were outplayed in every department.

Eleven of Kentucky's men played so well that it would be difficult to pick out the stars. Of course Brittain starred consistently and led the team to his last victory on Stoll Field. Riddle ripped the seams of his shoes in his end runs and the line-plunging of the rest of the backfield was up to his standard. Walker and Shanklin did their defensive work as well as their offensive and few opposing Alligators escaped their tackles. The Wildcat line was on its toes from the beginning.

Twice Walker intercepted Alligator passes and once raced half the length of the field for a touchdown. The next time he was well on the way for another score when a fast southerner raced behind him and brought him down. Substitutes Warth, Boone, McGregor and Cambron entered in the third quarter and showed their teammates how they hated Alligators.

The skies dark with clouds and emphatic promises of rain did not deter many rooters and enthusiasts and the crowd enjoyed every minute of the game.

The price of admittance will be fifty cents, and tickets may be obtained at the office of the commandant in the Gymnasium Building. The young women of the University will be required to get their tickets, free of charge, from Dean Anna J. Hamilton, as was the custom last year.

Following are the Cadet Hop dates:

- December 15, 1917.
- January 5, 1918.
- January 9, 1918.
- February 9, 1918.

AT THE ADA MEADE

The high water mark of the season's attractions at the Ada Meade will be reached Thursday afternoon. Razzle Dazzle will be the tabloid that will be the feature. The show is by far the best that has been offered at this playhouse this year and is one of exceptional merit. The cast is composed of twenty-three people, for most part girls. The young ladies are of exceptional ability, their beauty, singing and dancing, being far above the usual run of the productions that have been seen here this year. The management pledges itself that this is the best attraction that they have offered so far this year. The "tab" abounds with music, comedy and clever scenes. No one who is a lover of good musical comedy can afford to miss this show.

Starting next Monday afternoon the bill will consist of five acts direct from Keith's circuit.

CORN HERE ON FURLOUGH

Lieutenant Franklin Corn, Harrodsburg, spent Saturday in Lexington with old college friends. Lieutenant Corn was a prominent student at the University, graduating in 1916, and was again at the University last year studying law. He is at present in Kentucky on a short furlough awaiting assignment to an army post. Lieutenant Corn enlisted in the regular army as private last May and after taking an examination was given a second lieutenant's commission. He attended the second officers' training camp at Fort Benning Harrison, acting as instructor during the latter part of the camp.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Somebody called him Gadfly Jimmie, and he really resembled such a thing when he 'lit' on an Alligator in Thursday's game.

The last snake dance for the 1917 was a success in spirit, even if the numbers were slight. It is said that four participants knew all three verses of "Wildcats."

Dempsey at full was an agreeable and a fruitful surprise.

Golden footballs have been given to the members of the state championship team at Danville. Every dog has his day and we are not jealous of their success.

Note for next year's Wildcats! No dog has two days of his own in succession.

All's well that ends well. Our 1917 football season was a satisfactory one to the right kind of a supporter of the team.

VOCATIONAL COURSES PLAN FOR UNIVERSITY

A new course of instruction, for furnishing teachers to the high schools of the state for the vocational training which will be taught under the Smith-Hughes bill, will be installed as soon as possible at the University. Dr. Frank L. McVey was in Frankfort last week attending conference at which the plans for the introduction of the new course of study were made.

The course will begin the latter part of December if arrangements can be made by that time. It is certain that the study will be begun by the beginning of the second semester.

Agriculture and Home Economics are the main subjects taught under the Smith-Hughes bill provisions. There will be two courses taught under the College of Agriculture's supervision. The Arts College will cooperate in the training. Teachers will be prepared for teaching agriculture and domestic science in the high schools of the state which adopt the provisions of the Smith-Hughes bill. Under the measure, federal money for salaries equaling the amount put up by the high school, is given. The courses at the University will cover four years of training.

McVEY TAKES PLACE

Division of the University entertained in honor of Dr. and Mrs. McVey with a luncheon at the Phoenix Hotel on Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. McVey were guests of Dr. and Mrs. P. P. Boyd at their home in the Rodes addition while here. Mrs. McVey left Tuesday morning at 11:40 for Washington, but the President will remain in Kentucky until December 11, when he will return to Washington to complete his work on a monograph of war finances for the government. He will meet with the Board of Trustees in regular session before returning to Washington.

Dr. McVey has purchased a five passenger Franklin automobile from the Phoenix Motor Car Company of this city, and has already mastered the technique of driving. The president has taken a house on Linden Walk, as the old Mulligan home will not be ready for occupancy for some time.
